JAMES J. PERKINS, DEAD.

Venerable Citizen of Greenville Passes Away.

The people of Greenville were grieved to learn this morning of the death of Mr. James J. Perkins, which occurred at 4:45 o'clock at his home on Fourth and Washington streets.

Mr. Perkins was 78 years old, a native of Pitt county. He was in public life almost from the time he was of age to a few years ago, when he retired, taking active part in the affairs of the town and county. He was honored by the people quite a number of times by the trust of public office—twice he was elected mayor of Greenville, was also clerk of the court and register of deeds. He served as postmaster in Greenville about 14 years, at different times, it being the last public office he held before his retirement.

Mr. James Perkins was a gentleman of the old school. He was quiet and reserved, but always pleasant, courteous and kind. He was not connected with any church body, but a believer in an omnipotent, everpresent, all-loving God, and was a good man. He was married twice, his first wife being Miss Bettie Moore and his second, Mrs. Allie Higgs, who preceded him to the world beyond only a few years ago.

He leaves to mourn their loss two sons and three daughters by his first wife: Messrs. J. W. and W. W. Perkins, Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Mrs. R. C. Flanagan and Miss Annie Perkins.

The funeral services will be conducted from the home, and the interment will be in Cherry Hill cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

COUNTY FAIR.

The Governing Board Will Meet Next Friday.

The governing board of Pitt County Fair Association will meet in Greenville Friday morning. The mayor of each incorporated town in the county has been requested to appoint a number of this board to represent his respective town, and it is hoped all of these, as well as the township members already elected, will be at the meeting Friday.

BARACAS HAVE ENJOYABLE BOAT TRIP AND FISH FRY

REDS ENTERTAIN THE BLUES

Pleasant Trip and Outing on Proctor's Seine Beach Near Grimesland.

Some time ago the Baraca class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday school divided in two sections, known as the Reds and the Blues, and since then there has been considered rivalry between the sections for points of excellence, each side being given points for new members, attendance, punctuality in interest awakened. The social side of the class is also kept well in mind and helps to draw the members closer together. Recently the Blues entertained the Reds at a reception in the class room in the church that proved a most enjoyable occasion. On Monday the Reds played host to the Blues, and took them down the river to Grimesland for a picnic and fish fry.

The Baracas and a few invited friends, about fifty in all, left on the launch Myrtle, a little past 10 o'clock and a pleasant (though a little cold) run of two hours brought them to their destination, which was Proctor's seine beach. Mr. A. B. Ellington took a Victor graphophone and a large supply of records along, and on the trip and until dinner was spread he kept the crowd entertained with excellent music. The picnickers watched the fisherman haul the seine and saw the fish go kicking from the water to the kitchen where they were soon dressed for cooking.

The dinner was spread on a table on the beach; when all had gathered around it, Mr. J. S. Norman, captain of the Reds, extended a welcome to the Blues and other guests, and called on Rev. J. H. Shore for the invocation. The trip on the water in the brisk air had whetted the appetite for dinner, and the way hot shad and trimmings disappeared was something to make the cooks open their eyes. It was a feast right.

The start home was about a quarter past three, and the 2 hours' trip up the river was filled with music and merriment. The Reds are to be congratulated upon the success of their outing, and the writer appreciated being one of their guests.

YOUNG SHAD HAVE BEEN PLANTED IN TAR RIVER

GOVERNMENT SENDS THEM HERE

Half a Million Were Liberated at Greenville Monday Afternoon.

By Monday afternoon's Norfolk Southern twelve cans containing a half million young shad were brought to Greenville. The young fish were from the government shad hatchery at Edenton, and were in charge of Mr. L. J. Copeland, who is connected with the hatchery. The fish were taken directly from the depot to the wharf where Mr. Copeland liberated them in Tar river.

This is the first planting of young shad ever made in Tar river, and it was through the efforts of Congressman John H. Small that this shipment was sent here. President H. A. White, of the chamber of Commerce, Agent J. L. Hassell, of the Norfolk Southern, and the editor of The Reflector accompanied Mr. Copeland to the wharf to plant the fish.

Mr. Copeland said these young shad were hatched last Saturday, and they will attain their growth in three years when they will return to the river in which they were liberated. He also said that from the best statistics obtainable of these plantings about 50 per cent. of them live and reach their growth. If this holds good three years hence should find a large run of shad up Tar river.

Rocky Mount, May 8.—The arrest on yesterday afternoon of two neatly dressed and genteel young men upon a telegram from "Sheriff W. H. Coleman, of Columbia, S. C., and for alleged connection with the securing of an automobile and making away with the same, has caused more than passing comment in this city since the arrest. On yesterday afternoon the young men, one of them who gives his name as Williams, and other as W. W. Warnamaker, arrived in the city from Tarboro driving an E. M. F. car, of the 30-horse power roadster type. They went to a garage and there left the car, and it happened that the proprietor of the business remembered having received a notice relative to two such young men and asking that they be arrested. He communicated with the police department, and an officer was on his way to the garage when the telegram from the Columbia sheriff was received. He immediately identified the young men as those wanted and they were arrested and locked up.

Raleigh, N. C., May 8.—Another electrocution is set for next Friday, May 12, when Norman Lewis, a negro, is to die for the murder of Chief of Police Stallings, of Spring Hope. The crime occurred last fall at Spring Hope. Lewis was wanted by the Spring Hope authorities on the charge of larceny of some small articles and Chief of Police Stallings went to Lewis' house in the edge of Spring Hope and called for him. His wife came to the door and in answer to inquiries from the chief, stated that Lewis was not at home. Chief Stallings insisted that Lewis was in the house and started to advance towards the door which was open and the woman standing in the doorway. Lewis shot the chief through the door and the latter died from the wounds.

Raleigh, May 8.—Robert L. Gray, who for some while was editor of the Wilmington Star, later with the Richmond Virginian, and still later with the Baltimore News, has been transferred by Frank A. Munsey, owner of the paper, to New York to become chief editorial writer of Munsey's Magazine. Since going with the Munsey publications Mr. Gray's rise has been very rapid.

Mr. M. D. Hopper lost a horse valued at $250 Thursday. Not knowing what caused its death Mr. Hopper cut the horse open and found that a quart or more of fine white sand had lodged between the stomach and intestines, thus preventing the proper passage of the food. The horse, while drinking from a shallow branch a year ago drank this sand. This should be a lesson to the farmers about where they let their horses drink.—Cleveland Star.

Hendersonville, May 8.—A $20,000 fire this morning destroyed C. E. Roper's summer hotel at Flat Rock, two miles from here. The building is situated on a high hill near the Flat Rock depot, was less than a year old and the spectacular blaze attracted hundreds of spectators. Building and contents were insured for $11,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

Young Man Bound Over to Court for Criminal Assault.

W. D. Smith, of this county, was tried here Monday before Justice of the Peace C. D. Rountree, on two charges—criminal assault and kidnapping—and the evidence against him is very black. His victim is only 17 years old, pretty and of a good family. Smith was bound over to the Superior court under $1,000 bond on the first charge, and $500 bond on the second. The crime was committed in March and most of the time since he has been hiding.

SOUTH OUR BIGGEST ASSET

New York Financiers Haven't Yet Awakened to the Situation

Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record, when in this city discussed the material progress of the South.

"The financial people of New York" he said "have very little real knowledge of the South.

"For years they were inclined to look upon that section of the country as the 'poor relation' in the family of states. Few of them have ever yet really waked up to the real truth that the South is the nation's biggest asset. It is to the South that the nation is compelled to look for the $500,000,000 which Southern cotton annually brings us from Europe.

"But that is only a small factor in the South's importance. The cotton crop in its raw estate, seed included, is worth nearly $1,000,000,000 a year, while almost as much more is added to this value by that part of the crop manufactured in this country and the utilization of seed in 800 cottonseed oil mills.

"Comparatively few stop to think of the fact that the South has more than three times as much coal as Great Britain, Germany, France and Austria combined, or 60,000 square miles against their 7,000 square miles.

"In water power it is equally as highly favored, and while about 1,000,000 horse-power has been developed on Southern streams, there is available for development five or ten times as much, according to the methods used. At the present time 200,000 to 300,000 horsepower is being developed in the Carolinas, Tennessee and Georgia, at an expenditure of probably $40,000,000 or $50,000,000."—New York Tribune.

TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1911.

The thing that beats the air most now is the base ball bat.

News from Mexico continues to be about as changeable as the weather.

The leaves are not all grown by the 10th of May this time, but most of them are.

The electric service people are thinking they will not get a chance to run fans.

According to weather bureau forecasts, there will be summer weather sometime this week. Here's hoping they have guessed right.

One of the drawbacks to Greenville is the lack of ample hotel accommodation. We hope this year will supply this need, or at least have plans perfected looking to that end.

Congressman Mondell, of Wyoming, has introduced a resolution for general woman suffrage. He wants to amend the constitution to read: "Rights of citizens shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

You can talk to people about it and they will tell you Greenville is missing much in not taking advantage of using the river front. Yet nobody makes a move to that end. It offers opportunities for pavilions, bath houses, and even a park, if advantages were only taken of it. Some of these days the mistake of delay may be realized.

We took a trip down Tar river Monday, for the first time in several years, and could not fail to observe the bad condition for navigation that has recently come from neglect. The government has done no work on this river in the last few years, and congress ought to hurry to make an appropriation for it. The river is too valuable a stream to neglect, and the longer work on it is delayed the more it will cost to do the work. The river should be put in condition for a channel 8 feet deep all the way to Greenville.

Suicide A Miser For Love.
Unable to marry the girl he loved because he lacked wealth, Duncan J. MacRae, an architect, determined 50 years ago to devote his life to making money. At the age of 30 he gave up all social pleasures and became a miser.

By shrewd dealing and denying himself every comfort he accumulated a fortune. But the loneliness that came later years could not be dispelled even by the thought of the gold he worshiped. He was found dead in his dirty little room at 23 Dominick

Rings True.

The statement made by Democratic Leader Underwood in the house during the debate on the Canadian reciprocity treaty last week has the right ring to it. When taunted by Republicans with insincerity, regarding the free list bill, he said:

"I challenge the statement that we are going to pass the free list bill later on with the expectation that it will not become a law. The free list bill will become a law, or the Republican President that vetoes it will never be heard from again."

That, we believe, is about the sentiment of the American people; and while from present indications it seems quite probable that the free list will meet its fate at the hands of a Republican senator, the responsibility for its defeat can easily be placed where it rightfully belongs. By the passage of this bill in the house the Democratic party will have proven to the nation its sincerity in performing the service demanded of it, and it will have demonstrated its right to control both houses as well as the executive office—and if we mistake not that will be the verdict of the people in 1912.—Salem Times-Register.

Confederate Army.

A conspicuous feature of this southern army is its Americanism. Go from camp to camp, among the infantry, the cavalry, the artillery, and you are impressed with the fact that these men are, with very few exceptions, Americans. Here and there you will encounter one or two Irishmen. (And, by the way, Major Stiles tells the story of a most amusing encounter between two gigantic Irishmen at the battle of Gettysburg—the one a Federal Irishman, a prisoner, and the other a Rebel Irishman, private in the Ninth Louisiana—a duel with fists in the midst of the roar of the battle!) Very, very rarely you will meet a German, like that superb soldier, Major Van Brock who so endeared himself to Jeb Stuart's cavalry. But these exceptions only accentuate the broad fact that the Confederate army is composed almost exclusively of Americans. That throws some light on its achievements, does it not? I may here recall a good story told by Senator Hoar in his autobiography. Henry Ward Beecher, some time in 1862, was speaking on behalf of the Union in Liverpool. The audience was unfriendly, and in the course of his speech he was interrupted by some one in the crowd, who called out, "You said you would smash up the southern army in ninety days. Why didn't you do it?" At this there was a burst of laughter throughout the house, and many a gibe was hurled at the speaker. Mr. Beecher waited until the audience had quieted down, and then said, "My friends, if the rebels had been Englishmen, we would have done it!" Those men in gray were Americans of the purest blood—American Review of Reviews.

Bad Headaches Quickly Disappear.

Mrs. Chas. Hartley, 516 Franklin St., Jackson, Mich., says: "I had suffered all kinds of pain and agony from stomach complaint for several months. The pains in my stomach were very bad, the gas forced the food up into my throat, my food did not digest, headaches of the worst kind attended, I became weak, nervous and in a condition so I could not sleep.

Was alarmed at my condition as doctoring did not benefit me, finally I was induced to try MI-O-NA, and after using for about two weeks, I found a cure.

If you have a sallow complexion, pimples, blotches, or dull eyes, your digestion is all wrong, and you should take MI-O-NA stomach tablets immediately, and put your stomach right.

MI-O-NA instantly stops belching of gas, sour stomach, heartburn and foul breath and gives complete relief in five minutes.

MI-O-NA is guaranteed to cure dyspepsia, sea sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, or money back.

Don't hesitate to try MI-O-NA. It is for sale by Coward & Wooten and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box.

AWFUL PAINS

FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dorma A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book.

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Question of Honesty.

Most people are accounted honest at heart, at least "indifferent honest" like Hamlet. Social and commercial relations demand some degree of honesty, and where the quality is not instinctive it is presumed to be cultivated for expediency as the best policy. Credit is the very corner-stone of business. But while in theory every one is assumed to be honest, what is the practice?

Why are factory doors locked to permit a search of employes for stolen material? What is the reason for the enormous sales of cash registers and the multiplication of office checks and balances to prevent the theft of money by those professionally engaged in handling it? Who do bonding and surety companies multiply, and why do customs officers pry into the imports of great commercial houses as well as into the baggage of steamship passengers?

A curiously suggestive municipal exhibit of the relation of the theory of honesty to the conditions was furnished last week by the heaps of short-measure market baskets piled up against the city hall after seizure by the police. Is the honesty of even the farmer in doubt? Here was mute evidence of a state of things that gives reason for more concern than grand jury investigation of trust company and corporation rascality.—New York World.

When Does It Pay To Replant.

Much can be done towards preventing the necessity for deciding the question of whether it is advisable to replant, by (1) a thoughtful study of average conditions other years, as regards the best time to plant; (2) by a better preparation of the land; (3) by regulating the depth of planting by the condition of the soil and weather, and (4) by planting good strong seed.

If the crop is not planted too early replanting is not likely to be required, but if the stand is defective it must be quite bad to justify replanting, and in very few cases will partial replanting or an attempt to patch up a defective stand by filling in a small number of missing plants, be found profitable.—Progressive Farmer.

SCHEDULE "K" IS THE NEXT IN ORDER

TAFT ANTAGONIZES PROGRESSIVES

Aldrich is Senator—DeFacto Keeps in Close Touch With Protégés—Progressives Given One-Fourth Representation on Committees—Wickersham is Worried.

(By Clyde Tavenner).

Washington, May 9.—(Special).—The group of Senate Tories is still able to exert a tremendous influence upon legislation. Having packed the important committees with men who take the corporation attitude toward the particular legislation to come before those committees, the reactionaries are in a position to continue serving special privilege by obstructing, and perhaps preventing, the passage of legislation desired by the people.

Among those whom the public may safely rely upon to oppose most of the progressive house measures are Gallinger, Smoot, Lorimer, Guggenheim, Stephenson, Lodge, Oliver, Warren, Perkins and a dozen others, who will at all times have the hearty co-operation of Vice-President Sherman.

Back of this group of reactionaries are arrayed the tariff trusts, the railroads, Wall street, Standard Oil and the balance of the organized wealth of the country.

The Democrats and Progressive Republicans are pitted against this combination. The two forces will, when necessary, combine to prevent the passage of a bad bill, but they will be helpless at times to prevent the Tories from obstructing the passage of Democratic legislation such as the free list bill.

About the only thing the average citizen can do is to keep tab on the votes of his individual representative in both houses and senate, noting particularly whether they vote for or against measures desired by the people, and when election times rolls around to act accordingly.

Aldrich Senator De Facto.

Cooperating with the senate reactionaries who are planning to kill the free list bill and other similar anti-trust measures, is Nelson Wilmers Aldrich, of Rhode Island. Nominally Mr. Aldrich is connected with an institution of his own creation, called the monetary commission. The commission has a suite of rooms adjoining the rooms occupied by the finance committee, to which the free list bill will go.

If it should happen, opines the Cleveland Press, that the door were open between the rooms of the finance committee and the rooms of the monetary commission, it might happen that former Senator Aldrich might communicate with Senator Penrose, the new chairman of the finance committee, and thus the titular head of the senate majority might have the benefit of the views of the ex-leader (and possibly leader de facto) of the United States senate.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Aldrich keeps in as close touch with the men he trained to be reactionaries as when he was actually a member of the senate.

Taft Antagonizes Progressives.

President Taft took the leading part in the fight against giving the progressive Republicans of the senate the committee places they demanded, which fight resulted in leaving all the big senate committees the same citadels of special privilege that they were in the previous congress.

Before the Republican caucus was held the regular Republicans of the senate signed an agreement by which they agreed to give the progressives a one-fourth representation on all the committees. Senator Penrose, who signed the agreement for the regulars, is said to have bitterly arraigned his regular colleagues for putting him in the position of breaking his political word, which he declared he had always especially prided himself upon keeping inviolate.

It now develops that Penrose's breach of faith with the progressives was forced by white house pressure. President Taft considers progressives like La Follette his personal enemies and he does not want them in a position to assist in bringing about the passage of legislation like the farmers' free list bill, which they could do by combining with the Democrats if given the representation on the big committees to which their numerical strength entitles them.

Schedule "K" is Next.

Schedule K, the joker-filled wool schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, will be the subject of the first general tariff revision of the Democratic house.

All the jokers by which rates have been piled one upon another until the total has been far in excess of 100 per cent. are to be abolished.

Likewise there will be abolished the infamous provisions of the Payne-Aldrich law, by which material containing wool, but really made of cotton, is taxed as wool. The average reduction on all items in the woolen schedule is expected to reach at least 25 per cent.

What the Democrats propose will cause a tremendous outcry from the woolen trust and its allies, the producers of raw wool, and will, no doubt, provoke men like Warren, of Wyoming, Lippett, of Rhode Island, and the other high protectionists of the senate into predicting the downfall of the nation.

Wickersham is Worried.

United States Attorney General Wickersham is worrying. He is afraid the investigations to be made into the affairs of the steel trust, sugar trust, shoe trust and woolen trust will give these concerns immunity from prosecution. As all of these concerns, with the exception of a few $18 a week employees of the sugar trust, have enjoyed absolute immunity from prosecution and investigation since the day Mr. Wickersham left the service of the sugar trust to become the chief prosecuting officer of the government, it is difficult to understand how the immunity which they might receive, but will not, through congressional investigations, could be any more complete than the immunity Mr. Wickersham has given them.

Should be Interesting.

The inquiry to be made by the house of representatives into the political machine of Postmaster General Hitchcock is one in which the whole country will be interested. The resolution of inquiry directs the postoffice committee to determine how much political work is performed by postmasters and subordinate officers in the postoffices of the country, and by what authority they neglect their official duties and violate the civil service law. It has long been charged that through postoffice department patronage the postmaster general has established a machine for the control of delegates to the national convention.

To The Public.

That I might improve my health, I have retired from the drug business. I retire with a profound sincere gratitude to the people of the town and county for the generous and friendly patronage given my drug store. By your patronage, you have contributed much pleasure to me and to my wife, and we are thankful.

R. C. WHITE.

A Card.

School Lunches Served at Cost.

In most cases the meals are served entirely by private individuals or societies, but the schools often furnish the gas and equipment. After eight years of this sort of experiment, Chicago took a forward step, and, in the fall of 1910, its board of education appropriated $1200 to start one-cent lunches in six schools in the poorer parts of the city. The lunch consists of a nourishing soup with bread, or a sandwich, a bowl of milk, and a small piece of candy. All the cooking utensils are made in the manual training school, and the dishes are prepared by the cooking teachers and pupils. This way lunches are self-supporting. In Philadelphia, where the movement is still a private enterprise, luncheons varying in cost from one to three cents are served in ten schools. The menus are planned by an expert dietitian, and cost buys at least one hundred calories of food value. In Boston there are twelve schools serving one- and two-cent lunches, and the price, by extreme care and economy on the part of the management is made to cover the cost of the food. In a dozen or more other cities school meals are now proving their value; and in at least thirteen cities, according to a recent report, the matter of school lunches is being considered, in many cases by the board of education.

Our own experiment in New York, was started in November, 1908, in Public School No. 51, on Forty-fourth street, near Tenth avenue; and in the following March luncheons were opened in School No. 21, on Moit street. The equipment—stove, table, water and fire—is furnished by the board of education. The administrative work and all deficits are supplied by the school lunch committee of the public education association, an unofficial body of volunteers. Their aim is to RULE TO PROTECT WITNESSES.

A Rule Adopted By The Baltimore Supreme Bench.

In adopting the rule recommended by the Bar Association for the protection of witnesses, the Supreme Bench of Baltimore has instituted an important reform. The order issued is as follows:

"All witnesses, while under examination before any judge, are entitled to his protection against unnecessary discourtesy or annoyance and therefore council will not be permitted to subject them to degrading, insulting or vexatious questions, except so far as the judge may consider such interrogation reasonably proper for the elucidation of the truth, for the detection of falsehood or fraud concerning matters relevant to the issue or trial, or to test the credibility of the testimony of such witnesses relevant thereto."

All who attend the courts have seen unscrupulous attorneys bully witnesses and insult respectable men and women by asking questions and making insinuations designed to discredit them in the eyes of the judge and jury. Some lawyers take a pride in "turning a witness inside out," and are never satisfied until they have humiliated every one who testifies for the opposition. The man on the stand is helpless, while the lawyer is shielded by his position as an officer of the court. Many an impudent attorney would be soundly thrashed by a witness if he should address outside the court room the remarks in which he indulges with impunity while the witness is on the stand. Half the time this bullying is not resorted to to get the truth, but to confuse the witness when he is attempting to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth to the best of his ability. It does not so often aid in getting at the facts, but it does in defeating the ends of justice.

Occasionally a witness, goaded beyond endurance, turns upon his persecutor and makes a laughing stock of him. Old court attendants recall the case of the lawyer who demanded that the witness answer merely "yes" or "no," contending that there was no question that could not be answered by one word or the other. The witness offered to propound a query that the attorney would not answer by either "yes" or "no." He asked him, "Mr. Lawyer, have you stopped beating your wife?"

But in most instances the witness has to grin and hear it, and the process has driven many a man to anger and many a woman to tears. In some cases innocent witnesses have had their reputation in the community damaged when the tongues of gossip were set to wagging by some insinuation wellede in a lawyer's questions, and there is no reparation for the damage done.—Baltimore Sun.

The Real Thing.
Fred, aged three, had been a naughty boy, and his mother had punished him. He felt very much hurt and complained to his auntie about mamma's spanking him. Auntie said, "It is not you that mamma spans, but a little devil inside of you who makes you do naughty things." After sitting very still for five minutes he said, "It beats all how it hurts me when that devil gets spanked."—Dellineator.

A Bearded Freak.
One of the earliest of the American bearded freaks was Louis Jasper, who lived in southern Virginia at about the time of the close of the Revolutionary war. His beard was nine and a half feet long and correspondingly thick and heavy. He could take his mustache between his fingers and extend his arms to their full length, and still the ends of the mustache were over a foot beyond his finger tips.
