BOYS' CORN CONTEST IN PITT COUNTY

ELEVEN BOYS WILL BE GIVEN TRIP TO WASHINGTON

MANY OTHER TOWNSHIP PRIZES

Committees to Look After The Work in The Townships—Boys Should Enter The Contest and Send in Their Names—County Exhibit Next Fall.

The county committee composed of Messrs. W. H. Ragsdale, A. J. Moye, J. F. Evans, R. L. Little and D. J. Whichard, having general supervision of the "Boys' Corn Club" for the contest in Pitt county this year, met Friday afternoon in the office of Superintendent Ragsdale to look further into the details of the contest.

It was decided to give township prizes, as well as general prizes, to the boys who make the best showing. The leading township prizes will be a trip to Washington City for one boy from each township. We can imagine nothing that should be more stimulating to the boys than this trip to the nation's capital, and certainly nothing that the county can do would be a better advertisement for the county. Prof. Ragsdale will go with the boys and have charge of them on the trip. It will be a great education to the boys who win this trip.

In order for a township to be eligible in this trip to Washington contest, there must be not less than three boys in the township to enter the contest and the winning boy must make not less than 65 bushels of corn on his acre. In all other respects the contest will be governed by the rules laid down by the agricultural department for boys' corn contests.

In addition to the trip to Washington, there will be several other prizes in every township, a prize committee consisting of Messrs. O. L. Joyner, B. M. Lewis, J. B. Tucker, H. G. Mumford and M. T. Spier, to have charge of the classification of the other prizes, fuller particulars of which will be made later. Every boy in the county who is to be in the contest should send in his name to Prof. Ragsdale before April 15th.

The following committees have also been appointed to look after the work in their respective townships: Beaver Dam: G. T. Tyson, Ivey Smith, William McArthur.

Belvoir: R. A. Parker, D. C. Barrow, D. J. Holland.

Bethel: S. M. Jones, J. J. Carson, S. C. Whitehurst.

Carolina: L. R. Whichard, S. A. Congleton, C. G. Little.

Chicod: J. C. Galloway, S. A. Stokes, J. J. Elks.

Contentnea: J. B. Speight, R. W. Smith, J. M. Dixon.

Falkland: W. H. Moore, Dr. Jenness Morrill, T. L. Williams.

Farmville: C. R. Townsend, S. M. Smith, Moses Moye.

Greenville: J. G. Moye, M. G. Moye, S. I. Fleming.

Pactolus: J. J. Satterthwaite, R. L. Woolard, R. R. Fleming.

Swift Creek: L. J. Chapman, W. T. Price, J. A. Stokes.

It is the duty of the township committees to interest the boys in their respective townships to enter the contest, and to solicit subscriptions in their township to send the winning boy in their township on the trip to Washington. The expenses of each boy for the entire trip will be about $30. People in the various townships who want to contribute other prizes can let this be known to the township committee who will report it to the prize committee. Already a large list of other prizes that have been offered is in the hands of the prize committee, and the outlook is that Pitt is going to have the most interesting corn growing contest of any county in the state. Remember that last year, with no special effort in that direction, the boys of Pitt county won more state diplomas for corn growing than any other county, nine of these diplomas coming to Pitt.

This year the Farmers' Union of the county has also offered a cash prize of $25 to the boy who raises the most corn. This is a special prize and will not interfere with the same boy who wins that, getting a trip to Washington.

It is proposed also after the crops

NORTH CAROLINA ITEMS.

News Happenings Throughout The State.

Raleigh, March 31.—The noted prosecutions by Raleigh against Swift and company, meat packers, for selling defective meat here, pending for a year, closed in the Superior court today by the imposition of a $100 fine in one case and suspension of judgment in the other two. The fine was imposed in the case in which a dressed hog, in very bad condition, was delivered by the packers to a dealer in the city market. Fines aggregating $1,000 in the police court are now dwindled to $100.

Raleigh, March 31.—Governor Kitchener offers $200 reward for the capture of the negro Ernest Mathews, who criminally assaulted the daughter of John W. Judge, near Halfville, Duplin county, March 6. He also offers $100 reward for Marshall A. Wood, who murdered Dr. John L. Cox, in Lee county, March 13, the murder being an especially atrocious one, so D. E. McIver advises the governor in asking for the reward to be offered. Dr. Cox was 70 years old.

Raleigh, March 31.—The Y. M. C. A. building fund solicitors have in hand tonight $60,885 in subscriptions toward the $65,000 proposed to be raised, and have concluded to increase the grand total to $75,000 by tomorrow night, when the canvass closes.

Few people are able to tell the truth about what they said in an argument.

are gathered next fall to have in Greenville a special day of exhibits of crops, stock, poultry, fruits dairy products, etc., in which all of the county will be asked to take part, and the farmers, both boys and men, should have an eye to getting their best products ready for this exhibit. It is going to be made a big day for Pitt county, and on that day the prizes in the boys' corn growing contest will be awarded.

To get all the work for the boys' contest fully arranged the township committees named above and the prize committee are asked to meet with the county committee in Greenville on Friday, April 14th, at 10:30 a. m. Let everyone of the committees come then and unite in helping to make this a great year in Pitt county farming.

FAMILY RE-UNION.

At The Home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ward.

Written for The Reflector.

On Tuesday, March 26th, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ward, about six miles from Greenville, was the scene of much happiness and pleasure.

Mrs. Ward had as her guests on this occasion, her entire family. It was a happy sight to see together once more two sisters and two brothers and their families.

About eleven o'clock they had all arrived, where a cordial welcome awaited each one. Then for a while each one related the happenings since last meeting.

Promptly at one o'clock they were all invited to the dining room, where all were assembled, while Mr. Ward in a most beautiful and impressive manner returned thanks for the noon-day meal and especially asked God's blessing on those present and a happy meeting hereafter.

A bounteous dinner was served. Those seated at the table were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Moore, of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Moore, of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Outerbridge, of Greenville; Mrs. Mary E. Daniel, of Roanoke Rapids.

About four o'clock we began to say good bye, hoping to meet again, and expressing the pleasure and happiness to our hostess of this occasion.

BARACA ENTERTAINMENT.

The Blues Will Entertain The Reds Monday Night.

Sometime ago the Baraca class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday school divided in two sections, the Reds and the Blues, and since then there has been an interesting rivalry between the two sections of the class to see which could get the most new members and which could make the best record on attendance and punctuality. This rivalry has had marked effect on the growth of the class. An entertainment feature also comes in occasionally, and on Monday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock the Blues will entertain the Reds in the Sunday school rooms.

Pattern Hats Arrived.

The pattern hats looked for by C. T. Munford in time for his millinery opening, but which were delayed by the express strike in New York, have arrived and will be on display at his store Monday, April 3rd.

NEW YORK ELECTS UNITED STATES SENATOR

IT IS JUSTICE JAMES A. OGORMAN

Eleven Weeks Deadlock Broken—Legislature Adjourns to April 17

By Wire to The Reflector.

Albany, N. Y., April 1.—There was an exodus of legislators from the state capitol today, following the election of Justice James A. Ogorman to the United States senate last night and the subsequent adjournment of the legislature until April 17th. Every train carried senators and assemblymen to their homes, jubilant that the eleven weeks deadlock had at last been settled and apparently with a selection satisfactory to all factions. In New York City Justice Ogorman was busy winding up his personal affairs and will leave for Washington Monday. The new senator stands for reciprocity with Canada, immediate downward revision of the tariff, election of United States senators by direct vote, federal income tax and national economy in expenditures. He is opposed to special privileges and private monopoly and new nationalism.

OXFORD WINS BOAT RACE.

Defeats Cambridge by Three Lengths and Lowers Record.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Putney, England, April 1.—Oxford won the classic aquatic university boat race this afternoon, defeating Cambridge by three lengths. Oxford won the choice of positions and got the smoothest water. It was also the favorite in betting. A quarter of a million people saw the race. Oxford established a new record over the 4 1-4 mile course, reaching the distance in 18 minutes and 29 seconds. The previous record was 18 minutes 47 seconds.

TO PRESERVE HISTORY.

Committee Appointed to Meet April 4th to Perfect Plans.

At the last meeting of the Pitt County Teachers' Association, Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, of the Training School faculty, read an excellent paper on the preservation of historic records. Miss Davis deplored the great loss each year of historical data here and there over the state which cannot be restored, and appealed to the teachers to do what they could to awaken interest in this phase of duty. At the conclusion of the reading of the paper a motion was made and unanimously adopted, that a committee be appointed to begin the collection and preservation of historical information in Pitt county.

It has seemed best to appoint a central committee, and at a meeting of the central committee the entire committee can be appointed.

I wish to appoint the following persons: Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, President R. H. Wright, Miss Eula Cox, and Mrs. F. M. Wooten.

I ask that these persons meet with me in the office of the graded school next Tuesday afternoon, at four o'clock, to appoint the other members of the committee, and to perfect plans for the work we hope to do.

H. B. SMITH, President, Pitt County Teachers' Association.

Alfano Says Statement of Abatemaggio Was False.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Viterbo, Italy, April 1.—Alfano was again on the stand today and continued his denunciation of Carobiners and betrayer Abatemaggio. He said the story of the informer was false and that "if Camorra killed" police spies in Naples there would not be one death daily, but hundreds."

PATIENCE.

Cultivate the ability to be patient at all times. Whoever loses his patience loses more than his patience. He loses his hold on the very crisis that made him lose his patience. SATURDAY, APRIL 1, 1911.

Spring will be bound to come, after awhile, if summer does not get here first.

They now say that green tea is black-listed. Why not let it stay green?

The tax gatherers are about the only ones who have done much collecting recently.

Greensboro has lost six of her 42,000 inhabitants. They got tired of the city, broke jail and left.

Saturday pay rolls are things that Greenville needs more of. It is going to take manufacturing enterprises to bring them.

Pitt county is the best on the globe. Everybody does not seem to have found it out, but we are trying to enlighten them.

Eleven Pitt county boys will get free trips to Washington City next fall. Boys, get busy in the corn growing contest and win these trips.

Some of these days you will see excursion parties coming to Greenville to look at the good roads lying around us. The township is going to vote that bond issue to build the roads.

What big figures they do talk in around Charlotte. A firm in that city has been awarded the contract to do two million dollars worth of electric railroad building throughout the western part of the state.

Insurance Commissioner Young may have struck a hornet's nest instead of an Owl's nest. At any rate the Charlotte Owl advertiser is going to bring down a Boston lawyer to stir the nest and show if the eggs are good.

The boys could retaliate on the girls by wearing bloomers. Press fellows, wouldn't you like to see Dave Whichard, of the Greenville Reflector, in a pair that matches his hair?—Durham Sun.

That would be a well red combination, for sure. It would not do for Jim's bloomers to match his hair, however, as long as he is bald.

Rocky Mount has been worked to a finish by a magazine subscription solicitor. He found plenty of victims and scooped in something like a thousand dollars in a few days. It is not always wise to be parting with money to strangers until you actually receive what you suppose you are paying for.

The Salisbury Post has found success coming its way that it has placed an order for a perfecting press that will print 4 to 10 pages at the rate of 5,000 per hour. It indicates a progressive town whose newspapers can make such advances as this. Every improvement made by a newspaper enables it to do that much more work for the advancement of its town and the town is wise that gives its newspaper a liberal support. The Reflector will also install a new fact press this month, its growing circulation and enlarged business making this step necessary.

Sleep and Let Sleep.

It was in the small hours of a muggy morning. From a seat near the Mudham Docks, where he had spent the night, Pat watched the Merely Mary Ann as she loomed out of the fog.

"Want a job?" asked the foreman, suddenly appearing.

"Shure" it's only 6 o'clock," complained Pat.

"Never mind that," retorted the foreman. "We want a man to help us unload that ship."

"What's the cargo?" asked Pat.

"Sleepers," said the foreman shortly.

Strong As Ever.

The two traveling salesmen were discussing business conditions. One of them in the book trade ventured the query:

"Does Browning sell as well as ever over in Boston?"

"Oh, yes," said the other, who represented a $3 shoe concern. "Better, in fact. People are wearing tan shoes all the year round now."—Judge.

HAIR DROPS OUT.

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping It.

It was Dr. Sangebund, of Paris, who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair was caused by microbes.

And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ is sold in every town in America, the clean people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the Reflector who wishes to eradicate disgusting dandruff, stop falling hair, and have an immaculately clean scalp, free from itching, we make this offer: Coward & Wooten will return your money, without red tape, if Parisian Sage does not banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks.

Parisian Sage is sold by Coward & Wooten, and druggists everywhere, for 50 cents a large bottle. It is an ideal, daintily perfumed hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness, and will cause hair to grow lustrous and luxuriant. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A MISSISSIPPI ENTHUSIASM

Mrs. Lena Gresham, of Clinton, Miss., Has a Few Facts to Tell Our Readers About Cardui.

Clinton, Miss.—"Thanks to Cardui," writes Mrs. Lena Gresham, of this place, "I have been greatly relieved."

"I suffered for three years from female inflammation, and had taken medicine from four different physicians without much benefit."

"I have received more benefit from seven bottles of Cardui, than from all the physicians."

Just try Cardui. That's all we ask. It speaks for itself. It has helped so many thousands, it must be able to help you.

Trying Cardui won't hurt you. It is safe, harmless, gentle in action, and purely vegetable.

If you are weak, tired, down and out, try Cardui.

If you are sick, miserable, and suffer from womanly pains, like headache, backache, dragging feelings, pains in side, arms, legs, etc.—try Cardui.

It is the medicine for all women. It is the tonic for you.

ABOUT CHINA.

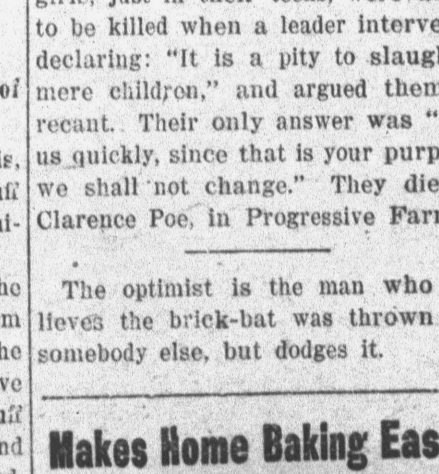

Martyrdoms That Have Enriched The World.

The history which the foreigner is likely to have most often in mind in Peking, however, is only ten years old. For it has been only ten years and a few months since the famous Boxer outbreak. The widely current idea is that this Boxer movement originated in anti-missionary sentiment but this is not borne out by the facts. The late Col. Charles Denby, long American minister to China, pointed out very clearly that the main cause was opposition to the land-grabbing policies of European nations. Once started, however, it took the form of opposition to everything foreign—missionaries and non-missionaries alike. I passed the old Roman Catholic Cathedral the other day in company with a friend who gave me reminiscences of the seige that sounded like echoes of the days of the martyrs; Chinese Christian converts butchered like sheep by their infuriated fellow countrymen. When the Pei-tang, in another part of the city, was finally rescued by foreign troops, the surviving Christians and missionaries were dying of starvation; mere wan, half-crazed skeletons, subsiding on roots and bark.

The heroism shown by many of the Chinese Christian converts during this Boxer uprising, has enriched the history not only of the church, but of mankind, for what man of us is not inspired to worthier things by every high deed of martyrdom which a fellowman anywhere has suffered? Into the Pei-tang the Boxers hurled arrow after arrow with letters attached ordering immunity to the Chinese converts if they would abandon their Christian leaders, but even starvation led none to desert. Col. Denby estimated that in the whole Empire 15,000 Chinese Christians were butchered and that only 2 per cent of them abandoned their faith. A missionary told me the other day of one family who took refuge in a cave, but then finally smoked out by suffocating flames, refused life at the cost of denying their Master, and went to death singing a hymn in Chinese, "Jesus is Leading Me." At Taiyun-fu an especially touching incident occurred. Five or six young girls, just in their teens, were about to be killed when a leader intervened declaring: "It is a pity to slaughter mere children," and argued them to recant. Their only answer was "Kill us quickly, since that is your purpose, we shall not change." They died.—Clarence Poe, in Progressive Farmer.

"Fire Proof"

Most of the buildings that are called "fire proof" are merely slow-burning, and those that are really proof against flames offer in case of fire but scant hope of safety to the persons who work in great lofts surrounded by inflammable materials. Scientific constructors can build wall partitions and floors that may be subjected to high temperatures with comparatively little damage, but these will not save the lives of men and women cooped and panic-stricken in the rooms in which fire originates or to which it spreads.

The recognition of these facts by the public would make easier the task of protecting the persons of employees in those industries that are carried on in loft buildings. It is highly unfortunate that confidence in "fireproof" buildings should have resulted in an almost complete ignoring of the dangers to which the workers within their walls are exposed.—New York Sun.

Where is the Old-Fashioned Mother?
There is in progress in Montclair a "mothers' movement" against the "menace of the moving picture show" The town authorities have been overwhelmed with letters from correspondents protesting "as mothers and residents" against licensing these forms of amusements as "harmful and detrimental," and the agitation has been taken up in the women's clubs and ecclesiastic societies.
There was once a generation of mothers who would not have found it necessary to appeal to the town council for the protection of their children's morals. They would have laid down the law at home and it would have been obeyed, with a full realization of the consequences that would follow its violation. The domestic fiat would have gone forth and that would have been the end of the matter.
The mothers of the old-fashioned type would have resented any delegation of maternal authority to a municipal body. They knew and exercised their powers of home control and jealousy guarded them. They decided how their children should amuse themselves, and woe to the youngster who disregarded their instructions.
Is the old race of mothers extinct, and with them the home restraint of children.—New York World.

THE BIRTH OF A SOUL.

Rudolph Spreckles Tells How He Came to Study Public Affairs.

Have you ever heard the story that Rudolph Spreckles tells of his intia-tion into the study of public affairs?
It ought to be heard by every citizen who desires to live up to his civic responsibilities. It is especially important that young men shall hear it.
Mr. Spreckles has been speaking before clubs, colleges and legislatures.
At Lincoln, Neb., he first addressed the Commercial Club and the members, crowding every foot of space in the banquet hall, listened with breathless interest to the plain and simple story of the way in which his own heart was reached and his manhood stirred by the knowledge he acquired of crookedness in business and municipal government. He was then invited to speak before the state senate of Nebraska and in the evening addressed a body of students at the university. Every one who listeneth to him went away stronger for what he said.

Spreckles began business as a young man—as a boy, in fact—under his father's tutelage. His first recollections were of the lawless conduct of rivals who were attempting to prevent competition. Machinery was damaged by persons obtaining admission to the works, and a trusted employe was bribed to furnish information. Later as a director in a local gas company in San Francisco, he became aware of the indefensible methods that were being employed by the company. He appealed to the stockholders, reorganized the company, and started out to put the corporation upon an honest business basis. Then he came into contact with the grafters in municipal life, chief among whom at that time was Abe Ruef. He had been gradually becoming conscious of a work that needed to be done, but the final fact necessary to arouse his moral nature was an offer made by Abe Ruef that involved consequences so fendish that young Spreckles burst forth into a reformer. It was the birth of a soul, to borrow a phrase that has been used many times before. He dates his political career from that date. Since then he has not only spent his money, but what is even more noteworthy, he has risked the social ostracism which the predatory interests are able to visit upon those who hold virtue above might. He is largely responsible for the shaking up in California politics —a shaking that will do that state more good than the earthquake did harm.

One of the best tests of the political wisdom and moral courage of Spreckles is that he recognizes the premiership of La Follette among the progressive Republicans; he appreciates the long and unflinching fight that the Wisconsin senator has made.
The Commoner rejoices that a man like Spreckles has thrown the weight of his influence in favor of reforms.
Instead of using his wealth to pamper the flesh and to chloroform his intellectual energy, he is contributing to the advancement of political measures which he believes to be right. Instead of fearing the masses, he has wisely determined to be their friend. He is willing to trust his fortune to laws made by the people.
The initiative and referendum and the recall have no terrors for him. He has confidence in the patriotism and the intelligence of the average man, and that confidence is not misplaced.
Nebraska is better for the visit paid it by Rudolph Spreckles. May his life be spared and his zeal unabated until his dollars will be forgotten in the public's admiration of those qualities of head and heart that outshine money metals.—The Commoner.

The Test.

arms with a contented sigh.—Lippincott's.

PROF. OSLER IS RIGHT

YOUTH ALWAYS SUCCEEDS AGE.
Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc.; and the old man is passed by in the race.
One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs.
When you see them, act promptly.
Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.
The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.
This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by

READY FOR WHOLE TARIFF.

Cham Clark Sees No End to What Democrats May Do.

"During all my sixteen years' experience in congress I never knew a time when it was so hard to guess what was going to happen as it is now to guess what the sixty-second congress will do in the extra session which President Taft has called for April 4th. It is a peculiar situation—with a Democratic majority of 67 in the house, a senate that is Republican by only 8, and devilish near Democratic when you consider the 5 or 20 insurgents, and with a Republican president who has said half a dozen times that part of the tariff at least should be reduced.
This is the way—Representative Cham Clark, of Missouri, fresh from a two weeks speech-making and lecture tour over a large part of the country, summed up the legislative outlook in an interview. On that trip he had such a good time and such a good "rest" that he came back weighing six pounds more than when he started.

There is no greater optimist in the Democratic party at this moment than Mr. Clark. Here is what he says of the political outlook:

"I traveled from Philadelphia westward. I went as far north as St.
Paul, Minn., as far south as Carlo, Ill. Everywhere I found the Republicans so badly split up that even aunt Jennie's sticking plaster could not keep them together. I got my information from Republicans as well as Democrats with whom I talked in the big cities, small towns and on the trains.

"The outlook for national Democratic victory is better than in 1892, when we elected Cleveland the second time. I believe that we will not only carry Indiana again, but that we will carry Illinois, too. I was not in New York, but I think the Democrats there will patch up their differences before it is too late, elect a good Democrat to the senate, and put the state in the Democratic column in 1912."

Mr. Clark did not discuss Democratic presidential timber, but it is no secret that he believes he will be in the running himself for the nomination along with Governor Wilson, of New Jersey; Governor Harmon, of Ohio; Governor Dix, of New York; and others.

There was a knowing twinkle in Mr. Clark's eyes when he said:

"The Democrats have decided that I shall not have the power of appointing committees. All right, we will try the other scheme with a committee on committees, but I do not intend to get in the way of any of the abuse that may be heaped upon the appointing power. I am not going to make any suggestions about the committees unless they come to me. I do not know today what the ways and means committees, has done in this regard, and I am not trying to find out. I believe the new plan should have a fair trial. It may succeed and it may not. I don't know.
"When it comes to matters of legislation, however, I shall express my views clearly at the proper time. I shall speak in the Democratic caucus.
A Democratic caucus is a queer thing. We always start out with more different kinds of opinions than you can count. There is a bitter scrap for four or five hours, and then when everybody has had his say we get together and all vote the same way.
I believe we will do that in the caucus to be held Saturday morning, April 1st."

"How long will the extra session last?"
"Well," said the new speaker, "I have attended two extra sessions of congress called to revise the tariff in April and they did not adjourn until August. History is likely to repeat itself. As I said before, there is guessing what this congress will do in the long run. It seems pretty well understood that the Democrats will pass other tariff legislation than the Canadian reciprocity bill and that they will adopt the schedule by schedule plan. We may only cover several schedules and we may go clear through."—Virginia Pilot.

Serpents and Music.
Barnard concludes from his personal observation of cobras in Ceylon, says the Scientific American, that the ser-pent's traditional-love for music is a pure fable and that the only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. It appears to perceive only sounds of high pitch, for it pays no attention to the low notes of the flute or the beating of the drum. Barnard also confirmed in Ceylon the results of observations made in the London zoological garden on the supposed power of fascination exerted by serpents upon birds, and he concludes that this power of fascination is also purely imaginary.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

Burma's Gilded Pagoda.

Rangoon, the principal city of Burma, grew up around the sacred spot on which is built the great Shony Dagon pagoda, one of its principal wonders.
"Rising to a height of 360 feet, its size is greatly enhanced by the fact that it stands on an eminence that is itself 100 feet above the level of the city," says a writer. "It is covered with pure gold from base to summit, and once in every generation this gold is complet-ly renewed by public subscription. Yet throughout the interval the process of regilding goes on perpetually. Pious people who seek in this way to express their veneration and to add to their store of spiritual merit climb up daily, with little fluttering packets of gold leaf, which they fasten on some fraction of its great surface. There is a more picturesque sight offered by than that of a group of these gold-worshippers outlined high against the gold in the act of contributing their small quota to its splendor. The pagoda itself has no interior. It is a solid stupa of brick raised over a rock chamber."

Old Man of the Mountain

The title "Old Man of the Mountain" was first applied to Hassan Ben Sabbal, who founded a formidable dynasty in Syria A. D. 1090. He was the prince or chief of the sect of the Mohammedans. Having been banished from Mount Lebanon and gathered round him a band of followers, who soon became the terror alike of Christians, Jews and Turks. They paid the most implicit obedience to his commands and believed that if they sacrificed their lives for his sake they would be rewarded with the highest joys of paradise. For 200 years these "assassins" as they called themselves, continued to be the terror of the country.
Whenever their chief, the "Old Man of the Mountain," considered himself injured he dispatched some of his assassin secretly to murder the aggressor. This is the origin of our use of the word assassin for a secret murderer.

Official Ignorance.

One of the best of the many stories of English official ignorance of the colonies is recalled by P. A. Silburn in "The Governance of Empire." Lord Palmerston was forming a new ministry and in a preliminary council was arranging its composition. He had filled up all the portfolios with the exception of the colonial office. First one name and then another was suggested and thrown aside. At last he said to Sir Arthur Helps: "I suppose I must take the thing myself. Come up stairs with me and show me where these places are on the maps."

How the Turkey Came to be Bald.

The Indians of our country have many legends connected with certain peculiar habits or customs prevalent among them. If one should chance to visit the home of an old Indian he would perhaps notice a turkey wing hanging near the fire.

This the Indian uses to fan his fire into a flame and make it burn brightly or perhaps in the sultry days of summer to fan himself.
If asked why he uses the turkey wing instead of the wing of any other bird he would no doubt relate the following story:

Many years ago the fire of the world was nearly extinguished; this happened just at the beginning of the winter season. The birds of the air were filled with anxiety, for their intuition told them they would need to keep them warm through the winter.

A bird council was held and it was decided that birds which could fly the highest should soar into the air and see if they could find a spark of fire anywhere. The efforts of the eagle, lark and raven were in vain. The honor was left to the little brown sparrow, who spied a spark of fire in the hollow of an old stump in the heart of a deep forest.

The birds flocked around the stump and tried to decide who should pick the spark out. But all their efforts were in vain; to their dismay they saw the spark growing smaller and fainter. The turkey then volunteered to try to keep the tiny coal alive by fanning it with his wings.
Day after day the turkey kept fanning; the heat became greater each day, until the feathers were singed off the turkey's head. If one notices carefully he will see lumps on the head of a turkey that appear as blisters.
It is believed that the turkey was so badly burned that all turkeys since have had bald heads and wear blisters as a memento of the bravery of the turkey. The faithful turkey lost his beautiful feathers, but he gave back fire to the world; so in his honor and as a memorial of his faithfulness the Indian uses the turkey wing to make his fire burn—
The Red Men
Very few people are thinking of

ROMANCE OF MEDICINE.

Course of History Changed by a Sour Tooth or a Torpid Liver.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, speaking to some London medical students, told several stories illustrating what he called the "romance of medicine."

The fashion of wearing wigs, for instance, was due to a skin disease which produced bald patches on the august head of Francis I of France. He got a wig and his countrymen followed suit, just as they all whispered when he had an attack of laringitis.

"One can trace for many years," says the same authority "certainly from which killed Napoleon at St. Helena in 1821. In 1802 Bourrienne said: 'I have often seen him at Malmaison lean against the right arm of his chair and, unbuttoning his coat and waistcoat, exclaim, "What pain I feel!"

That was perhaps, the first allusion to his stomach and hepatic trouble, but from then onward it continually appeared, like Banquo at the banquet. He could scatter the hosts of Europe and after its kingdoms, but he was powerless against the nutritious cells of his own mucous membrane.

"Again and again he had attacks of lethargy, amounting almost to collapse; at moments when all his energy was most required. At the cries of Waterloo he had such an attack and sat his horse like a man dazed for hours of the action. Finally the six years at St. Helena furnish a clinical study of gastric disease which was all explained in the historical post-mortem examinations, which disclosed cancer covering the whole wall of the stomach and actually perforating it at the hepatic border.

"Napoleon's whole career was profoundly modified by his complaint. There have been many criticisms—Not unnatural ones—of his petty, querulous and undignified attitude during his captivity; but if his critics knew what it was to digest their food with an organ which had hardly a square inch of healthy tissue upon it they would perhaps take a more generous view of the conduct of Napoleon. For my own part, I think that his fortitude was never more shown than during those years—the best proof of which was that his guardians had no notion how ill he was until within a few days of his actual death.

"History abounds with examples of what I have called the romance of medicine. Look at the men, for example, who were the prime movers in the French revolution. They were a diseased company—a pathological museum. Was Marat's view of life tainted by the loathsome skin disease, for which he was taking hot baths when Charlotte Corday cut him off? Was the incorruptible but billious Robespierre the victim of his own liver? Was Couthon's heart embittered by his disfigured limbs?

"There are the problems where medicine infringes upon history, and these are the illustrations of the philosophy which is only to the medical thinker. How many times do the most important historical developments appear to depend upon small physical causes? There is, for example, the case of the revocation of the edict of Nantes. By France has been profoundly modified, because by that action there were given forth the Huguenots."

"Now how came Louis XIV, who had always held out upon this point to give way at least to the pressure of Mme. de Maintenon and his clerical advisers? The answer lay in one of his molar teeth. It is historical that he had for some months had toothache, caries, abscess of the jaw, and finally a sinus which required operation, and it was at this time, when he was pathologically abnormal and irritable, that he took the step which has modified history. Great results may depend upon a king's jaw or a statesman's digestion."—From the Lancet.
