

FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE DEMONSTRATION WORK

ABOUT WINTER COVER CROPS. State Agent Hudson Offers Timely Suggestions on These.

A winter cover crop is one of the most important factors in southern farming, especially hill farming. A system of poor farming has so greatly exhausted the humps in the majority of the fields as to make it well nigh impossible to prevent their further depletion by the heavy rains of winter and early spring, which carry off much of the valuable elements left, onto the bottoms, and into the streams. Nature, always resourceful, has furnished certain plants which may be used to restore the depleted soils. These winter cover crops will hold our loose soils in place, and where sufficient growth is obtained, can be turned under to add humus to the soil. The sand hills and other loose soils can largely be prevented from leaching if heavy cover crops are turned under for a few years. The statement may be verified by taking new land where the plant roots and vegetable mold are still in it, or the same may be found in sod land where run to pasture for a series of years and brought back into cultivation. No washing occurs here after the heaviest rains. A good cover crop will not only prevent washing and add humus to the soil, but if clovers or vetches are used there will be nitrogen collected from the air and stored in the soil during winter, as peas and beans do in summer. The plants most suitable for cover crops are rye, vetch, crimson and bur clover. Conditions, of course, must determine which to use.

Rye.

Rye is one of the old standard winter cover crops and has been used very extensively in some sections. It has the advantage in that it is generally known, is easily planted, will grow almost at any season, will grow on the poorest soils, seed are usually cheap, and it does not require extra care in the way of inoculation as is the case with the legumes. It can be sown in the middles of the corn or cotton at last cultivation or if not convenient to sow at this time it can be done a little later in the fall. When sown early it gives a better cover for the soil and also some good grazing for the stock. Where practicable, however, as would be on the corn land, it is better to turn under stalks and other growth and plant rye on good seed bed. It is also a good plan where the soil will grow it, to mix vetch with the rye, about one bushel of rye to one-fourth bushel of vetch, using a bushel of the mixture per acre. It is better to drill seed, especially where planted in middles of corn or cotton. It is claimed that the variety known as Abruzzes, which was imported by the Agricultural Department, is best suited to South Carolina and adjacent states. There are other good native varieties which can be had at a fair price.

Oats.

Oats may be used instead of rye in many instances, and the same general rule for preparation, planting, and after treatment, may be followed as for rye. One-half to two and one-half bushels of seed should be used per acre when planted alone; one-half bushels and one-fourth bushel of the vetch when combined. Rust-proof oat seed gives the best results in nearly every part of the South. Unless the lands are fairly good, it will be necessary to fertilize the rye and oat crop to get sufficient growth for the most valuable cover crop. Stable manure applied broadcast at time of planting is good for this, or the following per acre. Acid phosphate 150 pounds; cotton seed meal 150 pounds; and muriate of potash 30 pounds, thoroughly mixed and applied at time of planting.

Clovers and Vetch.

Until lands become more fertile and adapted to these crops, the best satisfaction with them can be obtained only by making a good preparation and by giving some special care in seeding and inoculating the soil.

Preparation.

Turn a few inches deeper than it has been previously plowed. If there is no rain, after this, before time of planting, a roller should be run to firm the seed bed. These crops can be sown in both corn and cotton middles where clean by scattering seed broadcast and running sweep or cultivator lightly to cover. Entire success, however, need not be looked for by this method of seeding, though some splendid results were reported from it

PEOPLE WHO INVENT.

Uncle Sam Has Granted 1,000,000 Patents.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.—One hundred and twenty-one years ago today the United States granted its first patent. One week from tomorrow the Patent office expects to issue Patent No. 1,000,000. The one millionth patent will be granted to a Mr. Hiron of Cleveland, Ohio and will cover a new rubber tire with special features designed primarily for use on motor cars.

To Samuel Hopkins, of Vermont, belongs the honor of having received the first patent. This was granted July 31, 1790, and was for a device for making pot and pearl ashes, which are the matter remaining after evaporation when vegetable matter is refined in a crucible, the extractive substance being burned off and dissipated.

The patent issued to Mr. Hopkins, however, was not patent No. 1 so far as the records go, for several thousands of patents were issued by the government before it began numbering them. John Ruggles took out patent No. 1 for a steam engine designed to run on an inclined plane. The date of this patent was July 28, 1836. This was forty-six years after the first patent issued to Mr. Hopkins and in the meantime nearly 10,000 others had been granted by the young government.

last season. The corn lands can be put in fine condition by using a cut-away or disc harrow to cut stalks and turn top soil. Sow seed and cover with tooth harrow.

Fertilizers.

The clovers and vetch will need fertilizers to get satisfactory early growth. For this purpose stable manure stands first as it not only adds fertility but carries the bacterial inoculation so essential on soils first planted to these crops. An application at time of sowing of 300 pounds 16 per cent acid, 25 pounds muriate potash, and 75 pounds cotton seed meal or dried blood per acre will be good. The addition of the small amount of nitrogenous fertilizer will aid in giving the young plants a vigorous start. When there happens to be any acidity of the soil, air-slacked lime at the rate of 1,000 pounds, per acre, should be applied at time of preparation.

Time for Sowing

The best time for sowing crimson or bur clover is just as early in the fall as danger of summer killing of young plants is past—not later than September first. Vetch can be sown much later, though the earlier planting does better.

Amount of Seed.

About 20 pounds of crimson clover seed per acre should be used; 30 pounds bur clover in bur, or 15 pounds cleaned seed; 15 pounds vetch seed when sown with 1 bushel oats which plan is always best if the soil is good enough to allow it, 30 pounds is sown alone. Bur clover will be found to grow better as a rule from the seed planted without hulling. The inoculating germ appears to be carried with the bur. All clover seed should be covered lightly; use roller if the soil is dry at planting time.

Inoculation.

To get a satisfactory crop of crimson clover, bur clover, or vetch the first year, the soil must be inoculated. Stable manure apparently does this in some localities but the safest plan is to procure soil from a few inches below the surface, where the bacteria are more numerous, from a field which has already grown the crop, scattering broadcast over the newly planted acre. Two or three bushels per acre will answer, while more would be better.

The United States Department of Agriculture will furnish inoculating material free for any of these crops, to any who make application, full instructions as to the use being sent. It is recommended that those desiring this material shall send direct to the department for it, rather than pay fancy prices to some of the firms making extravagant claims for the same material. Application must be on regular forms, which you can obtain either from Dr. Knapp at Washington, or from my office.

OUR WEEKLY LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

THE PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE.

Republican Administration Afraid of Light Being Turned On.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Another step toward carrying out campaign pledges was taken by the majority of the house of representatives when it adopted a cotton schedule which greatly reduces the tax on all kinds of cotton goods.

If the Republican senate and President Taft will permit the bill to become a law, the public will be assured of substantial reductions in prices. The bill is so framed as to be a particular boon to the poor, for the greatest reductions are made on cottons used by the middle classes and the poor. This feature of the Democratic bill is in particularly striking contrast to the Payne-Aldrich law, which levies the lowest rates on the grades of cottons used by the wealthy and the highest tax on the cottons used by the poor.

Democrats Oppose Taft Censorship.

An important measure pending before congress is House Resolution No. 5970, introduced by Congressman James T. Lloyd, of Missouri. The measure is aimed particularly at the action of the Taft administration in prohibiting postal employees from organizing, and the still more remarkable Taft policy of denying civil service employees the right to petition congress, or even to give members of congress information until it has first been censored by their superiors.

The constitution guarantees to every citizen of the United States the right to petition congress.

The Lloyd resolution occupies the novel role, therefore, of having for its purpose the restoration to government employees of rights they are entitled to under the constitution, but which rights have been taken away from them by the president in his desperate effort to prevent a further leakage of information injurious to the Republican party such as occurred in the Ballinger case.

Dr. Wiley's Goat.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, storm petrel between food dopers and the Taft administration, has been a militant government chemist for 28 years. Packers of embalmed beef are arrayed against him because of his fight against the use of benzoate of soda. Benzoate increases the profits of embalmed beef packers because it will "restore" and preserve meats that have become putrescent. The cost of manufacture of bologna and sausage may be materially reduced by using water and cereals. Water costs nothing and cereal is cheaper than meat. The result is a cheapening of the product and a lowering of the food value. But when water and cereal is used the meat begins to sour. It is to prevent his souring process that the benzoate of soda may be used. Chemists declare benzoate is of no earthly use to the manufacturer who puts pure food upon the market.

Dr. Wiley also fought the bleached flour interests to the last ditch. He exposed the injurious colorings used in candies sold to children. He stubbornly opposed the use of sulphur as a fruit preservative. He secured the removal of the tax on denatured alcohol. He exposed frauds without number in patent medicines. It was Wiley who started the war on the use of narcotics and other poisons in soda fountain drinks. And he stubbornly fought the whiskey trust until he was at last overruled by President Taft.

These facts tell better than a long article could why it is up to the food dopers to get Wiley's goat. Also why it is up to the people to see that they don't get it!

Philippine Independence Looms Ahead.

Speaker Champ Clark believes that the United States should grant independence to the Philippines, "both for their good and our own." Furthermore, Mr. Clark advocates early action on the subject. This is in contrast to the attitude of President Taft, who takes the position the Philippines should not be given independence "within the time of the present generation," which the Philippines interpret a meaning never.

Here is what Speaker Clark recently wrote to a friend on the subject: "The Philippines should be given their independence guaranteed by the United States and such other powers as are willing to join us. If no other

PRAYER LEAGUE NOT LACKING INTEREST

ATTENDANCE CONTINUES GOOD.

Interesting Subjects Discussed At Every Meeting.

"Faithfulness" was the subject at the meeting of the Men's Prayer League held in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. Splendid talks were made by Messrs. B. S. Warren, A. B. Ellington and F. C. Harding, bringing out examples of great faithfulness and showing that "without faith it is impossible to please God." The change of successive ages until the present reign of commercialism, makes it important that those who would see the world saved must be steadfast in their faith and not swept off their feet by this trend of the commercial spirit. The departure from keeping the Sabbath holy and the decadence of family worship were two of the retrograding steps of this age. The few who are faithful must preserve Christianity.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4:30 the meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church. The subject then will be "Reward of Well Doing." Text, Galatians 6:9. Leaders, Messrs. Ernest Baker, J. L. Little and L. P. Wayne.

The attendance has kept up remarkably for the warm weather and the meetings are not lacking in interest. Herein many are showing their faithfulness.

SUBSCRIPTION MUST BE PAID.

Acceptance of a Newspaper Creates a Liability.

The courts have held that the act of a person in taking a newspaper from the postoffice makes the recipient liable for the bill. A recent decision is a case in point. A Butler, Mo., publisher sent his paper to one Charles Burge, who paid for it twice and then refused to pay for it again, claiming he had ordered the paper stopped. But the court of appeals holds that mere acceptance of the paper created a liability. It adds: "The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor as well as an outlay of money. One who accepts the paper by continuously taking it from the post office receives a benefit and pleasure arising from labor and expenditure as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor, and by such act he must be held liable for the subscription price."

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 31.—With the city gaily decorated and thronged with visitors, Colorado Springs today entered upon a week of gaiety in celebration of her fortieth anniversary. Mississippi Valley Spiritualists.

CLONTON, Ia., July 29.—Everything is in readiness for the twenty-ninth annual camp-meeting of the Mississippi Valley Spiritualists' Association, which will open at Mount Pleasant park tomorrow and continue until the end of August. My friend Judge Cline, of Indiana, has introduced a bill providing for their independence. I think we will pass it next winter, and then it will be up to the senate and the president."

Why Not a Roosevelt Investigation?

During the present auditing by the Democratic house of the Republican administrations for the last decade, it wouldn't be out of place to look into the Roosevelt-Harriman episode. The late railroad king raised $200,000 at Roosevelt's request to save New York for the Republicans in the Roosevelt Parker campaign.

NEGRO HIDING UNDER BED,

Discovered by Young Lady and Frightened Away.

Considerable excitement was occasioned in West Greenville, about 10 o'clock Sunday night, by the discovery of a negro hid under the bed in the room of a young lady. The family at whose home the incident occurred spent some time after supper on the front porch, and about 9:30 went in to retire. The young lady went up stairs to her room, exchanged her dress for a wrapper and began writing a letter. Soon she detected an unusual odor in the room that was so pronounced she began an investigation. Looking under the bed she saw a negro crouched there.

The young lady ran out into the hall, closing the door after her and screamed. Her father hurried up stairs to her assistance, but before he reached the room the negro had rushed through a window, jumped off the front porch and made his escape. Foot prints where the negro struck the ground and ran off showed that he was barefooted. The tracks were followed to the railroad where the trail was lost.

GAIETY THEATRE.

Showing A Refined Class of Pictures Every Night.

The Gaiety Theatre continues to draw large crowds every evening, owing to the excellent class of pictures they continue to exhibit.

Every night standing room is very scarce and each and every one eager to witness the evening's program. It appears that it is the managers' intention to cater to the small ones as well as the older ones, owing to the large crowds of children attending that has not been heretofore.

No parent makes a mistake in letting their children witness a class of pictures that we have now, as they are very instructive, clean and entertaining. These gentlemen deserve lots of credit for the manner in which they conduct their business and we hope it will only be a short time before they are in their new quarters, as the pictures carry with them refinement of every nature, and a place that should be well patronized.

Germany to Have a Gibraltar.

BERLIN, July 31.—What is regarded as one of the most important steps yet taken toward strengthening German sea powers will be accomplished tomorrow when the entire Island of Heligoland, which commands the entrances to the great ports of Hamburg and Bremen, will be taken over by the military authorities and converted into an independent fortress rivaling Gibraltar in completeness of defense. It will be manned by a separate force of troops and officers and will be constantly equipped with a supply of ammunition for all emergencies.

Hearing on Coal Trimming.

BOSTON, Mass., July 31.—Commissioner McChod of the Interstate Commerce Commission held a hearing in Boston today on the complaint of the New England Coal and Coke Company against the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. The New England company complains that the railroad is charging for trimming coal in barges at Norfolk and other points and claims that the charge is no longer justified as the trimming or leveling is done without extra expense since machines supplanted manual labor in the work.

In Memory of King Humbert.

ROME, July 29.—In connection with the celebrations of the semi-centennial of Italian independence an imposing pilgrimage of delegates from patriotic societies throughout the kingdom made its way to the Pantheon today and deposited a wealth of floral offerings at the tomb of Humbert I, this being the eleventh anniversary of the assassination of the king by the anarchist Bresci at Monza.

And Briefly Told For The Reflector's Busy Readers.

The Washington newspaper correspondents have inaugurated a presidential boom for Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, the Democratic leader in the house of representatives.

Railroad property in the state of North Carolina, according to the assessment of the corporation commission, is worth the grand total of $115,229,685.20; an increase over the valuation of the same property last year of $28,449,569.20.

Durham.—The 4-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Wright, of West Durham, died as a result of drinking carboic acid. The child called for Castoria and the mother directed her to the mantle, where the mistake was made.

Concord.—As the result of a boiler explosion at the sawmill of Mr. Geo. P. Blackwelder in No. 7 township, Miss Tina Blackwelder is dead and her father and brother, Martin, and sister, Lenora, are badly injured. The girls were assisting Mr. Blackwelder in removing some slabs from the mill, when, without warning, the boiler burst, all four being badly scalded and also injured by flying pieces of timber and machinery.

President Taft was invited by a delegation representing the County Fair Association at Winston-Salem to be present at the fair this fall and deliver an address. After expressing to Senator Overman, Major Stedman, Mayor Walton and the party of North Carolinians his appreciation of the invitation, the president expressed regret that it would be impossible to accept, as his prior engagements will require his absence in the West through the months of September and October next.

Shelby.—A charge of kidnapping will be instituted against Rev. B. L. Padgett who is under arrest in Atlanta, having been found in a hotel, occupying an adjoining room to that of Miss Carrie Stockton, a pretty young girl of Kings Mountain. Padgett is a Holiness preacher and claims to be the girl's "spiritual adviser." Attorney N. F. McMillan, of this county, is in Atlanta, having been sent here by Mr. A. J. Stockton, father of the girl and a prominent cotton mill superintendent at King's Mountain. There has been bad blood between the Holiness preacher and the Stockton family for some time.

LIQUOR INTERESTS TRYING TO SUBSIDIZE THE COUNTRY PRESS.

The liveliest people in the United States today are the folks back of the liquor business—the liquor interests. They are the hardest folks to down. They are determined that they shall help to run affairs. Sometimes they are defeated but that does not freeze them. They get up and come again. Their recent victory over the prohibition forces in Texas gives them encouragement for the time being. They constantly keep up a campaign of agitation and education. They are wise. Let others learn of them. Just at his time they are trying another scheme of education. It is this: They have arranged with a certain company that furnishes newspaper plates to send out their matter free to all newspapers who will accept it. The Herald has been offered these plates free, not even to have to pay express charges. The plate company says: "Plates of the matter shown in this proof will be sent you free of charge upon the order of Interested Parties." The proofs sent us show matter designed to prove that prohibition is a failure. The object of the liquor interests is to subsidize the weekly papers and get them to carry on their campaign of education and agitation. What will the country press of North Carolina do? We hope that not a single one will use the free plates offered them by the liquor interests through a "certain plate company."—Smithfield Herald.

Some others beside the weekly papers were offered this "free plate" by the liquor interests. It came this way, but went straight to the waste basket after reading only the headlines. Like the Herald, we hope no paper in North Carolina will use the stuff.

VEST PRESENTED TO HENRY CLAY.

Maj. O. R. Smith, of this place, has a library portrait of Henry Clay that he found in the garret of an old house in Robeson county several years ago. It is an oil painting and was made by A. Gilbert, an English artist, in 1845.

The portrait shows that Mr. Clay had on a white silk vest which Mr. Smith says, was made near Henderson. It is learned that Misses Lucilla and Harriet Harris, who lived at Harris' cross roads, about four miles from this place, raised silk from their cocoons, spun it and wove the cloth of which Mr. Clay's vest was made. These young ladies, it is said, rode to Raleigh on horseback and presented the vest to Mr. Clay, who wore it when he made his famous speech in that city in 1844.

Misses Lucilla and Harriet Harris were cousins of Mrs. L. T. Edwards, of this place, who says that a piece of this silk goods is now in the museum at Raleigh and is marked: "Silk spun and woven by Lucilla and Harriet Harris."—Henderson Gold Leaf. Not many weeks ago it was The Reflector man's pleasure to sit for an hour and hear Col. N. H. Hammond, of Bethel, one of Pitt's oldest and most distinguished citizens, relate incidents of the long ago. One of the things he told about with much interest was this visit of Henry Clay to North Carolina in 1844, and the famous speech in Raleigh. Mr. Hammond heard the speech and can yet tell many things said in it. He saw the silk vest presented to Mr. Clay, and described it as one of the most beautiful vests he ever beheld.

A question that ought to be kept alive is enlarging Greenville's opportunity for trade. Nothing will bring the desired result more surely than manufacturing enterprises and interest can center upon these none too quickly. The limit of agricultural trade for the county seat is being constantly narrowed by development in the country districts, and Greenville cannot continue to look to this for its main dependence. It is gratifying that the country is developing and the progress of the town should keep pace with it.

Texas prohibitionists are not disheartened over their recent defeat and have already begun preparations for another campaign next year. They will also call on the state legislature soon to convene in special session, to investigate the large expenditure of money that was used in the campaign to defeat prohibition. If the investigation goes to the bottom it will find that the liquor interests of the country poured out the money for that purpose.

The dissolution of the Canadian parliament stops consideration by that country of the reciprocity question for the time being. A new parliament will be elected in September and when that meets the question will come up again. The campaign will be urged along the line of selecting members favorable to the measure.

If there were manufacturing enterprises to turn loose large Saturday pay rolls in Greenville there would be quite a difference in trade. The business people should be looking at this matter.

If the Charlotte soda fountain proprietors cannot get enough water to wash the glasses the folks are certainly in a bad fix.

The president misses more than he knows in having to decline the invitation to come to North Carolina during fair times.

The reciprocity treaty has only been adopted on one side of the river. Canada is yet to be heard from.

When you size up the Farmers' Union they are apt to be found on the right track.

Cotton is getting low enough in price for the mills to stop complaining.

Charlotte folks can't even ride on the water wagon now.

Charlotte's water navigation is now by rail.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum, and sores multiply and strength and appetite fall. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

Nobody Wanted to Fight.
 "For the most part," we are told, "it was a peaceful gathering"—the Democratic State Convention at Fremont, Nebraska, on Tuesday. A platform was adopted without anything in it to speak of; no new paramount issues were sprung; Mr. Bryan's name was not mentioned; excessive harmony prevailed, and the convention adjourned, leaving things in statu quo. Charles Wooster, of Merrick county, wanted to take a straw ballot as to what candidate for president would be favored by the convention; but he was choked off by parliamentary methods, and the break which had been freely predicted, and which it was hoped would come, was postponed until the National campaign is a little further advanced.

How it happened in this way is explained: The representatives of Mr. Bryan said that they would not insist on his name appearing in the resolutions, if the Hahlman crowd would agree that no other leader should be condemned, and the Hahlman crowd agreed, and that was the end on't. All of which would seem to show that Mr. Bryan is not quite so dead a cock in his own state as some of his enemies have said that he was, and O, Bliss! O, Joy! he may get there yet. It will be time enough to decide what shall be done with Hahlman when we have got what we want.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

This is My Birthday.

Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, the new president of the Baptist World Alliance, was born in Dalesville, Quebec, July 31, 1841. He graduated from the University of Rochester in 1867 and three years later finished a course in the Rochester Theological Seminary. The same year of his entrance into the ministry he was called to the pulpit of the Cavalry Baptist church in New York City and for forty-one years he has continued as pastor of that church. Dr. MacArthur's fame as an eloquent preacher is equalled by his reputation as a writer on religious subjects. He has been a frequent contributor to the Baptist church publications and numerous books of his sermons have been published and widely circulated.

Did She Get It?

(The following is a verbatim application for a position in a high school in an eastern city.)

"Begging your pardon for the procrastination of this letter, allow me to express my fervent willingness to secure, if possible, the situation as a teacher in your school.

"My preliminary culture has been nurtured and supplemented by assiduous efforts on my part to become an adept in those branches which my inherent propensity behooves me to teach.

"I taught miscellaneous subjects, science, and linguistly, conjointly. The faculty were much pleased with my work, as I endeavored to do my best, integrity and sincerity being my weapons. Therefore I taught sundry subjects. My experience, allow me to say, has been augmented by esoteric teaching which gave me splendid opportunity to temper my previous instruction. The subjects enumerated in the recommendation blank appealed to me from the standpoint of having taught them before, and I earnestly hope to receive word of your approbation."—Journal of Education.

In the year 1626 Peter Minuit bought the whole island on which New York City—now worth four thousand million dollars is built. He paid $24 for the island. Had he put out that $24 at 4 per cent. compound interest in 1626 it would now amount to as much as the present value of New York City.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Telephone Girl.
The Telephone Girl sits still in her chair, She listens to voices from everywhere; She knows who is happy, and who has the blues, She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, She knows every girl that is chasing the boys; She knows of our trouble, she knows of our strife, She knows every man who is mean to his wife; She knows every time we are out with the boys, She knows the excuses each fellow employs; She knows every woman who has a past, She knows every man who is inclined to be fast. In fact there's a secret 'neath each saucy curl. Of that quiet, demure-looking Telephone Girl. She could keep the whole town in a terrible stew If she'd tell one-tenth part of what she knew; Now don't it set your brain in a whirl, When you think of what you owe The Telephone Girl?

Inquiry into Beer Industry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.—With a view to ascertaining just what ingredients the brewers of the United States use in the manufacture of beer, ale, porter and stout, a series of important hearings was commenced in this city today by the board of food and drug inspection of the Department of Agriculture. One of the points upon which the board desires light is the meaning of the terms "lager" and "bock" brews are masquerading under the names of foreign products. Master brewers from many parts of the country have been summoned to testify.

Early Potatoes.

Mr. Carl Young, son of Mr. T. F. Young, who has charge of his father's farm near the county home, brought to the post office yesterday afternoon a number of fine sweet potatoes, being the first of the season reported at this office.—Salisbury Post.

To Vote on Capitol Bond Issue.

ST LOUIS, Mo., July 31.—A special election is to be held in Missouri tomorrow to decide on a $3,500,000 bond issue for the erection of a new State Capitol to replace the structure destroyed by fire last winter. It is generally believed that the purpose will carry, though it is predicted that a light vote will be polled.

Sand Clay Versus Macadam Roads.

Says the Greensboro Telegram: The original improved highways in Guilford county were macadam roads. Recently the county has been constructing some sand or sand-clay roads. The Telegram does not know definitely that the county has any standard sand-clay roads, but several miles of road have been graded and treated to a coating similar, at least, to the standard sand-clay covering. These roads are beautiful, smooth highways and it is a pleasure to travel over them. Other counties of the state are adopting the sand-clay construction in the improvement of their highways. The finest specimen of sand-clay construction the editor of The Telegram has ever seen is the road between Louisburg and Franklin in Franklin county. There are fine sand-clay roads in other counties and this material is growing in favor with road improvement advocates and road builders. As far as the pleasures of travel are concerned and for general utility the sand-clay road serves every purpose of the macadam road. In fact it is a better road in some respects, being less wearing on stock and vehicles, perhaps, than macadam. A road of this type will not wear as long as a macadam road, but repairs will cost less; and the first cost is far less than the cost of a standard macadam highway.

Among those in this state who have been favorably impressed with the sand-clay road we find the editor of the Asheville Citizen. The Citizen believes that the macadam road is passing and that sand-clay will prove an acceptable and satisfactory substitute. Here is the line of argument used by the Citizen in favor of sand-clay roads:

"The Citizen having several times advocated the construction of sand-clay roads in this section, would call particular attention to the statement of Mr. George Stephenson, of the Kanuga club, wherein he cites the wearing superiority and economy of the sand-clay road. In building his excellent automobile road from Hendersonville to the Kanuga club, Mr. Stephenson secured the views of expert engineers and the wisdom of his final resolution to take the sand-clay is today borne out. 'Macadam,' said Mr. Stephenson to the writer, 'is not only a waste of money in the original investment, but it costs far more in upkeep than a sand-clay road. This is true in every section, and particularly in Western North Carolina, where there is the finest gravel for sand-clay construction to be found anywhere. A ten thousand dollar investment in sand-clay means just four times the length of road that you can get in macadam.'

"There is ample food for reflection here on the part of our county authorities. Experiments made in this county with sand-clay more than bear out the claims of its friends. Four times cheaper than macadam; twice, if not three times as durable, one really wonders that it should be necessary for newspapers to preach about the advantages of sand-clay. The average price per mile of macadam is $3,400, though in some sections it runs above $4,000 per mile. Sand-clay of the finest variety such as we have in this section can be put down for $800 to $900 per mile. Is it not worth consideration? Can the counties of North Carolina afford to longer use the expensive and quickly wearing macadam while the superiority of the sand-clay road is clearly demonstrated? The sand-clay road to which we referred at the beginning of this article has been down nearly three years, and to the personal knowledge of the writer, it is now in splendid condition. Indeed, it seems to improve as time goes on. Many of us in this section can justly call to mind macadam roads which have been down only three or four years and they are now in a deplorable condition. Why then stick to macadam?"

When you bump up against a man who boasts of his iron will, an analysis will usually disclose the fact that it is pig iron.
