THERE IS NO PEACE IN MEXICO

MORE INSURRECTOS ARE MUSTERING FOR ATTACK

DIAZ STILL REFUSES TO RESIGN

Rebels Are Preparing For Aggressive Campaign With Mexico City Their Objective Point—The Government Taking Vigorous Measures to Check Rebels.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Mexico City, May 13.—Twelve thousand men are mustering in Guerrero, preparing for an attack on Iguala, then Chilpanahingo. If Diaz refuses to resign, they will then proceed to Mexico City. Four hundred men under Colonel Maciudida are marching on Huixtaco. Plans have been laid for an aggressive campaign in the South. Figueroa has issued a proclamation breaking the armistice.

Wilson Says Much Uneasiness.

Washington, May 13.—Ambassador Wilson telegraphs that the Mexican government is taking vigorous measures to push the campaign against the rebels. Mexico City is quiet, though much uneasiness prevails.

No Peace in Sight.

El Paso, Texas, May 13.—All peace negotiations are off. Mader's been received word that Fieroa, the Southern revolutionary leader, has started a march to Mexico City. There will be no peace, unless Diaz retires immediately.

RIGHT WAY TO ADVERTISE

When Started Keep at it and be Truthful.

One of the main troubles with some business men is that they are afraid to invest a little money in printer's ink. He is a dull business scholar indeed who considers money spent for live and aggressive advertising as thrown away or mispent. Judicious and well directed advertising always brings returns, provided the advertiser is perfectly honest with himself and his customers, and backs up his advertising by doing exactly what he says he will do. Any advertising that is purposely intended to fool and defraud the people will invariably fall flat and rebound upon the advertiser's head. Honesty with the public and persistency of effort furnish the key note of all successful advertising. In other words, the advertiser must first win the confidence of the public and then strive to keep it by fair and square dealing with everybody. Satisfied customers are a mighty force in backing up the business-man's advertising. Honesty in advertising is of just as much importance to the business man as is a clean record at the bank. Never try to deceive or mislead a customer through an advertisement. Tell the people candidly what inducements you have to offer them in the way of business, and then make good with them. Once started, keep up the lick as regularly as the clock, and watch your business grow. The most successful and prosperous business men everywhere are the most extensive, persistent and truthful advertisers. When a bright young man, seeking to distinguish himself in life, enters any of the professions he does not take as his pattern some slow, sleepy-headed fellow who has been content to remain near the bottom of the ladder, but he prefers to follow in the foot steps of the more aggressive and successful men in that particular profession. Just so with the young man who is entering upon a business career. If he hopes to succeed he must first of all learn to pattern after the most successful men in his line, and it is a fact which no man can successfully contradict, that the most successful merchants everywhere have been, and still are, the largest and most regular advertisers.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

PITT COUNTY PEOPLE ARE ALL INVITED

E. C. T. S. COMMENCEMENT.

The Dates Are May Twenty First to Twenty Third.

Owing to the fact that it would require such a large number of invitations, and the school having to hold expenses down as much as possible, no invitations have been mailed to the people of the county to the commencement of East Carolina Teachers' Training School, May 21st to 23rd. But the Reflector is requested to state that all the people of Pitt county are cordially invited to the commencement, and as large a number as can do so should attend. Come and fill the building, and the campus, too, and see what a great institution you have. While Pitt county and Greenville largely built this school and presented it to the state, it is nevertheless as much ours as anybody's, and we ought to show our pride in it by coming to the commencement.

Hot Weather Comfort.

Sometimes we get so interested in some of the many good things we have that we let the others slip our memory. For instance, we have had a week of hot weather, and not a word has been said about our summer underwear. You had better step in quickly, for although the lots are large, the demand will be great, so be among the first comers. We have all kinds and all sizes, also for boys, ranging in price from 25 cents to $1 per garment. See our display in show window.

People who are always talking about their achievements would be more interesting if they would only talk about ours.

In The Daily Reflector of last Monday appeared an announcement offering three prizes for the first answers received giving a sentence of seven words. The words composing the sentence were placed ungrammatically in different advertisements throughout the paper. It was done as a test to show how closely the advertisements are read, and the many replies sent in is ample proof. The first prize, a year's subscription to The Daily Reflector, goes to Mr. A. J. OLD NORTH STATE

NEWSY HAPPENINGS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Stated for Our Busy Readers.

Asheville, N. C., May 12.—Something of a sensation was created here this afternoon when police officers went to the residence of Hicks Southers on a prominent residential street and breaking in the door to the basement of the house found and seized about two thousands gallons of whiskey. The liquor was taken to police headquarters and stored. It is alleged that when the officers with their wagons entered the yard to the residence Mrs. Southers sought to stop them, by beating the horses over the heads. The officers before going to the place scoured a warrant for search and seizure and also instructions from Judge Adams to break in and take the goods they did.

Asheville, N. C., May 12.—The searching and seizing continued in Asheville tonight. After the Southern raid there was perhaps an hour's inactivity and then the officers attacked South Main street and served a series of seizure warrants on W. H. Bush and P. Briggs. The officers searched the private premises of Briggs and forced in a door, so it is alleged. They found twenty-five barrels of whiskey which was confiscated and later hauled to the police station. Briggs was in charge of the premises and denied the officers admittance protesting against the taking out of the whiskey. The whiskey, however, was taken. It is going to the place secured a warrants of arrest, for housebreaking and larceny will be preferred against the officers and probably against the city for monetary damages.

South Main street, where the last raid was made, was crowded at midnight tonight. There is much interest in the affair and some excitement.

J. B. JAMES FOR MAYOR.

It Is Time There Was A Change.—Can Easily Win.

Editor Reflector:
The time has come when the citizens of Greenville must elect a mayor for the next two years. I have heard of no candidate, except the present incumbent, and many of my neighbors think another man would give more general satisfaction, and having cast my eye over the field, I think I can name a candidate who can win easily and satisfy all discordant elements.

My candidate is J. B. James. He was born and raised in Greenville, his life is known to all our citizens. He has the character, manhood, education, ability and backbone to make an ideal mayor. Lets elect him. If this meets your approval, talk it to your neighbors, go tell Burt you are for him, ask him to come out as a candidate and we will nominate and elect him by a large majority.

LONDON COUNTS ITS TRAFFIC

Note Made of Every Man, Beast and Vehicle Entering the City.

Silent and watchful men, 350 in number, using specially prepared score sheets, stood at the boundaries of London from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., one day recently counting the people and vehicles entering the metropolis. The result will be the most nearly complete analysis of London's traffic ever attempted.

To enumerate the traffic of London is a gigantic problem, for this is no longer a walled city with well-defined gates where vehicles man enter. There are fifty-two wide places and a great number of narrow lanes that admit vehicles, as well as pedestrians. With his ninety-six stations, however, the chief of the census staff declares that he will make a record of everything and everybody going by and only airplanes can escape the counters.

When the tables are made up it will be known how large a proportion of horse vans and motor-propelled vehicles and how many omnibuses, horse and motor, carry people into London, and how many enter on the railways. The busiest spot between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. is the Liverpool street station, where the flood of incoming people moves in a dense mass. Every underground station, sending up streams of suburbanites, will have counters at the exits jotting down a complete record. All the river wharves except two will be closed to facilitate the counting of people coming by boats.—Chicago News.

The upper crust of society isn't always founded upon dough.

READY FOR DISTRIBUTION.

The Public Laws of 1911 in Hands of Secretary of State.

The public laws of 1911, passed by the legislature, are just from the public printer, and in the hands of the secretary of state for immediate distribution to the justices of the peace throughout the state, there being nine thousand of them the state over. Colonel Grimes, secretary of state, procured a special act from the recent legislature for making three instead of two divisions of the acts—public, local and private, each group to have a separate volume. Heretofore there were two volumes—public laws and private laws. The public laws just out are those having state-wide application. The volume is less than 500 pages and is being gotten to the magistrates and other administrators of the laws very much earlier than ever before. It is estimated that the state is saved more than $3,000 by the sub-division of the acts, through the experience and careful study of Secretary of State Grimes.

BUTCHERY OF SHADE TREES.

In most cities throughout the country now they have bodies of men known as tree surgeons, who, when trees need trimming, amputate the limbs with utmost pains, being always careful not to mar or injure the body, filling cavities and decayed spots with specially prepared cement to preserve its life, health and beauty. Not so in Greenville. Anybody is allowed to cut trees here, without regard to its beauty or usefulness, no matter whether they belong to the town or to private citizens. And the usual way of taking off a limb is to chop it about three feet from the body of the tree with something about as sharp as an old meat axe and then pull it off with a rope the aid of three or four colored "gemmens." This method often leaves a barkless strip down the side of the tree, which never receives any more attention until other limbs get long enough to afford some shade and beauty and covers up the old butchery, then the same process is gone through with again.

It is a shame, the way our shade trees are allowed to be abused and some day it will be regretted. Some cities would give thousands of dollars for a single tree that we hopelessly butcher. Get a little love for natural civic beauty and let's stop this tree butchery.

HOMES ON CREDIT.

Local reviews of the real estate and home-owning activities of Charlotte reveal a most gratifying condition for home ownership and excellent distribution of ownership in homes and lots among the people. A movement begun twenty-five years ago by which one might acquire a home on credit through building and loan associations has extended until land companies engaged in developing suburbs and otherwise have partially adopted the plan. With installment payments thus generally permitted, almost anybody may now own a home for little more than the payment of rent during a certain period. It is largely such opportunities as these which make Charlotte grow. We commend them to every town where more and better citizens are desired.—Charlotte Observer.

It was only five years ago that Greenville started out on this same line with a building and loan association, and already much good is apparent.

H. E. C. Bryant, Washington correspondent, says, "Investigations are the order of the day." And he might have added that they have been the order for the past three years.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Should Be Against the Man Who Will Not Pay His Bills.

The newspapers are conceded to be, and not without reason, great moulders of public opinion. They take the lead on all important questions of state and nation and not infrequently the leading sentiment of a community is but the reflex of the papers. This being true of the newspapers fill a responsible portion and should always be found on the side of right, pointing out the duties of good citizenship. This is preface to calling attention to a monster evil which is lurking in almost every home in the land, sapping them of virtue, honor, and that principle which portrays the true in man. This monster evil is dishonesty—getting something for nothing—buying on credit without ever intending to pay the bill.

Go to any merchant, who has been in business a few days, and you will find numerous accounts that will never be paid. Some days ago a Salisbury merchant showed the Post a book of old bills, that he has transferred from his credit book, and which he classes as accounts that cannot be collected. These bills range from a few dollars to $30 and it would astonish the man who always pays his bill to see the names on this book. Men are there who the world supposes pay their bills promptly. The laws of North Carolina are wrong. They make men dishonest. As the law exists now, the man who gets angry at the merchant for one cause or another and refuses to pay his bill, it is impossible to collect. There is a demand for a statute for collecting debts.

It is against the evil of creditors not paying bills the newspapers of the country should train their mausers, and they ought to continue firing until good sentiment is created. As they wage the battle for honesty they might turn a rapid firing gun on the ministers and urge them to land red hot shot into their congregations about debt paying. It is as much their duty to preach this as it is repentance and forgiveness—it is more, for payment of debts come first according to our understanding of the scriptures.—Salisbury Post.

Mahan on Arbitration.
Admiral Mahan's attitude on the arbitration question is characteristic and somewhat amusing. In the case of England, since there is no possibility of war between the two countries, the universal arbitration agreement is harmless, but as regards other nations, on no account must this thing be permitted to happen again.

With regard to a nation with whom there is a possibility of hostilities, an arbitration agreement that would provide a peaceful settlement would, in the admiral's opinion, be a frightful calamity. The development of sea power would probably be interfered with if the natives of the world were hampered in getting quick action. The fact that the result of this unimpeded belligerence must be to destroy and spoil one navy or the other does not appeal to the admiral as any reason why their life purpose of shooting each other up should be limited by such fads as providing judicial settlement for international quarrels.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Banquet Worth While.

Hon. Charles Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, was the leading speaker at the annual banquet given by the Greensboro chamber of commerce, at which the possibilities of the south were discussed. Mr. Bird Coler, of New York, was another speaker. Congressman John H. Small was yet another, and The Greensboro News says, in its report of the affair:

"An address that was by long odds most pertinent to conditions in North and South Carolina, and one that was heard with bated breath, as it were, was delivered by W. S. Lee, of Charlotte, vice-president of the Southern Power Company. Mr. Lee spoke on 'The Hidden Current in the Commercial Artery of the Piedmont Belt of the Carolinas.' The annual banquet of the Greensboro organization is evidently a function meaning more than eating, drinking and a good time. It seems to have business as its foundation. A banquet of the sort just held in Greensboro does good.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Tobacco in North Carolina.

To show the increase in the production of tobacco in North Carolina, we quote from the government statistics published in 1893—just 18 years ago. The report shows that the state produced that year 44,897,872 pounds of tobacco. The state produces now one hundred millions pounds more than it did eighteen years ago. In 1893 the entire production of the United States amounted to 483,023,963 pounds, or about one-half of the present production.—Southern Tobacco Journal.

Moist Air Saves Fuel.

Dryness of the air tempts to overheating of the living rooms, for dry air increases the evaporation of perspiration from the skin, thereby increasing the sensation of chilliness. Dry air at 75 degrees will feel about as chilly as moist air at 65 degrees. Stoves, coils and furnaces should always have open vessels of water exposed to evaporation for the purpose of properly moistening the air. This moistening of the air will prove a saving of both coal bills and doctor's bills.—Designer.

A Sight Worth Seeing.

There have been some elaborate decorations in Charlotte on previous 20th May occasions, but that being done now is the artistic triumph of the whole series. The decorator has truly reduced his work to a science. Business Charlotte will look like a well constructed bouquet.—Charlotte Chronicle.

FREE OF DUTY

Reduction and Removal of Duties on Sheep.

Our chief competitors among the commercial nations have long made wool free of duty, and this gives them an advantage in the world's markets for woolen goods which we can never overcome as long as we tax this raw material. The growing of sheep for wool rather than for mutton is already a declining industry with us and is certain to become more so as the country fills up and land increases in value. But the experience of the older countries of Europe shows that with free wool the growing of sheep primarily for mutton and wool as a by-product would increase greatly through a more general keeping of small flocks on grazing sections. Both England and Germany under free wool have vastly more sheep per unit of area than we have under wool protection. The compromise by which the taxes on wool are to be reduced at once, and may well be adopted as a part of the Democratic policy of tariff reform. It will make more votes for that party ten times over than it will cost votes.—Springfield Republican.

Horse Sense.

A Yankee owned a fine horse, which, however, suffered from periodical fits of dizziness. To a friend whom the owner consulted as an expert in "horses" the question was put as to what should be done with the beast.

After a careful and extended examination the expert shifted his quid from one side to the other of his mouth and delivered himself thusly:

"Waal, Richard, I have reached the conclusion that the best thing you kin do with this hoss is to take him out some time when he ain't dizzy an' sell him to a stranger."—Lippincott's.

DON'T PULL OUT

THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place," is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grand parents used. The best preparation of this kind is Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Weyth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Moyer's Pharmacy.

WHAT OTHERS SAY!

Cured of Rheumatism
"I had been suffering with rheumatism for three years. Have been using Noah's Liniment, and will say that it cured me completely. Can walk better than I have in two years." Rev. E. E. Cyrus, Donald, S. C.

Cured of Neuralgia
"For five years I suffered with neuralgia and pain in side. Could not sleep. I tried Noah's Liniment, and the first application made me feel better. Mrs. Martha A. See, Richmond, Va."

For Cuts and Bruises
"While working at my trade (iron work) I got bruised and cut frequently, and I find that Noah's Liniment takes all the soreness out, and heals the wound immediately. Edward Ryan, Swansboro, Va."

Stiff Joints and Backaches
"I have used Noah's Liniment for rheumatism, stiff joints and backache, and I can say it did me more good than any pain remedy. Rev. George W. Smith, Abbeville, S. C."

Bronchitis and Asthma
"My son has been suffering with bronchitis and asthma, and a very bad cough. Was confined to his bed. Some one recommended Noah's Liniment, and I rubbed his chest and back with it and gave him six drops on sugar, and he was relieved immediately. Mrs. A. L. Whitaker, 613 Holly Street, Richmond, Va."

Better Than $5.00 Remedies
"I have obtained as good if not better results from Noah's Liniment than we did from remedies costing $5.00 per bottle. Norfolk and Portsmouth Transfer Co., Norfolk, Va."

Pains in the Back
"I suffered ten years with a dreadfully sore pain in my back, and tried different remedies. Less than half a bottle of Noah's Liniment made a perfect cure. Mrs. Rev. J. D. Billingsley, Point Eastern, Va."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

How He Met the James Boys.

Of the thousands of reminiscences of the days of Jesse James and his brothers, which have been awakened by the death of Mrs. Zerelda Samuels, their mother, an incident in the memory of James A. Gillis is probably the most distinct.

Forty years ago Gillis had just come to Kansas City from his home in the East, and his first position was as room clerk at the old St. James hotel. On his second night on duty two men rode up to the hotel and registered as Jesse and Frank James. At that time rewards aggregating many thousands of dollars were offered for the capture of the two men, and their reputation had brought them notoriety in all parts of the United States. Gillis, then a young man, was so frightened that he could barely have the men shown to their rooms, but he did muster up enough courage to notify the sheriff that they were in the house.

The sheriff, who had a wholesome regard for the prowess of the brothers, lay in wait for them the next morning, but made no effort to disturb them when they appeared to mount their horses and gallop down Independence avenue. The incident served Gillis as an introduction to the West, and it was many years, he says, before he overcame its effect upon him.—Kansas City Journal.
