

LAST WEEK A BIG ONE FOR GRIFTON, N. C.

CELEBRATE SCHOOL CLOSING Big Speeches, Large Barbecue and a Tremendous Ball Game.

Grifton, April 29.—The closing exercises of Grifton public schools were held on Thursday and Friday of this week and were largely attended by the citizens of the town and surrounding country.

On Thursday night the first examinations were held. They consisted of songs, drills, recitations and declamations, and were very much enjoyed by all who were present. The students went through their several parts in such a way as to reflect credit upon the teachers who have had them in charge for the past year. Every selection was full of interest and was presented in a spirited manner, resulting in not a dull moment during the entire evening.

Yesterday was the big day, through. The exercises were opened at 11 o'clock by prayer by Rev. L. B. Pattishall, pastor of the M. E. church, after which the children rendered a splendid chorus. This was followed by the annual address, which was delivered by Prof. W. I. Cranford, of Trinity College. Professor Cranford was introduced by Mr. Paul Webb, a bright young attorney and a graduate of Trinity College, who has been located in Grifton for a short while. Professor Cranford's address was a scholarly one and made a fine impression upon his hearers. He dealt with the educational and moral uplift of man, and his remarks were such as to instill a high hope for the future within the breasts of all who heard him. Prof. Cranford is a pleasing speaker, and it was a rare treat for all who had the privilege and pleasure of hearing him.

Professor Cranford was followed by Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, County Superintendent of Public Instruction for Pitt county, who, in a brief talk, gave a history of the good work that the school at Grifton was doing. His remarks were very interesting, and especially so to the patrons of the school, as they gave them an insight to what their school was doing for their children.

After the speeches came another song, after which all adjourned to the yard near by, where a free dinner and barbecue was served. This was a mighty good part of the program, for many were the thoughts that were fitting through the minds of those present of the good things in store for them, and only such good things as the housewives of Pitt county are noted for.

The dinner disposed of, all repaired to the baseball park, where a ball game was witnessed, in which the Grifton boys defeated the Hookerton boys to the tune of 11 to 9. There was much enthusiasm, by all who were present.

The exercises were closed last night by a play and tableaux by the pupils of the school, which were enjoyed by a large crowd that was present.

Professor Funderberg, the principal of the school, and his assistants, have done fine work at Grifton this year, and so satisfactory have been their labors that the trustees have unanimously re-elected them for the coming year. Professor Funderberg holds from Monroe, this state.

No county in the state is doing more along educational lines than Pitt, and right here in the neighborhood of Grifton, Ayden and Winterville are to be found three of the best schools in the state. They are doing a good work, the results of which will be far-reaching and will last through generations yet to come. Much of the credit for this good school work is due to Professor Ragsdale, the county superintendent of public instruction who is not only an able man, but is a hard worker and never tires in his labors to build up the schools in his county and to increase the interest in education among the people he serves.—W. X. Coley, in News and Observer.

TO HOLD ATTENTION

The First Requirements of a Good Advertisement.

When you sit down to write an advertisement for your space in the local newspaper the first question you should put to yourself, if you are one of those men who want to see their advertisements bring results, is: What must be the first requirement of this advertisement?

The first requirement of an advertisement is to attract attention. To catch and hold the attention of a possible customer necessitates something in the announcement that is different from the usual run of type matter in the paper and also different from the ordinary style of advertisements therein. Further, that "something" must compel the attention sufficiently to hold it till the prospect realizes that she or he wants to read the rest of the advertisement for the sake of what is said in it.

There are several ways to attract attention. One is by means of a striking headline in bold type, another way may be planned by the use of plenty of white space in and around the ad, and still one more means is the use of some freak arrangement of the type matter. Attention may also be got by a combination of all these ways. But there is one other way of attracting attention that beats them all.

It has been found from experience in country towns and in dealing with goods that sell mostly to women, that a good illustration is the best way not only to attract attention, but to hold it, and create interest in the rest of the advertisement. The illustration should have human interest and should, as far as possible, enter into it by means of a figure of a man or woman performing something or having done something, the result of the "something" done being shown.

For a long time it was thought that comic pictures were the best means of attracting attention and while this may be so to a limited extent, it has been found that they do not create that necessary desire to read the rest of the advertisement. Because they are comic they cause laughter which means that the laughter often extends to the contemplation of the goods or even to the advertiser himself. When an advertisement is laughed at it seldom carries conviction to the mind of the possible customer. A well drawn picture with a psychological basis is therefore, the best means of attracting attention to an ordinary retail merchant.

The illustration should be well drawn. A badly drawn or silly picture reflects on the goods and the store. It is better to do without the illustration altogether than have a bad one. And the picture should not only be well drawn, but it should blend well with the rest of the advertisement. When it attracts attention it should also direct the mind to the other portion of the advertisement that creates and brings conviction. Pictures of the "reason why" kind in advertising are a natural evolution in retail publicity. They have been used for a long time in successful national advertising. A glance at the Saturday Evening Post or any of the good magazines will show this and it will also prove another thing, that comic pictures or caricatures are not usually used by those big advertisers to exploit their offerings.

Remember always, Mr. Retailer, that attention getting is classed as about sixty per cent. of all retail advertising and when next you write an advertisement without using the best means to get that attention, you are losing about sixty per cent. of the value of your whole announcement.—Henry Hendershott, in the Merchants Journal and Commerce.

The Reflector will furnish you illustrations to suit any line of goods free of cost to you.

A PLEASANT EVENING AT TRAINING SCHOOL

ORIGINAL PROGRAM PRESENTED.

Makes Decided Hit and Much Applauded.

Saturday evening the E class of the E. C. T. S. gave an entertainment in the auditorium of the school. This was the last of a series of pleasant evenings that have been given by the various classes of the institution. These occasions have been delightful, both to the student body and their friends who have been fortunate enough to be present. The following thrown upon a canvass by the elequent lantern of the school, gave the first information as to what the elegant lantern of the school, tainment would be:

"The Ladies Home Journal. E class presents a sample copy."

Then came upon the same canvass immediately preceding the rendering of each number the following "Table of Contents:"

De Coppah Moon,
That Reminds Me
Spring Styles.
Mrs. Rorer with her Class.
The Lady from Philadelphia.
The Most Active Actors, Part I and Part II.
Sweet Miss Mary.

The Country Distributor of Common Sense.
The Advertising Department.

From the beginning to the end of the entertainment there was not a dull moment. Each piece was followed by prolonged applause and encores were the fashion of the evening. Colored lights thrown upon the various scene added much to the effect. It would take more space than we have today to note what richly deserves to be mentioned about each number presented. To be appreciated it had to be seen. We must say, however, for originality of conception and preparation, and for unique presentation, the program commended itself and gave a number of surprises to everyone present.

The "hits" in many of the pieces were much enjoyed by the entire audience. To Miss Jenkins, the class advisor, and Miss Muffy, the music director, is largely due the pleasure of this most delightful evening. Under their direction and training the class surpassed the most sanguine expectations of their most ardent friends.

These entertainments have already become an interesting feature in the work of this, the state's youngest institution, and are looked forward to with real joy, both by the students and the people of the town.

Warden is A Hero.

Raleigh, N. C., April 29.—Warden C. P. Sales, of the state prison, did a heroic thing this evening on Fayetteville street, when he threw himself between a frantic runaway horse and buggy and his family sarray in which were Mrs. Sales and other members of his family, thereby preventing the horse from dashing into the vehicle with probably disastrous effects. Mr. Sales was himself knocked down and painfully hurt. He certainly prevented most serious injuries for members of his family. The runaway was the property of E. Merchants. The animal broke away from a hitching post in front of the store and dashed down Fayetteville street. He ran into a buggy occupied by N. B. Broughton, who was thrown out and painfully injured about the face and body. His injuries are not thought to be very serious.

THE MEN DISCUSS THE SUBJECT, BUSINESS HONESTY

SUNDAY'S MEETING A GOOD ONE

You Always Miss Something If You Are Absent.

The Men's Prayer League had a discussion of a practical topic at the meeting in the Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, the leaders, Messrs. G. E. Harris, T. R. Moore and F. M. Wooten, making most timely and interesting talks on "Business Honesty," followed by short talks from some of the others present. Honesty as it relates to various phases of life was discussed—in business, in home, in the church, in social life and in meeting engagements with others. Those who heard gained a better idea of what real honesty is, the teaching to "love thy neighbor as thyself" and have charity for all were prominently impressed.

The league had a pleasant surprise at this meeting in a quartette rendered by Messrs. Warren, Dupree, Whichard and Pugh. Such surprises as this are likely to occur frequently in these meetings, and you never know when you will miss them. In fact, you miss something interesting and good every time you miss one of these meetings.

Next Sunday afternoon the meeting will be held in the Methodist church when the subject will be "What Think Ye of Christ?" Text, Matt. 22:42 and Matt. 16 15-16. Leaders, Messrs. O. E. Warren, M. W. Wallace and R. L. Jones.

"NOW FOR NORTH CAROLINA."

A Story To Appear in the June National Magazine.

"Now for North Carolina" will embody the wonderful story of the progress and enterprise of the Old North State, and appear in the National Magazine for June. So great and so radical have been the changes during the last generation that it requires sixty-four pages to do justice to its enterprise and prosperity of today. The saying of Christ, that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country," might be paraphrased today to the effect, that "The glories of a state are not without admiration and honor abroad, while not duly appreciated at home."

North Carolina is indeed an empire in itself. The coastal district, with its canals and lumber interests, has always been associated in Northern minds with the old school boy phrase "tar, pitch and turpentine," and too little with the fisheries of the great sounds and diversified productions of a light but generous sort. Westward the great plateau district and the mineral-bearing ranges support prosperous towns and agricultural valley hamlets, from which many swift and clear rivers afford waterways to the sea.

Many a European nation, great in the annals of antiquity, has no prouder record of man's bravery, woman's beauty, diversified resources and varied scenery, than the Old North State. The healing ozone of the pine belt, where many thousands go to find a new lease of life, the minerals and quarries of the mountain lands, the deposits of gold, sapphire, mica and iron, and the historical interests associated with the early settlement of a state where the first white child on the American continent was born, blend in the story of the old conditions and new triumphs. From Roanoke to Asheville, from Elizabeth City to Wilmington, in every section and every direction, the older towns are thriving, and new centers of population are carrying diversified business and industries into hitherto purely agricultural sections.

The farmers and farm population of North Carolina are increasing, and the comparative isolation of plantation days is passing away. With intensive farming and the progressive manufacturing and municipal enterprise almost everywhere dominating, the story, "Now for North Carolina," cannot fail to be of great interest to every American. The cover design, embodying an antique caravel, such as that in which Sir Walter Raleigh's first adventurers entered Croatan Sound, makes a spirited and especially appropriate setting for the title "Now for North Carolina." No one who has ever lived or been interested in North Carolina, can fail to find in the June National a story to be preserved as an up-to-date history and appreciation of the great "North State."

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The fair which the Pitt County Association is going to hold next fall should appeal to every farmer in the county. We want to tell you that it is going to be something worth while. Right now is the time that the farmers should begin preparation for it. Cultivate your crops with the view of having something good to put on exhibition for your fellow farmers to see how well you have done. If you are a raiser of fine stock, or a poultry fancier, have an eye to bringing some of the best of these to the county fair. And the good housewife, let her give heed to the dairy and poultry supplies and have some of these to exhibit. The boys in the corn contest also can select the ten best ears out of their crop and bring them along to compete for prizes. All have these things in mind during the cropping and harvesting seasons, and when the exhibits are brought together on the day of the fair it will be shown that Pitt county is the greatest in the state.

Now just watch Jim Cowan, of the Wilmington Dispatch, "go" for Dave Whichard, of the Greenville Reflector. Says the Reflector: "People are saying the peaches are all killed. Say, folks, just go with us to the beach this summer. You will see plenty. Some with the peeling on, some with peeling off, some just peeling. Don't hollow before you are hurt."—Salisbury Post.

Oh, you buttinsky! Why don't you fellows let Cowan and we uns alone? You're worse than Hobson trying to bring on a scrap.

A young woman was choked to death the other day in New York by wearing one of those high, tight collars. Wonder why some women don't get concussion of the brain from wearing those wash-tub size hats? N. B.—Good chance for a daring chap like Whichard to rush in where angels fear to tread.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Gwan Cowan, we're too busy writing history to stop and play with you now.

Congressman Cullop, of Indiana, gives as a reason for the government postal deficit, that the post office department devotes too much attention to policy and too little to business. He says "the post office department is the greatest political machine ever constructed in this or any other country, and it is openly administered as a political organization."

There are not any but poor folks now, as tax listing time has come. One man got so poor that he had to stop his subscription to the paper.

A Burglar's Awful Deed.

May not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women. "They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlap, of Leadill, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25 cents all druggists.

If men were run out of town because they are worth practically nothing to it, Greenville would lose some citizens.

If you want to hear factory whistles in Greenville, first build the factories, and then the whistles.

If a man makes his living in a town, it is certainly his duty to do something for the town.

No Pharisaism.

We like to see a man whose feelings are hurt when he hears his town criticised. We are still more pleased when we see one who in the face of such criticism frankly admits whatever basis of truth it may have. A correspondent of the Wilmington Star writes a very interesting letter dealing with the remarks which have been elicited all over the state by the scoring Judge Peebles gave a New Hanover jury and by the reports of blind-tigerism which are constantly coming from that quarter. He admits without hesitation that the jury may not have been perfectly wise, but declares that twelve men do not constitute the population of either city or county. He admits equally that the prohibition law has suffered violation, but calls attention to the earnest efforts which are being made to adjust the situation. Under the circumstances he does not think it just that Wilmington "as a whole" should be branded as "a very sink-hole of iniquity."

So far as we have seen, the state press has not been inclined to put this interpretation upon the evils cited. Remarks have been aimed not so much at Wilmington as at conditions which are as prevalent in Meckleburg and Forsyth and Buncombe—to all intents and purposes—as in New Hanover. North Carolinians still lack a good deal of perfection and it is a function of the modern newspaper to call attention to lapses from the straight and narrow path. To do this in a holler-than-thou spirit is simply to be ridiculous, and we have yet to see a ridiculous comment upon the Wilmington episodes.

"As a whole," remarked the correspondent referred to in language which all who know Wilmington may readily endorse, "this is an honest community. It is an intelligent community. It is an industrious community. It is fair-minded and broad-minded and I will put Wilmington against the world for showing kindness to strangers or those in distress." We believe we are justified in affirming that these sentences sum up with a reasonable degree of accuracy the esteem in which Wilmington is held not only by the patriotic citizen who wrote them but by the state at large.—Charlotte Observer.

A Big Bunch.

A presidential boom has now been started for Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, while Governor Marshall, of that state, hasn't gone anywhere yet. Then there's Wilson, Harmon, Clark, Gaynor, Bryan and others. Why, the Democracy has big men fill you can't rest.—Wilmington Star.

Headache and dizzy spells bothered me, and I rested so poorly that when I got up in the morning, I was in no fit condition to begin my work. Dangerous Aliens.

Moved by the recent affray in London between foreign anarchists and the police and soldiery, the British Parliament is taking measures to require from all refugees from other countries guarantees of good behavior. The Washington Post sees in this action a noble contrast with the weakness of congress in dealing with dangerous aliens that come to our shores. Outbreaks of foreign criminals such as that which London experienced, are not infrequent in this country, says the Post; New York, Chicago and San Francisco having been the scene of such occurrences, without congress paying the slightest heed, whereas in England one is enough to bring about vigorous action by Parliament. Our Washington contemporary thinks it advisable that aliens, subject to suspicion should be compelled to give bond for their good behavior. This, of course, would amount to practical exclusion, for what kind of a bond could the average immigrant of this type furnish? Probably not one of a thousand immigrants, good, bad or indifferent, could find means of furnishing a bond of any kind.—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Tax Assessment.

Under the new law, the state and county revenues from taxation will be quite materially increased, as it is believed much of the inequality that has existed heretofore, will be eliminated. The Raleigh correspondent of The Greensboro News says that on the first day of May of this year the county and assistant tax assessors are to begin the work of making an entirely new assessment of the property of the citizens of the state. Last year the total property in the state was listed, for taxing purposes, at something over $611,000,000, an increase of something more than $18,000,000 over the year 1909. With a total property value in this state estimated at more than $1,500,000,000, a conservative estimate has placed the probable value of the property listed this year for taxation at something about $800,000,000 to $825,000,000, while there are some who estimate not more than $750,000,000. "The Corporation Commission, which is also the State Tax Commission, says the correspondent, "is given greatly increased machinery for making an equitable assessment of the property of the state and with the proper support of the county assessors and the assistant assessors there is no reason why there should not be a great increase in taxable property on the tax books. Then in making estimates, the fact that values in this state have increased at a rapid rate during the past four years must be taken into consideration." In giving instances of inequality, this correspondent says that "it is the machinery that has been provided for making an equitable assessment—putting lands in some sections which are assessed unreasonably low on a proper level with other lands, equally as good.—Charlotte Chronicle.

In Praise of Eloquence.

An Alabama negro was defended in court by Senator Morgan. Having cleared the negro of the charge, the senator said to him, "Rastus," did you really steal the mule?"

"Well, Marse Morgan, it was just like this, said Rastus: I really thought I did steal dat mule, but after what you said to the jury I was convinced I didn't.—Success Magazine.

This land is now valued on the tax lists at only $5 an acre.—Chatham Record.

His Money or His Wife.

Now and then John B. Stanchfield tells a new story. The other night he was a guest at the dinner of the sheriff's pannel, always the most ornate dinner of the year. It costs $40,000, and, to dispose of the fund, the dinner-master provided solid silver souvenirs, in addition to the barrels of vintage champagne. Mr. Stanchfield told this yarn to illustrate a point:

"A very wealthy man got a note from the Black Hand," he said. "It read as follows: 'If you do not send us $100,000 we will kill your wife.' "The millionaire replied at once to the address given: 'Nothing doing on the money; but I'd like to hear from you further. Your proposition interests me.'"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, its the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

The Danger of Going Barefooted.

As the season is now approaching when all children desire to go barefooted, it is well that they should be warned that this pleasure does not come without danger. Until recent years we attached little importance to ground-itch, or toe-itch, so commonly seen among barefooted children who go about in the dew or other damp places. We know that the ground-itch is the initial symptom of hookworm disease and that it would not develop unless the soil had been polluted by sufferers from the disease. The myriads of eggs passing daily along with the excreta from their bodies develop into tiny microscopic worms too small to be seen. These, when allowed to come in contact with the skin, burrow through producing an attack of ground-itch. The truth of this assertion can be easily proved by making a poultice of polluted soil and applying it for a few hours to some part of the body. Always at the site of such a poultice there develops the ground-itch rash if there be a sufficient number of worms entering the skin.

Moreover, it is known that about fifty days after the attack of ground-itch the little worms that entered the skin will have found their way in the small intestine and there developed to a size sufficient for them to be easily seen with the naked eye. They are nearly one-half inch in length. The medicine given to get rid of them, by acting as a poison, causes them to be expelled from the body. By washing the stools through cheese cloth they may be collected.

The harm they produce is too well recognized to require discussion at this time. Suffice it to say, that the blood is sapped, the body stunted, the vitality lowered. Thus, the life and happiness of those dearest to us may be blasted. It is now time every one should know what is meant by ground-itch, hookworm disease, polluted soil, and poor sanitary arrangements. Your state board of health will be glad to supply this information free to any one who will ask for it.

GRANDMOTHERS

USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life, was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the vision of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

This remedy is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, Moye's Pharmacy.

SIX INSTEAD OF FIVE.

We Made The Association One Year Too Old.

Through an inadvertence at the time of writing, The Reflector stated Saturday that the Home Building and Loan Association was six years old, when it was intended to say five years. Of course no harm was done in the error in the number of years the association has been in existence, as the statement of its operations made in the advertisement referred to at the time speaks for itself. It is a vigorous association, even at the age of five years, and grows stronger and more useful to the community with each year added to its career.

DISSOLUTION.

Having sold our business on April 1st, 1911, to Mr. E. B. Thomas, this is to give notice that the firm known as The Tobacco Grocery Company was, on that date, dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Thomas was given the privilege of continuing the business under the same firm name. All accounts owed by the old firm will be paid by them, and all accounts due are to be paid to them, the settlement of the outstanding business being in the hands of Mr. J. A. Cash, secretary.

THE TOBACCO GROCERY CO.

Having purchased the business of The Tobacco Grocery Co., I will continue the same, at their old stand, on Ninth street, carrying at all times a nice line of the best groceries. I appreciate the patronage already received, and ask for a continuance of it.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy, only 50c at all druggists.

IN OKLAHOMA

They Find Poor Results of the Bank Guarantee Plan.

Reports of the banking situation in Oklahoma indicate that the "guarantee" plan that has been followed in that state since February, 1908, is meeting with many of the troubles its critics predicted. Under the law the state banks and trust companies contribute to the guarantee fund 1 per cent. of their average deposits, new institutions adding to the fund 3 per cent. of their capital stock. When a bank or trust company fails, the depositors are immediately paid from this fund, the state then having a first lien on the assets of the insolvent corporation. A great increase in the number of state banks came after the plan was put into operation. It is said that in one village of 150 inhabitants two banks were started, with aggregate deposits of only $15,000. Irresponsible promoters rushed into the banking business, and, too, the national banks themselves were forced in many instances to become state institutions by the advantage the latter held in bidding for deposits. But the cost of the guarantee system has been found too burdensome, chiefly owing to the assessments which, by the law, had to be made when the guarantee fund was drawn too low. Now the rush is the other way. Not only are the former national banks, which had, under pressure of the guarantee plan, become state institutions, re-incorporated under the Federal law, but many original state banks are doing the same thing. The process recalls the experiences of three other states, New York, Vermont and Michigan, over three-quarters of a century ago.—American Review of Reviews.

To Fight The Fly.

So completely have the house flies been exterminated in England that screens are no longer used in windows and doors. This shows what can be done. A solution of formalin or formaldehyde in water is the best and cheapest exterminator. Put a spoonful of formalin in half a tea cupful of water and expose it in a saucer in your room. Try it once and you will see. Burn pyrethrum powder in a room and sweep out the stupefied flies. Or put twenty drops of carbolic acid on a hot shovel. The vapor is deadly to the pest. Put a dram of bichromate of potash in half a glass of water and sweeten. Expose a little of the solution in saucers. Sticky fly paper also will do the work.—Louisville Courier-Journal.
