

ABLE LECTURE BY DR. STRAYER

Speaks to Teachers and Citizens at Training School

ADVANTAGES OF SUMMER SCHOOL

"Modern Tendencies in Public Education" Interestingly Discussed By This Able Instructor—Eastern North Carolina Fortunate in Having Him Here—Summer School Doing Splendid Work.

Dr. George D. Strayer, of Columbia University, who is one of the faculty for the summer term at East Carolina Teachers' Training School, instructing a class of school superintendents and principals on school administration, delivered a lecture in the school auditorium on Monday night, to the entire student body and a number of town people who went over to hear him.

The subject of his lecture, which was able and entertaining, was "Modern Tendencies in Public Education." He handled his subject under several headings, the first being the age of the child and its physical education and care. He pointed out the need of gymnasiums and playgrounds, not alone for recreation but for physical development of the child; and that medical inspection, school nurses and dental clinics are necessities for the preservation of health. He advocated open air schools, schools for the blind, the deaf and dumb, for the cripple, that these might have equal chance in life with those physically more fortunate.

Dr. Strayer also stressed the moral feature of education; that moral training is essential to character making. Parental schools, juvenile courts and reform schools were all given their place in importance. Moral training does not reach its height in the school room unless we have moral teachers.

Then he carried his hearers on through the various needs for development of the boys and girls into a useful life; the boys should have clubs for debating, for dramatic diversion, for athletics, and training along mechanical and business lines. The girls should also have clubs for sewing, cooking, social and literary features, and their training in home making, sanitation and nursing should not be neglected.

The sphere of public education should also extend to the adult that they may be qualified for more effective work. They should have lectures, civic clubs, centers of recreation, libraries, associations of parents near their schools, so that the interest of the community may be attracted to and centered in the school.

The conditions for accomplishing these are better and broader education for children, youths and adults. Public education is not local or individual. It should be compulsory. The length of the school term should be increased to from 7 to nine months, in fact, school of some kind should be going on all the year. And the children should be compelled to attend school not less than 7 months in the year. Sentiment should also be awakened to the point of paying teachers sufficient to keep them in the work—the minimum should be a living wage—that is pay them enough during the months they teach to support them all the year. Not only should there be a longer term, but a longer school day, more hours being put in the work.

All through Dr. Strayer's lecture was filled with the best of thought, though this report only touches the outlines here and there. He is an educator of unusual ability, and the people of Eastern North Carolina are more than fortunate in his spending some weeks here in this summer school to impart instruction that will be felt through years to come in our educational work. The time is past when education is nothing but books. It is character building, home making, better equipment for life's duties and service to others, more comfort, more joy, more happiness—building not only for time but for eternity. That is what this institution here in Greenville is doing in the training of teachers.

The summer school is doing splendid work. The dormitories and town are filled with teachers taking advantage of the splendid opportunities

THE REMODELED CITY BY THE SEA

THE RESORT MADE BEAUTIFUL.

The New Virginia Beach In All Its Glory And Attractiveness.

Norfolk, Va., June 13.—With the completion of the vast improvements as planned and already under construction by the Norfolk Southern railroad, former patrons of Virginia Beach will not recognize the place. While in the past this resort has always had an interest and characteristics all its own, yet the new Virginia Beach will be so far in advance of its former self as to practically have its existence in a new resort world.

Thousands of dollars are being spent this year by the Norfolk Southern Railroad for permanent buildings and wonderful improvements at the beach. Thousands of additional dollars are planned for and being spent by the citizens and residents of the beach to create additional improvements and advantages for this city by the sea.

The mammoth new casino that is already under construction at Virginia Beach will cost the Norfolk Southern over $50,000 in its erection alone. This casino will establish a new standard for summer resort amusement parks. It is over 600 feet in length and 125 feet in width, containing a spacious pavilion, a mammoth and modern equipped cafe and grill room, convention hall, a large airy ball room, and commodious and well equipped bath houses. The ball room is 110 feet in length by 75 feet in width, enclosed in glass and surrounded by a spacious veranda. The casino building throughout is unique in style and attractiveness. Of the bungalow type, with its spacious verandas, connecting open hall ways and surrounded beautiful walks and parking areas, it will indeed be a place beautiful.

But the casino is not the only great accommodation feature at Virginia Beach. There are numerous summer hotels and cottages which vie with each other in appointment, neatness and attractiveness. The rates at the several hotels and cottages are sufficiently low-priced to satisfy every one, when the excellent service is taken into consideration, the wonder is how these rates can be so reasonable.

Virginia Beach is truly the "Newport of the South." At the same time is noted for its cosmopolitan ways. The rapid increase of interest in this resort and the wonderful increase in its population are the causes which has led to the planned expenditures already under way in the way of increased buildings, added conveniences and magnificent improvements that will this year add to the attractiveness of the place.

The Norfolk Southern Railroad has prepared a neat folder which fully describes the advantages, scenery and accommodations at this popular resort. This folder also gives a list of the hotels and cottages, and rates for accommodations of all kinds. These folders may be obtained from any of the Norfolk Southern agents and representatives, or can be secured by writing the general passenger agent, W. W. Croxton, Norfolk, Virginia.

A LITTLE RAIN.

With Much Thunder And Some Hail.

After being threatening all the afternoon, the clouds gathered so dense about nightfall, Monday, and the wind blew so hard that the fearful were wondering if somebody had hung up a rattlesnake and a cyclone was coming, but there was not anything like that. Of thunder and lightning there was much, and with it came a refreshing shower of rain. Some hail also fell, but not enough to do any damage that we have heard of.

Another "Blind Tiger."

Mayor Wooten had another "Blind tiger" before him Monday. Reed Gorham, colored, an old offender, was caught "with the goods," and was bound over to Superior court.

DISASTROUS STORM AND CLOUDBURST

SWEEPS ALMOST ENTIRE COAST.

Disastrous to Property And Destroys Scores of Lives.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Philadelphia, June 13.—Thousands of dollars damage has been done and scores of lives were lost in a storm which was augmented by cloud burst last night. The storm area extended from New York to South Carolina and as far west as the Alleghenies. This city was directly cut off last night.

Camden, N. J., June 13.—So many wires are blown down that the authorities ordered the city electric current to be cut off for fear pedestrians might be electrocuted.

Allentown, Pa., June 13.—Three men were killed in a storm last night. The wind attained a velocity of 50 miles an hour and the streets were ankle deep in water. All of the telegraph and telephone wires were put out of business.

CROPS IN PITT.

Cotton is Doing Well, But Only A
Third Crop of Tobacco.

"The tobacco crop in my section will be only about a third of a crop," said Hon. R. R. Cotten, of Bruce, Pitt County, who was here yesterday on his way to the meeting of the State Good Roads Association in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Cotten went on to say that the trouble with crops in Eastern North Carolina was the want of rain. "We had a half inch of rain in May and thus far in June we have had quarter of an inch. While outside of tobacco our crops are doing well, yet this is because Pitt county land has been better prepared, for we broke the land deep. Cotton is doing well."—Raleigh News and Observer.

RIVER STAGE AND RAIN.

Figures Showing The Condition of Both Here.

Mr. R. M. Hearne, who is the government observer of the river and rain fall for this point, has furnished The Reflector some interesting figures.

On Monday, 12, the water in Tar river stood at 2.9, the lowest level reached this year.

The rainfall on the 12th was .22. Between June 1st and 12th the fall had been .21, making a total of only .43 (.7 less than half an inch) for the twelve days. During the month of May it was 1.50.

The government thermometer on Monday registered 98 in the shade on the north side of the house, the highest record so far this year.

SHERIFF DUDLEY CLIMBING UP.

He Finds A New Point Of Observation.

Sheriff S. I. Dudley took a climb up in the world this morning. He was seen up on the very highest timbers around the tower on top of the new court house, fully a hundred feet above ground, and with an imaginary field glass was viewing the landscape o'er. Just how far he could see or what was spied was not learned, but that he took in the territory for miles around there is no doubt. Now, ye law breakers, you had better watch your corks, or from this new lookout the sheriff will get his eye on you.

COUNTY FARMERS' UNION.

Donates Twenty-five Dollars To The Fair Premium List.

The Farmers' Union of Pitt county is showing its faith by its works. The monthly meeting of the union was held in Farmville last Saturday, and voted to make a donation of $25 to the premium list of Pitt County Fair Association. The members of the Farmers' Union seem highly enthused over the fair proposition and will give it hearty co-operation. The next monthly meeting of the union will be held in Greenville the second Saturday in July.

CLARK SAYS NO ROOT AMENDMENT

Bourne Tells What National Progressive
Republican League Is—The House Still Picking Wool—Gayley
Tells Some More On The Trust.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, June 13.—Senator Bourne, replying to statements that there was a split in the National Progressive Republican League, today issued a denial and gave an account of the purposes of the league.

Speaker Champ Clark issued a statement that the house will not accept the Canadian reciprocity bill with the Root amendment.

The house resumed debate of the Underwood wool bill. Representative Dalzell vigorously attacked the bill.

President Taft today at the white house bestowed medals of honor and gratuities of $100 on Thomas Stanton, Karl Wester, Patrick Reid, August Holt, Charles C. Roberts and Harry Lipscomb, members of the crew of the North Dakota. They saved the ship when the explosion occurred last September in Hampton Roads.

James Gayley resumed his testimony before the Stanley steel committee. He admitted that the steel rail makers agreed on the price of $28 per ton, which was acceptable to the railroads.

FIRST BALE NEW COTTON.

Eleven Days Ahead of Time and Sold
Thousand And Fifteen Dollars.

Houston, Texas, June 13.—Establishing a new crop record by eleven days for first appearance of the new cotton crop, a bale of Cameron county staple was received on the Houston cotton exchange today.

It grew on the farm of Ernest Matz and will be sold to the highest bidder. Part of the bale's journey from Cameron county was made by a special train because it was reported other "first bales" were en route for the exchange.

The cotton was sold at $2.05.85 per pound, the total weight being 493 pounds and the price $1,015. This was the highest price ever paid on the Houston exchange for a bale of cotton. It was classed as strict middling.

English Races.

By Cable to The Reflector.

London, June 13.—King George and Queen Mary and an immense crowd among whom were many Americans, saw Marchell win the royal status at Ascot. Royal Tender ran second.

Great crowds are attending the international horse show at Olympia. Disappointment is expressed because the United States army entries did not win any prize.

Aviation Accident.

WHAT IS GOING ON AROUND AYDEN

NEW DORMITORY FOR SCHOOL.

Excursionists Return—Former Citizen Referred to The Scriptures.

Ayden, N. C., June 13.—The Odd Fellows officers for the ensuing term are:

G. F. Cooper, N. G.
Dr. W. H. Dixon, V. G.
E. A. Garris, Sec.
H. G. Burton, Fin. Sec.
J. R. Smith, Treas.

Forest fires are burning in the community of Elm Grove church.

A protracted meeting is now in progress at the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Hocutt, of Hookerton, is assisting Mr. Caraway. We hope much good may result from this meeting.

Messrs. W. B. Alexander, Leon McGlohorn, J. A. Harrington, Richard Wingate and Jesse Hart have all returned from Florida. They report a pleasant, hot and dusty trip, also that ham sandwiches were 15 cents, shaves 15 cents, coca-colas 10 cents per glass. Mr. Wingate was taken sick and did not go any further than Jacksonville. They stopped over at Savannah and saw Jake Killrain and John L. Sullivan fight three rounds according to rules.

There must be a prophet at Morehead, Mr. W. F. Hart writes that he went out fishing and landed 27 trout weighing 2 pounds each. At the same time his lantern fell over board. He reported this to a fellow fisherman and the next day his friend was trawling along and thinking he was making a fine haul, and upon investigation found it to be the lost lantern. Read the 6th chapter of 2nd Kings, 1st to 7th verse.

The saw mill machinery, lumber, log carts, etc., of Mr. W. J. Braxton, were burned Saturday evening and was a total loss. This makes the second time this mill plant has been burned recently.

The trustees of the Baptist Seminary have let the contract to Mr. J. A. Griffin to build a dormitory, which will be up to date and contain about 20 rooms. They also contemplate overhauling the present school building, making it much larger and more convenient.

We claim that North Carolina troops were the first at Bethel, further at Gettysburg and the last to lay down their arms at Appomattox. This, no doubt, is true. We have received a letter from Sergeant Merzy, showing the people of Ayden and Pitt county what metal Robert Lester Jones is made of. This letter will speak for itself. This is the same young man who distinguished himself a few months ago, by saving a town from a destructive fire. This young officer is the son of Mr. Monk Jones, who once lived near Harrington's Cross Roads.

The game of ball with Bethel Friday was a farce, Ayden winning by the score of 12 to 0. The feature of the game was the home run of Dewey, for Ayden.

Mrs. Pennie Garris, mother of Mr. A. B. Garris, fell a few days ago and sustained injuries from which she died yesterday. She was buried today at Garris' Memorial church. Rev. E. T. Phillips conducted the obsequies. She was a Miss Kittrell, and married Mr. Sylvester Garris.

Mr. R. H. Garris, of Ayden, has purchased a four passenger Overland touring car.

Messrs. J. R. Turnage and A. E. Garris returned about noon today with a handsome touring car for Mr. R. H. Garris, which is the first one bought in our neighborhood.

Ode To A Street Sprinkler.

Sprinkle, sprinkle, little cart,
How I wonder where thou art,
When the dust is high and dry,
Never can I find you nigh.
When the clouded sun is set,
And the streets with rain are wet,
Then you wing your little flight;

NEWS THAT IS OF IN- TEREST TO TAR HEELS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Told For The Reflector's
Busy Readers.

The town of Apex, near Raleigh, had a big fire Monday morning. Several buildings were destroyed with a loss of $40,000 and $21,000 insurance.

New Bern.—J. J. Wiley, of Norfolk, and J. H. Morris, of Greensboro, were drowned at Wilkerson's Point, a promontory several miles down Neuse river yesterday afternoon. Neither body has yet been recovered.

Raleigh.—Governor Kitchin today offered a reward of $400 for the unknown person or persons who murdered Mrs. Joel Mills at Jamestown the night of June 8. The case is a most mysterious one, and if it is a murder, Governor Kitchin feels that the greatest diligence should be taken to run down the murderers. Another reward offered today is for William Lawrence, a negro, who is alleged to have killed the wife of Dick Lawrence, another negro, in Halifax county, May 27. The woman was shot in the back and then part of her head blown off and the body buried in the swamp. Several days later it was unearthed and Lawrence was arrested, but escaped from the constable.

Mt. Airy.—News has reached the city that late Saturday evening, near the city and only a few yards from Virginia and North Carolina line, while two brothers named Inscore were driving along the road on their way home from Mount Airy, some one in ambush fired and instantly killed one of the men. It is alleged that a man named Lynch and another named Greenwood were seen together in the brush where the tragedy occurred, and it is reported that one of them fired the fatal shot.

Wilmington.—Official announcement is made that his majesty, Kaiser Wilhelm, of Germany, has bestowed upon James Sprunt, German consul for North Carolina, the decoration of the Prussian crown. Mr. Sprunt is not in the city, being en route to his summer home, Orton Lodge, Narragansett pier, to which point the telegram has been forwarded to him. The official notice is from the German consul at Atlanta, Ga., and the telegram read as follows: "His majesty has bestowed upon you decoration of Prussian crown. Heartiest congratulations. (Signed) Zloepffel."

Prohibition Effective.

To those who have had many doubts of the effectiveness of prohibition in this state, a trip through the eastern section will convince that the law, while frequently evaded, has accomplished much good. Even the strongest anti-prohibitionist in that part of North Carolina will admit that there is much less drunkenness. Some state that there is more drinking in the country districts than ever before, but the criminal courts show a better record.—Durham Sun.

LADIES SHOULD BE RESPECTED.

What has become of the manliness of the men? The man who is a gentleman in all that term implies will not be unmindful of the feelings of ladies, nor will he do anything that will cause them embarrassment. One thing going on in Greenville that is occasioning much complaint, and should be stopped at once, is the congregating of men at Five Points, especially on Sundays, to watch the ladies of the Training School as they pass going to and from church. It is really like the ladies were having to run the gauntlet of inspection, and not a few of them have stayed away from church on Sundays and remained in the dormitories at the school rather than face such embarrassment. The men thus congregating and watching the ladies pass may be more due to thoughtlessness than the intention of being disrespectful. The ladies are entitled to every respect and courtesy, and these should be accorded them, but it is neither respectful nor courteous to congregate on the street to watch them when they pass. The real gentleman stands ready at all times to both respect and protect an unprotected lady, and the ladies at the Training School being without the protection for the time being of their fathers and brothers, makes it more incumbent upon the men of Greenville to accord this. We believe this mention of the matter will be sufficient to remove the cause for complaint.

Talk about a mixed up affair, or one that is likely to get mixed in the long run, a double marriage that took place in Austin, Texas, Sunday, is it. The brides were twin sisters, of Texas, and so much alike that their most intimate friends cannot tell them apart, while the bride grooms are twin brothers, of Missouri, and as much alike as two peas. At the marriage the brothers were dressed exactly alike, as were the sisters, and the only way the latter could be distinguished was by carrying different colored bouquets. As the brothers had only known the sisters about a year, if the two couples live near together they may get so mixed up as to be unable to tell "tother from, which."

This is a time when it is best to be careful about what you eat or drink. The warm weather and improper food make a combination dangerous to health.

They Love Him Far Off.

How our friends across the Mason and Dixon line do love the colored man—until he gets too close to them. One of these—an educated colored man—bought a home on a residence street in Scranton, Pa., some time ago and at once his neighbors "riz" up and went for him. The negro seems to have had more sense than the "indignators," for when he saw what was going on he said he did not want to live by such people and agreed to sell out at about what the property cost him. The Utica, N. Y., Observer, taking note of this event, says—"Still we preach equality every day and pass strictures on the people of the South for their dealings with the negro."—Greensboro Record.

Noah Attacked.

The Wilmington Star invades the realm of forgotten years to shower forth anathemas upon the head of Noah for not killing the two flies he carried with him into the ark. There are, as the lawyers, say, exonerating circumstances which should weigh with the jury in the case. In the first place Noah was 600 years old when he took charge of the Ark, a fact in itself which should excuse him from the ignoble task of slaying insects. Besides, with such a cosmopolitan jumble of fowls, fishes and beasts on hand it is but natural that the very multiplicity of detail work should make but natural the slight oversight complained of, Noah, did his duty as commanded, and he was ordered to preserve rather than destroy. If the present generation is equally well there would not be a fly left to tell the story in a fortnight. It is useless to attempt to burden down the shades of the departed responsibility for sins of omission of the present generation.—Charlotte News.

Indigestion will not long trouble you if you put your faith in MI-O-NA stomach tablets. Taken after meals MI-O-NA stops heaviness, sourness, belching of gas, or heartburn in five minutes. It is guaranteed to cure indigestion and build up the stomach, or money back. It cured Mrs. Klumpp, it will cure you. Read:

"One year ago I was cured of a severe stomach trouble by the use of MI-O-NA. My food fermented and soured, causing gas and a nauseous condition. I could not eat, and became weak, depressed, and was sick about six weeks. Doctoring without success, I was advised to try MI-O-NA. I received relief from using the first box, and continuing, I used four in all, and was cured. There is nothing too strong for me to say in favor of MI-O-NA. It cures where other remedies and doctors fail."—Mrs. Wm Klumpp E. Edgetown, Lowell, Mich. Sold by White's Drug Store, and druggists everywhere, at 50 cents a large box. Write to Booth's MI-O-NA Buffalo, N. Y., for free trial treatment.

Unclean Cities.

We do not see why it is necessary to keep on preaching sanitation and cleanliness for cities, but it is not only necessary but important. The people of a city ought to recognize the value of living in a clean, healthful atmosphere, but there is astonishing disregard of the rules that would easily result in clean premises and streets. Speaking upon this subject, the Richmond Times-Dispatch remarks:

"Dr. Charles William Elliot says that no American city of 100,000 inhabitants is anywhere near as clean as it might be. He is right. Dr. Elliot seems to ascribe this condition to municipal authorities, but the people are largely responsible. Our streets are littered up, because we Americans are accustomed to drop paper and refuse just wherever we please. Popular carelessness is at the root of the unsightliness of our cities. There is no effective remedy for the condition described by Dr. Elliot. Only long education can impress upon the people the importance of public cleanliness. Of late years there has been some improvement in the public attitude, but it will be years before we shall accomplish much in this direction. We do not litter our own yards. Why can we not, then, realize that the city streets are really a part of our own yards? They are."

People simply have to be educated up to the point of observing the rules for cleanliness and sanitation. After all that has been published in the newspapers, careless people walk right along their prettiest streets tearing the wrappers from papers and packages, and dropping them unconcernedly on the streets to litter up the town. The man who opens a letter tears it up and distributes it broadcast, and just about every person coming along the streets contributes to the litter. The sweepings from stores, containing dirt and litter, continue to find their way to the gutter, and so it goes.

It is largely the result of carelessness that is prodigious, criminal and inexcusable. As we write this we see two trash cans on the street within six feet of each other, yet the gutter for twenty feet on either side is littered with banana peels and paper which could have easily been thrown in the receptacles right before the eyes of the careless individual who will not learn the clean way. However, we have seen one Wilmington man crumple up waste paper and throws it in the receptacles or else pulls out a match and burns it in the gutter.

A Wilmington gentleman who visited Berlin, Germany, says that city has the cleanest streets he ever saw and that all Berlin people are shocked at the idea of seeing people toss things on the streets. The Wilmington gentleman says he had finished reading a cablegram and was about to drop it on the street, when an elegantly dressed man hurried to him and bowing, requested the discarded cablegram, which he carried to the nearest trash receptacle and deposited as carefully as if he had been putting money in the bank.

If Wilmington people follow the example of the Berliners, it would make a great difference in the appearance of the streets. They ought to do it for their own sake if not for the city's.—Wilmington Star.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime. What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind. He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles. I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs. I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be. I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Theodor's Back-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines. I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Theodor's."

One Man's Prayer.

You can pray, if you will, to be made a "good loser,"
To be schooled in defeat and to fall with a grin,
But what I will ask—and I guess I'm the chooser—
Is not to be a loser at all—but to win!

If I don't well, I'm just like the average sinner,
I'll try to be nery in spite of my fail;
But, Lord, let me know what it is to be winner,
A good one, perhaps, but a winner, that's all.

Let me play the game fair—though I'm grateful for favors—
Let me stand on my feet—though a boost does no harm—
But teach me to see when the enemy wavers,
And help me to strike with the strength of my arm.

Some poets say: "Ah, but the game's worth playing,
Though failure should hold you for ever in thrall,"
Perhaps, but I'm in it to win, so I'm praying
To be on the square—but a winner, That's all!

The world is filled full of its excellent losers,
Who toil and who mull in monotonous wise,
While the winners are riding in autos and cruisers,
And tasting the glory that victory buys.

Let someone else act as the deliver and spinner.
Let someone else stay 'mid the poor and the small,
The game is to win—and I want to be winner,
A good one, perhaps, but a winner, that's all!

Mrs. A. W. Outerbridge Dead.
Relatives and friends here were pained to learn of the death of Mrs. Ida Outerbridge, wife of Mr. Andrew W. Outerbridge, which occurred this morning at their home in Whitakers. Besides the husband, three children are left, one of them an infant only a week old.

Holliness Tent Blown Down.
The tent on Fifth street in which the Holliness preachers have been holding services for some time, was evidently not "founded on a rock." Monday evening the storm came, the rain descended, the wind blew, and beat upon the tent, and it took a tumble in a heap.

Wires Down.

The Reflector received notice this afternoon that all the press wires north of Washington were down by the storm, which would cause a curtailment of our wire news service today or make it late. These mishaps are unavoidable, much as they are regretted.

STOKESTOWN ITEMS.

Crops, News Items and Personal Notes.
Stokestown, N. C., June 13.—Mr. L. B. Stokes went to Ayden Friday morning.

It is "dry some" down this way. Tobacco is small and a poor stand. Some cotton is nice, while some is not up sufficient to chop.

Mr. John D. Stokes, who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.
Mr. and Mrs. Heber Stokes spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives down in Craven.

Mr. Hassan Sheaban, of Ayden, spent Thursday night here.
We boast of having as good public roads as any section in the county. But they certainly need sprinkling occasionally in this dry weather.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Stokes went to Grimesland Saturday to visit relatives and returned Sunday.
Mr. Jack Mels and family from near Simpson, spent Saturday night and Sunday at Mr. D. C. Stokes'.

We had a large crowd at Sunday school Sunday afternoon.

MOREHEAD AND BEAUFORT.

Seashore Resort Opens June 15th.
Morehead City, N. C., June 13.—The Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City has arranged to operate a yacht, capacity of 100 passengers between hotel pier and bathing beach, Inlet Inn with 50 outside rooms at Beaufort is very attractive.

Attractive rates including hotel accommodations are offered by the Norfolk Southern.

Never before in its history has the Atlantic Hotel opened with so many advance reservations, of prominent people, not only of North Carolina, but from Virginia and all over the South.

Manager Baxter has made extensive improvements and added many comforts and conveniences for the guests—new mattresses, new beds—are among the many comforts added.

Another convenience will be the inauguration of a terry service upon a permanent schedule between the Atlantic Hotel pier and the bathing beach. The new yacht Iola, with capacity of 100 passengers, will perform this service. She is a trim and fast boat, and embraces every convenience.

New Bowling alleys, pool and billiard tables, and tennis courts have also been added.

The opening ball will be given Saturday night, June 17th, and a large number of the elite of North Carolina is expected.

Origin of Spoons.

Two natural objects seem to have furnished the model for the spoon to primitive man—the river or sea shell and the leaf of plants. In southern China shell spoons are still used that are closely reproduced in the familiar porcelain spoon of that country, while metal spoons are found in India on which are reproduced even the veins of the leaves from which they were copied.

ARTISTS' EMBLEMS.

In Whistler's Butterfly Could Be Found the Monogram J. W.

The mystic emblem or device of a sort of Whistlerized butterfly was adopted in the sixties by the eccentric genius James Abbott Whistler, who changed his name later to James McNeill Whistler.

Close study will reveal that this peculiar scroll is really a monogram of J. W. The earliest of the etchings to bear the butterfly is "Chelsea Wharf" (1863), but many paintings and etchings after that date are signed "Whistler."

Artists have sometimes signed their pictures in some distinct form instead of their names. It generally was done when the name might suggest some emblem or symbol.

Thus Hieronymus Cock demarked two fighting cocks on his panels; Mariotto Albertinelli signed a cross with two interlaced rings, referring to the sacerdotal duties to which at one time of his life he devoted himself; Martin Rota, a wheel; Pieter de Ryng, a ring with a diamond; Giovanni Dossi, a bone; Del Mazo Martinez, a hammer; Lionello Spada, a sword.

Sometimes caprice dictated the selection, as when Jacopo de Barberi used the caduceus, or Mercury rod; Hendrik de Bles an owl, Lucas Cranach a crowned serpent, Cornelius Engelbrechtsen a peculiar device resembling a weather vane and Hans Holbein a skull.

HIS GREAT IDEA.

The Tin Plated Tomato and the Moral That Goes With It.

A good theory that won't work isn't half as good as a poor one that will.

Twenty years ago a young man just out of college had a great idea. He was going to tin plate tomatoes. There was to be no more troublesome paring and cooking and canning to preserve tomatoes throughout winters. It would be necessary only to drop a nice ripe tomato into his tinning solution and it would come out coated with tin and would keep for twenty years. In fact, there wasn't any reason why it should not keep forever! The young inventor figured it would cost him 50 cents a gallon to make this tinning solution. It surely would sell for $2 a gallon. Every one eats tomatoes—that is, nearly every one. Everybody would eat them if they could always have a nice tin plated tomato lying around. He ought to sell a million gallons a year. That would be a profit of a million and a half dol— Well, no tin plated tomatoes are on the market yet, and the man who invented them is still making only $15 a week.

The moral of this is that whenever you hear of a great idea that is going to reform or uplift the world make sure that it is not of the tin plated tomato brand.—Chicago Tribune.

Editorial Favor.

"A month ago you rejected a story of mine."

"I remember. Thought it was rotten."

"I had offered it for $7, and you turned it down."

"So I did."

"Well, I sold that story for $40. Here's another story. May I ask the favor of old more rejection? It seems to help."—Philadelphia Ledger.

EDITOR SOMEWHAT MIXED.

Report of Marriage and Auction Was Badly "Scrambled."

A Shookumche editor, who was full of hard cider, got a sale ad and a marriage mixed, says an exchange. The description ran as follows: "William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Smith, was disposed of at public auction to Lucy Anderson, on my farm one mile east of here, in the presence of 70 guests, including the following to-wit: Two mules, 12 head of cattle, Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot, averaging 1,250 pounds on the hoof. The home of this charming bride was tastefully decorated with seawash clam spade, one sulky rake, one feed grinder, one set of double harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced Mendelssohn's inspiring wedding march was given by one milch cow to be fresh next April, carrying a bunch of flowers in her hand and looking charming in a gown made of light spring wagon, three boxes of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone, mottoline de sole trimmed with about 100 bushels of spuds.
"The bridegroom is well known and a popular young man, and has always stood well among society circles of 12 Berkshire hogs, while the bride is an accomplished and talented school teacher of a splendid drove of Poland Chinas--pedigrees if desired.
"Among the beautiful presents were two sets of silver knives and row, go-cart and other articles too numerous to mention. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip. Terms: Twelve months' time to responsible parties; otherwise, spot cash. Lunch will be served at the stable. After this, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will go to housekeeping in a cozy little home at the corner of Mall and Dr. R. L. Cranby, auctioneer.

A St. Louis dispatch, carried by the Associated Press, says: One man, the tender of a sand-drying house, was killed, and several others slightly hurt when Edward Kerham, an engineer, wrecked a freight train inside the city limits by applying the emergency brakes to avoid running down a woman wheeling a baby across the tracks in a go-cart. The locomotive kept the rails but six box cars in the middle of the train bucked and crashed into a two-story building, crushing the sand house tender against the walls.

Put a ten-dollar bill in an old stocking and keep it there twenty years. Then take it out and see what you will have. Put a ten-dollar bill in the savings bank at 4 per cent. interest and keep it there for twenty years. Then take it out and see that you will have $21.30. It's a difference between hoarding and saving. Men have made millions by savings. No man has ever made a penny by hoarding.—Ex.

FENNEL.

It is to the Italians Somewhat as Celery is to us.

"Tisn't often that an Italian table d'hote furnishes anything that takes me back to my grandmother's time," said a New York man, "but that was my experience last night. The first nibble of something I'd supposed was celery sent my mind wandering back fifty years to an old New England village.
"Fennel? I asked the Italian waiter. He nodded and smiled and gave me the Italian form of the word, which I carefully wrote down on a scrap of paper, 'Fennocechi.' I suppose it showed my ignorance, but never before did I know that fennel is to the Italians what celery is to us. Evidently the large bases of the leafstalks are bleached in similar fashion, and from the way it was served I could see it was intended to be dipped in salt, as we eat celery. My obliging waiter told me that it was delicious as a salad and when boiled and served with cream sauce it made a popular Italian dish.

"But after all what did those culinary details matter? What really counted was that strange, penetrating flavor which took me back to my childhood. As I thoughtfully nibbled my fennel stalks the last fifty years seemed a blank. I was a child again, picking big clusters of yellow, aromatic fennel seeds in my grandmother's garden."—New York Sun.

AFRICAN WITCH DOCTORS.

They Make Themselves, Like Their Idols, as Hideous as Possible.

The most important period of the young African's life is that between youth and manhood (or womanhood). It is then that the witch doctor is extremely busy with his various mysterious rites. It is an important part of his calling to be hideous, as in most cases he undoubtedly is. A ridiculous mask covers his head, and wildcat or other skins are hung around his loins. Pigment of various colors is plentifully daubed over his body, and in this hideous state it is not to be wondered at that he strikes terror into the maidens' hearts as he dances wildly in the dim firelight, glaring at them with fiendish eyes. The timid young creatures are like the hare which trembles at the hovering bird of prey flutters over its head. Self will is crushed, and the erstwhile playful, willful child is transformed in most cases into a frightened creature, with, for the time being, no will of her own. It is a curious thing that nothing connected with what one may call the spiritual side of the blacks' life is ever beautiful. Their carved figures are always, to say the least, grotesque and calculated to frighten rather than comfort the bereaved.—Wide World Magazine.

Twenty Volume Novels.

The longest novels of today are pygmies compared with those published in the seventeenth century. Mlle. de Scudery's "Le Grand Cyrus" ran into ten volumes, its publication being spread over five years. And when it was translated, or, to quote the title page, "Englished by a Person of Honour," it appeared in five folio volumes of some 500 pages apiece. Another novelist of the same period, La Calprenede, was even more diffuse, one of his works, "Cleopatre," extending over twenty-three volumes. These novels found plenty of readers despite their enormous length. The Paris publisher of "Le Grand Cyrus" made 100,000 crowns by the first edition alone. Nearly all the works of Scudery and Calprenede were translated into English as soon as they appeared and many of them into German as well.—London Chronicle.

A Historic Spot.

Linlithgow palace, on the shore of the beautiful sheet of water of that name in Scotland, is somewhat square and heavy looking. Linlithgow was the birthplace of Mary, queen of Scots; in Linlithgow church James IV. of Scotland was forewarned by an apparition of the coming disaster at Flodden Field; in its streets the regent Murray was shot; close by the town Edward I. had two ribs broken by his horse the night before Falkirk, and on its loch a chancellor of the exchequer, bent on economy, issued instructions that the royal swans should be kept down to a dozen.—Argonaut.

Good at Arithmetic.

"For goodness' sake, John, how long did you boil these eggs?"
"Just as long as you told me to, my dear."
"Impossible! They're hard as bricks."
"I boiled them just twelve minutes."
"Twelve! Why, I told you that three minutes was long enough for an egg!"
"Yes, dear, but I boiled four of them."

Fruit Growing By Corporations.

In Washington county, Maryland, several companies have been incorporated for the purpose of fruit-growing. The Baltimore Sun says: "The other day a company bought 1,000 acres near Sidling Hill mountain, in the extreme western part of Washington county, for $13 an acre and it will be planted in fruit trees. Several corporations own orchards in this region, one of them having as many as 75,000 trees." This in face of difficulties in Maryland—for it appears they have difficulties there. "One drawback to the cultivation of apples as a crop is the long time which must elapse after the orchard is planted before any returns can be expected. That time is from six to ten years according to the variety of fruit and other circumstances. The average farmer and land-owner can not afford to wait so long for returns. He must have a crop that he can sell every year. Moreover, it requires considerable capital to engage in the orchard business, especially since the San Jose scale made its appearance in this part of the country." If those people really want to grow apples, why don't they come to North Carolina. An orchard bears in four years and the San Jose scale is almost unheard of.—Charlotte Chronicle.

HELPED BY A HAMMER.

A Little Business Incident to Which Hangs a Moral.

Two blocks apart in a certain street are two stationery stores. The owner of one has abundant capital, has a wide, roomy place with a large stock of goods well displayed. The store of the other man is a mere hole in the wall in a dingy building, yet this dealer is getting most of the business.

The following incident may explain it. A woman who had just moved to the vicinity stopped in the larger store one evening to buy some picture nails, but was told that they were not sold there.
"Where can I buy them?" she asked politely.
"I don't know," said the proprietor. The woman went to the smaller store. This man had no picture nails either. "I have a box of old nails that I use myself," he explained. "Perhaps some of them might do."
The woman gratefully accepted his offer and found some nails that answered her purpose. She remembered then that she had no hammer. "I can lend you one," said the shopkeeper, "if you will bring it back in the morning."
Ever since that time that woman has walked the extra blocks to patronize the obliging merchant. She has told her friends of the incident and influenced them to become customers.
The lesson taught by this insignificant incident is one that is only too often neglected. It pays a small tradesman to be obliging—it pays all of us. Small favors bring large returns.—Chicago Tribune.

He Likes Calf's Head.

In a paper published in St. Germain, France, there recently appeared this advertisement: "Gentleman, single, great lover of calf's head, but unable to obtain less than a whole one, which it is impossible for him to consume by himself, desires to find one or more associates who would share a calf's head with him three times a week."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

New York's Up-to-Date Library.

On the top floor of this four-storied library is the main reading room, extending almost the length of two city blocks, and furnished with the latest devices in elevators, pneumatic tubes, and telephones, for instant communication with the stacks and with rooms containing special collections. The main book shelves are immediately beneath this sumptuous room—seven levels, allowing of sixty-three miles of book space. Adjoining this reading room is the catalogue section, with its six thousand card drawers. This is the heart of the library as far as reference work is concerned; for not only will the reader be able to place his hand upon any book the library contains, but by means of the "union" feature, he will be able to locate volumes in other libraries, which are not contained in this.

Through spacious halls, rich in tone and almost severe in lines, one is carried to the special departments—technical and artistic; along corridors monastic in depth to reading rooms set aside for newspapers and periodicals, and into galleries for pictures and prints. In the basement is a model children's department; on the same floor provision has been made for a training school, and for a printing plant for library publications. The modern conception of the library as a business necessitates advertising in order to reach the varied interests of a democratic reading public. Book lists for free distribution are compiled, and by these suggestive means, the library is able to indicate its full resources.—Montrose J. Moses, in American Review of Reviews.

Men Who Never Grow Old.

Some men remain fresh, aggressive, self-sufficient all their lives. They never seem to stop growing. They are always taking on new nutriment and they keep every nerve cell, brain cell, muscle cell growing. These people never grow old. They always impress you with a fresh youthfulness and vigor ordinarily found in young manhood. Everywhere we see old men who are filling responsible positions quite as ably as young men. If a man has not squandered his life forces by vicious living, if he has lived simply and sanely, the very ripeness of his wisdom, the strength of his judgment, the accumulation of his expert knowledge, the broadening of his mind, the brightening of his whole nature, the enriching of his experience ought much more than compensate for his loss of buoyancy, agility, and swiftness. A life properly lived is like the rolling of a snowball. It ought to increase, to grow constantly larger and richer to the very end.
