PROGRAM FOR N. C. U.

1911 COMMENCEMENT

GOVERNOR WOODROW WILSON.
And Other Prominent Men Are the Speakers.

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 17.—The University of North Carolina Record for April containing Alumni Bulletin No. 7, just issued, has the program for the 1911 commencement, which is as follows: Commencement exercises will begin on Saturday May 27, and end on Tuesday, May 30. The order of exercises will be as follows: Saturday, May 27, 10:30, Senior class day exercises; 12:00, senior orations; 7:30 joint banquet of the Literary societies Sunday, May 28, 11:00, Baccalaureate sermon by the Right Rev. Collins Denney, bishop of the M. E. church south. Monday, May 29, 10:30, Alumni reunions. The following classes will hold their reunions at this time: 1906, 1901, 1896, 1891, 1886, 1861, and the "war classes" (1862-1863), on whose members who left the University without graduating to enter the war degrees will be conferred; 12:30, business meeting of the Alumni; 1:30, Alumni luncheon; 8:00, meeting of the board of trustees; 8:30, annual commencement debate between representatives of the Philanthropic and Dialectic debating societies; 10:00, faculty reception, Tuesday, May 30, 10:30, Graduating exercises, including conferring of degrees on war classes; 12:00, commencement addresses by Woodrow Wilson, Governor of New Jersey.

This commencement will be notable for the presence and address of Gov. Wilson, who is so politically prominent that North Carolinians from all over the State are expected to attend for the prime purpose of forming first hand impression of their probable candidate for president of the United States next year. Ample provisions is being made to care for the expected crowd, and special and convenient schedules of trains are being arranged. A feature scarcely less noteworthy and attractive will be the presence of many of those students of the University who left to take part in the Civil war without completing their courses. In all, 130 men are known to be eligible for the degrees offered, and of these about 80 have signified their intention of being present. On account of the extra time thus necessitated in the graduating exercises, a slight change in the program provides that the senior orations on Saturday instead of forming a part shall come with the senior exercises of the graduating exercises as heretofore.

President Hadley of Yale has been selected to deliver the lectures on the McNair foundation next year. A very high standard has been set for these lectures by the men who have hitherto given them, and in this selection of the next lecturer the managers of the foundation evidently intend that the high standard shall be maintained. President Hadley was head of the scientific department of Yale before he became Yale's president, and contrasts in this respect with Dr. VanDyke, who delivered the lectures for 1911, and whose interests are purely literary.

Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, President of Cornell University, who is now in the South visiting Southern educational institutions, is expected to come to Chapel Hill next week and speak before the students and faculty of the University.

Rev. R. W. Hogue, pastor of the Episcopal church, has received a call to the pastorate of the church of the Ascension, Baltimore, and it is believed by many of his close friends that he will accept this flattering though merited offer. In his work among the University students Mr. Hogue has made himself immensely popular, identifying himself closely with students interests, and it is only with great regret that his present charge will release him.

FARMERS' CONSOLIDATED TOBACCO COMPANY

STOCKHOLDERS AN. MEETING.

Earns 12% Per Cent, Pays Cash Dividend, Making Total of 14% Per Cent in Eight Years.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company was held today in the Star warehouse, about two hundred farmers being present.

In calling the meeting to order President O. L. Joyner spoke of work of the company in the past, how it had overcome the difficulties and opposition encountered, and showed where it had made money for the farmers of Eastern North Carolina. He gave the status of the tobacco farmers now as compared with the last few years: the attitude of the company in urging reduction of acreage and control of production as a means of controlling prices, and what the farmers should do in this direction in future. He predicted that if the farmers use wise judgment this season, they will get the best prices for the next crop they have ever received. As he always does, Mr. Joyner gave the farmer good advice, and the close attention they gave all he said showed their interest.

Secretary W. H. Dail, Jr., then made his annual report. This in brief shows that the property of the company located in Greenville, Robersonville, Kinston and Wilson, is valued at $67,741.56. The stock issued is $39,800 and the indebtedness of the company $25,000. This makes the property of the company worth nearly $4,000 more than its entire outstanding stock and indebtedness combined, which is a fine showing for the corporation.

The earnings for the past year were a fraction over 12 per cent, and of this directors ordered that a cash dividend of 8 per cent be paid to the stockholders, the balance to be carried to the surplus. This makes a total of 14 per cent the company has paid in dividends during the eight years of its operation, an average of more than 18 per cent.

Taking into consideration that the crop in Eastern North Carolina last year was 20,000,000 pounds short, that the company was able to make 12 per cent is remarkable and shows how well its business is managed.

An expression of opinion as to what the markets should open next season was taken, and by almost unanimous vote the tobacco boards of trade of Eastern North Carolina were requested to open the markets on September 1st.

The terms of Messrs. A. A. Forbes and S. V. Joyner as directors having expired, they were both re-elected for five years.

Before adjourning President Joyner spoke a few words more, urging the farmers to give the company their hearty co-operation, showing them the necessity of some organization based on business principles by which they can make their needs and requirements effectively felt, and best promote their own interests.

Following the meeting of the stockholders there was a meeting of the board of directors at which they re-elected O. L. Joyner, president; T. R. Hodges, vice president, R. J. Cobb, treasurer and W. H. Dail, Jr., secretary.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT WOULD HELP THE COUNTY

MR. A. J. MOYE WRITES AGAIN.

Urges the Farmers to Take Up the Suggestion of Co-operation.

Farmville, N. C., April 18, 1911 Editor Reflector:

As I think the line of co-operation suggested by me in my last article to you is really important to the well being of our county, I desire to explain it more fully.

Those who live in, say, Smithtown might devote their energies to raising Poland China hogs and Rhode Island Red chickens. Those upon the New Road might busy themselves with Tomroth hogs and Brown Leghorn chickens.

The people of Marlton and vicinity might fancy Denoc Jersey hogs, Angus cattle and black Minorca chickens.

Grimesland might devote her energies to raising, Berkshire hogs Jersey cattle and Barred Plymouth Rock chickens and a few bronze turkeys.

Up in Lewiston, Holstein cattle, Yorkshire hogs, white Wyandotte chickens and Pekin ducks might commend themselves to their energetic people.

Over the creek might prefer native hogs, scrub cattle, a variety of chickens and geese.

Each community might strive to out-do the others, and at the county fair put some choice animals and fowls upon exhibition. Would not the rivalry be more intense and the enjoyment of the visitors and the exhibitors be keener and more uplifting?

Don't you know if these people could be induced to do as I have suggested that we would soon have one of the best county fairs in the state, and that buyers of good stock would be on hand to secure our best specimens at fancy prices?

Besides the community spirit, would be developed pride in one's surroundings would grow. The boys and girls would take an interest in the farm, in the school, in the church, and I assure you that things would move and move in the proper direction.

I am exceedingly anxious for Pitt county to take the lead in some good thing, and that is why I am such an advocate of the boys' corn clubs and why I wish at least eleven of them be furnished a free trip to Washington City for honest endeavor.

I realize that this idea will die unless some assistance is rendered. Will not some one who sees possibilities in it please write an article commending it? If there is such a one, please come to my rescue. I would be pleased to have some wise patriotic lady write a short piece along the same line.

A. J. MOYE.

THE MEXICAN TROUBLE GROWS MORE ACUTE

INSURRECTO FORCES ATTACK

American Cabinet Advises President Not to Intervene.

By Wire to The Reflector.

El Paso, April 18.—Insurrecto soldiers made an attack upon federal outposts at Juarez at 2 o'clock this morning, but after a short while the rebels retired. The Insurrecto force was small and is believed to have been only the advance guard of the main body. At Agua Prieta fighting has been going on since two o'clock this morning.

Situation at Mexico City Acute

Mexico City, April 18.—Despite the news that federals had won a slight victory in last night's fighting at Agua Prieta, the information that regular loss was heavy, and intelligence from various centers showing wide spread insurrection, caused deep concern at the capital. Conditions in Mexico City are acute. The blockade over railroad lines has caused famine and food is getting scarce.

Advices President Not to Intervene

Washington, April 18.—The cabinet held a prolonged session today concerning the Mexican situation. It was learned that a majority of the cabinet have advised the president not to intervene without congressional authority, but several members are in favor of not allowing further fighting in Agua Prieta or Juarez if it endangers American lives.

Regarding Troops in Philippines.

Washington, April 18.—The war department today cancelled all orders which have been issued for United States troops in this country to be transferred to the Philippines. Corresponding orders cancelling the transfer of troops now in the Philippines to this country were issued today. This is taken to mean that the government wants to keep troops convenient to the Mexican border.

Fighting Will be Removed

Washington, April 18.—The government received a telegram from Ambassador Wilson at Mexico today that Diaz and his administration has given assurances demanded by President Taft yesterday that fighting be removed from the boundary line.

Evacuate Agua Prieta

Douglas, Ariz., April 18.—The rebel army evacuated Agua Prieta early today and Mexican federal soldiers at once moved in. The rebels halted 6 miles to west and threw up intrenchments and sent word by carrier to the federals that this move was taken to get away from the border and avoid conflict with the United States. The rebels carried away all food supplies and arms which they had captured and though they have lost town the main victory lies with them.

CHILDREN FAVOR GOOD ROADS.

"Build the Roads, We'll Pay for Them," is Slogan of Delegation. The Richmond Times-Dispatch contained the following account of a good roads meeting recently held in Tazewell, Va.:

"Build the roads, we'll pay for them," was the slogan of a large delegation of school children and young folks who came to the road meeting here today on a special train from Pocahontas and intermediate points. The crowds was augmented here by the addition of the pupils from the Tazewell High School, who were dismissed from lessons today to engage in the festivities. There were over 250 children in the parade. The fact was remarked upon that the educational advantages which are afforded these children many of whom are poor, were only brought about through the issuing of bonds for building the fine school houses at Tazewell and the other points. It was very significant in view of the fact that battle is on in the county for a bond issue of $625,000, the election to occur next Tuesday.

"Build the roads, and we will pay for them," the slogan of the children who represent the posterity whom those against bonds are so afraid to burden with debt, was certainly a most striking feature of the meeting today. The teachers of the schools and many others wore badges inscribed "Civilization," the issuing of bonds for road improvement being considered one of the strong arguments of a civilized community.

Able and strong bond issue speeches were made in the tent of the Tazewell Amusement Company by several men of the community, who are in favor of the bond issue. In the courthouse a handful of people listened to those who are opposed to the bond issue. Among the speakers was Judge Coultling, who stated that the proposed bond issue was beyond the demand and need of the community. The people and sentiment of the community, in a large measure, were bond issuing people, and the general feeling was bond issue or no roads.

TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1911.

Flies can even beat gossip for multiplying.

Now they up and say that bribes were offered in the recent senatorial contest in the New York legislature. And so soon after Lorimer.

If congress stays in session two years, as one member predicts, the Congressional Record will have a long run and overwork its staff.

Hail stones seem to be growing, too. Out in Illinois some 18-inches in circumference are reported. May be they will be as large as hogsheads after a while.

Mrs. Hetty Green is going to establish a string of banks from New York to San Francisco. Why not stirring some of them down South, sister?

In another letter Mr. A. J. Moyer again calls attention to the matter of community spirit or co-operation among farmers. It is really one of the most practical suggestions that has been made to the farmers of the county, and they could benefit themselves greatly by adopting it.

Talk about going forward some, here is one that is a step over anything on this side of the pond. In London they have automobile horns that play tunes. No more of the "honk, honk," if you please, but a snatch of rag time or some popular air to charm those being passed on the road.

It is easy to find excuse for almost any sort of deficiency. People whose writing resembles chicken tracks will explain that smart men are usually bad penmen; others who have no hair on the top of their heads will tell you that men of brain are usually bald; those who have grown a "tummy" that hides a view of their feet will comfort themselves by saying that small houses do not have bay windows—and so on. The latest comes from Paris, and it is to the effect that the savants of the Paris Academy of Science have discovered that big feet indicate an equally abnormal growth of brain, and that large pedal extremities and genius go hand in hand. This explanation, however, will not hold good, for if big feet were an unfailing sign of genius the colored race would have long ago fired the world with their genius.—Statesville Landmark.

Two Sports of Thieves.

The Catawba County News is complaining of newspaper piracy. It was the first paper in the State to give the information about the legislative trouble with the $400,000 school fund, and The Chronicle was the first paper to copy it and give The Catawba County

News credit for it. Other papers however, did not treat The News so well. They copied its article bodaciously head and all, and palmed it off as their own. The disinclination of some newspaper men to give credit for the assistance they get from their contemporaries, is hard to understand. We can recall an incident wherein one newspaper stole an editorial from another paper and in another column wrote with vitriolic per about a negro woman who had stolen a cloak from a white woman in the editor's town. Of the two, which is the greater sinner—the intelligent editor who steals an editorial, or the ignorant negro woman who steals a cloak? If we were on a jury, we would give the negro woman the cloak and send the editor to the rock pile. We are entirely in sympathy with the editor of The Catawba County News. His complaint is just.—Charlotte Chronicle.

OLD DAYS GONE BY.

Keep the Young People in the Country.

Have you ever, in driving through the country, passed one of those big, roomy, old-fashioned houses that was at one time the home of a prosperous farmer? The children have romped from attic to basement, you almost imagine you can hear their many voices. The memory comes back to you, perhaps, of the happy evenings you have spent with the family, gathered around the wood fire; you can in fancy see the shadows on the wall thrown back from the great blaze, in the big fireplace. You catch yourself listening to see if you can not hear the sound of wheels as the family carriage comes around to the front gate to take the family over to preaching at the little country church over yonder in the pines. No, it is all a dream, the family has gone to town to live; the boys, some to travel on the road, others to sell goods behind a counter for fifteen hours a day; others are perhaps twisting the brakes on street cars. The father and mother set and wish for the old home back in the country. You stop and look long at the old house: the blinds are hanging by one hinge, the lights are gone from the upper windows, old rags are stopping the winds of one or two of the lower rooms that are furnishing shelter for the family of some "cropper" who is working (?) the old farm on shares. The fence is gone that once enclosed the big family garden, with its gravel walks and box hedges. The scale is slowly sapping the life out of the fine old apple trees from which the boys used to gather those glorious Winesaps and Limbertwigs. It is a sad picture is it not, and will it not be a grand thing when we get the family back in the old home, the house repaired and painted, the big carriage back in the barn, the farming and labor adjusted to present-day conditions, the love for the soil re-established in the hearts of the old members of the household? Indeed it will; and then we will be started toward a more permanently profitable agriculture.—A. L. French, in Progressive Farmer.

Wealth is a bubble that some men try to enlarge by blowing.

FARMER'S WIFE HAD HEAP TO DO

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do."

"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors.

"You don't know how half I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have."

Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients being no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

Brawn and Brain.

Ollie James, Democratic representative in congress from Kentucky, is big and brawn and big of brain. He is as big politically, too, as he is big physically. He is a living example of the fact that there are giants in these days as well as in "those days." From tip to tip he measures six feet six inches and he weighs 310 pounds. His brow extends from his eyes to the collar button on the back of his neck, for his head is as bald as a boiled egg, and he can scarce remember to time when hair grew upon his dome, which shines like a polished billiard ball. He has one pronounced love and one equally pronounced hatred. The one is for horses and the other is for Republicans, not personally, but politically. He will go miles to see and beat a horse race, and twice as far to meet and beat a Republican. In Kentucky, especially, these are qualities which make for popularity, but Ollie's popularity is not confined alone to his native state. His almost child-like simplicity, unvarying good humor, and general character make friends for him everywhere. Personally, he knows no enemies, politically he knows no friends who do not subscribe to the tenets of true Democratic faith. In short, Ollie James is a worthy successor of the long line of distinguished Democrats who have come to congress to serve their state and nation.

The Lyre Bird.

The fully developed male lyre bird is one of the most handsome and notable of the forms of bird life of Queensland. The contour of the bird, with its long neck and stout gallinaceous feet, is by no means unlike that of a peacock, and the wonderful tail, possessed only by the male birds, fulfills a corresponding role of vain display. The bird executes antics for a train of female admirers on a raised earthen mound. For a short period of the year, about January, the lyre bird loses its characteristic plumes and has to be content with the sober plumage of its mate.

The purpose of the Tour is Educational—a trip to no other place is as instructive and interesting as to the beautiful City of Washington, the seat of our National Government. The Congress will be in (extraordinary) session.

Interesting features of the program will be a reception at the White House, by President Taft, and a visit to the Capitol of the United States, where the North Carolina Senators and Representatives will welcome the party.

A side trip will be made to Mount Vernon the Home of our first President.

Still another equally interesting side trip will be to Arlington, the home of the great Southern Chieftain—General Robert Edward Lee.

BIBLICAL TROUBLES.

Knotty Language Problems Translators Have to Solve.

Some of the riddles that have to be solved before the Bible can be translated into remote and barbaric tongues are cited in that annual wonder book, the popular illustrated report of the British and Foreign Bible society. How, for example, can you find a name for "lamb" among the inhabitants of some island where the only quadrupeds are pigs and rats? How can you render "whiter than snow" in the dialects of West Africa, where snow is utterly unknown?

Occasionally the difficulty is one of sheer space. Lengua, the speech of an Indian tribe in Paraguay, which has been furnished with the gospel according to St. Mark, is so unwieldy that the word eighteen can only be represented thus: "Sohogemek-wakthlak-mok-eminik-antanthlama." Literally translated, that means "finished his hands, pass to my other foot—three," for fingers and toes serve as units. The word for butter in Lengua is "walty - anamankukingnik - ikpith-muk" which means literally "the grease of the juice of the udder of the cow."

In New Guinea the translator wanted the proper idiom for "far be it from me to do this thing," so he consulted an intelligent catechumen. "Yes," replied the catechumen, "I understand exactly. We have the precise idiom. We say, 'May I speak to my mother-in-law before I will do this thing?'" for in that land of strange taboos one of the unpardonable sins is for a man to open his lips to his wife's mother.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Justifiable Deception.

The talk had gone back, and from the youthful Socialist had been announcing that no man ought to get his living by cheating, and we all listened to him and agreed that it was dreadful when men and women did not tell the truth, but tried to make their living by deceiving people. Millionaires, landowners, financiers, we scarified all of them who cheat the public.

"No one should make a living by deception," said the young man.

Then a quiet voice from a woman came from the corner of the sofa. "What about the conjurer?"

Eating Four Hundred Years Ago.

Four hundred years ago eating was practically confined to two meals a day, but in many parts the second or evening meal was of such a protracted character that laws were passed limiting its duration. Thus at Berne there was a law against sitting at table more than five hours. At Bale, from 10 o'clock in the morning to 6 o'clock in the evening was the maximum permitted, but the town council was unable to practice its own counsels of perfection and on great occasions finished in private. In Saxony the innkeeper was forbidden to serve more than four dishes at one meal.

Welcome Joy.

Et you ain't got manners ter tell Joy good mawnin' when you meets him, how does you expect him ter call round by de place you live at? You better be mighty keeful fer whilst he is allus in a good humor he sho' do expect you ter meet him half way.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Rare Treat.

A distinguished society leader of New York, lately returned from a motor trip through France, said that her most delightful experience was hearing the French pheasants singing the mayennaise.—Everybody's.

When our hatred is too bitter it places us below those whom we hate.—Rochefoucauld.

AN OFFICIAL SNUB

Rudely Flung at Genial Robert Louis Stevenson.

A CONSUL WITH A GROUCH.

The Author Called on the Newly Appointed Official at Apia to Pay His Respects and Was Shown the Door With Few Words and No Ceremony.

When Robert Louis Stevenson lived in Samoa he dressed as the others there did. Up at Vaillima they all went about in their bare feet, except when expecting guests.

When Stevenson came into Apia he looked only half dressed. He always came down with a soft shirt on and generally white flannel trousers, sometimes with a red sash round the waist.

On one occasion the genial author was rudely snubbed by a newly appointed British consul at Apia, one Colonel De Coetlogon. The story is told in "With Stevenson in Samoa," by H. J. Moors, the author:

One Sunday morning while Stevenson and myself, barefoot and in pajamas, were discussing the various local celebrities, my friend suddenly jumped up and announced that he had neglected a bounden duty. Here he had been in Apia for some considerable time and had not yet called on her Britannic majesty's representative. Every Britisher of mark should attend to such a duty at the earliest possible moment! I must introduce him without one moment's further delay! "Come along, Moors," said he; "let's get it off our mind!"

I informed him that Colonel De Coetlogon was himself a new man in the place—he had been in Apia but a little while—and I had not yet met him. People who had met him had mostly declared him to be an exclusive, crusty old fellow, full of pomposity. I was therefore very loath to go until the new arrival had simmered down somewhat. It was rumored that he had been for years governor of some great jail in Britain, and people remarked that he treated many of his callers as ticket of leave men who had come in to report.

But Stevenson, feeling very sure of his powers to charm this Gorgon, would take no warning, but shouted gaily: "Come on, Moors! I'll attend to this case. He'll welcome us all right!" I pointed out his attire and his lack of shoes, and, with a sigh, he compromised so far as to put on a clean shirt and a pair of trousers and shoes, but my best efforts would not induce him to wear a coat. In the rig he wore and under his little yachting cap he positively looked no more than twenty or twenty-five years of age. He bubbled with enthusiasm over everything new and strange that came within his view as we passed along the road to Matautu, where De Coetlogon lived. From the beginning I doubted if we would receive anything like an effusive welcome, and I took care to impart my fears to my friend, but he only laughed. Particularly did I point out that this was Sunday and that we should choose another day for our visit. He still laughed.

With pride and joy he threw open the consular gate and strode manfully across the lawn, I following close behind. A tall, soldierly person, with white mustachios and close cropped hair, was sitting peacefully on the veranda. He made no attempt to rise and welcome us. A whisky and soda had just then his rapt attention. We ascended the steps. The statue in the chair merely regarded us. We might as well have been a couple of distressed prisoners coming to pray for some amelioration.

Stevenson would have embraced this cold representative of his country's greatness, but the chill restrained him, "Good morning, sir."

A grunt. "Well, what do you want?" "My name is Stevenson. I am well known in Britain by my works—in fact, I am a novelist. This is Mr. Moors."

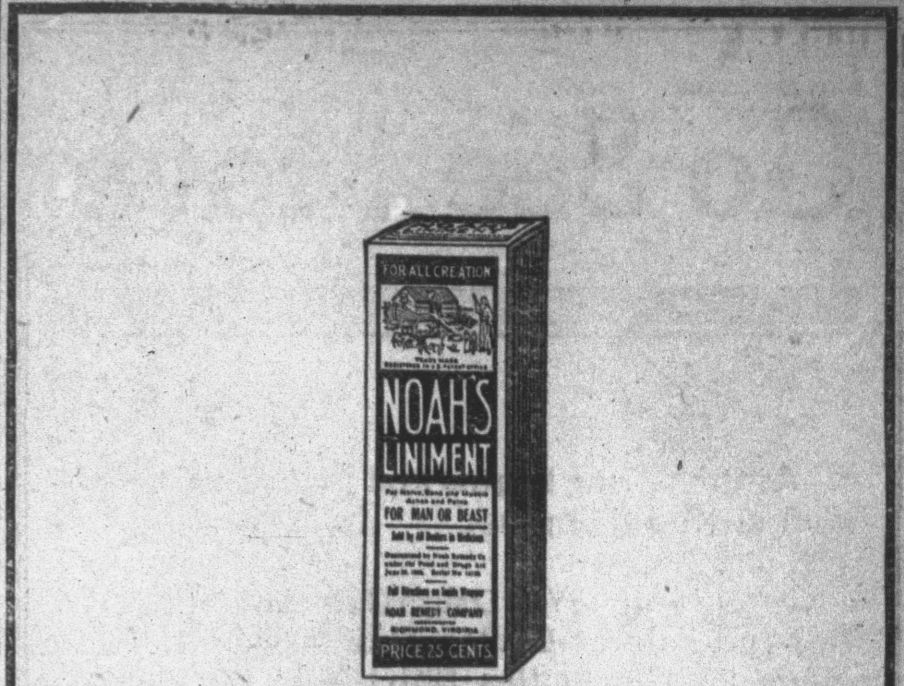

"Well, what do you want?" No friendly hand was stretched out to greet us. We noted a face as hard as stone, as uncompromising and as unsympathetic as a brick wall. Stevenson stood there as one petrified; I was quite appalled. My friend had not counted on such a start. There was no seam or crevice in which he might momentarily locate to reconnoiter before he should attack again. The consul's brow was sad to look upon. He had not even risen civilly to hear us.

"We have come, sir, to pay our respects."

"If you have any business and desire to see me I will listen to you on week days and in my office at the proper time. Good morning."

Stevenson quite lost the power of speech and looked appealingly at me. I cannot remember exactly what I said, but I know that I endeavored to depict to the consul the worth and honesty of my companion.

In return came this: "I don't care who you are—either of you! If you have any business at this consulate come and state it at the proper time." Without more than a profound bow Stevenson turned and made his way out into the road again, I having preceded him. "By heavens, Moors, you were right! What a beast! What a d—d—well, I suppose he has a right to choose his own Sunday morning company. I had thought that I was one of the foremost men of letters of the day, but this fellow differs. What a situation for a man of my supposed eminence to find himself in! People will differ in their opinions, won't they?" And he burst out into a merry laugh.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

The Reflector Company,
Greenville, N. C.

The Reason I Represent The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York

- Being the oldest American Life Insurance Company, it is not an experiment.
- It has a prestige and standing among business men that no other Company has.
- I do not have to advertise the Company. My connection with the Company introduces and advertises me.
- It writes women as well as men at all ages and at same rates.
- It has special rates for ages from 15 to 21.
- It writes applicants over 60 and up to 70.
- It pays ANNUAL DIVIDENDS.
- It pays a FIRST YEAR DIVIDEND, whether second year's premium is paid or not.
- It pays a DIVIDEND at the end of EVERY policy year, whether the next year's premium is paid or not.
- The Mutual Life pays a POSTMORTEM DIVIDEND if death occurs during the FIRST or ANY OTHER policy year.
- The Mutual Life's rapid increase in dividends has practically eliminated competition.
- The Company has no limit--it writes policies of any size.

NEW YORK AND CHICAGO MARKETS

Stocks

New York, April 18.—The Mexican situation asserted influence on the stock market today and as a result the market opened dull and heavy. Missouri Pacific was the weakest feature of the list. Despite the fact that it opened only 3-8 under the close, traders held that its position is far from strong. There was scattered selling in Steel, Reading and Union Pacific. Chesapeake and Ohio was off 1-4. Pennsylvania 1-4, Union Pacific 1-8, Virginia-Carolina Chemical was unchanged.

Cotton.

New York, April 18.—Cotton opened narrow but steady, with prices slightly changed from the close. May options were off a point. Futures were steady at Liverpool and spot arm.

Grain.

Chicago, April 18.—Despite higher prices in Liverpool market, there was a fractional decline at the opening here under increased selling pressure and lack of demand. Corn 1-4 to 3-8 cent higher, oats a shade better with corn. Provisions were steady with hogs.

Bad Headaches Quickly Disappear.

Mrs. Chas. Hartley, 516 Franklin St., Jackson, Mich., says: "I had suffered all kinds of pain and agony from stomach complaint for several months. The pains in my stomach were very bad, the gas forced the food up into my throat, my food did not digest, headaches of the worst kind attended, I became weak, nervous and in a condition so I could not sleep.

Was alarmed at my condition as doctoring did not benefit me, finally I was induced to try MI-O-NA, and after using for about two weeks, I found a cure.

If you have a sallow complexion, pimples, blotches, or dull eyes, your digestion is all wrong, and you should take MI-O-NA stomach tablets immediately, and put your stomach right.

MI-O-NA instantly stops belching of gas, sour stomach, heartburn and foul breath and gives complete relief in five minutes.

MI-O-NA is guaranteed to cure dyspepsia, sea sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, or money back

Don't hesitate to try MI-O-NA. It is for sale by Coward & Wooten and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box. Apr. 18, 27, May 9.

Most people who are willing to loose the strings of their purse know in advance that it is empty.

Usually the things that keep a man awake at night are those he neglected during the day.

A Mighty Mountain Range.

Mount Everest is guarded from approach on either side by Tibet and Nepal, undoubtedly the two most inaccessible countries in the entire earth. The mountain range between Everest and Kanchinjunga contains a series of very high mountains, several of them over 28,000 feet. The lowest of the mountains in this range are higher than St. Kitts, in North America.
