The United States senate has ordered printed the noted speech of Judge Clark delivered in Philadelphia on the constitution of the United States, be printed as a document for the use of the congress.

Assistant Horticulturist S. B. Shaw, who has returned from Alexander and Wilkes counties, where he went to investigate conditions in the Brushy Mountains, says that the apple crop in these counties is good, but that in the state generally it will not average over 30 per cent.

Prescilla Hill, a colored woman of near Strieby, died July 13, at an extreme age. There is said to be good evidence that she was 119 years of age. Several sons and daughters survive, some of whom are nearing their eightieth birthdays. She was never a slave having been of a class of colored people known as the "free" before the Civil war.—Ashboro Courier.

ASHVILLE.—News has been received here of the tragic death of Big Creek, Haywood county, of "Big Jim" Wiggins, of Swain county. It seems that Wiggins' death was due to an explosion of dynamite. Two men were with the man when he was seen to raise his hand to throw a stick of dynamite into the water. The explosion occurred while the dynamite was still in the upraised hand. Wiggins' neck and back were broken and both hands blown off.

Insane by jealousy and inflamed by whiskey, Sol. Pritchard, a negro, shot and perhaps fatally wounded Nannie Mines, a negro girl, Wednesday night at 11.45 o'clock, on Gilmer street. A single barreled shotgun was the weapon used, and the muzzle was so close to the victim's head that one of her ears was blown completely off and the hair and skin was shot into the wall adjacent. A search of the premises disclosed 14 pints of whiskey and several bottles of beer.—Greensboro News.

The Catawba farmers are raising more cotton this year than has yet been grown in that county. "Topping" is a favorite method with some of them. They claim that pruning the plants checks the spread of the weed and increases the production of bolls, on the same principle that pruning a tree increases the production of fruit. Topping cotton was practiced to a small extent some years ago in Mecklenburg and Cabarrus, but we believe the custom has been abandoned, principally because of the extra labor involved.—Charlotte Chronicle.

SHELBY, July 27.—Rev. B. L. Padgett and pretty Miss Carrie Stockton of King's Mountain are in the custody of officers in Atlanta, according to The Atlanta Journal, the preacher being charged with eloping with the 16 year old girl. Looking for one Methodist preacher from South Carolina, who, it was reported, had eloped with a young girl and was headed for Atlanta, the police raided a little Madison avenue hotel and pinched not the South Carolina preacher and the girl for whom they were searching, but an entirely different pair. Padgett and Miss Stockton are in custody and Rev. J. H. Newton and Miss Tessie Moore, likewise 16 years of age, are the two for whom the cops are still looking.

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED.

Eight Killed and Many Colored Excursionists Injured At Hamlet.

CHARLOTTE, July 28.—Eight are dead, 59 seriously injured and 28 painfully injured as the result of a head-on collision between a negro excursion train bound from Durham to Charlotte and a freight train in the Hamlet yards Thursday morning. Four members of the train crews are also suffering from injuries. The injured were brought to Charlotte on a special train. Many additional deaths are expected.

The train was in charge of Engineer Koontz, of Raleigh. Beyond a few scratches he was not injured. The fireman on the passenger train, a negro man, name unknown, lost one of his legs. Engineer Taylor was running the freight. Neither he or his fireman were hurt.

ASTONISHING THE NATIVES.

An Auto Doing Stunts In Virgin Territory.

Mr. John L. Amick, one of the popular mail carriers for Mebane has got an automobile to carry his route with. It is a Sears Roebuck machine very substantially built, and seems well adapted to the purpose for which he is using it. Mr. Amick has not got the hang of it entirely, but is learning quite rapidly. The first day he used it, it tried to go in the stable with him, and sometimes it tried to run in the creek with him. One trouble he has is to make the thing stand still until he can collect his mail. He carried out a good stout manilla rope Tuesday morning. He said he would tie the dinged thing to a tree if it did not stop trying to run off and leave him. He is stirring up some "conceptions" among the farmers on his route. One farmer took to the woods, and his wife run in the barn, but she emerged in time to tell Amick that if her husband was not back by noon, she would have her gun for him the next morning, and uncle Sam might have to make a hurry call for one of his supplies. Amick's automobile is putting ginger in everything on his route, horses and mules go over the fence in haste, that never went that way before. There is a wild time on Rfd 4 Mebane.—Mebane Leader.

State Farmers' Union—Second Day

SALISBURY, July 27.—The second day of the state meeting of the Farmers' union, which convened in Salisbury, was given over to routine business and the meeting adjourned tonight. The endorsement of the farm life school system, the matter of adopting a charter, and an address by National President, C. S. Barrett, of Union City, Ga., were features of the day. Tonight I. O. Schaub, president of North Carolina Boys' Corn club, addressed a large audience of farmers. The teaching of the elementaries of agriculture in the public schools was advocated in an address by P. E. Shaw, of Duplin county. President Hill, of the A. and M. college, at Raleigh, addressed the convention today in the interest of the State Farmers' Institute to be held in Raleigh July 29.

The place for the next annual meeting will be chosen at a meeting of the state organization to be held in December of this year.

May Disfranchise Its Author.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Fixing good character as a requisite for qualification to vote, and determining "good character" by the test of the respect of good womanhood, a bill was submitted to the Constitutional Amendments Committee of the general assembly today, by which, it is said, it will be favorably reported.

The bill, in part, reads: "No person shall, however, be entitled to register in this state who is not declared to be of good character, including such character as that they may be trusted by a modest, chaste and virtuous female, with a feeling of security to her person, when not attended by an adequate protector in the dark or in other places of seclusion."

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Inlet Inn, Beaufort, N. C., in this issue. August and September are the best months for fishing, and trout, mackerel and blue fish are caught there in abundance. The Inlet Inn will give special rates to fishing parties.

TODAY'S EVENTS IN NATIONAL CAPITOL

DR. WILEY TO BE A WITNESS.

Senator Kern Declares There is Too Many Senate Committees.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Thomas McGuire, of the McGuire and White detective agency, Chicago, was cross examined by Judge Haney before the Lorimer investigating committee today in an investigating committee today. He said he was employed by the states attorney to investigate the Charles A. White confession and not by the Chicago Tribune.

Senator Kern lectured in the senate today on the desirability of economy when the resolution for messengers for the senate committees was reported by Senator Bristow. Kern declared that there were too many useless senate committees now, and they ought to be abolished.

The wool bill reported from the senate to house. Representative Underwood spoke first on the cotton bill and declared it a good bill, which ought to pass.

President Taft will not announce the Wiley decision for several days. The cabinet considered both the Haiti and Wiley cases. Minister Furness cabled that the Haiti situation was desperate.

Alfred C. McCordice, Chicago, attorney, confessed before the Lorimer committee Edward Hines' conversation about "putting Lorimer over."

The congressional committee investigating charges against Dr. Wiley heard the testimony of Zappone, chief counting chief of the agricultural department, who testified that the expenses of the Remsen board were $175,000 for four years. Dr. Wiley will soon be heard as a witness against the Remsen board, as that case is to be taken up before Wiley's decision is announced.

Ensign Young Found.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 26.—Ensign Robert S. Young, Jr., of Concord, N. C., who disappeared from his ship, the Torpedo Boat Destroyer Perkins, in New York, recently, arrived at Morganton on a midnight train Tuesday night, accompanied by his father, Dr. Young. He was immediately taken to Broad Oaks Sanitarium. The arrival was very carefully planned and news of Young's presence did not become known generally until this afternoon. He appeared to be in perfect health, but beyond the statement that he would remain at the institution long enough to have a complete rest no information was given out. It is said that the missing ensign was discovered by his father in New York several days ago, and had been kept quietly in a hotel there until arrangements could be made to take him to Morganton.

Georgia's First Bale.

MCRAE, Ga.—The first bale of the 1911 cotton crop to be marketed was brought here Tuesday by E. J. Smith, of this county. It weighed an even 500 pounds, was bought for 25 cents a pound by T. W. Booth.

Various Offers, But No Ball.

It is said that Beulah Benford, the girl in the Beattie murder case is receiving voluminous mail and telegraph communications from all directions offering her everything from marriage to big salaries. No one has offered the $1,000 ball required to procure her liberation, however.

Mr. C. W. Tillett, of Charlotte, spent Wednesday in Raleigh. While there Mr. Tillett said that he would not be a candidate for Governor in 1912.

Tobacco Barn Burned.

A barn filled with tobacco on the farm of Elder H. B. Tucker was burned yesterday evening. The fire originated on the inside and all was a total loss.

Revolt Spreading.

CAPE HAYTIEN, July 28.—Insurgents have seized the custom house at Zackmet. All Southern Hayti is in revolt.

Cholera at Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 28.—Nine are dead here from cholera.

COMPLIMENTARY DANCE

To Be Given Confederate Veterans at The Re-union.

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, July 28.—The Power Company has on tapis for next Wednesday evening a Souvenir dance, which will be given at Lumina, complimentary to the Confederate veterans who will be in Wilmington at that time for the re-union, and this event promises to be one of the most elaborate and attractive of the kind ever given here. The pavilion will be handsomely and appropriately decorated for the occasion, the decorations being under the personal direction of Mr. F. E. W. Walker.

The attractions at the beach are many and varied, but no form of amusement has more devotees than the popular fishing parties which take place daily.

Girl Shot by Cartridge in Fire.

Myrtle Faye, the little 5-year-old daughter of Mr. William Walters, was shot and badly wounded by the explosion of a gun shell in a fire. The accident occurred at the home near town, and by the merest fraction of an inch change in the direction of the load the child's life would have been lost. The children had swept up a pile of trash in the yard and were burning it. The shell was either in the trash or in a pair of old overalls that some men who had been working in the well had left and which the children threw on the fire along with the other trash. The fire had been burning some time when the explosion occurred. The shot, which were small ones, probably No. 8's, took effect in the thighs, and three of them took effect in the side and one hit near the eye. But the bulk of the load went in the thighs and it is estimated that some three hundred must have gone in.—Monroe Journal.

Secretary Wilson Violated Law

WASHINGTON.—The action of the department of agriculture in issuing a prediction as to the size of the cotton crop of this fall was a violation of law and has resulted in lowering the price in the cotton market, said Senator Smith, of South Carolina, in a speech in the senate.

Secretary Wilson admitted that this contention was right, Senator Smith told the senate, and promised that the matter complained of would not occur again. The South Carolinian was considerably wrought up over the matter, and had prepared a joint resolution to be introduced in congress if his interview with the Secretary of Agriculture had not resulted satisfactorily.

Crops In Hyde.

Mr. J. C. Burrus, of Fairfield, Hyde county, who was in Raleigh yesterday, says that the crops in Hyde county as a general thing, are very good, some of them being injured in parts of the county by reason of the recent drought. It is a rare thing for Hyde county farms to be hurt by little rain; they generally suffer from too much rain. Indeed, until last year they had not had a decent crop in three or four years because of an excess of rain.

Mr. Burrus says that the Mattamuskeet Lake is lower than for ten years and that no water has run into the canal in a month.—News and Observer.

Illustrations Sent by Wireless.

An English process for sending illustrations by wireless has at the transmitting station a metal cylinder on which the picture is drawn in insulating ink. Contracts crossing the uncovered portions operate a relay, causing electric waves to be sent out from one aerial to the distant one. A detector is connected to the second aerial. The current received acts upon a wire stretched between two magnets, slightly deflecting it and opening a small shutter, permitting a ray of light to fall on a selenium cell. Through a relay this causes a metal point to mark on a chemical recording drum, thus reproducing the drawing.

Greenville, 5; Ayden, 1.

After a ten days' lay off, the Greenville team again assembled yesterday and, bedecked in their garb of green, they boarded the Coast Line train and proceeded to lay seige to the camp of the hostile Aydenites. When the Umps yelled, "play ball," a brave, large in stature, but larger in reputation, stalked onto the field of battle and proceeded to use his flinging arm. His name was Griffin, "Mighty Phil" Griffin, whose trusty right arm last year won game after game for the Rocky Mount League, but his weight has departed from him. Like Sampson, he had been strong, and with his locks departed his former greatness. The Greenville sluggers, who care nothing for a reputation, sized him up in the first inning, and thereafter proceeded to lambast his offerings to the four courses of the lot, for a total of fourteen hits and five runs.

"Buck" Darden, the lanky lurker from Scotland Neck, was on the firing line for the locals, and before him the Ayden players were as chaff before a whirlwind. Only three hits were registered off his delivery, and he deserved a shut-out victory.

The reports of an excellent corn crop in all parts of the state sounds good.

They are not moving your cousin Hoke Smith any faster than he wants to move.

There are plenty of men who do not act on the advice they give to others.

"Trust busting" talk is merely for catching the ear of people and getting votes.

They will not get wool enough out of the senatorial shearing to make anybody a shirt.

The Lorimer investigation seems to be as long winded as the reciprocity bill.

President Taft steps up like a man and shoulders the responsibility for opening that land reserve in Alaska.

An old saying is "all things come to him who waits," but business men do not get much trade that way.

Whenever they want to cast a doubt on the other fellow's statement, they bring some accusation against him.

They are investigating so many things in Washington that now there is a resolution to investigate the Sherman law itself.

It is a war of words so far, and you can believe one side or the other according to your willingness to take their word for it.

Beulah Binford is rather a good sounding name to be hung to a bad woman. But the saying goes "there is nothing in a name."

Morehead City could not stand for that story of a water spout being seen off Wrightsville Beach, and comes up with five water spouts, all in one afternoon.

There is no more delightful traveling in modern times than by water, especially if it be on such elegant floating palaces as the Chesapeake Line operates between Norfolk and Baltimore.

A King Who Left Home.

Set the world talking, but Paul Mathulka, of Buffalo, N. Y., says he always keeps at home the king of laxatives—Dr. King's New Life Pills—and that they're a blessing to all his family. Cure constipation, headache, indigestion, dyspepsia. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

If some men are opposed to Governor Kitchin because they failed to get a desired appointment to office, how about those who favor him for no other reason than that he did give them an office.

The ordinance passed by the board of aldermen of Greenville, and which goes into effect August 1st, that dogs on the street unless muzzled or tied are a nuisance, is something of which canine owners should take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

The Raleigh News and Observer says "no man will pay more tax with higher assessment and lower tax rate." That much is true, and no one could complain if such a condition existed. But the trouble is that the lowering of rate has not kept pace with the increase of assessment.

The one hundred page Interurban Edition which the Charlotte Observer sent out on the 26th, is one of the finest that has come from any North Carolina paper. It gives a complete sketch with many illustrations, of the towns reached by the Southern Power Company, from Greenwood, S. C., to Durham, N. C., a distance of 300 miles with Charlotte about the centre. It brings the development of the Piedmont section to the attention of the public in a way that is interesting and convincing.

The coast resorts on the western coast have a different way of advertising from some of the stories written about resorts over here on the Atlantic. For instance, The Greensboro Record is telling that women went bathing at Seattle as naked as the day they came into the world. The Record ought not to have printed that down here in North Carolina, for if Cowan, of the Wilmington Dispatch, sees it there is danger of Wrightsville losing him. We would not be surprised to read that he had packed his bathing suit and gone West.

Charlotte Facing Water Famine

Mr. E. W. Thompson, district manager of the Southern Cotton Oil Company and a member of the city board of aldermen from the Dilworth ward, states that if the water situation in the city grows worse and a real famine ensues his company will be glad to loan to the city 50 huge tank cars for the purpose of hauling water from the Catawba river. These 50 tanks would contain something like 400,000 gallons of water and by running trains so as to make two trips a day a sufficient supply of water could be secured if the users of water would economize closely.—Charlotte Chronicle.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong And Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

T. R. Moore 918 Evans street, Greenville, N. C., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I have used them with the greatest benefit. I was troubled by a lameness in my back and my kidneys did not do their work as they should. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from the John L. Wooten Drug Co. and I had not used them long before I received relief. I can say that this remedy acts just as represented."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Observer's Snake.

There are some things past comprehension in this world; in fact, man of them.

In the office of the Charlotte Observer is kept a pet blacksnake; he is said to be about five feet in length, tame and very affectionate. In fact he has "made up" with every one about the office except John Ross, the business manager, and Wade Harris, the Chronicle editor; they will have nothing to do with him. Information comes that when the presence of the snake was known, Wade moved his office to the top floor of the building, where the door is kept locked. John, however, was unable to vamoose. His business keeps him on the ground floor.

The other night when everything was comparatively still, John said he heard a noise; it was peculiar—a kind of "squeak! squeak!" and it was kept up until it got on John's nerves. Weak and trembling, he got up to investigate, when he saw the snake with a big rat in his mouth and he was swallowing him "tail-end first;" at every swallow his rattle yelled, but the snake held on very deliberately with the swallowing act until the rat had disappeared.

It is claimed that the boys in the press room in the basement found the snake some time ago and treated him so nicely that he soon became tame. The idea of keeping him originated with one of the boys who was reared on a farm where a black snake around a barn for the extermination of rats is highly prized. Little by little the snake is cleaning the place of rats. His den is in a hole in the wall, a place especially provided for him.

With this pet roaming at large in the office there is a mighty good excuse for keeping "snake bite" handy, for no one knows what minute it may be needed. Still, ten to one should it be needed the supply may be short, for when it is handy the boys will "hit it."—Greensboro Record.

Army Discipline.

Army life for the private is to be made more attractive by the abolition of a number of rules and restrictions of which much complaint has been made in the past. The Omaha Bee says:

"Uncle Sam does well to strike out of the code of rules governing the life of private soldiers those unreasonable penalties for minor offenses that have been the bane of the soldier and the reflection upon the Army for so long. At once it tends to elevate the standard of the military by inviting many worthy, energetic young fellows into the Army who have heretofore shunned it. The civilian has never been quite able to understand why the most trivial and inconsequential infractions of rules had to be met with a penalty, which in civil life would more nearly fit a felony. And President Taft, catching the civilian's view when he was secretary of war, has worked along the line of sharp changes in this system, until now, with the aid of General Wood, he has brought them about."

The general amelioration of the soldier's life and lot will be the first result. The marked improvement in the personnel and efficiency of the Army should be next. Hundreds of desertions have been due to this medieval system of discipline, and of late years, with so many opportunities in other lines of activity, the Army has had no easy-time keeping well manned. It has found it necessary to adopt business methods of advertising and competition to get the right sort of soldiers. It has been brought to see that it could not maintain its ranks with worthy material, unless it did better by them."—Ledger-Dispatch.

Money may not bring happiness to a man, but it gives him the equipment to go exploring for it.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. Its the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A BANK ACCOUNT IS A BEACON LIGHT 'T' WILL GUIDE YOU THROUGH FINANCIAL STORMS

In the year 1626 Peter Minuit bought the whole island on which New York City—now worth four thousand million dollars is built. He paid $24 for the island. Had he put out that $24 at 4 per cent. compound interest in 1626 it would now amount to as much as the present value of New York City.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Our Presidents.

Washington first—he arranged the finance;
Then came John Adams, who quarreled with France.
Thomas Jefferson third—Louisiana he bought;
Fourth Madison, under whom England was fought.
James Monroe gave the Doctrine and let in Missouri.
Then Adams, whose tariff aroused men to fury.
Jackson seventh, refused to the bank a new charter
And made poor Van Buren to panic a martyr.
William Harrison died and by Tyler was followed.
Under Polk all the troops in a bloody war wallowed.
Taylor eleventh, had trouble with slavery,
And Fillmore put through the Clay compromise bravely.
Then Pierce struggled through the Nebraska division.
And Buchanan was in for the Dred Scott decision.
Great Lincoln was wise in a time of depression,
When Southern States fought for the right of secession.
Andrew Johnson came next, was impeached and acquitted.
Ulysses S. Grant for two terms seemed fitted.
Hayes followed, then Garfield, whom Arthur succeeded,
Then Cleveland, who congress by veto impeded.
Harrison's term gave the tariff a send-up,
And Cleveland again held the Democrats' end up.
McKinley waged war with the poor Spanish nation,
And Roosevelt came and upheld arbitration.
William Taft has the chair until 1913,
And who will follow remains to be seen.—Life.

"Guard Thon My Lips."

A safe rule for us all is to extract the sting out of what we say or write before we say or send it. It is too late to take the sting out after it has gone into the object at which it is aimed. We are going to have a warm time in North Carolina from now on until next summer. Men will be tempted to say hot and hurtful things about their fellows that they will regret. It will be a pity if the campaign will develop into a bitter and personal struggle. Such a situation would be deplorable for many reasons. It would retard our church work and hinder every high and holy cause. It would estrange neighbor from neighbor and friend from friend. In the very beginning is the time for us to bridle ourselves. Having taken the plunge, it will be hard to resist the tide. The better plan will be not to plunge. There is enough for us to talk and think about without making ourselves rank partisans for any man or party. Our religious activities and influence should never be overwhelmed by our political alignments. Politics is always demoralizing and the partisan spirit is contrary to the Christian spirit. We know what some of you are saying: "Physician, heal thy self." Well, alright. Watch the physician. He is going to take a dose of his own medicine and offers this prescription to all his friends without money and without price.—Charity and Children.

Daughter's Devotion

About "Sis" Weathers, an aged colored woman of Statesville, died Friday night and was buried Saturday. "Aunt Sis" as she was known, was 83 years old, her friends say. For 18 months she was an invalid and the colored people say that during the 18 months she was not in bed an hour until a day or so before her death, but was confined to her chair day and night. During all that time she was waited on and cared for by her daughter, Isabella Morrison. The latter's friends say that the daughter did her regular work during the day and sat by her mother's chair at night. This is an instance of filial devotion that is worthy of praise.—Statesville Landmark.

Some Pigs.

Mr. E. Robinson tells of the birth of remarkable pigs in his neighborhood. The pigs were two in number and each had four ears, four eyes and eight legs and they had grown together like Siamese twins. The pigs are now dead.—Kinston Free Press.

Pick Ups and Hand-me-Downs.

Red Men meet tonight. Welcome to the Kinstonians today, but let's take the game from them. Some good watermelons get on the market, but too many unripe and sorry ones are put on sale. Farmers are busy in tobacco curing now. There are mosquitoes, too.

What Caesar Did.

When Caesar took a westward ride and grabbed the Gauls for Rome, what was the thing that he did to make them feel at home? Did he increase the people's loads and liberty for bid? No, he dug in and built good roads—that's what old Caesar did.

Did Caesar put the iron heel upon the foreman's breast, or did he try to make them feel the Roman rule was best? What did he do to make them glad he'd come their midst amid? He built good roads in place of bad—that's what old Caesar did.

He built good roads from hill to hill, good roads from vale to vale; he ran a good roads movement till old Rome got all the kale. He told the folks to buy at home, built roads their hills amid, until all roads led up to Rome—that's what old Caesar did.

If any town would make the town the center of the map, where folks will come and settle down and live in plenty's lap, if any town its own abodes of poverty would rid, let it get out and build good roads—just like old Caesar did.—American Lumberman.

Moore's Creek Celebration.

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 28.—In connection with the annual celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Moore's Creek Bridge, commemorating the first signal victory of the Continental troops in the American Revolution, near Currie, N. C., yesterday, there was unveiled a monument with appropriate inscription to mark the old Wilmington and Fayetteville stage road, the route taken by the British and Troy army from Cross Creek, to join Lord Cornwallis and Clinton, February 27, 1776. Walter P. Stacy, Esq., of the Wilmington bar, delivered the historical address and there was a large concourse of people from half a dozen Eastern Carolina counties.

Investigating Steel Trust.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The investigation of the merger of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company with the United States Steel Corporation was made the first matter of inquiry before the congressional committee today. C. Hanna, independent ore dealer, was the first witness.

Cholera in Yucatan.

MERIDA, July 28.—Cholera has broken out here.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs, cuts, corns bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c. at all druggists.

Notice.

We wish to announce that our land is posted and to warn people not to hunt on it. We have stock in the grounds and have had several cattle shot, supposed to have been shot by stray bullets fired by people shooting at marks. Unless this shooting on our property is stopped, we shall have to indict all persons we can catch on it carrying or using fire arms.

PARADISE OF PANDHANDLERS.

Eight Thousand Beggars Pick up $40,000 A Day in New York.

New York is the beggar's paradise. In that great hive of the old rich, the new rich, and the get-rich-quick he cannot go wrong. If he cares to work steadily and industriously at his graft (old gypsy cant word for trade or craft), he can easily "earn" $3 or $6 a day. If he is "sloughful"—arrested—for begging, he is merely transported to a pretty, greenswarded island, swept by harbor breezes, where he sleeps in Father Kinckerbocker's bed for five or ten nights and lives like a fighting cock on three good meals a day. Thence he emerges refreshed and resumes his graft. Easy? Too easy. It's really a shame to take the money. The work is play; the sort of theatrical play we all instinctively love; to twist the face into a tragic mask, to enact the part of a long-suffering victim of ill-luck, to start this victim's heartstrings all-aflutter with sympathy—and then to accept the victim's money with the air of a proud and patient martyr. 'Tis rare sport indeed.

Not one word of this wrong is about the deserving poor. God forbid. But one does not find the deserving poor posing in the street for alms. They hide their want and sorrow; they starve in secret; their tragedy becomes known only when the coroner reports—unless by rare chance some tireless seeker has discovered the case through search in a poor neighborhood. Indeed, the curious thing is that of the army of 7,000 or 8,000 street beggars who pick up $30,000 or $40,000 a day in the metropolis, the vast majority have drifted in from distant states. The estimate of the number of these panhandlers is by James Forbes, secretary of the National Association for the Prevention of Mendicancy. He knows. He has studied these beggars for years, not with the cold curiosity of the scientist, but with a lively human sympathy and understanding. And here's a miracle—he has actually persuaded some of the gentry to go to work, at which they can earn far less than they could make at the graft. So much can wisdom and kindness do in arousing the sense of self-respect long dormant, or perhaps never before felt, in these people of the pavement. But the few who have turned to genuine labor are but a corporal's squad as compared with the grand army still grafting.—(William Inglis, in Harper's Weekly.)

Death to "Knockers."

Seattle, Washington state, is one of the boom towns of the Far West. In 1900 it had a population of 80,671; in 1910, its population was 237,194, a gain of 156,523 in ten years, or 194 per cent. This enormous gain was made in the face of many obstacles, notably among them being people of Seattle who are described as "knockers," and who have stood in the way of progress there as they stand in all communities that are cursed by their presence.

Last week the workers for Seattle determined that they would call attention to the knockers, and held a celebration at which an enormous hammer was burned in one of the most public places in the town. The hammer weighed six hundred pounds, and the ceremony of burning it was attended by a remarkable demonstration. There was a procession, headed by a band of music, through the principal business streets, in which past and present city officers and prominent citizens took part, and when the hammer reached the stake, so to speak, there were thirty thousand men, women and children there to rejoice at the spectacle, and they sang and cheered and danced till broad daylight.

One of the Boston newspapers says that the demonstration will cause the knockers to be scarce in Seattle hereafter. The knockers are, however, very hard to choke off; we should say that they are the nut-grass of all civilized communities, hard to kill, of no use to anybody, and are sent, we suppose, for the good purpose of keeping their useful neighbors up to the fighting point when it comes to the place in which they live and work.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.
