N. C. PRESS CONVENTION.

Date of Meeting Changed From June 20 to 27.

As a result of the conference in Salisbury Wednesday, between President M. L. Shipman and Secretary John B. Sherrill, of the North Carolina Press Association, it was decided to hold the summer meeting at Blowing Rock this year, beginning June 27 instead of June 20. This change is made because of the State Bankers' and State Retail Merchants' associations holding their conventions at Hendersonville about June 20, and also the Baptist World Alliance meets in Philadelphia June 29, and many North Carolina editors desire to attend this.—Salisbury Post.

BETHEL GRADED SCHOOL

CLOSING EXERCISES

OCCASION OF MUCH INTEREST

The School Has Made An Excellent Progress.

The last few days have been eventful ones for the good town of Bethel and community on account of the closing exercises of the graded and high school. The exercises began with a concert Friday night. The annual sermon was preached Sunday morning. Monday night there was a concert by the lower grades. Tuesday morning the exercises by the graduating class, Tuesday afternoon the literary address, awarding diplomas and presentation of prizes, with the finale and a reception at night.

All of the exercises were well attended, the people showing much interest in all that was done.

Prof. W. A. Bivens and his assistants have done excellent work during the past school year and the students made creditable progress. His management of the school brought much satisfaction to the people of the community. His work has been on a high plane. Bethel has every reason to be proud of the school.

BETHEL COMMENCEMENT.

Closing Exercises of Bethel School Held Last Night.

Bethel, N. C., May 10.—The exercises of last night in the school building marked the close of the most successful session in the history of the Bethel graded school.

The enrollment for the year was 165, and the attendance and average scholarship were such as to please the most exacting. The high quality of the work accomplished has called forth unanimous appreciation of the work of Prof. Bivens and his able corps of assistants.

The commencement exercises began on Friday night, with a concert by the lower six grades. Among the features of the evening were a good-night duo drill and a sketch drill representing the crowning of the fairy queen. These productions were exceptionally good and showed much careful training.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered on Sunday night in the Baptist church, by Rev. L. P. Howard, of Rocky Mount.

On Monday night the musical department, which is under the management of Miss Willis, gave a delightful recital.

Tuesday was the banner day of all. The attendance was beyond anything seen here in a long time. The day was begun by an interesting contest in the morning, in which Miss Maggie Whitehurst and Mr. Baxter Carson were the prize winners. In the afternoon Mr. A. J. Barwick, of Raleigh, who represents the State Department of Education, delivered an address in the interest of education. His subject was the Force of Environment, and he showed clearly the great influence extended upon the individual by enlightened and educated surroundings.

After Mr. Barwick's address, the following prizes and awards for the session were delivered:

- 1st Grade—Helen Bullock.
- 2nd Grade—Raymond Andrews.
- 3rd Grade—Leand Andrews.
- 4th Grade—Robert Carson.
- 7th Grade—Ruth Andrews.
- 10th Grade—Minnie Mae Whitehead.

On Tuesday night the teachers held an informal reception in the school building, at which a most delightful programme was rendered, including several drills, recitations and musical numbers by the teachers and pupils.

Those who attended the commencement exercises declared it to have been one of the biggest treats of the season; and a fitting close of an excellent year's work.

Miss Lucie Kerr was suddenly called to her home at Vinton, Va., this morning by the illness of her father. Mr. D. J. Whichard, of The Reflector, was in our city yesterday to attend the commencement exercises. Mr. B. B. Sugg, of Greenville, spent Tuesday with us.

COAL STRIKE IN CANADA.

Resulted in 10,000 Tons Decreased Coal Production Per Day.

The closing down of the coal mines throughout what is known as district No. 18, United Mine Workers of America, situated in British Columbia and Alberta, on April 1 has resulted in a decrease of 10,000 tons in the coal production per day. Six thousand men are idle, 5,000 being members of the union, which has its headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind.

This district was being worked under agreements with the Western Coal Operators' Association, to which most of the mining companies belong. These agreements were entered into about the first of July, 1909, after more than three months' negotiations, all the larger concerns excepting the Crows Pass Coal Co. signing with the officers of the miners' union. The Crows Pass Coal Co., which is by far the largest producer in the district, refused to remain in the association, and made a separate agreement with the union. This year, just before the time for renewing negotiations for a new agreement, the Crows Pass Coal Co. rejoined the operators' association, and, after a month of negotiation at Calgary, the convention broke up without arriving at an agreement covering the next two years. The differences between the two contending parties were chiefly as to the amount of increase of wages to be allowed to the men and partly over clauses insisted upon by the miners which tended toward the closed shop.—Daily Consular and Trade Reports.

OVER IN CHINA

Where The Elephants Are Made To Do The Work.

One morning I got up early and went to McGregor & Co.'s lumber yard at Ahloon to see the trained elephants there handle the heavy sawlogs which it is necessary to move from place to place. It beats a circus. It is very clear that My Lord, the Elephant, like most other beings in the tropics, doesn't entirely approve of work. What he did did with infinite deliberation, and he stopped much to rest between tugs. Also when some enormous log, thirty or forty feet long and two or three feet thick, was given him to pull through the mire, he would roar mightily at each hard place, getting down on his knees sometimes to use his strength to better advantage, and we could hardly escape the conclusion that at times he "cussed" in violent Elephantese. The king of the group, a magnificent tusker, pushed the logs with his snout and tusks, while the others pulled them with chains. But the most marvelous thing is how the barefooted, half-naked driver of mahout, astride the great giant's shoulders, makes him understand what to do in each case by merely kicking his neck or prodding his ears.

At one time while I watched a tuskless elephant or mutna got his log stuck in the mud and was tugging and roaring profanely about his trials, when the tusker's mahout bid that royal beast to help his troubled brother. Straightway, therefore, went the tusker, leaving great holes in the mud at each footprint as if a tree had been uprooted there, gave a mighty shove to the recalcitrant log, and there was peace again in the camp.

For stacking lumber the elephant is especially useful. Any ordinary-sized log, tree or piece of lumber he will pick up as if it were a piece of stovewood and tote with his snout, and in piling heavy plank he is remarkably careful about matching. Eyeing the pile at a distance he looks to see if it is uneven or any single piece out of place, in which case he is quick to make it right. The young lady in our party was also much amused when the mahout called out, Salaam to Memsahib. ("Salute the lady"), and his lordship bowed and made his salutation as gracefully as his enormous head and forelegs would permit.—Clarence Poe, in Progressive Farmer.

BRYAN GRIMES CAMP

CONFEDERATE VETERANS

HOLD THEIR ANNUAL REUNION.

Large Crowd Present—Magnificent Speech by Mr. Dunn.

This Memorial Day dawned bright and balmy, and at an early hour people were coming in town to attend the reunion of Bryan Grimes Camp of Confederate veterans.

Before the hour of assembling, the veterans met and chatted each other, while the visitors sought out places of advantage to view the parade. At ten o'clock the line formed on Third street near the court house square, and headed by a drum corps marched out Evans and Ninth streets to the Star warehouse, where the exercises took place. There were about 120 veterans in line.

At the warehouse a large crowd had assembled, the Daughters of the Confederacy and Children of the Confederacy also going in a body. Here Mr. R. W. King, chairman of the committee of arrangements, called on Rev. C. M. Rock for the invocation.

An address of welcome to the visitors, eloquent and cordial, was delivered by Mayor F. M. Wooten. Major Harding, Commander of Bryan Grimes Camp, responded to the address of welcome, and extended greetings to his comrades.

A class from the Training School sang "Carolina."

This was followed with a recitation "The Sword of Lee," by Miss Fannie Spain, of the graded school, and "The Conquered Banner," by Miss Herndon.

"Teating on the Old Camp Ground" was sung by the Training School class, which was followed with a recitation "Reply to Conquered Banner," by Miss Nina Harris.

Mr. J. B. James then in appropriate words introduced the orator of the day, Mr. John Dunn. Mr. Dunn in recounting the deeds of valor of Lee and Jackson, made one of the most brilliant Memorial Day addresses that the veterans of Pitt county have had the pleasure of hearing at any of their reunions. In concluding he paid a beautiful tribute to Gen. Bryan Grimes in whose honor the camp of Pitt county is named. The Reflector would have been glad to print the speech in full, but its length forbid that, and it was too excellent to give in broken extracts. It was a master piece of oratory and those who heard it enjoyed a feast.

At the conclusion of Mr. Dunn's admirable address, Commander H. Harding stated to the camp that the only compensation the ladies and others requested in return for this day's pleasure provided for the old soldiers, was that they should give the "Rebel Yell," and when the command came the yell sounded with spirit.

There were then cries from the camp for "Jarvis," and our distinguished citizen responded in a few words of cheer and incidents of the war in which they fought together.

After the speaking, Rev. C. W. Ware pronounced the benediction, and as the Training School class sang "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again," the veterans again formed in line to march to the Liberty warehouse for dinner. Here a bountiful dinner had been prepared for them, and this brought to a conclusion a delightful reunion.

The Right Way.

The rational way to view the fertilizer question is this: fertilizers should be used, but only as a supplement to the other resources, especially to leguminous crops and farm manures. They are expensive; use as little as possible commensurate with results. Some crops, as potatoes, truck, and tobacco, respond liberally to heavy applications of commercial fertilizers; others, as corn, show little if any profit. Fertilizer experiments in different sections are throwing some light on this problem, but each farm soil is different in its fertilizer requirements, and the ultimate solution rests with the farmer himself. There are two points involved—he must know exactly what kind of plant food the sack contains and its actual value. This is ascertained from the analysis tag. He must know what the soil needs. This is determined by field tests and observation. Unless there is accurate information on both of these points much of the money spent for commercial fertilizer may be wasted.—S. W. Fletcher, in Progressive Farmer.

Natural Protection.

It has been pointed out that to some ground animals nature's color scheme for concealment furnishes almost complete protection. The quail crouching on the ground looks like a bunch of dried leaves. Many snakes and fishes take the precise color of surrounding sand and water. A mackerel from above looks like a fleeting ripple, while to fish enemies beneath its white belly will not show against the higher colors of sky and water. The wonderfully beautiful changes of dolphins and chameleons were not evolved to please the eye, but to protect their lives.

PROOF ESTABLISHED.

That Reflector Advertisements Are Always Read.

The misplaced word contest that appeared in Monday's paper showed conclusively that advertisements in The Reflector are read. In an hour after the paper had gone out answers were coming in and a stream of them have followed since. So many correct answers have been received that it was not necessary to continue the advertisement longer. The answers were numbered as received, and the prizes will be awarded next Monday to the three first correct answers. Keep a watch on the paper for another contest that will follow.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Once more has come the day that brings together in annual reunion the veterans of the Confederacy. Their ranks grow thinner as each year goes by, and it touches the heart to see how few are remaining, and some of these feeble with age, as they come together on these annual occasions to place flowers on the graves of their departed comrades, and to mingle once more with those yet living and together talk over the things of the past. Death has preyed heavily upon Bryan Grimes' camp during the past year, taking away more of its members than in any one recent year. And some here today will have answered the last roll call before the next annual reunion, and before many years all of them will have passed over the river. These thoughts should inspire us to do all we can to fill their remaining days with brightness and cheer. We can never do too much for the old soldiers nor heap too great honors upon them.

MUST HAVE THE PASS.

Says The Wilmington Dispatch: "They are going to make seamless hosiery in Concord. How about seamless hosiery?" Nobody would buy the latter. Hosiery is worn to be seen. At least, that is the impression most of the female wearers seem to be endeavoring to create.—Greensboro Telegram.

Ha, ha! Ho, ho! Kindly excuse our merriment, but it does seem awfully funny to realize that Fain, of The Telegram, is as big and as brazen a rubber-neck as Whichard, of the Reflector. We never thought there could be such another.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Don't shout too quick, my boy. Fain can't come in our class if his head is off color. Let him send in his credentials for examination. As to rubber-necking, we are out of that.

Detective Burns, like a great many other human beings, seems to care more about getting his name and picture in print than he does about what he says. He is making some very strong charges, and whether he can prove them remains to be seen. One thing, he has made an ass of Gompers. Silence is the best policy, and both men are losing the respect of the people because they don't see it that way.

The free list bill has got through the lower house of congress by a vote of 236 to 109.

The Recall.

It is probable that the experience of Greensboro with the recall may be a reputation of that of Tacoma. The Pacific coast city has already had four recall elections, resulting in the retirement of a mayor and four commissioners, and a fifth election has been scheduled to keep the ball moving. It seems that under the recall, a new election can be held under petition of a certain per cent of citizens in Greensboro the percentage is 25. Obviously, it is easy to get 25 per cent of the people of a town to sign any sort of a petition, especially one aimed at the ruling members of an administration. In the Greensboro case the new administration is charged with having violated the charter in holding a secret session. Wherefore, petitions, it is said, are being circulated for another election. Greensboro might simplify matters by coming to an understanding to swap mayors and commissioners every month, so that during the term provided for by its commission form of government, all of its ambitious citizens may have had a whack at municipal management.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Wireless On All Steamships.

It is barely five years since the wireless telegraph passed out of the experimental stage and was universally recognized as a practical means of long-distance communication. By July 1 every ocean-going steamship leaving an American port that carries fifty persons, including passengers and crew, by law must be equipped with a wireless-telegraph outfit capable of sending messages 100 miles.

Nothing more important has been done in many years to increase the safety of travel at sea than the general installation of wireless. Under the new system not only will every steamship be provided with better means of self-protection, but it will be a means of protection for other ships. The quickness with which relief arrived from different quarters at the time of the collision that resulted in the sinking of the Republic demonstrated once for all how hereafter the ocean is to be dotted with life-saving stations.

Other uses of the wireless at sea are to be regarded as a convenience for passengers and owners that could be dispensed with without great loss. The compulsory adoption of it by all passenger-carrying steamships has now become almost as much of a safeguard against disaster as a proper equipment of life-boats.—New York World.

Not Forgiven.

The work which is being accomplished at the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training School may be gauged by the report that although the beginning of the summer term is yet a month off the utmost capacity of the institution will be taxed to handle applications already made, and in addition President Wright has secured board and lodgings in Greenville for as many as is possible. The Greenville Reflector has never forgiven the late legislature for failing to increase the equipment and facilities of this school.—Charlotte Observer.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another fine scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent Moye's Pharmacy.

You can't sleep at night. With aches and pains of a bad back—When you have to get up from urinary troubles. All on account of the kidneys. Set weak kidneys working aright with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is proof of their efficiency: Mrs. James Garris, Twelfth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I am pleased to add my endorsement to the many already given in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. For a long time I was troubled by my kidneys and I suffered intensely from back-ache and pains in my shoulders. Headache and dizzy spells bothered me and I rested so poorly that when I got up in the morning, I was in no fit condition to begin my work. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills, I immediately got a supply from the John L. Wooten Drug Co., and to my delight, they did me a world of good. I can now rest much better at night and my back and kidneys do not bother me."

FIREBALL AND EARTHQUAKE.

Two Recent Phenomena In Italy Were Not Related.

We have been informed recently that a seismic shock, not of a very violent nature, was felt at Rome in the morning of April 10, and at the same time news was received of an extraordinary fireball which fell in Sicily.

In the afternoon of the day on which the foundations of the old city of Romulus trembled the inhabitants of Messina, Catania, and Reggio were astonished by the apparition of a dazzling light blazing in a cloudy sky for a moment and then fading away with the accompaniment of four formidable explosions. At the same moment persons on the river front fancied that the sea, until then calm, was violently agitated.

Although the damage caused by the earthquake was very small, while the fireball harmed nobody, the almost simultaneous occurrence of the two phenomena was sufficient to excite many persons, and several have asked me whether there is any relation between the rocking of the foundations of Rome and the meteor which fell in Calabria.

In those regions of Southern Italy, that country of splendor like to that of Eden, constantly menaced on account of the instability of the earth's surface there, and, therefore the scene of many geological dramas, the slightest terrestrial or atmospheric disturbance takes on an appearance of tragedy in the eyes of the inhabitants who have been witnesses to previous cataclysms.

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that some have sought to establish a connection between the two events, absolutely independent of each other, and which happened on the same day only by coincidence.

On the one hand, earthquakes are relatively rare and weak at Rome, which is built on marshy ground, and thus safe from great tectonic convulsions. The shocks felt in the Eternal City are usually nothing but the local signs of great shocks, the center of which is more or less distant. It is known, in fact, that seismic waves travel from one point of the earth's crust to another.

Other causes, too may be considered. In this respect Prof. Agamennone has referred to the probable part played by the Aniene, or Tevereone, which flows from the Lubiaco Hills and gives rise to the marvelous Tivoli Falls and loses itself in the Tiber.

This tributary is fed by many springs, and this water holds in solution an enormous quantity of mineral substances gathered from the depths of the earth, the volume of which reaches every year 200,000 cubic meters. This erosion of the rocks, due to the action of subterranean water, may in certain cases be the cause of the rather feeble seismic shocks felt at Rome and the neighboring districts.

On the other hand fireballs come neither from the earth nor from the atmosphere. They drop out of the immensity of the heavens, and have no relation whatever to the transformations of the surface of the globe.

The capital of Italy was shaken for a moment, the Vatican even feeling this unexpected shock, but the sky hid nothing whatever to do with it.—New York Herald.

The Parcels Post.

The first annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission on statistics of express companies in the United States shows that base express rates for distances under 1,500 miles are $6 or less per 100 pounds; also that 65 per cent, of the mileage operated by express companies lies east of the Missouri river. Does that look as if the government would lose money on a parcel post carrying all packages under 11 pounds at a rate of 8 cents a pound? The express companies wax fat on less. I could add estimates for other shipments which the government might reasonably be expected to handle with an extended parcel post. But, after all, these estimates are only estimates.

The main facts are: That an extended parcel post means extended postal business. That we already have the organization and machinery to handle an extended parcel post with merely such additions of men and equipment as are justified by the volume of traffic.—Success Magazine.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, its the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Identifying Unionism With Dynamite.

The United Workers of the World in urging a general strike on the day when the McNamars and McManigal are brought to trial are doing a sorry service to the prisoners and are playing into the hands of the enemies of unionism.

When indicted men are innocent they are the first to welcome a trial. When their friends really believe them innocent these friends are the first to demand a trial. The moment they strive to stave off a trial by threats of a strike they are prejudicing the case against the accused. They are injuring the prisoners if they are innocent, they are damaging the union if the prisoners are proved guilty. Their probable pretext of defending the accused against a "capitalistic conspiracy" will be laughed out of court. Every sensible union man knows that the great capitalistic conspiracy bugaboo gave up the ghost when Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone were acquitted.

No conspiracy of any kind will ever convict an innocent union man of wholesome murder. But the unions themselves, by such proceedings as that of the United Iron Workers of the World, are doing more than could the most ingenious capitalist conspiracy to identify organized labor with the dynamite outrages.—New York World.

How to Make Whitewash.

To make whitewash, slake half a bushel of fresh lime with boiling water, covering the barrel while slaking. Strain and add 12 peck of salt dissolved in warm water, 1-2 pound of whiting and 1 pound of glue dissolved in warm water. Let stand for several days and apply warm, if possible. Another recipe is to merely slake the lime and then add 1 pint of boiled linseed oil to each gallon of wash, or, if no oil is at hand, use melted tallow. This for rough outside work only.—Progressive Farm-
