

MORE DISCUSSION MOORING AMENDMENT

VIEW OF A PROPOSED TRUSTEE.

Tells Why He Is Opposed To Bond Issue and to Township Plan.

Editor Reflector:

I know that it is an unwise act to get into a controversy with a newspaper for it invariably means defeat as the newspaper, like woman, always has the last word. But, in view of the things that have recently been said in your paper regarding the Greenville Township Road Bill and more especially of your vituperative denunciation of the Mooring Amendment in Friday's issue, I am constrained to accept your invitation to use the columns of your paper to express my views upon the subject.

Being one of the road trustees as created by that bill, I feel that it is not only my privilege but my duty to publicly declare to the citizens of Greenville township my position regarding that all absorbing and vital question. I have from the beginning been emphatically and unalterably opposed to that particular bill, but that does not mean that I am opposed to good roads and I wish you to distinctly understand now that I have never been opposed to good roads, but to the contrary I have always been an earnest advocate of good roads, believing that they would be a great aid in the development of our county and would mean much to the future welfare and progress of its citizens. I believe that every man is in favor of good roads, the only question about which men differ is the means of obtaining them.

As I understand the proposition the question before the people is not "whether or not you favor good roads," but whether or not you favor that particular bill providing for the building and maintenance of a road system in Greenville township. This is the real issue and I warn you that the people are not to be deceived by that delusive siren cry of "good roads." The friends of this bill have been trying to mislead and confuse the people by dubbing the opponents of this bill as opponents of good roads, which is absolutely unfair and unjustifiable, and if it is your purpose to continue this policy let me remind you that while it is true that some of the people can be fooled some of the time, yet it is also true that all of the people can't be fooled all of the time.

Now, my opposition to this particular bill is based upon the following grounds:

1st. Because I am opposed to the township plan.

2nd. Because it is undemocratic.

3rd. Because it deprives a citizen of his natural and constitutional rights.

4th. Because it is inexpedient and unwise to issue bonds at the present time.

5th. Because $50,000 is inadequate for the purpose of building and maintaining permanent hard-surfaced roads in Greenville township.

I am opposed to the township plan for the following reasons: (1) It involves too much expense for machinery; (2) The building of good roads in Greenville township would directly or indirectly benefit the whole county, and therefore, the burden should not be upon Greenville township alone; (3) If Greenville township issues bonds it is very likely that in a short time the county as a whole would issue bonds, thereby causing Greenville township not only to pay for her own roads, but also to help pay for roads in other townships. It is undemocratic, because the bill was prepared by the few without the knowledge or consent of the many and was presented to the legislature and passed by that body under protest of more than a majority of the voters in Greenville township. It is also undemocratic because it denies the people the right to choose the road trustees and grants powers that are akin to despotism. It deprives a citizen of his natural and constitutional right because it places absolute and undisputed power into the hands of the road superintendent, a man who will perhaps be a stranger and have no interest here, a man who will be guided by his own inclination and desires, a man whom this bill permits at his will to take property

ELECTRIC STORM AT AYDEN.

Lightning Strikes in Several Places And Does Some Damage.

Elder J. M. Barfield, of Ayden, who was here today, told us that quite a severe electric storm visited Ayden during the rain Sunday morning. Lightning struck the chimney at the residence of Mr. W. B. Alexander, and ran down into a room, splintering a bureau and doing some damage to the building.

Mr. William Dennis, who lives just outside of town, was sitting on his porch when lightning struck a tree nearby and badly shocked him. At first it was thought he had been killed, but he revived and is not seriously hurt.

Out in Mr. Elias Dall's neighborhood there was considerable hail and enough rain to wash up several road bridges.

NO COURT UNTIL WEDNESDAY.

Judge Carter Delayed in Getting Here Earlier.

This morning Sheriff S. I. Dudley received a night letter telegram from Judge Frank Carter, who is to hold this term of court, saying that the ship on which he was returning home from Europe had been providentially delayed, so that it would be impossible for him to reach Greenville before Wednesday morning, but that the time thus lost shall be made up to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. Judge Carter's message was sent from Quebec, where he landed en route home.

SEVERE HAIL IN GREENE.

The worst sufferers so far as reported are Messrs. W. A. Darden, Frank Carr and Sol. Dixon, whose tobacco and corn crops are said to be practically ruined. Others in that neighborhood also sustained more or less damage.

NEWS THAT IS OF INTEREST TO TAR HEELS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Told For The Reflector's Busy Readers.

RALEIGH.—Miss Gertie Holmes, daughter of John B. Holmes, of Benson, aged 17 years, committed suicide today by drinking carbolic acid. The cause of the rash act was disappointment in a love affair.

Some weeks ago The Landmark told about Mr. John W. Reaves, an aged citizen of Hostonville, buying a monument in Statesville to be placed at his grave at death. Yesterday Mrs. Reaves was in and gave an order for her monument.—Statesville Landmark.

While dressing a small chicken several days ago, Mrs. Alice Rogers opened the gizzard and found it to contain a small safety pin, an inch brass pin and a copper cent piece. The coin was worn to a perfect brightness and is kept as a relic.—Mooreville Enterprise.

WILMINGTON.—James Bennett, a negro, about 30 years old, was shot and killed tonight in the northern section of the city by Fred Brown, his pal, and about the same age, following a dispute over 10 cents. They were standing in front of a store and at the crack of the pistol Bennett fell mortally wounded, dying a few minutes later.

Mr. M. C. Hales, who was in the city today, tells us a snake story that he is willing to vouch for, and Mr. Hales is truthful man. He says that his son killed this season at least 200 snakes on an acre of land, the property of Mr. Nathan Bass, located near Black Creek. This acre of land lies near the creek and to this the snakes seem to have taken a liking. He killed in one day 43 snakes.—Wilson Times.

The first gold mine ever discovered in America was in Cabarrus county, this state. This was about 1820. In 1820 a man found a 28-pound gold nugget on his farm in Cabarrus county. Until gold was found in California, this was the largest nugget in the world. Because of its peculiar color, he for years kept it for a door block. One day a man asked him what he would take for it and he said $3.50. Whereupon the man brought it.—Lincoln Times.

Mr. C. M. Witty, a well known farmer residing four miles south of the city, has a chicken that is a freak, or one that is very likely a record breaker to say the least. Mr. Witty says this young pullet was hatched last February and that she grew rapidly and laid seven eggs and set and hatched them two weeks ago and that two of the little chicks are living and apparently healthy. The young mother hen hatched out a brood of young chickens before she learned how to cluck.—Greensboro Record.

WADESBORO.—The first bale of the new cotton crop that has been sold in the state was sold here this afternoon. The cotton was raised on Mr. John S. Watkins' farm, near Wadesboro. It was bought by Leak & Marshall at 12 1-2 cents a pound. The bale weighed 470 pounds. Mr. Watkins gathered the cotton yesterday and this morning it was ginned by the Wadesboro oil mill and immediately put on the market. Mr. Watkins is one of the most progressive farmers in this section and much credit is due him for selling the first bale of cotton in North Carolina.

TROY.—Late yesterday afternoon, at the close of a farmers' institute at Star, a large number repaired to the new college grounds to witness an exhibition of stump-blowing by the Dupont Powder Company. Neil Maness, a well-to-do-farmer and one of the best citizens of the county, was instantly killed by having the top of his head literally severed by a flying stump. Mr. Maness was standing within thirty-two steps of the stump, under which was placed the deadly explosive that caused his death. No blame is attached to any one, it being considered purely an accident. Mr. Maness stopped too near the stump. He leaves a widow and nine children.

Volcano Made by Man.
At Brule, France, is the most remarkable volcano made by man. Originally it was a mass of coal, millions of tons. One day about a century ago the coal caught fire, and it has never ceased burning. The summit of the smoldering mass has a genuine crater.

THE EAGLES AT SAN FRANCISCO

"THE BEST EVER" THE SOGAN.

The Festivities to be Entirely Californian in Spirit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 21.—"The Best Ever" is the slogan of the great convention opened in this city today by the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Tens of thousands of visitors are here from cities and towns in every part of the United States and Canada, and the prediction that the attendance would establish a new high record has been fulfilled.

By common consent the people of San Francisco have decided to make the convention the occasion for a seven-day carnival. The business section of the city is gayly decorated with flags and bunting and the emblems of the order. Business will be largely suspended until the screaming Eagles have furled their wings, and flown to their far-away homes. For the present it is mirth and music by day and music and mirth by night.

Street pageants, barbecues, balls and other features of entertainment are to follow one another in rapid succession. The festivities are to be entirely Californian in spirit, the pageantry and special events being of the pioneer days of '49, with the vivid descriptions of Bret Harte as the setting. "Roaring Camp," immortalized by the famous writer, has been established as one of the big features of the carnival.

But it would be a big mistake to imagine that there is no work to be done during the week. Senator Thos. F. Grady, of New York, is to retire from the office of grand president and the choice of his successor has started a spirited contest. Frank E. Hering, of South Bend, Ind., J. J. Causack, of San Francisco, and several others are mentioned for the head of the order. Another contest has developed for the office of grand secretary to succeed Conrad H. Mann, who is retiring from the office after a service of many years.

Apart from the election of officers and other routine business, the convention will be called upon to deal with several radical measures which if passed will have an important effect upon the future of the order. The first of these new measures will deal with the matter of age limit and is designed to bring an army of young men into the order. There is a strong feeling that the age limit should be set at 18 years, and there are said to be thousands of youths throughout the United States and Canada who are awaiting the decision of the grand body so that they may be initiated. Another important matter to be considered is the proposal to institute a woman's auxiliary to the Eagles.

INSANITY GEIDEL'S DEFENSE.

Seventeen-Year-Old Boy Indicted for Murder.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The case of Paul Geidel, the 17-year-old bellboy, indicted for the murder of William H. Jackson, the aged broker, who was robbed and beaten to death in his room at the Hotel Iroquois, on the night of July 27, was called in the Court of General Sessions today. Unless the counsel for the defense succeeds in getting a delay the actual trial probably will begin within a day or two. In view of Geidel's alleged confession it is regarded as a certainty that a plea of insanity will be made in his behalf.

ANOTHER WILLIAMSTON MURDER.

Where's Dixie?

"Where's Dixie?" inquired Togo as the graphophone poured the thrilling air into his ears. Here, sir, and ready for a romp or a row, ready to buy or to sell, ready to bluff or meet every demand, ready to forget the past only in anticipation of the future. Here is Dixie—the sweetest dimple on the fair cheek of old Mother Earth!—Wilmington Star.

'Little Willie wore the 'reddest' sashes Fell in the fire and burned to ashes; After a while the room grew chilly. Because no one would punch poor Willie.'

WHO ARE FOOLING THE PEOPLE?

There is very little in the communication of Mr. James L. Evans regarding the Greenville township road bill, published elsewhere in this paper, that needs any reply. He says "the advocates of this bill have worked in secret behind closed doors." No one knows better than Mr. Evans himself the lack of truth in this statement, for it is well recalled that he was present at many of the meetings, if not all of them, and took part in the proceedings, hence he was fully aware of what was being done. As to the charge of attempt to disfranchise voters, that is too absurd a statement to notice, as every one with judgment well knows there is no better place for people to express themselves than at the ballot box, and also that it is the prevailing custom for elections providing for bond issues to be held under new registrations, which gives every one the right to register and vote as he desires. The attempt to fool the people is all on the part of those opposing the bill and championing sneak legislation.

WHAT BETTER IS OFFERED.

We wonder why those who profess to be in favor of good roads, yet are opposed to building them with a bond issue, do not suggest some other plan by which the roads can be built. They make lots of noise in opposition but make no suggestion of a better plan to build roads. If the roads can be built in any better way it ought to be known and let the people adopt that way and build the roads. The thing needed is good roads, and there should not be years and years delay in getting them built. If there is a better plan than through a bond issue we would like to know what it is, but we do not believe that Pitt county will have much better roads than exist right now until they are built with bonds. While good roads benefit the generation in which they are built, they also benefit the generations to come, therefore we think it is right for future generations to pay their proportional part for the benefit received.

"Tell the county commissioners to put a clock in the court house tower before the scaffolding comes down," remarked a prominent farmer to The Reflector Saturday. He argued that the clock can be put in at less expense now than later.

Warning Note Sounded. Last week's issue of the Carolina Union Farmer contained the following editorial note of warning: "While we are warning you against the wiles of the politician on the outside of the Farmers' Union, we call attention, with even more emphasis, to the dangers from within. If you find that any official in the Farmers' Union has any political aspirations you'd better keep both eyes on him. If he is hankering after political office, his friends (?) on the outside will find it out and they will use him, if they can, when they begin to play the game of partisan politics, and these games are pulled off exclusively in the offices of lawyers in the various county seat towns of this state. These lawyers haven't got any special love for the Farmers' Union. A lawyer is, by the nature of his occupation, opposed to any influence that shapes public opinion without his presence and assistance. Already a little game of politics has been started in law offices of certain towns in this state and one of the cards to be played is to try to induce a state official of the Farmers' Union to run for a partisan political office. Of course, a Farmers' Union official wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance of being elected, because loyal Farmers' Union members in this state will bury so deep any union official who undertakes to ride the Farmers' Union into a political office that he would never see daylight again, but we are making this comment to put our membership upon its guard, and, if possible, prevent any Farmers' Union official in county or state from yielding to the flattery and entreaties of the enemies of the Farmers' Union on the outside who will attempt to induce Farmers' Union officials to resign their official positions in the Farmers' Union and run for political office. It's a mighty sorry union man that would use an official position in the Farmers' Union to bring himself into prominence and then use that prestige to the hurt and discredit of the Farmers' Union in an attempt to gratify his own selfish ambition to land into a coveted political office. Again we say: Watch closely the inclination and action of the men whom you have selected as officials in the Farmers' Union, for next year is a campaign year. If the union "gets by" the coming campaign without any entangling political alliances it will have stood the supreme test and will have won a position of inestimable service to its members. It is controlled, however, by human beings, and the bait that will be offered will be tempting. In fact, it will take a shrewd man to recognize it—there are some adroit letter writers in the field and all kinds of nets are being woven and many traps are being set. Eternal vigilance is the price of the escape. We wish the Farmers' Union well—Greensboro News.

court, as was at one time anticipated, but will likely be by the next term.

Good roads sentiment is one of the things that is growing, not only in Greenville township, but all over Pitt county.

President Taft vetoed the wool bill and the free list bill. Congress tried to pass them over his veto but failed.

There is hardly a doubt that the cotton crop of the country has been estimated much too large.

Congress has quit and the members are getting to their homes.

Sell Cotton Slow.

The crop boosting of the Agricultural Department at Washington played smash with the cotton growers, causing a loss of $20 a bale since the department prediction of a 14,000,000 crop. As a matter of fact, that was a purely wild-cat estimate, actually figured up while some of the cotton planted had not come up out of the ground. Later indications point to the fact, that if we get only an average crop we will be lucky, and if that is the case the cotton growers can not afford the loss which would result from selling cotton at the slump price. The Star, therefore, heartily endorses the movement to so regulate the sale of the new crop as to make it bring at least 12 1-2 cents per pound. The spinners took the 1909 crop at an average of 14 cents and converted every bale of it as fast as it was put on the market. No effort should be spared to make this crop bring a good price, for 10 or 11-cent cotton would be a big blow to our prosperity.—Wilmington Star.

Good Roads and Fertile Soil.

Mr. S. M. Jones, who returned from Jackson Springs the first of the week, is, if possible a more enthusiastic advocate of good roads than ever. He saw men from the fertile sections of South Carolina at the springs anxious to pay good prices for sandy land which, until a year or two ago, was considered almost worthless. Why is it these big farmers from South Carolina wish to buy this land and come and settle on it? There are two reasons for it. It is found that with intelligent handling this land will produce from one to two bales of cotton to the acre. The other reason is that good roads have been built through that section. If these farmers realize that by buying and cultivating that land they would have to haul their cotton over bad roads and through deep sand to market they would never think of making the investment. It is difficult to induce people who have once enjoyed good roads to move to a section where there are bad roads.—Sanford Express.

As Usual.

It will not be many weeks until every town in the state will be buying cotton at prices a shade higher than may be had anywhere else and selling goods at a shorter profit. No wonder the farmer is occasionally incredulous.—Charlotte Observer.

GOOD NEWS.

Many Greenville Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Greenville are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example:

Mrs. E. G. Worthington, Washington street, Greenville, N. C., says, "I have been so greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills that I am glad to recommend them. My back ached nearly all the time and I could not rest well. The kidney secretions caused me annoyance and it was plain to be seen that I was suffering from kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from the John L. Wooten Drug Company, relieved my aches and pains and improved my condition greatly. I cannot praise this remedy too strongly."

It's a mighty sorry union man that would use an official position in the Farmers' Union to bring himself into prominence and then use that prestige to the hurt and discredit of the Farmers' Union in an attempt to gratify his own selfish ambition to land into a coveted political office. Again we say: Watch closely the inclination and action of the men whom you have selected as officials in the Farmers' Union, for next year is a campaign year. If the union "gets by" the coming campaign without any entangling political alliances it will have stood the supreme test and will have won a position of inestimable service to its members. It is controlled, however, by human beings, and the bait that will be offered will be tempting. In fact, it will take a shrewd man to recognize it—there are some adroit letter writers in the field and all kinds of nets are being woven and many traps are being set. Eternal vigilance is the price of the escape. We wish the Farmers' Union well—Greensboro News.

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." ## And So Is Man.

The mule—he is a gentle beast;
And so is man.
He's satisfied to be the least;
And so is man.
Like man, he may be taught some tricks;
He does his work from 8 to 6;
The mule—when he gets mad, he kicks;
And so does man.

The mule—he has a load to pull;
And so has man.
He's happiest when he is full;
And so is man.
Like man, he holds a patient pose,
And when his work's done will rejoice.
The mule—he likes to hear his voice;
And so does man.

The mule—he has his faults, 'tis true;
And so has man.
He does some things he should not do;
And so does man.
Like man, he doesn't yearn for style,
But wants contentment all the while;
The mule—he has a lovely smile;
And so has man.

The mule is sometimes kind and good;
And so is man.
He eats all kinds of breakfast food;
And so does man.
Like man, he balks at gaudy dress
And all outlandish foolishness.
The mule's accused of mulishness;
And so is man.

Miss Tucker Entertains.

On Wednesday evening at her home tertained a number of her little friends in honor of her guest, Miss Rena Smith, of Greenville.

The entire home was beautifully lighted and decorated in roses, asparagus and ferns, traveling grape vines and fruits were seen in great profusion and at the hour of twilight the guests arrived, and were received at the door by Miss Della Bryan and Miss Mabel Galloway and passed on to the After merry greetings and laughter,

"THIS IS MY 34th BIRTHDAY."

Frank J. Marshall.

Frank J. Marshall, the United States chess champion, who is among the participants in the international masters' tournament opening today at Carlsbad, was born in New York City, August 21, 1877. He spent his early youth in Montreal, but returned to Brooklyn when eighteen years of age, and immediately began to take a prominent part in metropolitan chess circles. In 1897 he won the junior championship of the New York Chess Association from Narpinski. The following year he wrested the Brooklyn championship from Napir and in 1899 went to London and won first prize in the minor tournament of the international congress. His international career began in Paris in 1900 when he attracted the attention of the chess world by winning a game from Champion Lasker. Since then he has met the greatest chess masters in tournaments held in Monte Carlo, Vienna, St. Louis, Ostead, Nuremberg, Carlsbad, Hamburg and other places and in six of the tournaments he has been successful in winning the first prize.

Earl, and Master Knott Proctor, left Tuesday for Norfolk.

have been visiting relatives here, have visiting Mrs. C. M. Jones, returned home Friday.

Master Durwood Tucker, of Simpson, is spending the week with Master Proctor Galloway.

Mr. Adrian Dudley left Thursday for Ayden.

Many of the farmers around our town have lost their tobacco barns this season. Much sympathy is felt for them.

A post card from Mr. W. E. Proctor who is in Norfolk, states that the pick-pockets relieved him of his pocket book soon after he arrived in that city. The book contained about $50.

The farmers in our section are still very busy curing tobacco.

jacent warehouses.

ing there was a fine rain, and more came early Sunday night.

Horse Race.

Horse owners down in the vicinity of Cox Cross Roads are getting up their racing blood, and we learn that a trotting race will take place there next Saturday, 26th, between horses belonging to Messrs. Tom Evans and Joe Braxton.

Prayer League Postponed.

Owing to the funeral of Mr. W. S.
Rawls, Sunday afternoon, the meeting of the Men's Prayer League, that would have been during the hour of the funeral was postponed. The same programme for that day will be carried over to next Sunday, with the same subject and leaders.

Paring an Elephant's Nails.

When an elephant is in captivity the nature of its habits permits the beast's nails to grow to an abnormal length—thus the necessity for the careful paring of the nails. After the elephant has been securely roped the nails are cut with a saw.—London Sketch.

Keeping Tab on the Minors.

Outfielder Blitz, of the Peoria team, is leading the Three I League in hitting.

Pitcher Dale, formerly with Boston and Providence, is now back with the Dallas team of the Texas league.

Second baseman Berghammer, of Kewanee Central Association team, has been sold to the Chicago White Sox.

President C. R. Williams has added
Zeke Wilson to the staff of the Virginia League umpires. Wilson is an old ball player.

Very few minor league clubs will make any money this season, unless they are lucky enough to sell a player or two for a good price.

It is said that Manager McGraw, of the Giants, had to dig to the extent of $4,000 to land Outfielder
Burns of the Utica team.

Pitcher Wolfgang, of the Lowell,
New England League team, has won 22 out of 26 games pitched this season. He goes to St. Louis Browns next season.

The St. John Marathons are leading the Provincial League in New Brunswick. Marathoners should be able to run the full distance in any old race.

Manager Mike Kelly, of St. Paul, who sold O'Toole to Pittsburg for $25,- 000, has strings on several minor league stars, including George Deans, Duluth's premier twirler.

The "Bull" sign at the Jackson, Miss., park has been hit eight times this season, and Cotton States League players have drawn down $400 for performing the stunt.

The Chicago Cubs paid the Youngstown club $4,000 for Pitcher Earl Moseley. This is the highest price ever paid for a pitcher in the Ohio and Pennsylvania League.

It is a pretty safe bet there will be two more Millers in the big show next season. Outfielder Miller, of Montreal, and Pitcher Miller, of Atlanta, are both wanted by major league clubs.

Harry Truby, the old Chicago player who is umpiring in the Mountain State League, had a run-in with a player the other day. When the player showed fight, Truby said: "Go on and sit down. I can give you rocks and I'll take buns and run you out of this park."

With The Boxers.

Maine women are becoming boxing fans. Several of them attended a bout in Augusta recently.

Lew Bailey, the Philadelphia promoter, has conducted 500 boxing meetings in the Quaker City.

Jim Coffroth may sign Battling Ne'son and Freddie Welsh to meet in San Francisco the latter part of this month.

Ad. Wolgast and Packey McFarland may not meet after all. Seems to be some trouble of the articles of agreement.

Expert Advice.

The prison turnkey found the two cellmates deeply engrossed. One pored over the market reports of a newspaper and figured on the margin with a pencil. His cellmate sat expectant.
"Bill," said the mathematician at last, "you could make $34 a night stealin' hogs in Iowa."—Success Magazine.

TAP DAY AT YALE.

What it Means to the Juniors Who Have "Made Good."

The three great senior societies of Yale—Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key and Wolf's Head—choose on tap day fifteen members each from the junior class, the fifteen members of the outgoing senior class making the choice. Each senior is allotted his man of the juniors and must find him in the crowd at the tree and tap him on the shoulder and give him the order to go to his room. Followed by his sponsor, he obeys, and what happens at the room no one but the men of the society knows. With shining face the lad comes back later and is slapped on the shoulder and told, "Good work, old man," cordially and warmly by every friend and acquaintance—by lads who have "made" every honor possible, by lads who have "made" nothing, just as heartily, for that is the spirit of Yale.

Only juniors room in Durfee hall. On tap day an outsider is lucky who has a friend there, for a window is a prescendum box for the play—the play which is a tragedy to all but forty-five of the three hundred and odd juniors. The windows of every story of the graystone facade are crowded with a deeply interested audience. Grizzled heads of old graduates mix with flowery hats of women. Every one is watching every detail, every arrival. In front of the hall are a drive and room for perhaps a dozen carriages next the fence—the famous fence of Yale—which rails the campus round. Just inside it, at the northeast corner, rises the tree. People stand up in the carriages, women and men. The fence is loaded with people, often standing, too, to see that tree.

All over the campus surges a crowd—students of the other classes, seniors who last year stood in the compact gathering at the tree and left it sore hearted, not having been "taken," sophomores who will stand there next year, who already are hoping for and dreading their tap day; little freshmen, each one sure that he at least will be of the elect, and again the iron gray heads, the interested faces of old Yale men, and the gay spring hats like bouquets of flowers.

It is perhaps the most critical single day of the four years' course at the university. It shows to the world whether or no a boy, after three years of college life, has in the eyes of the student body "made good." It is a crucial test, a heartrending test for a boy of twenty years.—Mary R. S. Andrews in Scribner's Magazine.

They Were All "Pills."

One of the fashionable east side churches recently witnessed a funny incident at a choir rehearsal. They were preparing for the following Sunday morning a beautiful selection, the first words of which were, "I am a pilgrim." It so happened that the music divided the word "pilgrim" and made a pause after the syllable. The effect was most amusing. The soprano sang in a high key "I am a pil," and then stopped. The tenor acknowledged that he was a "pil," and when the bass came thundering in with a like declaration, "I am a pil," it was too much for the gravity of the singers, and they roared. No amount of practice could get them past the fatal pause without an outburst, and the piece had to be given up.—Musical World.

Clever Dwarfs.

Richard Gibson and his wife, who flourished in the seventeenth century, were a remarkable pair of dwarfs, quite apart from their inches, which combined barely made up seven feet. Both were clever painters of miniatures, and Gibson was drawing master to the daughters of James II. At their wedding, which was arranged by Henrietta Maria, Charles I. gave the bride away, the queen placed a valuable diamond ring on her finger, and Edmund Waller, the court poet, wrote a poem in honor of the occasion. Gibson was seventy-four when he passed away, while his widow died at the advanced age of eighty-nine years.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all druggists.

without due process of law and the owner is left without a remedy.

Pitt county, and especially Greenville, is already very heavily bonded and I believe that it would be unwise to issue more bonds under the present existing conditions. The town of Greenville is bonded almost to the full value of its property—so nearly so that it cannot sell any more bonds—and while it is argued that if the bonds are issued the greater part of it will be paid by the town of Greenville, it is also true that that part of Greenville township, outside of the town limits would be the security for the whole amount of bonds. I am further opposed to bonds because roads can be built without bonds and therefore bonds are unnecessary. According to your estimate of the cost of building good roads, about ten miles of road could be built every year under the present rate of taxation. It seems to me that at the rate of 10 miles per year we would soon have a system of good roads, not within the next generation, but in this. And all this without any bonds or any extra tax.

I am further opposed to this bill because $50,000 is inadequate for the purpose of building and maintaining good roads in Greenville township as proposed. The argument that $50,000 will do it is the most absurd heard, and no real thinking man seriously believes it. Even the advocates of the bill themselves do not believe it. In my opinion to build and maintain roads as is proposed, $50,000 will only be a beginning. This is where you are again trying to fool the people. You know that there is absolutely no chance to carry a bond issue large enough at one time to be adequate to the demand, so what do you propose to do? You propose carrying a bond issue of $50,000 to get started and once started you know the people will be forced to issue more. The predicament of the people will be somewhat like that of an Irishman who dropped a quarter through a crack in the floor, who, discovering his loss, immediately dropped a silver dollar through the same crack. On being asked why he did this, he replied: "So as to make it worth while to tear up the floor." This is briefly my attitude toward the Greenville township Road Bill.

Now, let me say a few words in regard to the Mooring Amendment. In the first place let me ask you a single question: "Why does the destruction of the new registration clause cause you to become so alarmed and to make such a vituperative attack upon the party or parties responsible for it? It seems, sir, that your desire to defeat the will of the people has become so great that when one of your schemes to disfranchise a large number of voters is discovered and checked, you lose all control of your temper, smear pokeberry juice on your face and say all manner of evil about one who committed such a cruel and dastardly crime. I admit that it shows that our representatives were negligent of their duties not to know how or when the amendment passed and that is all—it presents no evidence of perfidy or treachery. The amendment was legally passed by the legislature and I suppose you accuse the legislature of perfidy and treachery for giving the voters of Greenville township a fair and square deal. No fair-minded, just man can give any reasonable excuse why we should have a new registration, except for the purpose of disfranchising voters. This was, indeed, the ostensible purpose of the new registration. In fact, from the first the advocates of this bill have worked in secret behind closed doors and have placed every obstacle and stumbling block in the way of the people they could, and because the opponents of this bill tried to remove the stumbling blocks in the way, you said that they were afraid of the people. Your great plea is to give the people an opportunity to express themselves upon the question. As I see it, they have already expressed themselves as a majority of the voters in the township have signed a petition against the bill. If you had been such an advocate of the people's rights as you now claim to be, you would have then and there accepted this decision. You know that the people are opposed to this bill, but you and your crowd hoped by the means of a new registration and a double-barreled automatic reaching clause permitting an election every 90 days to defeat the will of the people. Both of your schemes have failed, and hence your fine display of pokeberry juice. It seems to me, Mr. Editor, that you have got yourself into a hole and if you have not already pulled the hole in behind you, I think that now is the opportune time.

FARMERS AND ROADS.

Products of the Farm More Than One-Third of the Wealth.

The Winston Sentinel says: It is certain that the farmers do not get the use of their share of the money earned in the United States. There are now over 90,000,000 people in this country, and nearly one-third are farmers and their families.

The products of the farm are responsible for more than one-third of the wealth and commerce of the country. No one can say, however, that one-third of this wealth is used by the farmer in the betterment of the country districts.

Farmers would accomplish more if they were more active in the matter of co-operation. There is joy and health in the open air, but the farmer is often woefully ignorant of sanitation and drainage. Nor does he give much attention to good highways, which would add to the comfort and the joy of living.

Country people, as a rule, are free from tuberculosis, but they do suffer from typhoid and pneumonia.

Bad roads prevent social enjoyment; they tend to paralyze industry. The difference between good and bad roads is often equivalent to the difference between profit and loss. Money wisely expended for this purpose is sure to return ten-fold.

Whiskey in Watermelons.

Elizabeth City.—The watermelon in these diggings is quite popular enough already, but if the story that is being circulated regarding a new scheme to ply the booze traffic is true there is no telling how many of the luscious fruit will be sold and what prices they will demand. It reached the ears of one of the county law enforcers this morning that at one of the shops down town they were retailing watermelons, which had been plugged, and on the interior of the once beautiful fruit, a pint bottle of whiskey cozily rested. It is also stated that various sizes of bottles are to be found upon the interior and the prices of the watermelons vary, not according to size of the fruit, but the interior matter. It is expected that the price of melons will now rapidly rise in price and that the demand will be greater than ever for the popular fruit.

Taking Chances.

The Boston Globe calls attention to the fact that many of the fatalities of these days are simply the outcome of "taking chances." It is perfectly apparent that this is not a careful age, and it says that while "medical science has reduced the mortality figures by its wonderful preventive discoveries, the record of drownings and violent deaths through accidents is as bad now as it ever was and perhaps worse. We are too prone to 'take chances.'

"We still have terrible railroad accidents, but, as a rule, they are infrequent and in many cases due to conditions that seemingly could not be avoided by human care; but it has taken a long time for our railroads to reach the present state of efficiency. The transportation interests are trypassengers who are safely carried is considered.

"It cannot be said that as a whole the operators of automobiles have educated themselves to appreciate their responsibility to themselves or to the public. They are still 'taking chances,' and until they are more careful we shall continue to read of accidents that might have been avoided."—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.
