Gen. J. S. Carr Candidate For U. S. Senator—Piedmont Trades Exposition, Fair And Horse Show at Winston-Salem—Road to Top of Mt. Mitchell.

Mr. J. A. Robinson received a large and unexpected addition to his chimes fund Monday afternoon. The contribution was made by Colonel Bennehan Cameron, who contributed one of the bells for the chimes. This gift is equivalent to one-tenth of the whole amount that Mr. Robinson hopes to raise and is equal to about $400 in cash, though the bell contributed by Colonel Bennehan Cameron originally cost about $700. Mr. Robinson is planning not to have the bell placed at the church until enough funds are raised to purchase the remaining nine bells that will complete the chimes. The fund now amounts to $1,916 in cash and with the value of the bell added amounts to $2,316. This is more than half of the entire amount and Mr. Robinson hopes to raise the remainder in a short time.—Durham Sun.

Southern Pines, May 30.—The fruit men of Moore county have had a season of unusual discouragement. Frost after frost came to whittle down the peach crop, the drought put its withering finger on much of that which survived, and to finish the disaster came the storm of Saturday night, which seems to have pretty well cleaned the trees of anything that remained. The early peaches were most ready for shipment when the storm struck the orchards. In most places the rain is about complete. It is the worst succession of cumulative disaster the peach men of Moore county have ever experienced.

Mr. R. O. Alexander, the Black Mountain developer, is determined to have a road from Black Mountain to the top of Mt. Mitchell. At his own expense he has placed a corps of surveyors at work. It is believed that it will require two months to complete the survey of the road. Yesterday's Chronicle carried the story of a road being constructed from Graphiteville, a short distance east of Swannanoa tunnel, to Mt. Mitchell. It seems that this famous mountain, so long practically inaccessible, is at last to be made of easy success. It will be a popular resort.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The premium lists for the Piedmont Trades Exposition, Fair and Horse Show, have been placed in the hands of the Barber Printery and they will be printed and circulated within a short time. Many handsome premiums are offered in order to strengthen the various exhibits. A large building will be erected this summer to accommodate the tobacco exhibit, which will be made a feature of the fair this year, and a large restaurant will be erected for parties in the city who will conduct it.—Winston-Salem Sentinel.

We have it from good authority that Gen. J. S. Carr will be a candidate for United States senator. This complicates the situation more. The soldiers will vote for him and he will be the only business man in the race. Aside from these two influences he is very popular with all classes of voters.—High Point Enterprise.

Greensboro's honored citizen, Mr. W. S. Moore, completed a wonderful record yesterday, at which time he was 77 years old, fifty-seven of which he has been secretary and treasurer of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church.—Greensboro Record.

Governor Kitchin announces the re-appointment of the state board of elections. The board consists of William G. Lamb, of Williamston, chairman; J. C. Clifford, of Dunn; J. D. Elliott, of Hickory; Clarence Call, of Wilkesboro, and W. J. Davis, of Hendersonville.

High Point, May 30.—One of the most distressing accidents the town has ever known occurred Saturday evening in the basement of the Columbia Furniture factory, when little Marshall Setzer, the 13-year-old son of Mr. Marshall Setzer, was killed by becoming entangled in the belt of the large grinding stone.

PITT COUNTY BOY TAKES HIGHEST HONORS

LEADS HIS CLASS AT A. & M.

Mr. J. P. Quinerly, Jr., Graduates With Distinction.

Mr. J. P. Quinerly, chairman of the board of county commissioners, returned today from Raleigh, where he attended the commencement of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. His son, Mr. J. P. Quinerly, Jr., was a member of the graduating class, and won the distinction of receiving the highest honors of the class of which he was valedictorian, and he also won the class oratorical medal. For four consecutive years young Mr. Quinerly led his class and scored the highest record. He has been selected for a responsible position in connection with a government experiment farm at Annapolis, and will go direct there from Raleigh.

Pitt county is proud of this young man, and expects to hear much of his record in coming years.

A rather unusual occurrence happened yesterday morning at the Southern railway Summit avenue crossing when Conductor J. M. Small, of Spencer, in charge of train No. 44, stopped his train long enough to put off H. M. Clemens, of Durham, and also as a matter of incident administered a sound thrashing to Mr. Clemens for causing such an unceremonious act on the part of the gallant and lordly conductor.—Greensboro News.

A STORY OF THE HORRORS OF WAR

ONE OF THE SCENES OF LONG AGO

As Told By Our Hanrahan Correspondent.

Hanrahan, N. C., May 31, 1911.
Sic transmit too soon the joys of life—
Sic venit too soon life's sorrows and strife.

It is not my purpose to portray, if I could, the horrors of war, for those things are passed, nor to vilify the North. I love the North and rejoice that she saved the union, and am glad that she freed the slaves. Nor is it my purpose to try to defend our beloved South (and she needs no defense at any hands) for her brave sons fought for what they then deemed was just and right. What I shall say of the war is to show the time and what caused one among many heroes to be so poor.

On the next morning after our visit to that neat but humble home, my mother and father (he was too old to go to the war) were sitting around our fireside and my mother was telling him what Mrs. Meadows had told her yesterday about Capt. Buchanan's company (my brother, Isaac, belonged to his company) who were then garrisoned at Fort Fisher. She said that Mrs. Meadows had told her that Eugene's (for that is what she lovingly called him) sick furlough would be out in four days and that he was trying to get up as much wood as he could for her and the children to have during the winter. My father had sent Sam and a colored man over there that morning with wagons to haul the wood for him. While papa and mother were talking, Sam came running one of the wagon horses at full speed. Mother seeing him coming went out. As he stopped the horse, Sam's eyes were bucked with horrors depicted on his face. "Missus, missus," he muttered, "a great big oak tree that Mr. Meadows was cutting caught on another tree, and it flung it on him and squashed the life out of him. And Missus Meadows sent me fur to tell you and Mars. Sam to go there just so quick as you'n can."

Mother said "go help Ligie hook Jim Crack to the buggy just as quick as you can, while I get some sheets and towels." Soon as the horse was hooked, papa and mother started and I cried, so they let me go, too. About one and a half miles drive brought us to the scene, that but yesterday was one of joy and contentment, but now changed to one of untold grief and horror.

Mother hastened to the bed on which Mrs. Meadows prostrate lay, and did all in her power to comfort her, by telling her that there was a loving Father who rules on high, who has promised to be a Father to the fatherless and a friend to the widow. But, said the grief-stricken and devoted woman, God does not promise to fill a husband's place and He can only show His fatherhood to the children through the instrumentality of a true and fatherly man. Mother could not answer these arguments, for there were no homes then in our state for orphan children. So mother could only weep with her who wept, and do what she could to comfort and care for the fatherless children.

Father, after driving to the woods and viewing the mangled body which was guarded by one of the negroes that he had sent to help him, drove back to the farm and gathered up three of the negro men, went back and with their help cared for and prepared the body for burial. There were no white men in that community. They were all off to the war.

Next day father and one other old white man, and four colored men that my father carried from the farm, buried in a rude pine coffin fastened by wrought nails hammered out in the shop on the farm.

After a few days, without the aid of a doctor, or medical aid of any kind, except that which sometimes is the very best kind, because it is the simplest and most commonplace, my mother gave her teas from herbs that she always had growing in her garden and daily carried her as nourishing food as these times of war would afford. Mrs. Meadows was to some extent recovered from her terrible shock and began anew to struggle for the maintenance of those two sweet children, as she had done for three long years, (for indeed, those were long years), since her true and kind husband had been in the war. After Mrs. Meadows had recovered

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, May 31.—The department of justice announced today that there will be no let up in the trust prosecutions. It is believed that the steel trust is the next to be attacked. sufficiently to resume her work, every few days my mother would go over there. I always begged to go with her, and most times I went. They would talk of the war and especially of the boys at Fort Fisher, for there was where most of the boys from that part of Wayne were garrisoned. So the winter wore away and nature that had been slumbering, as do many people as to vital questions, awoke to spring. (To be Continued.)

DURHAM CITIZENS APPREHENSIVE OVER DECISION

MAY HURT CITY'S BUSINESS.

Officials There Optimistic And Want To Be Put Right.

Durham, N. C., May 30.—The first announcement of the decision in the American Tobacco Company case yesterday caused considerable consternation. Everybody was afraid that it meant great trouble for Durham. The men most closely connected with the company did not take such a disquieting view of it. They declared that if they had been violating the law they wanted to quit it, and that if the company is an illegal corporation it wants to be a legal one.

Many merchants had fears and before the reception of this morning's papers, there was considerable suspense. Everybody in Durham appears to think that all things will work out well in the end, and that there will be no loss of money or property to anybody in this city, which is now growing so well.

Norfolk County's Potato Crop.

The potato crop that will be marketed through Norfolk this year will bring to the farmers of that section between $3,000,000 and $3,500,000. The crop will be harvested and marketed and the money received before the last of June. The larger part of this crop will come from Norfolk county, though Nansemond and one or two others will get a share. That is a big sum of money to be divided among the farmers of a small area for one crop, and a great deal of it is clean profit, for potatoes at from $3 to $3.50 a barrel make a nice profit for the producer. And then they will all be gathered so early that the ground will be available for another crop this year. The Norfolk county people have taken advantage of the soil, climate and marketing facilities to pile up money in the trucking business, thereby setting an example that may be followed with profit by other sections that are letting their advantages and opportunities go unimproved.—Baltimore Sun.

THE CONSUMER'S DOLLAR

Only About 35 Cents of It Goes to the Farmer.

Various wise men undertake to tell us what is the matter with farming. One told me the other day that the tariff was the chief cause of our trouble, while his friend declared that the increased amount of gold in circulation was responsible. I thought the drouth was what had come near putting us out of business this year, but the gentlemen who want to think for us and handle our goods—at a price—are bound to have their argument. They do not get down to the heart of it. The trouble with farming is the uneven manner in which the consumers' dollar has been distributed. By the consumers' dollar I mean the dollar which a man gives his wife in town to buy food or clothing—the things which originally came out of the soil. Out of that dollar the farmer averages 35 cents. Some get more and some less, but the average is 35 cents, while the handlers divide the 65 cents among them.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Age of Earth is 400,000,000 Years.

Four hundred million years was given as the age of the earth today in a lecture by Prof. Thomas Chamberlin, head of the department of geology at the University of Chicago. His statement which placed the date formation of the planet at a time 400,000,000 years previous to that computed by physicists, is based on a new computation involving a study of radioactivity.

"The rate of the dissociation of uranium rock containing radium," said the professor, "shows us conclusively that the earth is at least 400,000,000 years old. This estimate is scientifically more accurate than that of physicists."—Chicago Dispatch.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31, 1911.

Instead of firemen striking they ought to shovel—coal.

If the government keeps on after the trusts it may frighten them.

The fool fellow has commenced to rock the boat, with the usual report of somebody being drowned.

We believe everybody feels relieved that a second primary to nominate a mayor did not have to be held.

We guess Greenville, as usual, will not observe the Fourth of July, or something would have been said about it by this time.

Some declare the decision a victory for the government, and others that it is a victory for the American Tobacco Company. Be that as it may, the company will go on doing business.

Indications now point to one-cent letter postage as being one of the certainties of the not far distant future. The postal department having reached a self-supporting basis, for the first time in thirty years, makes the cheaper letter postage possible.

There is not a doubt that Mr. J. B. James, one of the candidates for mayor in the recent primary, made many friends by withdrawing rather than force the holding of a second primary. No doubt the people will keep him in mind and have something in store for him some of these days.

Next Monday, June 5th, the governing board of the Pitt County Fair Association, and others interested in holding a county fair next fall, will meet here to make further arrangements for the fair. There should be a large attendance. The fair is going to be a big thing, and everybody wants to get interested in it.

When your axe gets dull you sharpen it with a grind-stone. When your business gets dull you should sharpen it with advertising. The Reflector has unexcelled advantages for bringing your business to the attention of the public. The paper is read by the people the business man wants to reach.

Even up in the western part of the state, where they grow apples sure enough, it looks like the people would avoid being caught like the Waynesville Enterprise tells on them. That paper says "apples which we sold last fall at $1 per bushel may now be purchased in Waynesville for 60 cents per dozen." Some apples re-

Primaries will be held in the different wards, Friday night, to nominate candidates for aldermen. Properly administering the affairs of a town the size of Greenville, is no small matter.

What Is Mince-meat.
It is no harm to enquire—and we really admire Secretary Wilson's insatiable yearning for knowledge. He is constantly on the hunt for weird facts, and nothing can baffle him, no matter how obscure the trial may be. Moreover, he is absolutely fearless. Things that the average man would shrink from engaging at close quarters have no terrors for Uncle Sam's secretary of agriculture. He has the true scientific spirit that hesitates at nothing. With such a man in action some startling discoveries are imminent.

The mysteries of mince-meat are now engaging Secretary Wilson's earnest attention. Experts of the department of agriculture, acting under his orders are engaged in tracing back each component part of a mince pie to its original source. A treatise on the subject, submitted to the government by a manufacturer of commercial mince-meat, is a modest little pamphlet that follows mince pie back to the fifteenth century, but there loses it, unfortunately, in the mists and cobwebs of antiquity. Secretary Wilson hopes, when the evidence is all in, to settle the question definitely, whether mince pie is suitable for food purposes, or whether it should be shunned by mankind. In the meantime he who has a piece of mince pie in his hand and hesitates, is lost.—Greensboro. News.

Damage by Boll Weevil.
After all the people have been reading about the boll weevil, few of them have any actual idea of the extent of the damage that pest has done in the cotton belt. For one thing, it has caused a practical abandonment, temporarily at least, of cotton growing in Louisiana. The New Orleans Picayune says the vast extent of the injury wrought by the voracious little insect is easily appreciated when one recalls the fact that prior to the advent of the weevil in Louisiana this state produced in some years as much as a million bales of cotton and crops in the neighborhood of 800,000 bales were frequent. During the past few years the crop of the state has hardly averaged 250,000 bales.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Kepler's Three Laws.
The three laws of planetary motion discovered by Kepler, upon which modern astronomy is based, are:
First.—Each planet revolves in an ellipse, with the sun at one end of the foci.
Second.—Each planet moves in such a way that the line drawn between the center of the sun and the center of the planet passes over equal areas in equal periods of time.
Third.—The square of the time of a planet's revolution around the sun is proportional to the cube of its mean distance from the sun.

Brightness Beyond.

Though the clouds hang dark above us, and our path is lost in night. Over there, beyond the darkness, still the sun is shining bright. As in distant hills the rainbow falls from out the flying storm. So beyond, o'er bright, green pastures,

Hope's new glow is beaming warm. There is never a cloud but drifted! ne'er a sun but shone again. Though its beams fall not in places shadowed by the olden pain. Still somewhere our feet shall falter—falter in the face of light, And the vistas of the future stretch, illuminated out of sight!

It is always bright dear comrades, on the other side the cloud All beyond is pure and golden, though we cannot pierce the shroud. Soon sweet joy shall turn the fabric; and the soul shall wear, at last, Royal, glistening robes of gladness, for the sackcloth of the past.

A Talk For Today.

In Other Worlds.

The suggestion, often made before, and repeated by Prof. T. J. J. See in his lecture that other worlds might be inhabited by other varieties of beings than those found on earth—what is there improbable about it?

Why should man, the product of evolution, tracing his ancestry back through reptiles and fishes, to the atoms of space, dependent on the sun for the energy that keeps his bodily mechanism working, assume himself to be the fine flower of the universe? "What a monstrous spectacle," exclaimed Stevenson, "is this man; the disease of the agglutinated dust, lifting alternate feet or lying drugged with slumber; killing, feeding, growing, bringing forth small copies of himself; grown upon with hair like grass, fitted with eye that move and glitter in his face; a thing to set children screaming!"

Mere smouldering fires of consciousness that only here and there, a few times in a century, really burst forth into flame, why should we suppose that we are the best that the universe can do?—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Size of The Feet.

Paris is just now having a wave of interest in human feet. Two scientists, Marie and MacAuliffe, recently advanced the observation that the sanest type of men had the biggest feet, while the sanest type of women had the smallest feet, which has started the boulevardiers to scanning the feet of pedestrians.

Out of 100 normal men, these scientists have asserted that only 18 have small feet, while of 100 insane men only 20 have large feet. These proportions for women are almost exactly the reverse. Out of 100 sane women only 23 have large feet, while of 100 insane women 18 have small feet. On the male side of the proposition the American—long having looked upon Lincoln as one of the sanest and sagest of American statesmen—probably will agree with the French scientists.—Chicago Tribune.

WHAT IS GOING ON ALL AROUND AYDEN

PERSONAL AND NEWS NOTES

Mr. R. W. Smith Succeeded as Reflector Correspondent by Mr. C. L. Parker.

Ayden, N. C., May 31.—Mr. J. D. Jones has purchased the meat market of J. J. Dail, and will keep such things as go to satisfy the inner man.

Through the efforts of Mr. J. A. Harrington, the post office department has made such changes that a letter leaving here on the 7 o'clock train going south, is taken by the N. S. coming from Goldsboro via New Bern and Edenton and reaches Richmond the following day at 11 o'clock. This is quite a convenience to our people. Now, if the A. C. L. would wait a few minutes at Greenville for the Norfolk Southern coming from Raleigh and other points above, parties could leave Raleigh at 3 o'clock and reach Winterville, Ayden, Littlefield, Hanrahan and Grifton in time for supper. Now, we are ready to join in a petition, what say you, neighbors? [Good, let's go after it.—Ed.]

Mr. A. E. Garris and family returned Monday from Morehead City.

There is being fitted up in the Smith Bros. building, next door to the post office, a candy kitchen. It will be conducted by R. A. Shaheen, our Assyrian merchant, who will keep a full supply of candy, also foreign and domestic fruits, and possibly a soda fountain.

We had a card last Sunday from Mr. J. W. Moore, who was then at Little Rock, Ark., stating that crops were very backward, that he was making his way down through the Texas cotton belt. We learn they have had excessive rain this spring.

Mr. James Tripp, who has spent the winter here visiting his sisters, Mrs. W. H. Harris and Mrs. Louisa Manning, left Wednesday for his home in Western Texas.

Mrs. Lena Davenport and son, of Rocky Mount, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris.

We regret to learn of the death of our old friend and neighbor, Mr. Henry Campbell, who lived near here when Ayden was first established and later sold his farm to Mr. Joe D. Dixon, and moved to Oak City, and from there to Tarboro. Mr. Campbell was a good farmer and fine mechanic. He left a large family, several of them married.

Mr. W. C. Buhman has moved his furniture to Parkersburg, and Mr. Joe B. Patrick will occupy the house vacated by him.

Mr. L. L. Kittrell is moving in the residence of Dr. Joseph Dixon, who has moved to Virginia.

Mrs. Jesse Cannon left last Friday for John Hopkins hospital for an operation. Dr. Harvey Dixon accompanied her.

On account of being so much pressed for time, we are forced to give up our newspaper correspondence, and our mantle has fallen on Mr. C. L. Parker, whose gentleness of approach and suavity of manner will no doubt increase the advertising department, as well as the locals. We hope our people will give him their support, as the columns of The Reflector have been a great factor to ventilate our wants and needs.

R. W. SMITH.

[Mr. Smith has made The Reflector a faithful correspondent at Ayden, and has kept that enterprising town prominently in the eyes of the public. We thank him for all he has done in helping to make the paper more newsy. His successor, Mr. Parker, is a young man of energy, and we are looking for the excellence of the Ayden Department to continue under his management, and ask the co-operation of the people of that town with him.—Ed.]

ADVICE TO FARMERS AND GINNERS

In behalf of their own interest, as well as all concerned, we wish to warn the farmers and ginnners against the use of second-hand, re woven bagging and piece ties, as well as "New Process Ties," which are nothing more than old ties newly painted; as it is detrimental to their interests when they can buy good new jute bagging and new Arrow ties at a reasonable price, and not suffer any loss, trouble or complaint in their use. Besides it will give them a neat package that will at all times command the highest market price. In writing this article which is based on our experience for twenty years in the cotton business, we are only advising the farmers and ginnners as to what we think to be to their best interest.

Stocks.

New York, May 31.—The stock market opened irregular. Union Pacific moved up 1 3-4. The sentiment is that the tobacco trust decision will interfere with proposed combinations; St. Paul, Northern Pacific and Reading advanced one point each. Other stocks opened off, because of the tobacco decision. Curb trading was irregular. American shares in London were steady.

New York, May 31.—The reaction of the stock market was more favorable following the tobacco trust decision than that which followed the Standard Oil decision. American Tobacco opened at 500 and was liberally offered at the end of an hour, 450 bid and 460 asked.

New York, May 31.—Tobacco stock slumped to 4.25 today, a drop of 75 points, on account of the Supreme court decision.

Do Ghost Haunt Swamp?

No, never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malarial germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C. "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy, only 50c at all druggists.

Plant peas for the vines that grow on an acre are worth from five to ten dollars for stock food.

Plant peas for though their roots put into the soil from four to six dollars worth of nitrogen per acre.

Plant peas for their vines, roots and stubbles help to make soil loose and easily cultivated.

Plant peas for when decaying their humes helps to convert mineral substances into valuable plant food.

Plant peas for their humes absorb and retains moisture that will aid the next crop to go through a drought easily.

Plant peas for their vines shade the land during the hottest part of the summer, thus aiding in the formation of valuable nitrates.

Guarding Against Trouble.

The honeymoon of a newly married couple was about to end, and the young bride asked her husband what she could do to prove she loved him with all her heart. The husband replied: "You might turn over all the foolish letters I have written you, so that I might have the satisfaction of destroying them."—Newark Star.

Armored.

"In days of old were knights really so bold?"

"They could well afford to be. A man in sheet iron could hug a girl without getting lacerated by pins in her waist."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
