

IT IS TRULY A BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT

BY A YOUNG NORTH CAROLINIAN

Pays An Eloquent Tribute To Motherhood.

Editor Reflector:

I have heard it said that the most beautiful sentence in the English language was Dr. Johnson's opening sentence in his book, "Boselos" and indeed it is beautiful, but for fine sentiment, true to our best smooth flow of words, beautiful imagery and exquisite beauty, I have read nothing equal to this from Clarence Poe, of North Carolina. Writing of a departed princess of India, Arjman Bornu, in whose memory her husband had erected a temple called the Taj, reported to be the most exquisite building upon earth, he says: "Arjman Bornu walked the ancient way of motherhood, that way along which woman finds the testing of her soul, the mystic reach and infinite meaning of her existence as man finds his in some bitter conflict that forever frees him from the bonds of selfishness. Seven times she walked the mother's ancient way down to the gates of death and brought back a new life with her, but the eighth time she did not return."

Can this sentence be surpassed? Isn't it sublime? To me it signifies that we have in North Carolina a writer and patriot such as we have never had before; one whom we should delight to praise and honor, for he will be remembered when many who now think they are great have been forgotten.

Of course many of your readers have read the quotation and admired it, but many more have had no opportunity to read it and many only gave it a careless perusal, and as I was so impressed with its grandeur, sublimity and beauty I wanted others to enjoy reading it.

We do not always appreciate our great men, and often those whom we think great in a few years appear to those whose prospective is more advantageous for right judgment pigmies. I may have erroneous opinions of Mr. Poe, but from my point of view he is an exceedingly promising young man, and if properly appreciated by us his name and statue will some day be in the Hall of Fame.

THOUSANDS COMING BACK TO SOUTHERN STATES

THE "BACK HOME" MOVEMENT

Numerous Inquiries From Scattered Southerners Wanting to Return.

Spartanburg, S. C., June 10.—Newspapers all over the South are printing letters from Southern people in the West and Northwest, which tell of thousands who are coming back to the South. The secretary of the "Back Home" Association, W. D. Roberts, Johnson City, Tenn., has been for several months gathering the addresses of people who have gone west. He says inquiries for farm lands and for rates are coming at the rate of fifty a day, most of them from former Southern people. Many of them, he says, requests that information be given to their friends in various sections of the West.

Thousands of individuals and boards of trade in the South are working in this "Back Home" movement. Every mail to the West carries hundreds of letters and pieces of literature which set forth the advantages of this country and a direct personal appeal to its natives to come back to their own home states. Even the women are at work; mothers are writing to their children and sisters to their brothers, all telling of the great development of the South.

On the first of July the "Back Home" Association will begin publishing an organ for circulation among the million of Southerners in other states. It will be called the "Back Home" Magazine. An announcement of it sent to the West has brought a great many requests for copies.

IF HE BUYS REAL ESTATE IT WILL BE IN THE SOUTH

TAXES ARE HIGH IN THE WEST.

People Who Leave The South Make A Mistake.

Johnson City, Tenn., June 10.—W. D. Roberts, secretary of the "Back Home" Association, this city, asks all Southern people to send a copy of their local newspaper to him and also to J. A. T. Bacon, Manager, Southern States Information Bureau, 5403 Keystone Avenue, Seattle, Washington, especially when it contains matter relating to agricultural improvement and development in the South, marking such items. Mr. Roberts wishes to reprint them in the "Back Home" Magazine, and Mr. Bacon will give them out to people who want to know about the South.

Ralph A. Parlier, formerly of Lenoir, N. C., writes from Everett, Washington, as follows:

"Taxes are extremely high here, and if I get in shape to buy a farm, it will be in the South. I think Mr. Bacon, of Seattle, is exactly right about people making a mistake coming here from the South." As he says, the 'land sharks' first sell you land at from $100 to $500 an acre, and then it costs from $150 to $300 an acre to put it in shape. This country is suited for raising only a few things, such as potatoes, turnips, berries and garden truck. Wheat raised here is not used for flour, but for stock feed. The potatoes we have here are not as good as those raised in the South. People who buy land should buy in the South where everything that grows can be raised."

More Deaths From Heat.

By Wire to The Reflector. Chicago, June 10.—The heat wave killed seven people here today.

BIGGER PROFITS.

800 Per Cent. Bigger Profits Possible In The South.

I estimate that there is a possible 800 per cent. increase in the productive power of the farm laborers in the Southern States, and I distribute the gain as follows:

- 150 per cent. to a rotation of crops and better tillage.
- 50 per cent. to better drainage.
- 50 per cent. to seed of higher vitality, thorough bred and carefully selected.
- 50 per cent. to the use of more economic plans for feeding stock, and the abundant use of legumes.
- 300 per cent. to the use of more and better mules and farm machinery.
- 200 hundred per cent. to the production of more and better stock.—Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, in Progressive Farmer.

GRIMMERSBURG OFFERS CHALLENGE

FOR EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR.

Let Us Hear From The Neighborhood That Will Take Them Up.

Editor Reflector:

I hope the committee on premiums of the Pitt County Fair Association will give a blue ribbon at least to the neighborhood that makes the most creditable all round exhibit. The State fair offers premiums to county and farm exhibits. We might, it appears to me, limit ours to neighborhoods and individual farms.

Grimmersburg (I don't mean Grimesland, as your printer made me say in a former article) challenges any other neighborhood in the county to compete with her. We want the space immediately to the left of the main entrance to the warehouse and would like for our competitor to be upon the right.

We will have in this display tobacco, cotton, corn, peanuts, soja beans, oats, wheat, rye, (?) potatoes white and sweet, collards and pop corn, hogs, cows, fat cattle, sheep, home-raised horses. Let us hear through the paper from the neighborhood which is willing to compete. By the way, I forgot to mention the exhibit in which we take most pride—boys and girls, young men and young women, to the manor born and brought up, of course. We have ten farms all upon one road extending about two miles in our burg.

THE SKIMMED MILK QUESTION AGAIN

MR. HEARNE DEFENDS DR. WILEY

Explains This To The "Skimmed Milk" Baby.

Editor Reflector:

Not a great many of your readers may recall an article credited to the New York Times as it appeared in The Daily Reflector of May 27. Fewer still, perhaps, retained an impression from it sufficiently definite to fully appreciate a communication in your issue of June 9th. If the reader should take a hasty view of Mr. Harris' contentions, he should not miss a re-reading of The Time's article. Mr. Harris betrays no effort in this direction, however, his intentions, apparently, being altogether instructive, and as serious as possible. For this reason his letter should bear a second reading and a comparison with the article to which it refers.

Letter of Mr. Harris:

New York, June 9, 1911.

Editor Reflector: Greenville, N. C.

I was interested in reading in your May 27th issue an article with the caption "Skimmed milk crusade," in which you quote Doctor Wiley as follows: "Dr. Wiley says he is convinced that the lives of almost an unlimited number of infants are endangered every day by the use of such milk."

Dr. Wiley has evidently changed mind since he published the second edition—revised and enlarged—of "Foods and their adulterations." He says in said book on page 176 "skimmed milk," "the residue which is left from the removal of cream is known as skimmed milk. Skimmed milk contains the principal part of the nitrogenous constituents of milk, the greater quantity of its sugar and a very large quantity of its mineral matter. It is a very valuable food product, lacking only the element of fat. Naturally the composition of skimmed milk would be that of milk corrected for the abstraction of fat. It contains some little fat when prepared by the gravity method and only a very small portion when separated mechanically. The abstraction of the fat increases the relative proportion of sugar and casein."

On page 181 he states "Buttermilk." It does not differ greatly in its chemical properties from skimmed milk, although there is a slight difference in the relative percentages of the milk solids in cream as compared with the same constituents in whole milk."

On page 499 he states "Infants foods." If sweet milk does not meet the requirements, sour milk or buttermilk properly modified may be used."

It is evident from the above quotations that skimmed milk is a nutritious substance, and that it is also necessary to modify cow's milk prior to feeding it to an infant.

Yours truly, H. L. HARRIS.

The Times Article:

"A crusade against manufacturers of condensed skimmed milk who misrepresent their product, has been started by the Department of Agriculture.

"Dr. Wiley has recommended that certain manufacturers be prosecuted for violation of the pure food law and it is probable that proceedings against them will be started within the next few days.

"As a result of an investigation of the condensed milk situation, which has been in progress, at the Bureau of Chemistry for some time, Dr. Wiley says he is convinced that the lives of an almost unlimited number of infants are endangered every day by the use of such milk.

"This department is doing everything it can to stop the sale of condensed skimmed milk," said Dr. Wiley. "Its effect throughout the country on infant mortality can only be estimated, but I do know that it endangers the life of every child to whom it is given."—New York Times.

Does it appear that Dr. Wiley has "changed his mind," or that Mr. H. L. Harris, conscious that "the hand is quicker than the eye," slyly substituted "skimmed milk" for that other article which has interested the Bureau of Chemistry?" After a careful reading of the above letter, isn't it delicious to find that the article with which it belabors poor Dr. Wiley doesn't say a solitary

GO AFTER THE SNAKES.

The Kind to Hang Up To Bring Rain.

There is an old saying that if you kill a snake in dry weather and hang it up, it will bring rain very soon. A snakeologist called on The Reflector and urged that we say something along this line, so that the snake hunters can get busy and bring some rain. He also gave the following list of snakes with the kind of weather each will bring if killed and hung up according to the regulation:

- Rattlesnake, cyclone.
- Moccasin or poplar leaf thunder storm and hail.
- Black runner, rain.
- Any other kind, uncertain showers.
- According to the above we would urge the hunters to be careful on the rattlesnake line, as a cyclone is not wanted.

It takes all kind of people to make a town, yet every town has some that are no good to it.

A million dollars endowment for Trinity College sounds good. We hope it will be a certainty, and that soon.

If a man is really opposed to good roads, he ought to think a long time before letting anybody else know he is in such a back-number class.

Do not be boastful over the man who appears to be beneath you today. He may be above you tomorrow. Changes come often in life.

Mr. Roosevelt now says they told it on him too quick, as he has not pledged himself to support Mr. Taft nor any one else for the next presidential nomination. Oh, well, if anybody has lied, he should remember that he once headed the list of the Annanias Club.

A Boston school marm who has followed the profession of teaching for forty-nine years, and in all those years never landed a man, (it may be that she did not want one) in delivering an address to young women school teachers said that flirting "will do much to rest a tired mind after the arduous duties of the school room." Yes, and it sometimes brings about a state of affairs in which there is no rest at all.

You do not have to look far to see that great changes have taken place in Greenville and in Pitt county in the last few years. While progress has been made morally, socially, educationally and commercially, agricultural has kept even pace with it, and farms and country homes have shown wonderful improvements. Would Make a Good Governor.
Ex-Governor Glenn has been tendered the editorship of a paper to be established in Texas and asked to name the salary at which he will take the place. Should Mr. Glenn decide to enter the newspaper field North Carolina would afford him a better opening than Texas.—Reidsville Weekly.

The Henderson Gold Leaf is responsible for the following:
"Have you ever observed how little talent and standing it takes to be a first class 'knocker'?" You will find that in about nine cases out of every ten the fellow who has accomplished little for himself and done less for the community in which he lives is the one who wants to 'knock' everybody and every thing. When you find that you are just bound to give vent to your pent up feeling by doing some 'knocking' get you some sort of an implement and go to the field and knock clods."

The poor man holds in his power that which is most important not only to himself but to the rich man for he helps himself and makes his more fortunate neighbor richer without increasing the burden on either when he votes for good roads. How is this? It is an old tale; we have told it over and over—it is by the increase in values caused by good roads. The bonds voted in every community for good roads have never cost a cent, the increase in valuation have more than paid them.—Ashboro Courier.

There is one man essential to the welfare of this or any other town. The average every day citizen who lives within his means, cares little for social functions or society shining, who pays his debts, is the man after all who is helping most to build up this and every other town. He is not only the kind of man who is making this town but he is the man who will keep it going. This fellow about whom we are talking is the salt of the earth. Sometimes he is a store keeper, a shop hand or day laborer, sometimes he is a professional man. No matter what his station in life; he is always on the job and can be depended on.—Asheboro Courier.

Trees Bleed or Shed Tears.
There is a species of oak trees that will weep, or bleed, as they say. Be-leath them may be seen drops, thick as hops, very much like there had been a shower of rain. Two of such trees are on east Main street, opposite the residence of Mr. F. M. Gorman. Every morning, under the ram-doom of their branches, the pavement looks very much like there had been a gentle shower the night before. One theory given for this is that there is an insect of some kind gnawing at the roots and causes the tree to bleed, or shed tears and these drops fall during the night. We are told that these insects will finally kill the tree, and from the way it proceeds, it looks as if the trees will weep themselves to death. It is something somewhat remarkable in treeology.—Durham Sun.

Value of a College to a Community.

The advantages of having a college in a community is rarely ever appreciated by the citizens of the community as they should be appreciated. A college pours into a community a vast amount of wealth each year that is of more real benefit to the community than wealth that is brought in by industrial enterprises. Aside from this monetary consideration, the college gives the citizens of a community a vast amount of wholesome public entertainment that costs nothing. Colleges are great centers of culture from which radiates a vast amount of uplifting influence that raises the general standard of the community in which it is located. The residence of the educated men, who conduct the college and who always take a more or less active leadership in the affairs of the community, is an important addition to the citizenship that can not be over estimated. The opportunity of the citizens of a community to come into contact with large numbers of young men and women in the vicinity and enthusiasm of their youth is great advantage as well as pleasure. The people of Durham have always appreciated the presence of Trinity College and the other educational institutions of the city. A livelier interest in the affairs of the college on the part of the citizens as a whole would show this appreciation more fully. There are a hundred ways in which the citizens can co-operate with the faculty and students in their work and it is to be hoped that a large number will make up their minds to give this hearty co-operation hereafter.—Durham Sun.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.
Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble.
My husband asked me to try Cardui, I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."
If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui.
Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.
For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

Smiles and Frowns.

If I knew the box where the smiles are kept,
No matter how large the key
Or strong the bolt, I would try so 'Twould open, I know for me.

Then over the land and the sea broadcast
I'd scatter the smiles to play
That children's faces might hold them fast

For many and many a day.

If I knew a box that was large enough
To hold all the frowns I meet,
I would try to gather them, every one,
From nursery, school and street.

Then, folding and folding, I'd pack them in
And turn the monster key;
I'd hire a giant to drop the box
To the depths of the deep, deep sea.

Enjoyable Sail.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was a sail given by Mr.
W. S. Moye, Thursday evening, complimentary to the Junior Philathea class of the Baptist Sunday school.
The boat left the wharf at eight o'clock and after sailing about ten miles down the river it landed and lunch prepared by the young ladies, was served on the bank. After the lunch the happy party returned, reaching Greenville about eleven o'clock, all declaring Mr. Moye a most charming host.

Junior Philatheas Entertain
Junior Baracas.

On Friday evening from 8:30 to 11, at the home of their teacher, Mrs.
S. J. Everett, on Dickinson avenue, the Junior Philathea class of Memorial Baptist Sunday school, charmingly entertained the Junior Baraca class of the same school.

The home was brilliantly lighted and decorated with cut flowers and the forty odd bright, merry young people gathered there made a scene seldom equalled, and it was an occasion of real pleasure to every one present.

The social committee of the Philathea class, Misses Inez Pittman, chairman; Mamie Norman and Ernestine Forbes, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Everett, received and welcomed the guests as they arrived, and after a while spent mingling together beautiful score cards were distributed and they entered heartily in a game of "Progressive Junior," which afforded much amusement.

At the conclusion of the game delicious block cream and nabiscos were served.

The young ladies proved themselves to be as charming as entertainers as they are in person.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Five Great Evils.

In Sunday's New York Herald Cardinal Gibbons contributes a long and thoughtful article in which he treats of the five greatest American evils that menace the very life of the nation. Summed up, Cardinal Gibbons gives them as follows:

"Mormonism and divorce, which strike at the root of the family and society.

"An imperfect and vicious system of education, which undermines the religion of our youth.

"The desecration of the Christian Sabbath, which tends to obliterate in our adult population the salutary fear of God and the homage that we owe Him.

"The gross and systematic election frauds.

"Lastly, the unreasonable delay in carrying into effect the sentences of our criminal courts, and the numerous subterfuges by which criminals evade the execution of the law."

One Way to Rest.

There is nothing that will rest you so quickly as to sit on a straight bac' chair and, lifting the feet from the floor, push them out in front of you as far as possible, stretch the arms, put the head back, open the mouth wide and make yourself yaw.

WILD INDIANS IN CALIFORNIA.

Remnant of a Tribe Has Kept Itself Hidden for Forty Years.

The discovery of the remnant of a tribe of Indians hiding in a wild and unsettled portion of Tehema county by scientists from the University of California has held to the keenest interest among anthropologists, and an effort is being made to have the government of the United States take charge of the remaining members.

Prof. A. L. Kroeber of the department of anthropology of the University of California, writes: "That there should be a tribe of entirely wild Indians at this date in so thickly settled a state as California seems absolutely incredible.

When the first rumor of the untamed aborigines in Tehema county reached the University of California, it was known at once who the Indians must be if they existed at all, for the so-called Kombo or Mill Creek tribe of this region had long been regarded as one of the smallest and at the same time most unique tribes in California. But as this band was last seen in 1870, the possibility of their having been able to keep themselves entirely hidden for forty years was remote.

"An expedition headed by T. T. Waterman, an instructor in the department of anthropology was out a month and whole after the most strenuous kind of work and most vigilant care they were unable to meet any of the Indians in person—they brought back evidence which indisputably proves their existence.

"The tract which they inhabit is only a few miles square and an easy day's journey from Vina on the Shasta route of the Southern Pacific railroad. It is without question the roughest and most impenetrable stretch of country in California. The Indians know every inch of this territory. As soon as one of their trails becomes worn they abandon it for less visible paths. The trails go under brush instead of through it, so that the Indians do most of their traveling on hands and knees. This prevents the stock which occasionally strays into the region from following the trails and beating them out.

"If limbs have to be removed the Indians cut them with old saws or knives that they have stolen from neighboring ranchers, so as to avoid the sound of chopping with an ax, which might lead to their being located.

"As the country which they inhabit is absolutely useless even to cattle it is practically never entered. The few ranchers that cross the country prefer to travel around the tract instead of through it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Song of The Dreamer.

I dreamed one day, as I sat and smoked,
That I'd compass in a leap,
And I stopped to dream of the things I'd do,
While fame passed by in my sleep.
And still I dream on things I'll do,
As I smoke my pipe and sleep;
And day by day they pass away—
These chances to make the leap.

So we all of us puff and dream and smoke—
Dream on things we'll do,
We all of us dream, as the time slips by,
And fame slips by us, too.

China Wedding.

Thursday night the home of Rev. and Mrs. M. A. Adams was the scene of a beautiful twentieth anniversary. The home was tastily decorated with flowers and potted plants, when both old and young gathered to enjoy the evening. Mr. and Miss Adams stood beneath a beautiful arch while a wedding march was played, and the married people followed by the next nearest married until all the party marched in and congratulated them. The party then went to the dining room where refreshments were served.

Quite a nice collection of handsome china was received and reviewed by the party before departing.

Dreaded Premature Burial.

Meyerbeer, like many other notable people, went in dread of premature burial and left the most elaborate directions with a view to preventing such a contingency. "My body is to remain untouched for a period of four days after my death is certified, with the face uncovered and in exactly the same position as at the time I am supposed to have passed away. On the fifth day incisions are to be made in the throat and in the feet." He also directed that two men should be appointed to watch over him day and night in case he should give any signs of life and that bells should be attached to his hands and feet.

He Remained One.

"It is true," said a woman lecturer, "that some girls, marrying men to reform them, succeed. Some girls, too, fail.

"The hostess at a tea once said to a beautiful, sad eyed woman: "Are you fond of sports, Mrs. Blank?"

"Mrs. Blank smiled. Her sad eyes twinkled a moment. Then she sighed and answered: "Well, I suppose I ought to be. I married one."

GRAY HAIR WILL MAKE YOU LOOK OLD

Use Weyth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will effect the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Weyth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out and makes it beautiful.

THE ELECTRIC FAN
Back in the early eighties Dr. S. S. Wheeler, an electrical engineer of New York, was experimenting with a small electric motor. In the course of his experiments the doctor conceived the idea that steamboats might be run with electricity if the propellers could be directly connected to high speed electric motors, doing away with all the gears then in use in steam propulsion. With this idea in mind he had a small screw propeller constructed and fastened it to the armature shaft of his small motor. To his surprise the experiment resulted in a fine breeze of cooling air which more than delighted the experimenter, for the day was decidedly hot. It is needless to add that the experiments with screw propellers ended right there, and the engineer took up the study of the electric fan, with the result that he soon perfected the device until it was a commercial success.
