CONGRESS PASSES RESOLUTIONS FOR INFORMATION

ON SHOE MONOPOLY CHARGES

Decision in Cunningham Claims Case Expected—Vote on Arizona and New Mexico Statehood Resolutions Expected Tonight—Mrs. Taft Better—Walsh and Morse Pardons Being Considered.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, D. C., May 19.—Before the debate began on the Arizona and New Mexico resolution the house passed two resolutions directing the secretary of war to furnish the house information in regard to all contracts let for army shoes during the last ten years. This is because of charges recently made by representatives that Disanderfer, Herman & Company, of Boston, have a monopoly on army and navy shoe contracts.

Prospects are good for a vote on the Arizona-New Mexico resolution tonight.

Mrs. Taft who has been ill for several days is better.

The decision in the Cunningham claims case is expected soon.

Attorney General Wickensham left for New York today, therefore President Taft will not announce his decision in the matters of a pardon for Walsh and Morse before next week.

CERTAINLY SOME GIRL.

San Antonio Femininity Has Made The Whole Army Surrender.

I wonder just how many Texas beauties capitulated to the warriors while they were in San Antonio? The girl of San Antonio, as one of my subaltern friends, quite truthfully remarked, "is certainly some girl." When she dances—and she danced each night—she dances with her might, but very gracefully and enduringly beyond the eastern average; when she rides she rides astride and with a vim which would wake up old Central park in New York city till the last blade of its grass stood shivering; when she smiles the sun can go behind a cloud and not be missed; when she weeps—but certainly she did not weep while in the town the soldiers tarried; and when, oh when she flirts; then are certain to surrender, begging mercy, the bravest soldiers in the world. And they surrender quickly. Let me tell you what I watched 'em as they threw down their arms. (When further use they made of those same arms I have no means of knowing.)

Upon the sometimes grim looking streets of the small city—filled, as they almost always were by business-looking army wagons, clattering and often cluttered with men on horseback—these bright equestriennes made bits of charming color every afternoon; a visit to the rambling dusty roads of the great camp was always sure to bring encounters with a score of them. They smiled and flirted, walked, trotted, paced and cantered, mastering publicity, all sorts of mounts, some vicious, some entirely gentle, some so full of life and quick-horse gayety as to produce the firm conviction in the mind of an onlooker that nothing would delight them more than to unseat their riders but not one fair rider was unseated—while any officer I know was watching anyway.—Edward Marshall in the Columbian.

ATLANTIC COAST LINE

Extends Telephone Train Dispatching System to South Carolina.

Following the success of the circuits placed in operation with the past year, the Atlantic Coast Line has extended its telephone system of dispatching trains, supplanting the telegraph for this important work. When the equipment just purchased has been placed in service, this telephone train dispatching system will extend from Richmond, Va., clear through to Savannah, Ga.

The new equipment, which covers train, message and block wire circuits, will extend from Florence, S. C., to Savannah, 320 miles. The circuits will be controlled by dispatching and message operators located at Charleston, S. C.

POOREST PROSPECTS

For Tobacco Ever Known in Eastern North Carolina.

Scarcity of tobacco plants has been the cry almost every year, but this year the cry has been long and loud and confined to no particular section or locality. Seed germination was poor throughout Eastern North Carolina, and in South Carolina it was even worse. Transplanting season was also from ten days to two weeks late.

About the time a great majority of farmers, probably 75 per cent, transplanted, a drought of unusual duration set in and a very large per cent of the early plantings died. Farmers who have been in Greenville during the last five days say that nearly all the re-set plants have died and that there are no more plants to be had. At this date last year the tobacco crop was all planted and, in fine growing condition. This year hardly any farmers have set over the first time, and many of these say they will have to plant over again, if plants can be secured, or the land planted in other crops. Altogether it is, indeed, a discouraging prospect for a tobacco crop.

SETTLING CUT-OVER LANDS.

What Has Happened in One North Carolina Locality.

Some of the finest and most flourishing settlements in the Southern States is the Sunny South Colony at Chadbourne, N. C. The colony occupies cut-over lands and the thrifty settlement there is successor to the Messrs. Chadbourne, of Wilmington, who twenty odd years ago conducted at Chadbourne one of the biggest sawmills in the long leaf pine region of North Carolina.

The big mill exhausted the timber, the machinery was removed and Chadbourne became an insignificant railroad station with probably a half a dozen or more little houses and one small store. The mill, however, didn't do a thing to the land, but there it laid in idleness, awaiting publicity to bring it to the attention of homeseekers and farmers who might convert the region into a prosperous agricultural country. The scribe who is writing this went down there some years ago with Messrs. William H. and James Chadbourne and he was the first to give the Chadbourne country its initial round of publicity. Subsequently Mr. Joseph A. Brown saw the possibilities of the country surrounding him at Chadbourne and he got busy and originated the Sunny South Colony scheme. He spent some money for publicity away from home, where it would catch the eyes of the farmers of the Middle West and Northwest, homeseekers excursions were run from Chicago. Farms were sold by the score and then by the hundreds, and today Chadbourne is a thriving town with its successful bank, several large mercantile establishments, its school, its churches and its pretty homes. The country around Chadbourne built the town, for enterprising and industrious Western and Northern farmers bought the farms and converted the cut-over lands into a garden spot reaching for miles. Profitable farming, trucking, fruit-growing and straw berry culture has been the order of the day from the start to finish, and just the past few days a mint of money has been paid out at Chadbourne for strawberries alone. Publicity and Joe Brown started it and he is one of the happiest and most successful of all the men in the now populous and flourishing community at and around Chadbourne.

There are plenty of those cut-over lands in Eastern North Carolina and they offer fine opportunities for some more Joe Browns.—Washington Star.

A Cabarrus County Egg Story.

Mr. J. W. Faggart, of No. 6, township has a turkey hen that deposits an egg every day between the hours of 12 and 1 p. m. The eggs are all of usual size and color, but are very much out of the ordinary because of two very distinct features, 1 and 2, which make the number 12. It is easily detected, and Mr. Faggart being a Democrat of the very pronounced type, says that this is a prediction that a Democratic president will be elected in 1912, which all of us hope will come to pass. We shall await the election returns and "see what we see," but if this turkey hen fools us we hope, she will go the way of most turkeys on Thanksgiving days.—Cohocord Tribune.

LITTLE SON TAKEN HOME.

Little Harry P. Harding, Jr., Succumbs to Long Illness.

Harry P. Harding, Jr., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Harding, died this morning at 8 o'clock at the home of his parents, No. 11 East Tenth street.

The little fellow was just one year old. He had been a delicate child and since the beginning of his last illness, which continued for more than three weeks, his parents have felt the greatest uneasiness. He was the only son, there being a sister several years older.

The sympathy of their numberless friends goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Harding, who are well known and exceedingly popular in Charlotte. Since coming to this city to live Mr. Harding has been prominent in educational circles, being principal of the graded school. The funeral services will take place at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the residence. Rev. A. W. Plyler, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, will officiate and the interment will be at Elmwood cemetery.—Charlotte Chronicle, 18th.

Two World's Records Broken at N. C. Firemen's Tournament, Charlotte—Wilmington Negress Tried and Fined for Selling Cocaine—Ten Salisbury Clubmen Arrested Under Prohibition Law.

Charlotte, May 18.—Two world's records were wiped out and new ones created in yesterday's tournament of Interstate Firemen, when Salisbury and Spencer each broke the record, one in the hose reel race and the other in the grab race. Southside team of Salisbury, when they made their 100-yard dash and succeeded in sending a stream of water towards the setting sun in 22 3-4 seconds, clipped off 3-5 seconds from the world's record. Equally brilliant was the work of the Spencer team in the grab reel race, 1-5 second being subtracted from the former fast record.

Wilmington, May 19.—The alleged widespread of cocaine throughout the state was given a local significance here today when the first case ever tried in recorder's court alleging the sale of this pernicious drug was investigated. The session of court was presided over by Substitute Recorder George Harris and the defendant in the case was Minnie Pridgen, a negro woman. The case against her was clearly proved and she was fined $25 and the costs. This adjustment was in accordance with statutory provision where such matters are investigated for the first time.

Salisbury, N. C., May 18.—Charged with violating the laws governing clubs in North Carolina, ten Salisbury men were arrested today by Sheriff J. H. McKinzie, Chief of Police G. H. Shaver and Deputies Tolbert and Jordan. Every social or drinking club in Salisbury was visited by the officers and the wholesale arrests created a considerable stir for a time.

Brothers Synodical Presidents.

By the election of Rev. Dr. M. M. Kinard, of Salisbury, as president of the North Carolina Lutheran Synod, which took place last week in Wilmington, an unusual occurrence is noted. At the last annual convention of the South Carolina Lutheran Synod which was held in Charleston, S. C., the Rev. James D. Kinard, brother of Rev. M. M. Kinard, Ph. D., was chosen president of that body. This places the Kinard brothers at the head of the district synods of the two Carolinas at the same time, a thing which perhaps has not taken place before in these states. Certainly not in the Lutheran synods of the two states.—Salisbury Post.

TRADE REPORT

Sales Increases by Warmer Weather During This Week.

Richmond, Va., May 19.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity: Sales in seasonable commodities have been increased by warmer weather, however, business in many lines continues to be quiet. Rain is needed throughout the district, especially in North Carolina, where the cotton growth is being retarded by the extreme dryness. Sales for future shipments in all lines are smaller than usual, a waiting tendency being the disposition of most dealers. Little tobacco has been planted on account of the dryness and late season. Retail sales show improvement. Bank statements show large balances of currency on hand. Railroad reports, with few exceptions, show a decrease in earnings. Collections are only fair.

Still Captured.

Sheriff S. L. Dudley, with Deputy Walter Patrick, captured a large fishery still in the neighborhood of Helen's cross roads, Swift Creek township, about midnight Thursday night. Twelve barrels of beer were destroyed and the still brought to town.

ABOUT COTTON.

Two Places Where the Cotton Farmer Loses.

For the lack of profit in the average cotton crop, it seems to us, there are two fundamental reasons: (1) The excessive cost of production because of poor soils, inefficient methods and consequent low yields; (2) the fact that a large per cent of the crop is forced on the market just as soon as it is sold and the producer has no control over the price. The man who gins the cotton knows what he will get out of it; the broker, the commission man, the railroad man, the manufacturer, the men who handle the manufactured products—all these must have a profit on their work, but the producer takes just what he can get, profit or no profit. This does not strike us as the thing; nor does the fact that a small cotton crop will bring more than a big one. There is something wrong in any system of distribution in which the producer has nothing to say about the price of the article he produces. But right here is the rub: Not until the cotton farmers become able to hold their crops and market them as they choose, will they be able to have much to say in regard to prices.

Organization, farmers' warehouses, co-operation of local banks and merchants with the farmers of their community—all these will help secure profitable prices for cotton; but more essential than any of them is plain, homely common-sense in planting the crop this spring.

To plant only land that can make a decent yield, to begin a system of rotation that will help to build up the soil; to raise food and feed crops for home use at least; to secure equipment which will enable the work on the crop to be done at a reasonable cost, and to insist that croppers, as far as possible, do the same thing—due regard to those points this spring will do more to insure profitable prices for this year's cotton crop than can any amount of "resoluting" and oratory next fall.—Raleigh Progressive Farmer.

Unless you try to make it better, do not complain of business being dull.

Pitt county can make as fine a showing educationally as any in the state.

What The Reflector wants is your co-operation in helping push Greenville. We will do our part if you will do yours.

Numerous small industries with pay rolls are a great help to a community. Greenville has some of them but needs many more.

The office is not so large, but locally there may develop as much interest as to who will be mayor of Greenville as in who will be our next United States senator.

That the weather out West should jump from the snow and blizzard zone to the heat prostrating degree, almost at a single bound, shows how easily it can run to extremes.

Without an opera house to which something good can come, Greenville falls a prey of the cheap class of tent shows, most of them negro aggregations at that. Somebody ought to build an opera house.

A stranger standing on the corner and looking at the new court house going up, said, "That building does not have the appearance of being an ordinary county court house in a small town. It would do credit as a government building in a large city." He was right, and on closer acquaintance he will observe that Pitt county can have and will have the best.

The onward march for good roads in North Carolina is something that cannot be checked. They are bound to come in every section, and as great a county as Pitt is not going to be the last to come in the procession. This county can no longer be classed as a back number. We have the best people on earth, and must have the best of everything else.

The Cotton Belt.

Reviewing the weather and the crops. The New Orleans Picayune says the past week has been a very favorable period for the crops all over the South. There has been very little rain, only a few showers at widely separated points, with plenty of sunshine and temperate nearly normal. The cold wave feared at the close of the preceding week did not materialize, but, on the contrary, the temperature has gradually risen, until during the second half of the week it was from normal to slightly above normal. As a result of the fine weather farmers have made rapid progress in planting the area previously planted owing to the incessant rains of April. The little replanting that was made necessary has also been attended to and the work of getting rid of grass and weeds and cultivating the fields has made splendid progress, notwithstanding some complaints of scarcity of labor in some districts. As a result of a week or ten days of good weather, complaints from the fields have become few and an optimistic feeling has spread over practically the entire cotton belt.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Massachusetts now has a law making it punishable by heavy fine or imprisonment, or both, to issue any false statement regarding the merits of the stock of any corporation or regarding the financial condition of any corporation. The imprisonment may be as long as ten years. Massachusetts, a state whose affairs are in numerous respects better conducted than any other American Commonwealth, insists strongly upon corporation honesty and publicity, thereby protecting stockholders and the general public alike. She has practically brought all corporations to the plane which only banks, railroads, etc., occupy in most states. She has found this policy exceedingly profitable, as her latest enactment indicates.—Charlotte Observer.

Keep The Devils Out!

No other fact in modern social life is so hopeful as the various movements for the prevention of disease. Piously claiming to value human life above all else, we have for generation after generation, by our acts, denied our words. We have failed to do the things which would preserve human life. The little white hearse calls at the door for one in five of the babies born in the great cities. The great white plague has taken from one-third to one-fifth of all those dying in middle life. Insanity has filled great hospitals until teeming populations are thus set apart. We have suffered all these things to be done because the lines of responsibility were not clearly defined,—because the facts were not clear beyond all possibility of doubt. This comfortable margin of uncertainty affords us refuge no longer. Science points at us its finger and says, "Thou art the men. Thou art thy brother's keeper." We now know not only that we are our brother's keepers, but we know how to keep him; how to protect him; how to conserve his life forces. We know how to build up a strong, vigorous race, fit to live; fit to build up a great nation; fit for great deeds of constructive social life; fit to promote the education, uplifting, the strengthening of the masses, not simply of the few. Those who have already passed threescore years are to be pitied, chiefly because they will not live to see the wonders which will be accomplished within the next quarter-century in the control of the great ills which have afflicted mankind through centuries of weariness and of suffering, and among them insanity. The devils are not to be cast out, they are to be kept from getting in.—American Review of Reviews.

GOOD NEWS.

Many Greenville Readers Have Heard It And Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Greenville are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is had no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. E. G. Worthington, Washington St., Greenville, N. C., says, "I have been so greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills that I am glad to recommend them. My back ached nearly all the time and I could not rest well. The kidney secretions caused me annoyance and it was plain to be seen that I was suffering from kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from John L. Wooten Drug Company, relieved my aches and pains and improved my condition greatly. I cannot praise this remedy too strongly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Merely a coincidence is what the plagiarist calls it.

The Fundamentals.

"There will be three times as much cotton planted this year as ever before in Randolph county in any one year," says The Asheboro Courier. If this word came from a more exclusively cotton section we would feel somewhat dubious over it, but it is perfectly satisfactory from Randolph. That county is on the edge of the cotton belt and produces more wheat—according to The Courier—than any other North Carolina county. Its yield of corn and oats ranks high in the list. Dewberries are beginning to interest the farmers and matter of larger, more carefully tended orchards is coming in for ever-increasing attention. Thus it is seen that the fact that the cotton yield is likely to be greatly increased evidences obedience to the law of diversification rather than the reverse.

It is to be noted, too, in this same connection that with this great diversity of products is coming a more assiduous attention to that cultivation. The Danbury Reporter referring particularly to Stokes county but stating none the less a truth general in its application—declares that farmers "are taking infinitely more pains, plowing the land deeper, pulverizing it more thoroughly and using better stock, tools and seed." Our agricultural advance is built upon these two foundations—greater diversity and more intensive, more intelligent cultivation. Upon it, on the one hand, and upon our industrial enterprises, on the other, is to rest the chief weight of Carolina prosperity in the next few years.—Charlotte Observer.

Jeffersonian Democracy.

Judge Clark's platform is something that is going to be talked about, for sure. He advocates a tariff for revenue only, constitutional amendments that will elect United States senators by the people; Federal judges by the people of the district in which they are to serve; the election of postmasters by the people of the territory to be served. He declares for the initiative and referendum and the recall, also for a primary on the same day all over the state by the Democratic party to nominate state officers and United States senators, with restrictions to assure publicity as to the money expended. All of which, he says, is simply a return to pure Jeffersonian Democracy. And, by the way, Jefferson seems to have had a good many sorts of Democracy, for it is the fashion for every Democrat to claim that he is strictly Jeffersonian—and it will not be disputed that there are several varieties of Democrats.—Charlotte Chronicle.

An Old Reminder.

The kindly feeling, existing between the old slaves and their former owners was forcibly illustrated on the 10th of this month at Gastonia, when a public dinner was given to one hundred old colored men who had been slaves. The dinner was given them in appreciation of their former faithfulness, and they enjoyed the occasion most heartily, many declaring it to have been the happiest of their lives. Not only did they enjoy the dinner itself but they had regular "camp-meeting time" of it, telling of their "befo de war" experiences and singing most lustily their old-time songs.—Pittsboro Record.

Search and Seizure.

The search and seizure act has uncovered a good deal in Asheville and its application might help matters in this and other towns that are interested in enforcing the prohibition law.—Durham Herald.

NASAL CATARRH.

Mrs. E. Karberg Says It Is Easy to Get Rid Of.

"A bad case of catarrh was cured for me by the use of HYOMEI. The trouble affected my head, nose and eyes, and was very annoying and disagreeable, and the cure, from the use of HYOMEI, was very gratifying. HYOMEI has from me a strong recommend and endorsement."—Mrs. E. Karberg, 213 Kingsley St., Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15, 1908.

HYOMEI (pronounce High-ome) cures catarrh, because it gets where the germs are, and destroys them. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, mixed with other healing antiseptics. When breathed over the irritated membrane, it gives relief in two minutes.

Use regularly for a few weeks it will build up and heal the germ-infested membrane and drive out catarrh.

If you own a small Hyomei pocket inhaler, you can get a bottle of Hyomei at druggists everywhere, or at White's Drug Store, for only 50 cents. THE VERY BEST RESULTS

You can talk to more people in a day through a Daily Reflector Want Ad than you could talk to in a month in person.

They Save Time. Try One

Our Contest

this week is a little different, in that we are hiding a longer sentence and only a portion each day for six days, among the various advertisements. Look everywhere, even in the Bargain column adlets. To more equalize the chances of winning the prizes and to make it more interesting generally we will skip every third word in the sentence, leaving the others to be guessed or supplied. Three Prizes will be given as before:—First prize, one year subscription to The Daily Reflector or three years' subscription to The Carolina Home and Farm and Eastern Reflector; Second prize, six months subscription to daily or the equivalent on weekly subscription as above; Third prize, five pound box of candy from A. B. Ellington & Co.

The hidden sentence will consist of words which will answer the following question: Why should merchants and business men use The Daily Reflector as an advertising medium and which are the good days on which to use space to insure the ad. being read?

Remember, the answer contains 25 words in two sentences, of which 8 are to be guessed or supplied.

Social and Personal.

Oh, The Summer.
Oh, the summer! Glowing, blowing
Flowers in the sun!
Oh, the warmth and sweetness, knowing
That the winter's done!
Spring is just behind us, lying,
Autumn just before, and flying,
Flying are the days—no sighing
Can recall us one!

Oh, the summer! The swift breaking
Of the early dawn—
Comes the sudden sun awakening.
All it breathes upon!
Sweet the bob-o-lin's clear calling,
Sweet, oh, sweet the lark's not falling
Through the blue, the day installing
With the rite of song!

Oh, the summer! The long fading
Of the leeward light!
Crimson, gold and purple shading
Slowly into night—
Where the earth and sky are meeting
Day and dark exchange soft greeting.
Perfect moments! Fleeting, fleeting,
Sweetest in their flight!
—Isabel Ecclestone Mackay.

Thought For The Day.
There is no friend like the old friend who has shared our mourning days.
No greeting like his welcome, no homage
like his praise;
Fame is the scentless sunflower, with gandy crown of gold.
But friendship is the breathing rose,
with sweets in every fold.

Reception to Senior Class.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Kate R. Beckwith, lady principal of East Carolina Teachers' Training School, gave a delightful reception to the senior class. About twenty young men of the city were also invited and these were glad to accept the honor.

Upon arrival at the administration building the guests were welcomed at the door by Misses Marjorie Davis, Willie Greene Day, Christine Thomas and Donia Lawrence.

At the library door they were met and presented to the receiving line by Miss Kate Lewis with Dr. R. L. Carr and Miss Sallie Joyner Davis with Prof. W. H. Ragsdale.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Beckwith with President Wright, Miss Birdie McKinney with Prof. H. B. Smith, Miss Denny with Prof. H. E. Austin, Prof. and Mrs. C. W. Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, Miss M. D. Gorham with Mr. D. J. Whichard.

After the greetings here, Miss Mamie Jenkins with Mr. W. E. Hooker directed the guests to their places around the gaming tables in the library and hall. Each table was marked with a card on which was the picture of a senior in cap and gown.

Tally cards were distributed by Master Robert Wright and little Miss Pearl Wright. The cards for the gentlemen were ornamented with girl's heads and for the ladies with floral design.

The game was "Progressive Senior" and there was much merriment as the game progressed.

The decorations were profuse, the colors being white and green. White roses, the class flower, were in abundance, as well as potted plants and ferns.

At the conclusion of the game tricolor cream and cake were served. It was an occasion that every one present enjoyed to the utmost.

Mobile's Bicentenary.

May 26 and 27 will be great days in Mobile, for on that occasion the historic Gulf city will be 200 years old. Not only all Alabama, but other states as well are interested in this occasion, and there is no doubt that the city will be well crowded with visitors from many parts of the country. As far as tentatively decided upon, the exercises of the celebration will take place in the forenoon and at night of May 26, the main features being the unveiling of a memorial tablet, a civic and military parade along the boundary line of the original city, "and an historic oration in the Mobile theatre at night, followed by a banquet to the distinguished visitors." The next day, May 27, will be devoted to the entertainment of the officers of the war vessel and also the entertainment of the crews. —Mobile Register.

Mosquitoes and Carelessness.

Mosquitoes breed only in water, but since the adults screen themselves in tall grass, etc., it is desirable to have such hiding places removed by cutting the grass. There are thousands of minor breeding places about a city or town largely on private property that are due to carelessness, such as catchbasins, cesspools, barrels, garbage, buckets, tubs, pails, water troughs, glazed flower pots, cans, bottles, boxes, or defective house gutters. Unfrequently places in back yards, vacant lots, alleys, areas in and about stables, and the space underneath verandas, usually contain these materials or have hollows of their own. Anything that will catch and hold water, if only a teacup or a cooking spoon, will afford breeding places. The rubbish should be buried and the depressions filled in. The mosquitoes will breed in any wet areas, so these places should be filled in, drained, or treated with kerosene oil. Use one ounce of oil to every square foot of water surface. Mosquitoes usually do not travel far, so that their presence is almost an evidence of a breeding place carelessly left near at hand. —Boston Transcript.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR MAYOR.

To The Voters of Greenville.

At the solicitation of several prominent business men and many personal friends, I have consented to become a candidate for mayor, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, and take this means of announcing my candidacy and soliciting your support.

5 15—tfd J. B. JAMES.

To The Voters of Greenville.

I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for mayor, subject to the action of the Democratic voters of the town. As has been the custom heretofore, and as there is more than one candidate for the nomination, I suggest the holding of a voting primary to decide upon the nominee. In announcing my candidacy, I wish to state that I have no special interests to serve, and am no particular person's candidate, and if nominated and elected, will do all that I can for a more economical administration of the town's affairs, and to serve all the people to the best of my ability.

5 15—tfd W. F. EVANS.

To The Voters of Greenville.

I respectfully announce myself a candidate for the office of mayor of Greenville, subject to the will of the Democratic primary. I have retired from the drug business that I may live more in the open air and purpose, if elected, to devote myself to the detailed discharge of the duties of the office.

My past record as an officer is known to you. I have used my best efforts to enforce the laws, and if elected, shall continue to do so.

Gratefully,

A Good Report for Wheat.

The government report on the winter wheat crop as of May 1 is encouraging, and ought to give heart to those pessimists who see future of the crop is better than the average for the first of May during the last 10 years, better than the condition on May first a year ago, and better than the condition on April 1 of the present year. It is true that more damage has been done by adverse weather conditions during the winter and spring than was anticipated; this was estimated at a reduction of two million acres in the total under cultivation and turns out to be 3,118,000 acres; yet even so it is figured that the final yield may be in excess of five hundred million bushels, and even if this record-breaking aggregate is not reached, the best previous figures, 492,888,000 in 1906, may be equaled or approximated.

Wheat is not our most profitable crop. In 1909 the value of the harvest was $730,046,000 against $1,652,000 the value of corn yield. Yet it is of sufficient importance to operate as a prime factor in the prosperity of the year. Industries may be waiting with anxiety the verdicts in the trust cases but it is highly gratifying to find one of the largest sources of income in the country practically assured.

Do Ghost Haunt Swamp?

No, never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Luccana, N. C. FARM LIFE MOST PERILOUS.

Forty-Five Per Cent of Industrial Happen to Farmers.

The experience of several large manufacturing plants in the preservation of industrial accidents and results of research that has been carried on in Germany for the last 25 years have been set forth for the benefit of the members of the National Association of Manufacturers.

It has been brought out by the Germany statistics that agriculture suffers far more from accidents than any other occupation. Of the total number of mishaps resulting in temporary disability, 45 per cent occur in agriculture, 9 each in iron and steel trades, and in building operations, and 8 1-2 per cent in mining. It is explained that it is natural that the agricultural laborer should be especially subject to accident, for he has to handle teams, machinery, and explosives, and too is much a jack-of-all-trades to be skilled in any one. Modern methods also increase the risk of the occupation, for Canadian records show that the percentage of deaths increased steadily from 11 per cent in 1909, while in mining there had been much fluctuation, but apparently, no permanent increase.

The large number of accidents on Saturdays is generally explained by the fatigue of the week telling on the men, but it is noted also that the Monday accidents are about as numerous. This gives rise to the suggestion that the day of rest sometimes is not too wisely spent.—New York Times.

Grow More Peanuts.

The peanut is a legume rich in nitrogen, but gathers from the air a large part of this nitrogen. Our soils are generally deficient in nitrogen, and it is the most expensive of the plant foods we buy by the millions of dollars worth every year. The peanut furnishes good hay for cattle, and may save us millions of dollars in money now paid for roughage shipped in from other sections. The peanut is one of the best crops for producing pork cheaply. We now pay millions of dollars for pork which can be produced on peanuts for one-half what it now costs. The peanut brings a good price on the market because the demand has always exceeded the supply, and at 75 cents to $1 a bushel, is a money crop equal to cotton at 10 to 12 cents a pound. The peanut—certain varieties—can be made in four months, and is suitable for use as a catch crop after oats and wheat, in the part of the cotton belt which is best suited to its growth. Let us grow the peanut, but let the increase in acreage be sane and safe or of slow growth so that we may learn how to handle it to the best advantage—Raleigh Progressive Farmer.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, laryngitis, asthma, croup and sore lungs, its the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Growing Egyptian Cotton in Colorado River Region.

That the requirements of the cotton goods industry necessitates the importation of approximately 60,000,000 pounds of Egyptian cotton, costing $16,000,000, is probably unknown to the majority of readers, who read of the enormous crops of cotton produced in our Southern States and learn that during the last seven months all records have been broken and practically $500,000,000 worth of that staple has been exported.

But it was the considerable value of this import that induced the United States Department of Agriculture several years ago to endeavor to develop Egyptian cotton culture in the United States in order to supply our own home market with home grown product. Although experiments were made different points from South Carolina to Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and southern California, it was only the Colorado river region that climatic and other conditions similar to those in the Nile Valley and suited to the long staple Egyptian cotton were found. There 600,000 acres of excellent land are, or soon will be, under ditch in the Imperial Yuma, Salt and Gila Valleys, and one-fifth this acreage could produce the amount of Egyptian cotton annually imported for the use of New England mills.

For several years studies and experiments with the various Egyptian varieties have been undertaken in southern Arizona, southern California and Egypt and several bulletins have been issued giving detailed reports of the progress made and success achieved.—Agricultural Department Bulletin.

Seeks to forget
The hay and the grain
That he must buy,
Facing the loss
Still piling high—
Driving a horse.
Dusty and glum,
Flat on his back;
Smash a thumb;
Wailing the lack
Of gas or of oil;
Broke on the wheel
With worry and toll—
Automobile.
Nervous and slight,
Brave and alert;
Bandaged up tight,
Shaken and hurt;
Hearing the cheers
From the crowd at the scene.
