HOW SEVEN SPRINGS WERE DISCOVERED

RUN AWAY BOY LOCATED THERE

He Finds That The Waters Were Health Giving.

HANRAHAN, N. C.—One afternoon about two weeks after Eugene's first night's experience on the bosom of the Neuse, the writer was out looking for the cows. Cows roved the woods in those days, and it took four to give one gallon instead of one giving five gallons as now. I was about two miles from home and at an old Primitive Baptist church, Pleasant Plains, but it was a misnomer to some extent, for some things that had happened in this old building in former years were not very pleasant in church circles. It was here that the association split and part of the members declared themselves missionary in spirit. So they left and went with that body of ever progressive Christian workers, the Missionary Baptists. The remaining few were left to believe that whatever is to be will be, any how. The feeling was anything but pleasant for some time. I only mention this in passing to say that the old church is now entirely abandoned, but on the steps of this old building I sat me down to rest and to listen for the tingle of the cow bell. I had been there but a short while, when I heard a voice softly calling to me from the corner of the house, the off side from the road. I went quickly around there, because I thought the voice had something of a sound that had been familiar to me. On reaching the corner I heard Eugene say from a clump of bushes nearby, "Come here, it is I, it is Eugene." Then my heart leaped for joy, but I was wonder struck, for I could not imagine how he came there. I had heard that he had run away from his master and knew that they were looking for him, but except this, I knew nothing of his whereabouts. "Step back into the bushes," he said as I approached him. "What on earth is the matter with you?" he said, "you look so different from what you did." I, too, was sorrowful. I said, "you, too, look so different from the way you did when you left." "Yes," he said, "but I feel so much better than I did when I came here." Then he told me of his escape and his long and lonely trip down the river, and how as he floated down one afternoon and saw those hills and beautiful moss covered oaks, he moored his boat to a bush near the south bank and climbed out and had scrambled through the thick undergrowth that hedged them in on every side. He saw some springs and being thirsty he drank freely, then he examined and found that there were seven of these in a space not more than 12 feet square. He found, too, that each of these had a different taste. He said that I was the only human that he had seen since his escape except Uncle Lige, an old colored man that helped to bury his father. Said he knew that he would not betray him and that I would not. He said when he drank of that water and felt so much better that he had determined to stay in hiding around there until he was entirely well.

I must say in passing that he could have found no better hiding place at that time, for there was no trace of a path that led to the springs and the hills that surrounded them were covered with a dense coat of myrtle bushes and stately oaks. He said he had slept each night in this old church and at light each morning he would wind his way back to drink from these springs.

For fear that it may sadden some correspondent's heart, or at least give him much concern to know how Eugene obtained his food during the four weeks that he was lying in ambush and drinking of this life-giving waters, I would say to such a one that a raven in the form of Uncle Lige gave him some sweet potatoes and with his cross-bow he secured his meat. And for the benefit of the same one, would say that 40 miles in those days was a greater separation than is 500 miles now. And the man that Eugene was bound to was rich in this world's goods for those days and Eugene told me that he spoke very kindly to him and treated him very nicely that day at the court house, and he was anxious to go with him. Eugene thanked my parents so much for their kindness to him, but said he knew they could not care for all the orphans in the community just after the war. Fur-

SNAKES SWALLOW COW'S HORNS.

Both Die Thus Impaled And Are Taken Home by The Cow.

If you could have seen the bulge of Sheriff Duldey's eyes when one of his cows came home with a large black snake dangling from each horn, you would have seen almost as great a sight as that of the snakes. The sheriff runs a large dairy and has a number of cows. One of them is an old cow with extra long, slender horns and this was the cow that brought in the snakes, which had evidently attempted to swallow her horns, making a partial success, though still a fatal failure.

An after thought presented a possible solution. That was about the following: That morning this cow had gored an old rooster that persisted in eating with her. That left the smell of chicken on her horns. Some black snakes are extra fond of chicken. Therefore, finding the smell of chicken in the air, the snakes proceeded to investigate, tracing it to the cow, which must have been lying down asleep, when they mistook her horns for something akin to chicken and proceeded with the swallowing act. Each snake took a separate horn. When the swallowing act had been so far completed that the snakes' mouths reached the cow's head, there was a halt and owing to the formation of snakes' mouths, especially for the swallowing act, there was no escape for the snakes but to stay there and die. There must have been considerable squirming and a scared cow, though she was apparently unconscious of her unusual adornment when she reached home that evening. They had to be cut off the cow's horns. The snakes were evidently mates and in death they were nigh together.

BLACK HAND WRECK FACTORY.

Thousands Of People Driven From Their Homes.

NEW YORK.—Ten thousand people were driven from their homes among the tenements of the east side by an explosion in the basement of a factory which gutted the interior of the structure. Fire followed the explosion, adding to the damage already done. It is thought to have been a black hand outrage.

Belgian Queen Congratulated.

BRUSSELS.—Queen Elizabeth, who has but recently recovered from a very serious illness, received worldwide congratulations today on the thirty-fifth anniversary of her birth. Before her marriage ten years ago, her Majesty was a princess of Bavaria. She is the mother of two sons and a daughter, her eldest boy, the heir to the throne, being now in his tenth year.

Saskatchewan Premier Visited North.

LONDON.—The Hon. Walter Scott, premier of Saskatchewan, who came over for the coronation, returned to London today after a trip to Spitzbergen and the far North.

thermore, I would say to that same correspondent, that a more truthful epitaph was never placed on any man's tomb than is inscribed on my father's head stone. These are the words that are on his tomb: "For I was an hungred and yet gave me meat." Matt. XXV first clause of 35th verse.

Now, back to my subject. We had but a short while to talk at this meeting, because the shade of night was falling fast and at this point I heard the tinkling of a distant cow bell. So I must needs drive them home, and Eugene must get to his hiding, for well up the road that runs near by the old church we saw a man on horse back. We agreed to meet again at a different point two days from then at an earlier hour. Then he promised to lead me to the springs that had done so much for him during the weeks that he had been drinking from the. He said he was sure those waters would restore me to health, as they had about made him well.

We parted for this time, and I did so long for the time to come when we should meet again, when he should guide me to that which would restore my strength and make me feel once more that life was worth living. Please don't ask why we did not set the next day to meet, I being so anxious to gain my health. Do you ask my trouble? I answer, no one could then tell, but now we know, it was hook worm.

TODAY'S EVENTS IN NATIONAL CAPITOL

ANOTHER SENSATION TODAY.

Lorimer Hearing Continues—Steel Trust And Harvester Company.

WASHINGTON.—Editor Keely was cross-examined in the Lorimer hearing and continued his testimony concerning the manner of obtaining charges against Lorimer.

Chairman Stanley, of the steel trust investigating committee, sprang another sensation today by producing a copy of the report of the special attorney of the department of justice, recommending that the International Harvester Company be prosecuted under the Sherman law. The report said the company and steel trust were closely allied and was making rebates of $3 a ton on steel used by the harvester company.

The cotton revision bill was adopted in the Democratic caucus and was introduced in the house today by Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee. It is expected to be reported favorably next Friday.

Just Two Cases of Blood Poison.

ASHEVILLE.—The story sent out over the country from Asheville this week to the effect that a "terrible and mysterious plague" was raging in Mitchell county leaving "death in its wake" has evidently caused serious alarm on the part of prospective visitors to Asheville and the mountains, and as a result this section will lose no few visitors. It develops that there were but two cases of the "terrible" disease. One of these was blood poison and the other, that Dr. Buchanan, who was taken to Johnson City for treatment, was a case where the patient had been burned in the eyes and on the face by ammonia. These facts have been thoroughly investigated.

Experience is like spending money—nothing comes back to you from it.

GREENVILLE WINS THE FIRST SERIES

IN THE COAST LINE LEAGUE.

A New Series of Twelve Games To Begin Friday.

The first series of games of the Coast Line League was completed Tuesday, and the association held a meeting in Grifton Tuesday night, to arrange another series of twelve games to begin Friday, 28th, two games a week to be played in each town.

Greenville won the pennant in the first series with a percentage of 90, having lost only one out of ten games. In the new series of games that begins Friday, if some team other than Greenville wins, then a series of three games are to be played between that team and Greenville to determine which is entitled to the pennant for the entire season.

It was agreed at this meeting of the association that each town in the league may secure two new players provided their names are reported by August 2nd. With this exception only those players who were in the first series of games can play in the second series.

The opening games of the new series next Friday will be between Kinston and Greenville at Greenville, and Grifton and Ayden at Ayden, the games then to alternate to the different towns. Some good games may be looked for in this new series as all the teams will be in good trim.

Trinity's New Bell.

DURHAM, N. C.—With impressive ceremonies Trinity's new mammoth bell was Saturday morning installed in the temporary tower erected for it near the Crowell Science hall.

The new bell is the largest in the South, and weighs, exclusive of its mountings, six thousand five hundred pounds. It is five feet and six inches in diameter across the mouth, about as tall as an average sized man. Although mounted on ball-bearings, it requires a man of more than usual strength to ring it, an operation which will be performed by machinery. It has a voluminous flat note with an auditory radius of ten miles.

OPERA HOUSE FOR GREENVILLE.

Manager Advises High Class Plays, Operas and Musical Comedies.

It was with the deepest regret that the people of Greenville last season were unable to witness a stage attraction of any interest, due to the fact that they had no place to accommodate the plays that were billed, due to the ruins of the opera house that was swept by fire previous to that time.

For the coming season the theatre goers will read with interest the opening of the new opera house now nearing completion in the Edwards block. As soon as the place is completed the managers of the Gaiety Theatre will occupy same until the fall season opens for theatrical troops, for which they have slated some of the very best in grand operas and musical comedies.

The building which is expected to be completed within the next two weeks will have a seating capacity of four hundred people. They now have en route opera chairs for same, of the very best quality, together with this they have a stage that will accommodate any ordinary cast of performers. The elevation of the floor is almost completed and together with the arrangements in front in the way of a ticket booth greatly adds to the appearance of an up-to-date opera house.

The manager for the coming season is Mr. H. G. Sparrow, who is well versed in this profession, and has several years of experience, which gives out information that they will only slate the very best on the road and assures us of some of the very best plays that are obtainable in North Carolina. He furthermore states that it is his intention to exhibit the very best in motion pictures during the time with the exception of the nights he has plays billed.

The proprietors of the Gaiety, who are Messrs. H. G. Sparrow and L. A. Squires, of Washington, are certainly displaying their ability and meeting with much success since their opening here.

TIME TO STOP MISREPRESENTATION

THIS SHOULD BE STOPPED.

Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company Can Take Care of Itself.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., July 25, 1911.
Editor Reflector

I want to say a few words about our tobacco crop and tobacco trade at home. What tobacco we have is looking fine, but we will not reach over 50 per cent, of a crop. While driving over about forty miles of this section I have noticed that about one-half of every tobacco patch is planted in corn or cotton.

I see men traveling over this county investigating the tobacco crop. I suppose you would call them "tobacco drummers." They seem to be trying to tear down their competitor's business to build up their own. They seem to have their guns pointed at the Consolidated people. One of these men said to me, "What in the world are the Consolidated people borrowing so much money for? I am afraid the old Gum warehouse will soon rot down, anyway."

Why did he not ask "What do all the banks of this county borrow money for?"

I have heard this and several other misleading remarks over this section. I want to say to this class of men, that if you have been hired to do this kind of work you will soon lose your job and have to move, as others have done before.

This has been called the new tobacco belt, but it is getting old enough to have its eyes open now, and I think this dicker and back-biting should be stopped among tobacco drummers.

Now, one man after another has quit cultivating tobacco, and one market after another is going out of business.

I have sold tobacco with every warehouse in Greenville and they treated me with all due respect, and I can say the same of the buyers. But I would be glad to see the warehousemen and the Tobacco Board of Trade get together and stamp out this back-biting business, and get the tobacco business to a higher standing. Then the pleasure and profit would be greater to all concerned.

Town In Revolt.

WASHINGTON.—Declaring the town of Glen Echo, Md., to be in a "state of revolt and absolutely in defiance of law and order," Mayor Louis C. Witowski has written to Governor Crothers of Maryland, asking intervention. Mayor Witowski complains of the non-observance of the Sunday labor law, especially at an amusement park in Glen Echo, patronized by Washingtonians. He declares that the town officials flatly refused today to carry out his orders to arrest offenders.

MERELY STATING FACTS.

A Postal Savings Bank will be established in Greenville August 19th, and the Reflector boasts that this puts "Greenville in class with the larger cities." Surely the Reflector cannot see any special good that institution will do for the town, when it only pays 2 per cent. interest on savings compared with 4 per cent. paid by the local banks, and that no money can be drawn out of the Postal bank unless given thirty days' notice while the local banks pay on demand.—New Bern Sun.

The Reflector was not boasting in this particular in the sense that term implies, but made the reference to show that the government recognized Greenville as a town of sufficient importance to be classed with larger cities in the establishment of Postal Savings banks. Really, we have been unable to see any special good to the public from these Postal Savings banks, or the need of them, but as the government has seen fit to establish these banks, and recognizes Greenville as of sufficient importance to have one, of course we can speak of Greenville being in the class with larger cities.

THE CHAIN LETTER FRAUD.

One of the greatest nuisances and frauds of modern times is what is termed "chain letters," and it is astonishing how people will be duped by them. If a person receives one of these "chain letters," he should promptly refuse to become a party to the fraud in helping to pass it further. Throw such letters aside regardless of the appeal not to break the chain. The latest instance of this "chain letter" fraud called to our attention came from New York and was sent especially to Masons, purporting to have been "suggested by the Most Worshipful Grand Master of the State of New York," for the purpose of erecting a monument in Canton, Ohio, to William McKinley. The Grand Master of New York denounces the letter as a fraud and imposition. If any Mason who reads this gets one of these "chain letters" he should know how to treat it.

$300,000 Gold Statue.

Members of the French-Canadian colony in New York have organized the St. Ann Gold Statue Association, which was incorporated at Albany last month and has for its object the creation of a gold statue of St. Ann, the infant Christ and the Virgin Mary, which having been blessed by the Pope and exhibited in various churches throughout the country, will be erected in the Church of St. Ann de Beupre, near Quebec, to which thousands of devout Catholics make pilgrimages every summer.

The statue will be eight feet high, of fourteen carat gold, and, with the pedestal of Carrara marble, will cost $300,000. The officers of the association are Napoleon Thompson, 34 East Twenty-second street, president; William H. Daigneone, 346 Broadway, vice-president; Dr. Albert C. Roy, 150 Sixth avenue, secretary, and E. F. Scotte, 6 Charles street, treasurer. The offices are at 27 East Twenty-second street. WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong And Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

T. R. Moore 918 Evans street, Greenville, N. C., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I have used them with the greatest benefit. I was troubled by a lameness in my back and my kidneys did not do their work as they should. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from the John L. Wooten Drug Co. and I had not used them long before I received relief. I can say that this remedy acts just as represented."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Since the publication of the book in which the name "America" was first applied to this continent, the Cosmographie Introductio, by Waldseemuller, at St. Die, France, in 1507, the four hundred and fourth anniversary of which publication has just been celebrated, every history of America has stated that the continent was named for "Amerigo" Vespucci, oftener called by the Latin equivalent, Americus Vesputius.

The paragraph in Waldseemuller's book in which the name had its historical inception is as follows: "There is a fourth part of the world which Amerigo Vespucci has discovered and which for this reason we should call America; that is to say, the land of Amerigo."

The derivation given by Waldseemuller has been challenged by at least one historian of international reputation, Dr. Ricardo Palma, of Peru, who suggests that America is exclusively an American word and that Vespucci got the name "Amerigo" from the country in the same way, for instance, as "Deadwood" Dick, or "Arizona" Pete gets his pseudonym.

In his "Traditions of Peru" Dr. Palma discusses the origin of the name. These are his deductions: That America is a place-name in Nicaragua and designates a chain of mountains in the province of Chintoles, where Vespucci landed.

That the termination "ic," "ique," "ico," is encountered frequently in the names of places and in the tongues and dialects indigenous to Central America, appearing to signify "large," "high," "prominent," and is applied to mountain peaks in which there are no volcanoes.

That Vespucci's given name was Alberico (Latin, Albericus).

That in no part of Europe was "America" a given name applied to either man or woman.

That only crowned heads baptized new countries with their given names, as, for instance, Georgia, Louisiana, Carolina, the Philippines, while discoverers gave them their surnames, as in the cases of the Straits of Magellan, Vancouver's Island and Van Dieman's Land.

That Columbus himself has not given the name Christofonia or Christona, but Columbia or Colon, to the New World.

That according to the historian the Viscount de Santarem, Vespucci visited the New World for the first time about the end of 1499 in the expedition of Cabral; that the description he wrote of the regions was published by Waldseemuller, and that it was Waldseemuller who made "the unjustifiable mistake" of putting the name of the describer above that of the discoverer.

"In conclusion," says Dr. Palma, "from its origin, from the remarks of Columbus on his fourth voyage, from its philological value and from other considerations briefly referred to, it can be deduced without great effort that the word America, exclusively indigenous, has nothing to do with the captain Vespucci."

Without indorsing these hypotheses it may be said that the two or three authentic autographs of Vespucci, one of which spelled "Amerrigo," were all written subsequent to his discovery; that he was vain and would likely be pleased with his alleged nickname.

Dr. Palma might have made further deduction from the fact that the name Alberico is fairly common in Latin countries, and there is no evidence that the orthography is varied by writing it "Amerigo."—New York World.

In the year 1626 Peter Minuit bought the whole island on which New York City—now worth four thousand million dollars is built. He paid $24 for the island. Had he put out that $24 at 4 per cent. compound interest in 1626 it would now amount to as much as the present value of New York City.

Yes, Avoid the Swill Trough

Opposing Senator Williams' bill to appropriate $50,000 from the Federal Treasury toward the cost of a Confederate naval monument at Vicksburg, the New York Sun says, in part: "We believe that the Confederate soldiers and sailors have a finer sense of the fitness of things. The valor, the endurance, the noble patience of Confederate fighting men were and are beyond praise. Alive or dead, let them and their memories continue to stand far and honorably apart from the crush and wallow about the Federal trough." We too, question the good taste of Mr. Williams' bill, at least pending another generation's life. And we cordially appreciate the tribute to Confederate soldiers which The Sun has paid. We may well believe that the demoralizing and debauching effect of pensions upon Federal soldiers—the G. A. R. becoming essentially a grab machine—is not worth what it costs.—Charlotte Observer.

Locomotive Blew Out The Fire.

Using a locomotive engine to extinguish the flames in a burning building is new departure in Lindaborg, but this is what happened here.

On the outskirts of the city a Mexican hut situated about thirty-five feet from the Missouri tracks caught fire, and being out of reach of the fire department it became the duty of the man nearest the blaze at least to make attempt to put out the fire.

The Missouri Pacific's engine was standing idle on the tracks and had on plenty of steam. The engineer saw the fire and steamed up to a point opposite the burning building, turned on all his steam, and blew the fire out in a few minutes. The steam smothered the fire.—Topeka Capital.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. Its the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair is First Sign of Age. Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Weyth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggist to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, MOYER'S PHARMACY.

Good Printing

The character of your printed matter makes an indelible impression—good or bad—upon those who see it. More people gauge your standing—the character and quality of product—your up-to-datedness—by that, than by any other one thing. Therefore, the need for the right kind of printing.

Our hobby is good printing—not fancy, fussy printing—but good printing, with character, quality and finish—the right type, right stock, right illustrations—all blended into a strong, dignified whole—the kind that will make a good impression for you. Give us a chance on your next job.

Dead Rats Put in Sugar.

NEW YORK.—Claus Augustus Spreckles, of California and principal owner of the Federal Sugar Refining Company of Yonkers, N. Y., gave the most sensational testimony that has developed before the Congressional committee investigating the sugar trust during the hearings here.

Besides giving a most important sidelight on the conference between John Arbuckle and the late H. O. Havemeyer, which is believed to have ended the great sugar war, he described under oath, the vicissitudes of an independent sugar refiner. He said that his plant in Philadelphia before it was controlled by the trust had been put out of commission several times by persons who threw sand in the machinery bearings and otherwise wrecked the plant. He swore that at the Yonkers refinery after he had turned down trust overtures, dead rats were placed in barrels of sugar ready for shipment and that whole vats of liquid sugar had been drained off in the night into sewers. The nuisance of dead rats continued until private detectives pointed out a number of his employees whom he discharged, refusing to pay their wages in the hope that they would sue him and thus enable him to question them under oath as to who had employed them. Much to his disappointment he was never sued.

Notice.

We wish to announce that our land is posted and to warn people not to hunt on it. We have stock in the grounds and have had several cattle shot, supposed to have been shot by stray bullets fired by people shooting at marks. Unless this shooting on our property is stopped, we shall have to indict all persons we can catch on it carrying or using fire arms.

It is a good time to begin placing your orders for the rival or reversible disc harrows. See Harrington, Barber & Co.

See Harrington, Barber & Company for your 8-ounce duck cotton sheets and scale beams.

"The longest way home," as the saying goes, but one of our young men and lady undertook to change this a little by making the way away from home the longest and sweetest. The result, they both got lost, drove many miles out of the way, called on friends to direct them, yet they were not afraid in these dark hours of the night, as "Pistol" was along.

Feed your stock and poultry on Dr. Hess' stock and poultry food found at A. W. Ange & Co.'s.

We are very much grieved that our friend, Eugene Cannon, had to go home yesterday on account of his being sick. We hope he will soon recover and return. Those night drives did not agree with him.

A jolly crowd of hay riders from near Cox's Mill visited our town last night. They are always welcomed here and we think they run up with some water melons and a freezer of cream while in town.

Don't forget to see Hunsucker, the buggy man, before purchasing your next turn-out.

Mrs. King, of Durham, is visiting Mrs. Chas. Langston this week.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fall. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

After a woman has divorced one man and married another, the first one feels as an old doll looks when its owner gets a new one.
