

OUR WEEKLY LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

STICKING THE PROBE FURTHER.

Investigations The Order Of The Day
—Some Samples of Graft.

(By Clyde H. Tavenner).

Washington, July 17.—Did President Taft throw open Controller Bay under conditions especially designed to permit the Morgan-Guggenheim interests—and no other—to gobble up this richest of the Alaskan land prizes before anyone else could have a chance to file?

This is the big important question to which the house committee on expenditures in the interior department is seeking an answer. If such was not the deliberate plan of the administration, why were these lands thrown open by such unusual procedure—by a secret executive order instead of by proclamation?

Another query: If there was no conspiracy between the administration and the big exploiting interests, how does it come that Specular Ryan, supposed agent of the Morgan-Guggenheims, alone knew of the issuance of President Taft's secret (?) order and was able to file a soldiers' scrip on 160 rods of Controller Bay water front within three days after President Taft signed the order eliminating the land from the national forest and before any other man could have known of the order?

Another extraordinary feature of the case is this: The unvariable rule had been to give 60 days' notice before any claimant could file on this land, but, according to Mr. Dennett, of the general land office, when the president's order first came to him the 60-day provision was in it, and when he next saw the order there was no time allowed whatever for notice to the public—not even a day.

Before the investigation into this newest Alaskan land jugglery is finished it promises to develop a condition of affairs beside which the attempted theft of Alaskan coal lands is inconsequential.

The probe is in charge of Representative James M. Graham, of Illinois, one of the really big men in the Democratic house, whose career from the very first day he entered congress has stamped him as a man above partisanship and one especially qualified by service on the Balinger investigating committee to make the inquiry he is now so conscientiously engaged in.

For many years the government paid a handsome rental for the use of the Union building in Washington. It develops now that one of the principal owners of the building is a daughter-in-law of Senator Hale, and that Senator Hale had inserted in the senate appropriation bill an item which compelled the government to lease the building. Senator Hale also caused millions of dollars of public money to be expended on a naval shore station off the coast of Maine, the bulk of which expenditure was sheer waste. The principal mission this yard performed was to provide a place for Senator Hale's political henchmen. Nor was that all. While Senator Hale was in the exercise of almost unlimited power in the senate as chairman of the appropriations committee, his son, Frederick Hale, secretly received a fee of $5,000 out of the secret service fund for alleged diplomatic labors in helping to fix a Canadian boundary line. No one can find out what young Hale actually did to earn this $5,000. These and other acts of Mr. Hale while he was senator justify the demand that he be given a chance to explain. Perhaps he will demand it in justice to himself. If modesty restrains him, the opportunity may be forced upon him by one of the house investigating committees.

Expensive Trust Busting.

Fifty-nine thousand dollars was the amount paid Frank B. Kellogg, the Republican trust-buster, by the government between 1907 and 1911. It is believed that Kellogg received as much, if not more, from the trusts. It was developed before the Stanley committee that in one instance he received fees from the steel trust while being paid by the government to prosecute its friend and ally, the oil trust. J. B. Reynolds, another "trust-buster" received $64,000 from the public treasury for his services in the tobacco and coal-carrying railroad cases. In all the Republicans spent more than $3,000,000 in ten years for "trust busting" and the trusts are still with us.

MR. WILLIAM W. PERKINS.

Passed Away Saturday Night at the Sanatorium in Wilson.

How uncertain is life, and what ravages death can work in a short while. Only a few days ago Mr. William Perkins was on our streets, the picture of health and mingling with his friends in his usual congenial and happy disposition. Today his body sleeps beneath a flower covered mound in Cherry Hill cemetery, his spirit having passed into the world beyond.

A week ago Mr. Perkins was taken sick, and almost from the beginning his condition was serious. Wednesday he was taken to the sanatorium in Wilson and operated on for peritonitis, but the trouble had reached such a stage that it could not be checked and he died a little past midnight on Saturday night. The remains were brought home on the Sunday morning train, and the funeral was at 5:30 o'clock that afternoon, services being conducted at the grave by Rev. J. H. Shore. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. M. Reuss, E. H. Shelburn, J. L. Horne, J. I. Smith, T. M. Hooker, J. L. Starkey, C. S. Carr, D. E. House, C. T. Munford, W. B. Brown, C. L. Wilkinson, S. M. Schultz, Frank Wilson, H. A. White, J. E. Williams, H. B. Harriss and Mack Hearne.

Mr. Perkins was 33 years of age and a son of the late Mr. J. J. Perkins. For several years he had been a railway mail clerk and was among the best in the service. His last run was on the Norfolk Southern between Raleigh and Norfolk, which gave him about two weeks on duty and one week at home. He was popular with postal officials and with the public.

In 1906 he married Miss Virginia Hammersly, of Virginia, and leaves the wife and two small children. He is also survived by one brother, Dr. J. W. Perkins, and three sisters, Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Mrs. R. C. Flanagan and Miss Annie Perkins. These with a large number of relatives and friends mourn his death.

Mr. Otto Hamersly, of Richmond, a brother of Mrs. Perkins, came in Sunday morning and was present at the funeral. Her father, Mr. L. H. Hamersly, of Rolling Hill, Va., and another brother, Mr. A. O. Hamersly of Crewe, Va., came in today.

NEWS THAT IS OF INTEREST TO TAR HEELS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Told for The Reflector's Busy Readers.

In round numbers $40,000,000 capital is invested in factories in the cities of Charlotte, Durham, Winston, Raleigh, Asheville, Wilmington and Greensboro. The value of the output of these factories will run up about $55,000,000.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Winston-Salem, July 15.—Mr. M. E. A. McDonald, of this city, and formerly of Wilmington, who served on the staff of Col. O. H. P. Cornell, chief engineer of the Winston-Salem southbound Railway, is the inventor of a self-filling ink stand which has been patented and is meeting with success on the market.

As a result of the action of Solicitor Henry E. Shaw in filing an affidavit before Judge Peebles at the last term of Superior court here to the effect that the state could not get a just verdict in New Hanover county, a special term of Superior court of Pendleton county had been ordered to try the murder cases against Dick Gause, I. E. Tisdal and Garfield Ford, all negroes. This term will begin tomorrow, July 17th, at Bragaw.—Wilmington Star.

Friday night was productive of three more robberies, or attempted robberies, though only in one case it is definitely known that the burglars secured anything. The tailoring establishment of James Dry, colored, on Second street, the drug store of R. R. Bellamy, on Front and Market streets, and the residence of Mrs. Howell, at 714 North Fourth street, were the scenes of the burglaries. At Dry's tailoring, cleaning and pressing establishment, the burglars secured clothing to the value of between $65 and $100.—Wilmington Star.

One engine was about demolished and another right badly crippled this morning when a Greensboro-Salem Southern freight train, with engine No. 826, plunged into engine No. 462 as it was standing on the main line at Boylan bridge. The brakes of the freight could not stop the advance of the train on the down grade with the wet tracks and this caused it to pass into the yard limits without the required stop. The engine that the train struck was backed rapidly on to the turn table some distance back in the yards and there it was shoved off into the pit several feet deep as complete a wreck as one could well imagine. The freight engine was not very seriously injured. The train blocked the main lines of both the Seaboard and the Southern for a short while. No one was injured.—Raleigh Item, 15th.

CHANGE IN MANAGERS.

Mr. F. C. Smith Succeeded by Mr. H. M. Phillips.

Mr. F. C. Smith, who for nearly five years has been manager here of the local telephone exchange for the Home Telephone and Telegraph company, has been transferred to New Bern, and will leave with his family for that town in a few days. He has made many friends during his stay here, and the people regret that he and his family are to leave Greenville. The new manager of the local exchange is Mr. H. M. Phillips, of Weldon, who has taken charge. He was in Greenville for a few months some years ago, and is not a stranger to our people. He has much experience in the telephone business and will keep the local exchange up to its high standard under Mr. Smith's management.

PROF. MEADOWS' BROTHER DEAD

He Was Doing Great Missionary Work In China.

A telegram from Chicago Sunday morning to Prof. Leon R. Meadows announced the death of his brother, Dr. J. G. Meadows, which occurred Saturday night. Dr. Meadows was a medical missionary to Wu Chow, China. After several years in the foreign field he came back this year on a visit to his native country. From the Southern Baptist Convention in Jacksonville in May, he came to Greenville to visit his brother, and while here delivered a lecture in the Memorial Baptist church. He was summoned from here to Chicago by the sickness of his wife, and was himself taken ill there and passed away. Much sympathy is expressed for Prof. Meadows in his sorrow over the death of his brother.

Dr. Meadows was thirty-four years old and leaves a widow and five children. He died of typhoid-pneumonia after undergoing two separate operations. His home was at Haynesville, La., where his parents live.

Auto And Bicycle—Boy Hurt.

Dr. Reid and his children were going south on Tryon street keeran was riding a bicycle, going in the same direction, and running along close to the auto. When between the block bounded by First and Second streets. Dr. Reid saw several wagons coming out of First street, and slowed down to see which side of the street they would take. Keeran, for some reason or other, decided to go back up the street. He evidently forgot about the automobile, for he turned within a few feet of it. Dr. Reid shouted at him and applied his brakes but the distance was too short. The machine struck the boy and the bike. The boy was knocked some distance, and Dr. Reid thought, killed. Dr. Reid ran to him, picked him up and rushed with him to the Mercy General hospital, where he gave him a thorough examination. He immediately phoned his parents, and after finding that the boy had escaped with no broken bones, took him home.

Is It "Talk" Again?

Rocky Mount, July 15.—Is the Atlantic Coast Line going into Raleigh by way of Spring Hope and Bunn and has the agreement with the Seaboard Air Line terminated whereby as long as the Atlantic Coast Line used the bridge across Roanoke river that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad was to stay out of Raleigh? There has been considerable discussion provoked among the newspapers and with railroad folks, which was evidently started by an article in the state press Wednesday morning when it was explained that an agreement as outlined had long existed with the Seaboard and that now the Atlantic Coast Line was about to complete its new double track bridge across the Roanoke river that it might be expected that such an agreement would be broken and that the Atlantic Coast Line might enter Raleigh, the route suggested being the nearest possible, from Spring Hope to Bunn and on through to Raleigh, a distance of less than 25 miles.

Suffragettes Beat The Law.

Los Angeles, July 17.—Woman suffragists who were informed a day or two ago that they could not conduct their "doughnut campaign" in city parks, if they delivered "votes for women" speeches got around the prohibitive ordinance last night by setting their speeches to music and singing them. The opening of the "doughnut campaign" as their picnic meetings are called, occurred in Hollenback park, under the auspices of the wage earning woman's suffrage league. It was in effect a defiance of the police and park board.

The printer has just good grounds for asking the business men of a town to leave their job work at home as the business man has to ask the community to patrolize him instead of the mail order house. In fact the home paper does more for a town than any other enterprise located therein. Let the business men join hands with the home papers and both their interests will be greatly benefited.—Ex.

HOME IS THE CHEAPEST.

Going along the streets in Baltimore the other day, watching the throng of shoppers and taking mental note of how things go on in the city, we stopped to look at the display window of a big store filled with articles placarded at "special" prices. One article noticed was "marked down" to 29 cents, and making a comparison after getting back home we found that a Greenville store was selling the same article for 25 cents. There are two lessons that can be learned from this comparison. One is the ease with which goods can be sold when advertised; the other that in most instances you can get an article cheaper at home than by going or sending away for it. People patronize mail order houses because those houses advertise their goods, and the goods often cost more that way than if bought at home. If the home merchant was as careful to advertise and let people know what he has, much of the trade that goes to mail order houses would be kept at home.

A STEP DOWNWARD.

On Sunday the New York Herald began the publication of a Sunday afternoon edition, in which it gave particular attention to sporting news. It is much to be regretted that the larger cities of the country are drifting more and more toward non-observance of the Sabbath. The invasion of sports and business on the day that should be kept sacred and holy is a tendency to moral degeneracy that will increase as the practice in these things grows, and it is deplorable that a great metropolitan newspaper should lend its influence to this desecration. The people should stand out against such things.

Up in Statesville they have a collector in whose hands the business men place their hard accounts. If the accounts are not paid they are advertised in the newspapers and bill boards and sold at auction if there is a bidder. While this plan does not always get the money, it serves to let the public know who are the dead-beats in a community and puts others on guard to avoid being caught by them.

It is given out that the new assessment of property will give the state a tremendous increase in taxes. If the next legislature finds a big surplus on hand, instead of hunting up too many ways to spend it, a lower tax rate might help the people. High valuation and low tax rate would be as good an advertisement as the state could have.

Accused of Stealing.
E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs, cuts, corns bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c, at all druggists.

Next Monday, 24th, is the date for the meeting of the board of tax equalization for this county. Ample notice has been given those having complaints to make to be present on that day.

Those who say they favor good roads, yet are opposed to a bond issue to build them, should come forward with a more feasible plan, if they have one.

When the election comes you are going to see that a majority of the people in Greenville township favor issuing bonds to build good roads.

Congressman Claude Kitchin is also doing his part in the North Carolina senatorial contest.

With electric fans on each Senator's desk in Washington, they ought to be able to keep cool.

The sunny side is the one most avoided now.

Might Well Be Spared.

Extreme religious excitement is a peculiar manifestation and one which is by no means new. The Moslem dervish who becomes so exalted in spirit that he can undergo a whirling which would kill an ordinary man through exhaustion is a not unfamiliar figure in certain Eastern lands. The slower Aryan blood responds less readily to such impulses, but occasional instances occur in which the victims exceed even the Eastern fanatics in their zeal.

Just at present a cult called "the gift of tongues" is holding a convention in a Pittsburg suburb. The exercises consists in the delegates becoming so wrought up that they fall to the ground in spasms. A reporter counted thirty-nine women and eighteen men writhing in fearful contortions in one tent at the same time, and there were many other meetings being carried on besides the one to which he was admitted. The mental condition of these unfortunates is described in any number of standard medical books as being one indistinguishable from sheer though temporary insanity. To persuade a "convert," however, that he is inspired by anything less majestic than the breath of God is an almost impossible task.

North Carolina has had experiences recently with very similar cults—particularly in Wayne and Gaston counties—in which the authorities promptly ordered the prodigandists to seek other fields for their missionary labors. Such action is quite necessary, and the more efficiently it is taken the better off will any community visited be. Certain nervous troubles render those afflicted peculiarly liable to be misled by the bombastic claims of these pseudo-religionists, and the proper protection of society demands that their activities be squelched. So far as we are aware none of the leaders who were invited to move on by the Wayne and Gaston authorities took anything resembling an appeal to the "religious liberty" amendment to the constitution—a clause which is occasionally invoked to protect such folks. Judging from evidence originating in Gaston county at the time mentioned, the clause stretched to its limits would not cover their case.—Charlotte Observer.

Top Tobacco High.

The Free Press has been requested by tobaccoists to advise the farmers to top their tobacco just as high as possible this year, as, on account of the dry weather, the potash is still there and will make the high leaves mature and ripen well.—Kinston Free Press.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles, attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

'Twould Strain Relations.
The elevation of Hoke Smith to the United States senate leaves a vacancy in the governorship of Georgia—and as might have been and indeed was expected—the woods are full of candidates. Among those mentioned is Col. T. B. Felder, whose controversy with Governor Blease, of South Carolina, marks the high point yet reached in "short-and-ugly" polemic in this country. The possibility of the Georgia man's reaching official station equal to his opponent's—it must be confessed that this possibility is as remote as it can well be to remain a possibility—gives rise to some interesting reflections on what might be the result.

A bitter contention between Georgia and South Carolina over the exact location of the Savannah river boundary played its part in producing the Federal convert on which framed the constitution. The adoption of this instrument by each Commonwealth led to the amicable adjustment of their differences. But the quarrel between Blease and Felder is of much greater intensity than was ever a boundary dispute. It partakes of the nature of those feuds which in the Scotch highlands used to produce wars lasting for centuries and influencing the action of rival clans long after the original points at issue had been forgotten. It would take a pretty comprehensive amendment to the constitution to enable Governor Blease and Governor Felder to rule neighboring states in peace.

Aside from the humorous phase, the election of Felder to the governorship of Georgia while Blease holds office in Columbia would lead to complications of a very undesirable sort. The latter has already signified his disapproval of Governor Brown's refusal to honor his requisition for his enemy. Suppose that enemy himself—in an official capacity—should forward requisition papers some fine morning to Governor Blease. Familiarity with the latter's attitude would cause one to believe that the document would be examined with extraordinary care and that the slightest flaw in its composition would result in its consignment to the waste basket. Reprisals in kind would naturally follow across the Savannah and it needs no exaggerated imagination to foresee that the administration of justice might be very seriously interfered with on both sides.

We do not believe that the Blease-Felder rumpus will have any effect whatever upon the latter's chances to succeed Mr. Smith, but we are by no means sorry to think that there is little likelihood of his doing so. Such a situation would inevitably add enormously to the gaiety of nations, but it would reflect very little honor upon two historic and unusually amicable Commonwealths.—Charlotte Observer.

Paint The Farm Buildings.

A movement has been started in Anson county to have all the farm houses, barns, school houses and churches painted and to further that end, an enterprising firm in Wadesboro, the Blalock Hardware Company, is selling paint to the farmers at actual costs. In consequence of this offer, there is a "run" on that particular firm, but it is making its word good and has ordered an additional supply to meet the demand. The Progressive Farmer commends the idea as one that some merchant in each town might adopt. "Sell paint at cost" it says: "That fact will be talked and will be good advertising. More than this, the man who comes to you to buy paint will buy other things, and this call on you will not be without profit after all." The Wadesboro Ansonian is helping the Blalock firm to dispose of its paint, while the farmers are plying the brush and enjoying the fun.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Social and Personal.

The Cold World.

A cold world, but a gold world, and the best old world we've got—So laugh and be contented, and be happy with your lot!

A cold world, but a bold world, when the heart is beating right, When the hands have done their duty,

And the eyes find hidden beauty In the sweet and simple valleys and the hills that lead to light!

A cold world, but a gold world, and the best old world we know, So, deck the ships with laughter and forget about your woe!

A cold world, but a whole world of blessings and disguise,

When we take its paths of gleaming To the golden shore of dreaming, The violets in the meadows and the sunshine in the skies!

MRS. K. R. BECKWITH.

Marriage Licenses.

Register of Deeds Moore issued only two marriage licenses the past week, both for colored couples. They were:

William Sneed and Lucy Jones. Isaac Williams and Bertha Dudley.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Pick Ups and Hand-me-Downs.

Go after the sidewalk weeds this week.

Greenville Masonic Lodge meets tonight.

The river has some water in it now.

Listen out for the early cry of too much rain.

Every afternoon a rain. Thunder storms are frequent.

Married in Cemetery.

Lawton, Okla., July 15.—Beside a new-made grave, Miss Nora Blankenship and Isaac Upton were married here yesterday by Rev. W. E. Humphries. When the couple called at the ministers residence they learned he was officiating at a funeral. They hurried to the cemetery and meeting the pastor near the grave, insisted that they be married there.

Willis Clark Dead.

Willis Clark, a well known colored man here, died Sunday. He was prominent as a well digger, and one of the best workers in the colored fire department. His health failed soon after the big fire last year that destroyed the court house.

Will Teach in Greenville.

Miss Julia Tucker has been elected teacher of art in the Greenville graded schools. Miss Tucker is a young lady of fine talent, and the Greenville people are to be congratulated on having secured her services.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

Negro Back From "Up Norf."

Yesterday afternoon a natty and well-dressed gentleman of color entered a Charlotte drug store, and with the unmistakable accent of the "Narth," requested that some postal cards be procured for his august personage. The cards were secured by the clerk and placed in an envelope, but when returned to the negro, were rejected because they were not neatly wrapped in a package. With rage smouldering in his eye, the clerk complied with the stipulation of the negro, and the cards were returned as desired. Next he lounged over to the soda fountain, and, with all the nonchalance of a New York club man calling for a cocktail, ordered the clerk in charge of the fountain to produce a drink which would tickle the royal palate, as well as assuage the royal thirst. A moment was ample for the clerk to leap the counter, and a second-like space of time was sufficient for the colored gentleman to breathe devout prayers for his safe return to "Philly." Amid a storm of well-directed blows, the negro emerged from the entrance of the store, and with a final kick, was allowed to gaze upon the sad wreck of his "glad rags," and to remove himself off the sidewalk. The Afro-American immediately hastened to the police station, where he exhibited his sadly damaged countenance and attire as evidence that he, a free American citizen, had been brutally assaulted upon the streets of the municipality. However, the hard luck story of the tourist met with but scant reception at the hands of the chief and the desk sergeant, and no warrant was issued for the alleged perpetrator of the assault. It is doubtful if his friends in the Pennsylvania city will recognize their erstwhile companion, when he alights from the train carrying the marks of his visit to Charlotte.—Charlotte Observer, 16th.

Found Gold.

'Squire Keith is about to strike it rich. He has an option on some land where strong evidences of gold have been found. In fact he shows a rock with the gold in it. Experts say the specimens was worth two and a half or three dollars. In size it is about half as big as one's hand.—Greensboro Record.

Farmers and Roads.

The Kansas City Star, a good roads apostle, has made some interesting discoveries. It contents itself by saying that "twenty-five years ago the people who believed in letting well enough alone were objecting to railroads because they would compel the payment of rent for pasturing cows which otherwise might run large without danger of being killed by 'steam injuns'."

The Star says that in Missouri not long ago a man sold his farm because his neighbors had voted to build a rock road in front of it, which would force him to have his horses shod.

In Kansas a man recently declared he would favor good roads if the state legislature would enact a law preventing automobiles from using them.

An Oklahoma farmer is quoted as saying he does not want macadamized roads because they will wear out his wagons, buggies and farm machinery.

There is much said about the opposition of farmers to bond issues for good roads in this section, but the time has passed never to return when there is serious opposition to good roads. The objection is now made on other grounds, that we are not able to have them, that it will hurt politically or some other supposed calamity which may befall us in event good roads should come about.

The trouble is not with the farmers; it comes from various sources and on various pretenses. The opposition usually comes not from the farmers but from those who farm for the farmers, those who make their living out of the farmers.

There are some farmers who oppose good roads, but the number is diminishing rapidly.

The farmers have begun to understand the cost of bad roads. Somebody is asleep, but the people are not.—Asheboro Courier.

Buying Southern Land.

The Manufacturers' Record, summarizing recent big real estate transactions in the south, says it was but a few weeks ago when it reported the sale to England cotton spinners of 32,000 acres of land in Mississippi for $3,250,000 which was promptly followed by the purchase of 9,000 acres in the same state by Holland people for about $1,000,000. The announcement made two weeks ago of the purchase of a 75,000-acre tract in Florida for $900,000 by German buyers is this week followed by the purchase of about 106,000 acres in the same state, also by Germans, and likewise intended for colonization purposes. Chicago people have just bought 3,500 acres of land in Georgia adjoining the tract of 25,000 acres which they already owned and which will be developed by the building of an electric railroad, and which likewise intended for colonization. Hon. William Kent, a member of congress from California, and J. F. Jordan associated with him, have purchased 36,000 acres in North Carolina, which will be cut up into small farms and improved by good roads and suitable buildings. The conclusion of The Record is that these sales and many smaller ones, which are being constantly reported are indicative of the growing appreciation throughout this and other lands in the opportunity for safe investments in the purchase of southern property. The colonization forces which have heretofore carried population to the west and the Pacific coast are turning their attention to the south as the most inviting field in the world for operation.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. Its the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Ex-Ray Reveal Sparks of Life.
Chicago, Ill., July 15.—The "flight of the vital spark," has been witnessed, according to a statement made today by Dr. Patrick S. O'Donnell, an x-ray expert, who has been following up experiments made by Dr. W. J. Kilner, of London, England.

Some time ago, using a chemicalized film sealed between two thin strips of glass, Dr. O'Donnell gave a demonstration to 20 physicians of the aura or "electrical radiation" of living bodies, four young women being used as subjects. The aura developed as a strong ray of light surrounding the entire form of the subject.

"Last night," said Dr. O'Donnell, "in the presence of several physicians Mercy Hospital, I tried to experiment on a dying man. He was rapidly sinking. Suddenly the attending physician announced that the man was dead. The aura began to spread from the body, and presently disappeared. Further observation of the corpse revealed no sign of the aura."
"We do not claim that the light is the soul, or spirit. In fact, no one seems to know what it is. In my opinion, however, it is some sort of radi-activity made visible by the use of the chemical screen. My experiments, however, seem to prove that it is the animating power, or current of life of human beings."

No Tainted Money.
Pensacola, Fla.—By a six to three vote the city council last night refused to appropriate money for the maintenance of a Carnegie public library. The philanthropist had offered $25,000 if Pensacola would raise one-tenth of that amount.
The people turned down the proposition several weeks ago on a referendum vote. This city has a population of 30,000, but no library.
