LEECHES ON PUBLIC TREASURY

Why The Government Does Not Control the Trusts—Some Hard-Marking Democrats—La Follette Will Oppose Taft For Republican Presidential Nomination.

(By Tavener, special Washington correspondent of The Reflector.)

Washington, June 20.—Why has the government been unable to control the trusts?

While this question has not as yet been definitely answered, the house investigating committees are bringing out testimony which tends to throw light on the subject at least to some end of showing that the great trusts of the country have at some time or another had most of the government prosecutors on their pay-rolls.

United States Attorney General Wickersham heads the list. Under oath he admitted that the last thing he did before taking charge of the prosecuting machinery of the nation was to draw down his share of a $26,000 fee from the sugar trust as a member of the New York law firm of Strong and Cadwallader.

Henry P. Taft, brother of the president, is still a member of this firm whose speciality is to show the sugar trust and other great industrial corporations how to evade the law and escape prosecution.

That Frank P. Kellogg, special counsel to the United States and widely advertised by the Republicans as the great trust buster, has received thousands of dollars from the government at the same time that he was receiving big fees for acting as attorney for subsidiary concerns of the steel trust, was developed in testimony before the Stanley committee. It appears that Mr. Kellogg, besides pocketing the $30,000 recently paid him by the government for serving as "trust buster" under Roosevelt, also received from the steel trust $15,000 as extra compensation for legal services rendered their corporations. On October 23, 1907, Mr. Kellogg was proven by his own testimony and documentary evidence in possession of the committee to have received a second $15,000 for extra services.

This situation becomes still more remarkable when it is recalled that the man who appointed Kellogg—Philoander C. Knox, now secretary of state—was the man who went from the employ of the steel trust to the office of attorney general and who refused in 1901 to prosecute the steel trust when convincing evidence of its violations of law were laid before him by the anti-trust league.

Bristow Leads Reactionaries.
Senator Bristow, of Kansas, assisted by the solid delegation of special privilege senators, succeeded in tacking an amendment to the resolution providing for the direct election of senators, which greatly endangers and may defeat that measure. Bristow pretended the amendment, which retains federal control over the elections, would strengthen the probability of its final passage, when the fact is Bristow knew, as did every other senator in the chamber, that the amendment would endanger, and perhaps defeat, the ratification of the resolution by the secretary three-fourths of the states.

Lloyd a Hard Worker.
Victory in the house has brought hard work and responsibility to the Democratic leaders, as well as honors.

As an example of the exacting duties of a congressman of Democratic faith, take the case of Hon. James T. Lloyd, of the first Missouri district. Mr. Lloyd is chairman of the Democratic congressional committee and as such assumes general supervision of the campaign in every district in the United States. He is also chairman of the standing committee on accounts and closely scrutinizes every item of expenditure in the lower house. He is also chairman of the special committee on organization, or clerical force, a job with a world of detail. In addition to all these and his onerous duties as a congressman, Mr. Lloyd delivers numerous ad-

TODAY'S EVENTS IN NATIONAL CAPITOL

PRESIDENT TAFT OFF ON TRIP.

The Lorimer Investigating Committee is Right After Him.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, June 20.—Jewish Rabbis who attended President Taft's silver wedding are to present the president with a unique silver service to be made by silver smiths in Jerusalem.

The white house is to be open to the public.

The house resumed debate on the wool bill under the five minutes rule. Washington, June 20.—President Taft left at 12:30 today on his eastern trip. He will visit New York, Fall River, Mass., the Yale commencement, Manhattan Beach and Providence, R. I.

Before leaving the city President Taft sent a special message to congress containing the report of the tariff board.

Horace Havemeyer, son of the late sugar king, Henry O. Havemeyer, defended his father's reputation before the sugar trust committee today. He said his father was a philanthropist.

The senate committee to investigate the charges of bribery against Senator Lorimer met today. Cyrus McCormick, the head of the harvester trust, was the first witness. He told how Edward Hines approached C. L. Funk, general manager of the Harvester company, and requested a $10,000 donation toward the $100,000 fund which had been spent to elect Lorimer.

GARMENT WORKERS' STRIKE

Eleven Thousand Out And Several Arrests.

Baraca Excursion.

Keep in mind the Baraca excursion to Morehead City and Beaufort on Thursday, 22nd, leaving Greenville promptly at 7:30 a. m. It will be the most enjoyable excursion of the season and a large crowd is going. Round-trip fare $1.75; children under 12 years, $1.00.

A man has to have a strong pull to equal that of a dull razor.

dresses before societies, schools, etc., and is always to be found in his seat when the house is called to order.

Speaker Clark Against Gag Rule.

Speaker Champ Clark is opposed to government employees. President Taft is endeavoring to enforce a Roosevelt rule which prohibits government employees from giving information even to members of congress. The employees are also prohibited from calling the attention of members to any grievances. Speaker Clark denounces this rule as un-American, and declares he will listen to grievances of employees when they desire to come to him and he defies anyone to interfere.

Bread Trust Has Easy Sailing.

A $25,000 bread trust, which will operate to start with in 21 large cities, has been formed in New York under the name of the General Baking Company. The alleged object of the new octopus is to "educate the public to a higher standard of quality in bread." Inquiry at the office of Attorney General Wickersham elicited the information that absolutely nothing was known there of the formation of "any bread trust." The reply was not unusual, as the attorney general's office is generally the last place in Washington to go for information which might be construed to admit the existence of any trust.

Taft Will Have Opposition.

If the Taft Republicans are really under the impression that the president will have no opposition for a re-nomination, they are laboring under an hallucination. Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, is in the field and progressive Republican leaders in practically every state in the union are working for La Follette delegates. "Taft and sure defeat, or La Follette with a chance to win," is the battle cry of the La Follette forces.

A BIG DAY AT TRAINING SCHOOL

FRIDAY, JUNE THE THIRTIETH.

Celebration of Anniversary of Breaking Ground For Buildings.

Having heard something of a proposed celebration at the Teachers' Training School, a Reflector reporter called on Governor Jarvis for information:

"Yes," said the governor, "we are planning to have a big day out at the school on Friday, June 30th, 1911. The ground for the buildings was first broken on July 2, 1908, and the growth of the school has been so phenomenal we propose to celebrate the third anniversary of that event. Six beautiful buildings have been erected and equipped and two full sessions and two summer terms have been taught in them with a very large enrollment.

"The present summer session will be at its best. The board of trustees met on the 29th and will be in session on the 30th. We are hoping to have the State Board of Education present also.

"Governor Kitchin has already agreed to deliver an address on that occasion. Dr. Geo. D. Strayer, of Teachers' College, of Columbia University, has also agreed to speak. We are confidently expecting other distinguished speakers to be with us. We hope and expect to see a great crowd of people present in addition to the three hundred teachers attending the summer term. We want the town and county people to take a day off and join us in this celebration. It will do them good and the school also."

Dr. Hyatt Coming.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt will be at Hotel Bertha July 3rd and 4th, for treating diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat.

CREAT PROGRESS IN THE CAMPAIGN

AGAINST HOOKWORM DISEASE.

Twenty-One Thousand Cases Already Treated.

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—The North Carolina campaign against hookworm disease is making steady progress. The number of cases of the disease reported as treated by physicians has grown during the past twelve months from 3,250 to 21,000; the number of doctors treating the disease from 183 to 597; and the number of people microscopically examined for it in the State Laboratory of Hygiene from 500 to 23,312. Seven thousand two hundred and sixty-six of the latter number were found to have hookworm infection, and 2543 showed others of the eight intestinal parasites. Though some of these were found quite frequently the hookworm infections were found three times as frequently as all the other combined. Thirty-one per cent. of the 23,312 examined showed hookworm infection. Of the other examined, 1,000 were state troops, 1,000 were orphans, 1,000 children in the state schools for the blind, deaf and dumb, and the reformatory. Nearly 1,000 insanes have been examined. The other 19,000 are largely made up of public school children taken at random.

LECTURE AT TRAINING SCHOOL

By Dr. George E Strayer of Columbia University

"TEACHING AS A PROFESSION"

The Necessity For Professional Preparation And What It Consists Of—Teacher Should Be Actuated By Ideals of Service—Best Summer School Term Ever Held In North Carolina.

A lecture on "Teaching as a Profession" was delivered on Monday evening at the Training school by Dr. Geo. D. Strayer, of Columbia University. In the discussion of this topic the speaker considered, first, the necessity of professional preparation. When teaching is contrasted with the other professions, one can not fail to remark the meagre preparation which has been required of those who were engaged in teaching. The establishment of the Teachers' Training School in Eastern North Carolina marks a great step in advance.

The preparation of the teacher consists in at least three types of work. There is first the academic preparation which we demand of all who are engaged in any of the learned professions. Second, work which may be characterized, academic professional training. In this part of the teachers' preparation she comes to realize that subjects of study are to be considered as methods of intellectual growth and development for children. It is one thing to know a subject and another to realize just how this subject may be utilized in the normal and mental development of pupils. A third type of the preparation is found in the strictly professional training which should be required of teachers. In this work the meaning of education and of the school as a social institution, must be mastered by the teacher. There is a wide field of study which centers in the subject which we commonly call psychology. No one is fit to teach who is not well acquainted with the characteristics of child life and development. To know of the child's instinctive equipment, of the possible differences in ability and capacity; to be able to adapt instruction to the method of the mind's normal activity, is absolutely essential for success in teaching.

The speaker also insisted upon continued study and investigation as essentials in the professional life of the teacher. In this part of the address, attention was called to the fact that careful, scientific investigation is already being undertaken in education, and that teachers, even if they do not make original contribution should at least be conversant with the results that are achieved by those who devote themselves to investigation.

In closing the speaker suggested that all who were members of the profession should be actuated by ideals of service, both to individuals as such, and to the community as a whole. One of the best tests of the professional teacher is found in the joy and pride which she takes in her work. It is only those who find more joy in teaching than in anything else who truly belong to the teaching profession.

THINGS GOING ON AROUND AYDEN

THE RAINS HAVE HELPED CROPS

Petition to Have Schedules Changed For Connection at Greenville.

Ayden, N. C., June 20.—Miss Kornegay, of Mount Olive, is visiting Mrs. C. V. Cannon.

Miss Frank English, of Mount Olive is visiting Mrs. Lucy Turnage.

Miss Mary Johnston, of Greenville, is visiting Mrs. W. J. Boyd.

Mr. C. L. Parker spent today in Greenville.

Mr. J. R. Turnage left Monday for New Bern.

Mr. E. T. Moseley, of Kinston, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Turnage.

The farmers of this section are all smiles this morning on account of the nice rains that we have having since Sunday night. The crops in this section do not even look like themselves.

The series of meetings that have been in progress at the Methodist church for the last ten days closed Sunday night. Much good, no doubt, has been accomplished by it.

Mr. R. L. Turnage leaves tomorrow morning for Smithfield, to be a guest at a house party given by Mr. Hallie Hood, of Smithfield.

The Kinston base ball team arrived here today and will play the Ayden team this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Ayden team is confident of taking the game.

Mr. R. P. Parker, who has been home on an extended visit returned here today. All of his friends were glad, indeed, to clasp his hand and welcome him back.

Much interest is felt here in the matter of having the schedule of Norfolk Southern trains changed so that connection can be made with the Atlantic Coast Line trains at Greenville. A petition is being circulated and will be sent to Norfolk Southern officials. Such a change would be a great convenience to all of the towns south of Greenville.

MAKE THE FAIR A SOCIAL DAY

MR. MOYE'S WISE SUGGESTION.

Let Town And Country People Come Together Socially.

Farmville, N. C., June 20, 1911.

Editor Reflector:
Would it not be a good idea to secure the Liberty warehouse from my friend, Mr. Seth Hooker, in which the visitors to the fair might take lunch? It would be real nice for the town people to take a whole day off and bring their lunch with them. It would be so sociable, and the country people might enjoy the social visit of the township and each might be benefitted.

If some such move as this is not started, I fear most of the town people will wait until after dinner, which comes about one o'clock to visit the fair and the time will be so limited that they really cannot get any benefit from the exhibition. It to me appears the right thing. The merchants might agree to close their stores from eleven o'clock to two and give their clerks an opportunity to visit this, the first real agricultural fair ever held in Pitt county. We wish to have such a nice display of agricultural and horticultural products that will furnish a topic for conversation for our people for the next twelve months.

Mr. Darden seems anxious for the patrons of your paper to understand that he is writing at your earnest solicitation, and I want them to know that I am a self-appointed special advertising representative of the fair, and the trips for the boys of the corn club to Washington, D. C. Miss Henrietta Moye will give a lawn party at Fredonia Farm Wednesday evening, June 21, for the purpose of raising the money to pay the expenses of the boy from Farmville township.

Moses Moye, one of the corn club boys, made a failure in getting a stand, so he planted again on the 15th of June. He is not wholly discouraged and yet expects to make seventy-five bushels of corn from his acre.

We had a nice, gentle rain yesterday, about a one-half inch, and it makes the three acres of corn of Joel and Clifford Moye look the finest of any that I ever saw. Cotton in this vicinity is fine. Tobacco poor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 20, 1911.

WILL BE A GREAT DAY.

The celebration to be held here on Friday, 30th, the anniversary of the breaking of ground for the buildings of East Carolina Teachers' Training school, will be an occasion of no small importance and interest.

It was a proud day for Greenville and Pitt county, when on the 2nd day of July, now three years ago, ex-Governor T. J. Jarvis, in the presence of several people gathered on the site purchased for the school, threw the first spade of dirt in breaking the ground for the first building of the institution. He cast a prophetic eye then and told what the institution being planted meant for Eastern North Carolina educationally. The prophecy made has in these few years been more than fulfilled, for the institution today stands second to none in efficiency among our state schools. The opening of its doors to students was the beginning of a marvellous career, and the first year under the excellent faculty showed such thoroughness of work in teacher training that the institution is not sufficiently large to accommodate all who seek admission into it. The school is constantly growing in the estimation of the people as the one institution doing more in its particular line—that of equipping teachers for the public schools—than any other within our borders.

It is fitting that Governor W. W. Kitchin, the chief executive of our state, is to be one of the speakers at this anniversary celebration. Another speaker on that day will be Dr. George D. Strayer, of Columbia University, New York, who is here giving a special course at the present summer term of the school. Other prominent speakers beside these are expected to be present, and it is going to be a great day for all of Eastern North Carolina.

Pitt county, having done so much to secure and establish this school and present it to the state, feels an especial pride in it, and all of her people who can come should be here on the 30th and participate in the celebration.

There were lots of good pickings for lawyers assisting the attorney general in the recent prosecution of trusts by the government, the amount paid for such services in a little over two years running up nearly to a million dollars. Henry L. Stimson, the newly appointed secretary of war, was one of the beneficiaries, his fee alone in the sugar trust prosecution amounting to over $83,000. The list of fees published appear to be on an extravagant scale in keeping with the items of expense for fitting up the office of the postmaster general not long since. It pays to stand in with the administration and have Uncle Sam's purse to draw on.

We wonder after all what makes men make cheap whiskey.—Winston-Salem Journal.

That is easy. It is because there are so many men foolish enough to buy and drink it.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

And the Virginia makers are finding numerous foolish buyers in North Carolina who will stand and take what is said about them, and be foolish some more.

Asheville has begun a movement to raise a fund of $100,000 to secure the location of manufacturing industries in that city. If a city already as large and as prominent as Asheville feels the need of and sees the advantage in such a step, what do you think a town like Greenville, where there are no manufacturing industries to speak of, ought to be doing?

The advertising manager of the Liquid Carbonic Company, of Chicago, estimates that $120,000,000 is the annual expenditure in the United States at soda fountains. And the amount that goes for liquor of various kinds is even larger, which shows that we are a nation of drinkers.

Perhaps those of you who did not get invitations to King George's coronation and President Taft's silver wedding may get both of them in the moving picture shows, provided the photographers were on the job.

Though it waited late to begin, South Carolina is trying to reform. That state which has heretofore run "open shop" in the marriage line, will soon put on a law requiring license with a tax of $1.00.

So Can A Hog.

People are proverbially imprudent. A man who ought to know better said this morning that he had been very ill from eating a few onions and strawberries. Pinned down he said he had a few cucumbers mixed with the mess. A man once told Dr. Gregory he ate cucumbers three times a day when he could get them. "So does a hog," replied the physician. However, some men and more women can eat all kinds of trash and never get sick.—Greensboro Record.

Milk Not Necessary in The Case.

The story in the Durham Sun about the fire started by lightning, which could not be extinguished with water but was extinguished with milk, is a good story illustrating the old-time idea among the colored people and not a few white, even if the incident has no foundation in fact. Statesville a few years ago lightning struck a tree and set it on fire. The citizen on whose premises the tree was located asked his colored man to pour water on the flames to put out the fire. The colored man declined on the ground that the effort would be wasted unless milk was poured on the flames. Thereupon the citizen proceeded to act for himself and when the fire was put out with water the colored man was almost dumb with amazement to see the cherished belief of his life effectually dissipated.—Statesville Landmark.

The newspapers of the state, especially the country weeklies, will do a public service by calling attention to the fact, not generally known, that in the office of the clerk of the Superior court of every county may be found copies of our Colonial and State Records, the four volumes of the Roster of North Carolina troops and the 5 volumes of Clark's Regimental Sketches. All these books are of much historical value and our legislatures have ordered copies to be deposited in the office of every Superior court clerk, so that the people of every county, who cannot buy such books, may have the opportunity of reading them. In some counties many of these valuable books have been lost, and greater care should hereafter be used for their preservation than seems to have been used heretofore.—Pittsboro Record.

FELT BAD ALL THE TIME

Shellhorn Lady Suffered a Great Deal, But is All Right Now.

Shellhorn, Ala.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Carrie May says: "A short time ago, I commenced to have weak spells and headaches. I felt bad all the time, and soon grew so bad I couldn't stay up. I thought I would die. At last my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and it helped me; so he got some more. After I had taken the second bottle, I was entirely well. I wish every lady, suffering from womanly trouble, would try Cardui. It is the best medicine I know of. It did me more good than anything I ever used."

Cardui is a woman's tonic—a strengthening medicine for women, made from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs, and thus help to build up the womanly constitution to glowing good health. As a remedy for woman's ills, it has a successful record of over 50 years. Your druggist sells it. Please try it.

Social and Personal.

If We Only Understood.
 Could we but draw back the curtain
 That surrounds each others lives;
 See their naked hearts and spirits,
 Know the spur that action gives,

Often we should find it better,
 Purer than we judged we should;
 We should love each other better
 If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives
 See the good and bad within,
 Often we should love the sinner,
 All the while we loathed the sin.

Could we know the powers of working
 To o'erthrow integrity,
 We would judge each other's sorrows
 With more patient charity.

We would know the cares and trials,
 And the efforts all in vain;
 Know the bitter disappointments,
 Understand the loss and gain.

Would the grim external roughness
 Seem, I wonder, just the same?
 Would we help, where now we hinder,
 Would we pity where we blame?

Ah, we judge each other harshly,
 Knowing not the hidden force;
 Knowing not the fount of action
 Is less turbid than its source.

Seeing not amid the evil
 All the golden grains of good,
 We would love each other better
 If we only understood.

FINE MULBERRIES.

Mr. Long Has Thirty-One Trees of The Everbearing Variety.
 Mr. G. W. Long, of the Trading Ford neighborhood, and one of the foremost farmers in Rowan, this morning presented The Post with some very fine mulberries. They are of the everbearing variety and are exceedingly sweet and of excellent flavor. A part of them are white and a part black.

Mr. Long states that he had fifty of the trees but some of them died. He now has thirty-one and all are bearing abundantly. The trees are eighteen years old. He has thirty-one head of hogs running in the lot and they live and grow fat on the mulberries. He also has a lot of chickens which are now living on the berries. The trees begin bearing the last of May and continue bearing until the last of August. Mr. Long is enthusiastic over the success of his trees and says he does not see why the farmers do not grow mulberries.—Salisbury Post.

THE SITUATION OF SEAMENS' STRIKE

MAKE AGREEMENT IN LONDON.

Twenty Thousand Threaten to go Out At New York.

By Cable to The Reflector.
 London, June 20.—Seamen and the Cunard Line officials have arrived at a satisfactory agreement. The seamen gain an increase and uniform scale of wages at all ports. Other lines are expected to make agreement.

Belfast, Ireland, June 20.—Striking seamen here engaged in a fight with police after setting fire to steamers and cargo and threatening to burn the docks. Firemen finally drove off the mob. Violence today also prevails at Glasgow.

New York, June 20.—The police guards has been strengthened along the water front in anticipation of trouble tonight or tomorrow when 20,000 seamen threaten to strike.

VENTERS X ROADS ITEMS.

Happenings of Interest In That Neighborhood.

Winterville, N. C., June 20.—Mr. Marshal Hardee and Hugh Cox, of Grifton, spent Saturday night and Sunday near here.

Miss Josephine Nelson, of Greenville, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Joe Wilson, this week.

Messrs. Stanley Garris, John Geary and Calvin Venters went to a picnic Saturday at Creeping swamp.

Mr. Willis Wilson went to Ayden Saturday.

We had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Stocks laugh again Sunday, a laugh that is a sure cure for the blues.

Some of the boys from Cox's Mill were in our neighborhood Sunday. We asked them what they were coming down here for, and they said to travel on our good roads. We have another name for it.

The wedding bells will soon be ringing near Venters Cross Roads.

We had a nice little rain Sunday night.

The Peanut Calamity.

Truly, disasters rarely come singly. The reverberations of the Standard Oil decision have scarcely passed away before the news comes that more than 200,000 bushels of peanuts, almost half of the entire visible supply in this country, have been destroyed by a fire in the five story factory of the largest peanut handlers on earth.

Less than 3 per cent of last year's crop remains in the hands of the producers and there is going to be a great scarcity of peanuts. Circuses, ball parks and picnics will be seriously affected by this disaster. The price of peanuts will probably go so high that it will be no uncommon thing to hear baseball fans, whipped into excitement by a home run, loudly exclaiming: "A peanut, a peanut, my kingdom for a peanut!"

No statesman, animal or flower has ever held the regard of the public as has the peanut. Humble in appearance, small in size, but always on the job, the peanut has long been the symbol of politics and the mascot of the circus and the ball game. Stern patriots, dignified and proud, have been known to fall below the well-directed peanut, landing on the point of the nose. Many a girl at a picnic has been wooed and won by an inexpensive bag of peanuts. Like roses before kings, the crisp shells of the peanut have been strewn into street cars, over which many men and women mighty in their spheres, have slid to safety in the open air.—Washington Post.

Needed Buttons.

Three doctors were operating on a man for appendicitis. After the operation was completed one of the doctors missed a small sponge. The patient was reopened, the sponge found within and the man was sewed up again. Immediately the second doctor missed a pair of scissors. "Gentleman," said the victim, as they were about to open him a gain, "for Heaven's sake, if you're going to keep this up, put buttons on me."—Success Magazine.

THE WOOL GROWER.

Should Taxpayers Support An Industry That Has Not Helped Itself.
It should be possible to approach the case of the wool grower dispassionately. His friends protest that he will become extinct if he is not protected by a high duty on wool. The home-consumer, and not the foreign grower, pays this tax, including products of other commodities worth keeping alive at such a price. Let it be premised that this case has been largely made on false pretense. He is classed as a farmer, and he most emphatically is nothing of the kind. He is less a farmer in fact than the squatter of Australia with his 60,000 sheep. He does not farm in any sense of the word. He pastures sheep over a large area; allows for a certain percentage of deaths from cold and misadventure; the wages and board of a few lonely herdsmen; the periodical cost of shearing cross-bred wool or his stringy mutton, according to which market looks best.

There are 57,000,000 sheep in this country, and in the British Islands, which could be comfortably tucked away in the state of Montana, there were 32,000,000 sheep in 1910. These were either for the butcher or for their wool. The British grower takes a great deal of trouble with his sheep and gets results. Our grower takes no trouble at all, and expects congress to protect him from foreign competition. But without this handicap, the sheep on the South Downs of England, and even in Scotland, can graze in the open practically every day of the year, if they are given the proper attention in the matter of folding where necessary, extra feed in winter and special care in the lambing season. Montana is a poor imitation of such a condition as that and as such States become enclosed our happy-go-lucky sheep-growers will be without pasture. Can any protection we can afford stay the irresistible advance of the wire-fence? Vermont in some parts and notably in the Green Mountains, breeds in fair quantities sheep for the table not inferior to Welsh mutton, if not equal to the South Down of kindered varieties. Such sheep, however, are more expensive to raise here than in England or the sheep-growing parts of the continent of Europe, for the reason that they must spend some months in the winter under cover, and must be fed in the absence of pasture. This is a great handicap, and is shared to some extent by Kentucky, although the prospects for the Alleghenies are better than farther north. Certainly better and more profitable varieties can be bred there by taking considerably more pains than the western sheep-grower cares to exert.

Here is the question for the taxpayer. Does he care to put his hand in his pocket all the time to support an industry which has done nothing for itself, and one which is manifestly dwindling, in spite of three-quarters of a century of protection?—Wall Street Journal.

The Fly Crusade.
There is no joke about the importance of the fly crusade, although it has been the inspiration of much light newspaper verse and innumerable paragraphs in lighter vein. This is demonstrated by the experience of Washington City, where a decided falling off in the fly population has been observed this year, although the weather has been very warm and conditions generally have been favorable for its increase.

The District of Columbia health officer has directed public attention to the fact, and congratulates the people upon their comparative immunity from the fly plague. The result is credited directly to the active anti-fly campaign carried on last season. Stringent regulations aimed at the fly were adopted. They called for the destruction of its means of subsistence, for cleanliness in stables, and the screening of food, besides the killing off the pests in large numbers. In addition to all these things, there was a general cleaning up of the city this spring. If these precautions are continued there is no reason why a few years should not see Washington comparatively free of flies and of the menace to health which their presence proclaims.—Greensboro News.

Spencer.—Tom Dean and A. V. White, employes of the Southern Railway Company at Spencer, set fire to the town jail yesterday afternoon and were for a time in danger of being burned to death. The men were locked up by Chief of Police J. R. Cruse for disorderly conduct and soon after the officer left the small wooden jail smoke was seen coming from the windows and cracks, and an alarm was given, but before relief was given the prisoners decided to put out the fire rather than take chances of burning to death.

Salisbury.—W. H. Masters, bookkeeper for Swift and Co., in Salisbury received a dangerous shock from lightning during a severe electric storm, which passed over this section of the state last night. He was entering the front gate of his boarding house when he was knocked unconscious to the ground. He was attended by a physician and soon rallied and will recover.

Durham. Oliver Johnson from Graham, brings the message that Friday morning the 18-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beason fell into a tub of water and was drowned. This occurred near Haw River. The mother had gone out to draw a bucket of water and the baby fell into the tub of about seven inches of water and was drowned before it was noticed. It was an ordinary lard tub, which easily allowed the infant to overbalance and fall into it.
