ONE MAN WHO STANDS FOR PROGRESS

POSITION OBTAINED BY WORTH.

Corporations, Nations, States, Counties and Communities Grow.

HANRAHAN, N. C., Aug. 24.—A while ago I was standing in the door in full view of the railroad and a train went speeding by. To me it looked very much as do other trains. There was nothing unusual about the appearance of the locomotive that was drawing the four cars that were attached. They had to me very much the appearance of other cars of their class. Two of them looked right much like the regular passenger cars of this line and two had very much the appearance of the regular baggage and express cars that pass this way four times each day. So to me there was really nothing about this train of greater interest than the other trains. But standing in another door close by the railroad track was a woman with several children. To these this train was hailed with great joy, because her husband and the father of those children is an employee of the railroad company, and this train they know is bringing with it an envelope within which is this man's month's wages, and tonight he will bring home candy and other good things for his wife and those little ones. So it looks very different to these than what it does to one who really has no personal interest in it.

Still another stands off and with green-eyed envy looks on the paymaster that is employed by the A. C. L. to distribute the money to the men all along the great system. Such a one never thinks what a great responsibility hangs on this one man, and what a struggle he had to climb to this responsible position. That envious man would have the good things of life to come his way, but when asked to do the little things of life he tells you he is not built that way. So the great corporations say to him, neither are we built that way. The man to reach the top round with us must start at the bottom and climb up, up, one round at a time. They must know that a man is thoroughly fitted by actual test for any important place before he is given that place to fill.

Still another that is more thoughtful looks and wonders how this great A. C. L. Company can do such a vast amount of business, with so many suits for damages, and with such a vast expense in every way. Sir, let me tell you they would have stopped long since if they had been afraid of work, and they well knew that the only way to command work is with money, and the only way to secure sufficient money was through a bond issue, yea, not for thousands, but for many millions of dollars. No city has ever developed or made any progress that did not borrow money to build up its public and other enterprises. Suppose Charlotte, amidst her water famine, had said we are afraid of bonds, and therefore we will do nothing to relieve our thirst. She could have gotten no help. And so with every nation, state, city, town or community that has made progress, the same has borrowed money, and to secure this has issued bonds.

But there are those who seem to look upon the word bonds with horror. Come, now, and let us reason together. All who really think must admit that the one great need of today is one great central highway, with others in sufficient quantities leading into this to give our Southland a net work of roads, so that it will be no burden to our team to carry a 1,000 pounds to our markets. If you have 10 miles to go to market and your team can carry 1,000 pounds over all except one mile, and that is so rough that only 500 pounds can be carried over that, then you must load for that one mile, and in this lose more than the taxes for one year for many of us would be.

When I was 21 years old I was appointed overseer of a road, and, oh, my, I felt that I was it, and it spelled with a big I. Then I had tall posts hewn out and boards painted and at the bottom of each board I printed my name in big letters and affixed "overseer." I had some stationary headed, with my name and overseer. I felt proud of my office and did enjoy seeing my name with the affix overseer, until one day I was passing one of those painted sign-boards with my name and affix

GREAT PARADE OF EAGLES.

Finest of Its Kind Ever Witnessed in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 24.—Festivities in connection with the grand aerial convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles culminated today in the annual parade, which was one of the finest pageants of its kind San Francisco has ever witnessed. There were in line more than 10,000 Eagles, representing lodges of the order in practically every state in the Union and nearly all of the provinces of Canada, together with Hawaii and the Philippines. Interspersed in the procession were more than a score of bands. Officers of the grand aerial were in gorgeous decorated carriages in front of the line. Eagle policemen, Eagle firemen and Eagle soldiers and sailors were among the features. Cowboy members of the order in picturesque costume made up another division. Tens of thousands of spectators saw the procession as it moved through Market street, Van Ness avenue and other leading thoroughfares, all of which were profusely decorated.

TO LAUNCH BIGGEST WARSHIP.

All Arrangements Completed for the Launching.

QUINCY, Mass., Aug. 24.—At the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company in this city announcement was made today of the completion of all arrangements for the launching day after tomorrow of the dreadnought Rivadavia, which is being built for the Argentine Republic. The Rivadavia is 585 feet long and will have a displacement of 27,500 tons. A sister ship, the Moreno, is under construction at Camden, N. J. The two vessels rank as the biggest warships now building or under design. Their main armament will consist of twelve 12-inch guns, mounted in pairs in six turrets arranged so as to fire from either side. Though the two battleships are being built for the Argentine navy and under the supervision of naval officers of that republic, it is rumored that eventually they are likely to be sold to one of the great European powers.

MEET IN WOOTEN BUILDING.

Governing Board and Committees of County Fair.

Owing to the city hall being used by the court now in session, the governing board and committees of the Pitt County Fair Association will hold their meeting tomorrow in the office of President J. L. Wooten, second floor of the Wooten building on Third street. Those interested should make a note of the place of meeting and be on hand at 10:30, a. m.

Alabama Governor Goes North.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 24.—Governor O'Neal, of Alabama, left the capital today for a northern trip of several weeks. He will speak at the meeting of the American Bar Association in Boston next week and later will attend the conference of the house of governors at Spring Lake, N. J. He will also confer with New York financiers regarding the loan of $100,000 which will be needed by the state in October.

printed on it, and underneath my name was printed in black letters this line: "Fool's names are like their faces." It then dawned on me what the line to complete the couplet was. So I began to feel small, and soon decided that Solomon's dog had not even grazed the skin on me sufficiently deep for me to even cut my wisdom teeth. But it had taken time for me to realize that I did not know it all. Even so it will take time and gentle suasion to teach the whole people that there is no great monster hidden within the word bonds. So let's all come together, work and kindly counsel each with the other, and above all, let's have good roads, and let's have them at an early day.

If you deem this worth space let it go. I ever stand for progress, peace, and mercy to our beasts of burden which can only be shown by building good roads.

UKNOW. P. S.—It might be well for you not to put a head on this, as some of The Reflector's hair might fall on it and get me in trouble.

[But we are putting a head on it just the same, as it is too good to let go without one.—Ed.]

STEADY GRIND OF CRIMINAL COURT

CLEARING THE DOCKET RAPIDLY

Many Defendants Enter The Plea of Guilty.

The promise that Judge Frank Carter made at the opening of the present term of court, Wednesday, that he would endeavor to make up for the two days' lost time in getting here, is being fulfilled, for we do not recall a court in which the business has moved along so rapidly and smoothly. In this Judge Carter has found a ready co-worker in Solicitor Abernethy, and they have been making the hours count as they went by. In addition to organizing the court, selecting and charging the jury, arranging the petit jury, hearing excuses, calling the docket and other things that take more or less time at the beginning of a term, on the very first day twenty cases were cleared from the docket. At the same time nothing was run over lightly, for Judge Carter looks carefully into every case that comes before him and knows the details before it is completed.

The following cases have been disposed of:

Bruce Moseley, abandonment, guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

James Drake, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs and defendant paying prosecutor $20. In another case against same defendant for carrying concealed weapon, judgment was suspended upon payment of costs.

James E. Jones, carrying concealed weapon, pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Herbert Boyd, carrying concealed weapon, pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Thomas Jones, larceny; pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Rufus Reeves, larceny, pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Fenner Carr and Pitt Parker, assault with deadly weapon, plead guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Heber Summerell and Louis McLawhorn, affray, plead guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Louis Allen, larceny; not guilty.

Ben Wall and George Benson, affray, guilty; fined $50 each and costs.

John H. Keel, George Holland, Will Holland and Lester Holland, trespass, plead guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Will Beaman, larceny; not guilty.

W. E. Lewis, cruelty to animals, pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

C. L. Parker, cruelty to animals, pleads guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

W. H. Harrington, Jr., assault with deadly weapon; pleads guilty.

William Henry Ellison, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty; fined $5 and costs. In another case against the same defendant for carrying concealed weapon, judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Henry Tucker, carrying concealed weapon, pleads guilty; sentenced to 6 months on roads.

Joshua Williams, carrying concealed weapons, pleads guilty; sentenced 6 months on roads.

To Pool Tobacco Crop.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 24.—Considerable interest is manifested in the convention to be held here tomorrow under the auspices of the North Carolina and Virginia branches of the Farmers' Co-operative and Educational Union. The announced purpose of the meeting is to discuss a plan for the farmers of the two States to pool this year's tobacco crop. Charles S. Barrett, president of the national organization, and Joel B. Fort, president of the Tennessee branch, will be among the prominent speakers of the convention.

White Mountain Golf Championship

JEFFERSON, N. H., Aug. 24.—The fourth annual tournament for the White Mountain Amateur Golf championship opened today in the links of the Waumbek Golf Club and will continue through the remainder of the week.

NEWS THAT IS OF INTEREST TO TAR HEELS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Told for The Reflector's Busy Readers.

ASHEVILLE.—Allen Trivett, aged thirty-two, was shot and killed by his uncle, W. Pitt Ballew, at the latter's home this morning. The killing followed frequent quarrels. The killing occurred in the sick room of the slayer's mother. Ballew claims that Trivett threatened to "do him."

WILMINGTON.—Walking with two friends on the railway trestle that connects the sound with Wrightsville Beach, N. C., at midnight tonight, M. R. Walker, 27 years old, of Burgaw, N. C., a lumber mill superintendent, shot himself with suicidal intent. The body fell into the sound and had not been recovered at an early hour this morning. Disappointment over a love affair is said to have been the cause of the suicide.

ALBEMARLE.—On Sunday night in Kingsville, the colored section of Albemarle, Fayett Biles, a white man, was knocked down and he says robbed of $20 in cash, also of about one pint of "booze." Biles came to town and procured a warrant for George Rush, Miles Swaringem, Bud Faggett and Fletch Wallace, all colored, charging them with the robbery. Biles says he went to the colored settlement to get whiskey; that Wallace sold him a pint and at night four negroes, including Wallace and Rush told they knew where there was a 5-gallon jug of good whiskey. He says he went with them and when they had gotten him out of the village he was knocked down, beaten almost to insensibility and robbed.

AYCOCK AT OAK CITY.

Large Crowd at Speaking There Today.

OAK CITY, N. C., Aug. 24.—There was a large crowd of Martin countians here today at an educational meeting held in the township school building. While this was mainly a Martin county meeting, there were also several present from Pitt, Edgecombe and Halifax, making a considerable crowd. Ex-Governor Jarvis, of Greenville, was to have been one of the speakers, and it is regretted that he could not come.

Ex-Governor Aycock, of Goldsboro, was present, and after an introduction by Mr. R. O. Everett, of Durham, made one of his old time enthusiastic speeches. The crowd was with him and frequently applauded his eloquent utterances, which rang true. Governor Aycock was known throughout the state as our educational governor, and he not only did much then for the education of the people, but since retiring from office has not failed to lend his efforts to every advancement of the people.

The Oak City cornet band, a young organization, yet one that has made rapid advancement, made music for the occasion.

Pennant Not Awarded.

AYDEN, N. C., Aug. 24, 1911.

Editor Reflector: Kindly allow us the space in your paper to correct two errors in regard to the Coast Line League.

First. The pennant has not been awarded to Greenville, because there has been no meeting of the directors of the league since the series closed last Thursday. The pennant has not been awarded to any team.

Second. The team playing Greenville the three games this week is an independent team, and in no way connected with Ayden.

C. V. CANNON.

Parade of Negro Pythians.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 24.—Fifteen thousand colored Knights of Pythias, the majority of them in uniform, accompanied by twenty-five bands, marched through the streets of Indianapolis today in the big parade which formed the spectacular feature of the supreme lodge meeting and national encampment of the order, which are being held here this week.

A woman has so much charity for her own children there is none left over to go around among others.

WEDS TURKISH DIPLOMAT.

The Bridegroom Belongs to a Distinguished Ottoman Noble Family.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 24.—The marriage of Miss Josephine Kalman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kalman, of this city, to Richard Edward Blaque Bey, chancellor of the Turkish embassy in Berlin, took place this afternoon in the St. Paul cathedral, in the presence of nearly one thousand guests, among them many persons of prominence from various parts of the United States and Europe.

Miss Cecilian Kalmon was her sister's maid of honor and among the bridesmaids was Lady Kathleen Bersford, daughter of Admiral Lord Chas. Bersford. Following the ceremony at the cathedral the wedding party and guests attended a large reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom who was born in the United States while his father was serving as Turkish minister in Washington, belongs to a distinguished Ottoman noble family and is regarded as one of the coming men of the Sultan's diplomatic services. The bride of today first met the Bey two years ago, when visiting Berlin as the guest of Secretary and Mrs. Scholle, of the American embassy. She was presented at the Kaiser's Court and created considerable of a sensation among the military and aristocratic set on account of her Gibson girl style.

MINERS TO SETTLE DISPUTE.

Controversy has Been Marked by Rioting and Bloodshed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 24.—The international executive board of the United Mine Workers met here today to settle the factional dispute over the control of District Five, one of the largest and most important divisions of the miners' organization. The controversy, which has waged for months and has been marked by rioting, bloodshed and court litigation, grew out of the rivalry of two factions, one of which claimed to have elected Francis Feehan as president of the district organization, while the other declared Robert R. Gibbons to be duly elected president.

Legislation in Australia.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 24.—The session of the Federal parliament which has been called to assemble next week promises to be one of the most important in the history of the Commonwealth. Though no proposals for the amendment of the Constitution are included in the programme, many measures of far-reaching importance are to be brought up for consideration and action. The Government will introduce a Commonwealth banking bill, also measures unifying Australian bankruptcy law, amending the present arbitration and electoral acts, and providing for the government of the Northern Territory and the construction of a transcontinental railway to traverse the continent from east to west.

Capture of Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Today was the ninety-seventh anniversary of the capture of Washington by the British army under Gen. Ross. On the day previous the capital had been abandoned to invaders, President Madison and other officials having fled before the approach of the red coats. A feature of the brief occupancy of the city by the invading army was the burning of a number of public buildings, including the congressional library and the many valuable historical documents it contained.

Convention of Catholic Editors.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 24.—The first convention of editors and managers of Catholic newspapers ever held in America opened here today in connection with the meeting of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. The convention discussed plans for the organization of a Catholic press association and various questions relating to advertising, circulation and editorial policy.

Freight Rates on Fruits Reduced.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 24.—The Western Pacific road today put into effect a new tariff reducing materially the rates on both citrus and deciduous fruits from California points to the Black Hills country, embracing a number of important distributing points in Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Greenville Wins From Ayden.

Wednesday Greenville closed the baseball season here by again defeating Ayden 9 to 4. Stafford pitched an excellent game, allowing only five hits. He also hit a home run with the bases full.

Score: R. H. E. Greenville . . . . . 140 001 120—9 10 2 Ayden . . . . . 000 003 001—4 5 4 Batteries: Safford and Seffert; McCall and Cleveland.

Greenville, by winning these games, clearly demonstrated her superiority over the opposing team. The team closes the season with a percentage of .763, and is justly called the champion team of the Coast Line League, and of Eastern North Carolina.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1911.

It is best not to risk flying as long as walking is good.

Congress adjourned with Lorimer holding his seat to the finish.

Now we would like to see Greenville make as good runs for factories as it did in base ball.

Why heap so much abuse on Astor and the girl he is going to marry, when it is the divorce law that makes it possible.

Let's see if we can turn some of the recent base ball enthusiasm toward getting some manufacturing enterprises for Greenville.

In striking contrast with the weather on this part of the globe is the dispatch from out in Colorado telling of two people freezing to death on Pikes Peak.

The almost suffocating condition of the city hall when a crowd gathers in there for court these warm days, will make the people appreciate the new court house when they get in that.

In a week more loads of tobacco will begin rolling in to market. The wise business man should start an advertising campaign to get his share of the increased trade that will set in then.

The question is whether the people of Greenville township had rather go on paying 15 cents on the $100 valuation for road tax and get no roads under the old system, or let that same 15 cents be applied to a bond issue to build the roads, maintain them, pay the interest and create a sinking fund sufficient to pay off the bonds. The wise person will prefer the latter.

A Pennsylvania judge who is presiding over the court which is trying parties arrested on the charge of being implicated in the recent lynching at Coatesville says, "that any one who was in the mob and knew for what purpose the mob was gathered, is guilty of murder." The judge further said, "One is responsible for his actions if he associates himself with a mob, even if he gives no physical assistance, merely sanctions violence. Then he is just as guilty of murder under the law as though he helped to commit murder."

useful. His latest acquisition of this kind was the purchase of the only agricultural paper in Alabama and adding its subscription list to The Progressive Farmer which now has gone past the 120,000 mark. Of course it means a benefit to the farmers of Alabama, for the visits of The Progressive Farmer will do for them what it has long been doing for the farmers of North Carolina and other Southern States.

Calls made upon him by New York papers for an expression of his views as to the national movement on for uniform divorce laws has elicited from Governor Kitchin the declaration that he regards the divorce question as one for the state to settle separately, but that uniform divorce laws throughout the United States are desirable, particularly so if the uniformity can be obtained along the lines followed by the older states of the Union. He declares, however, that he would vigorously oppose a uniformity, so far as North Carolina's coming into it is concerned, if along the lines followed by some of the newer states in the west. These would not be at all desirable, he says. He expects that the next annual conference of the Association of Governors of the States will go into this matter fully.—Raleigh Correspondence.

Worse Than Bull Fighting.

"Americans will not tolerate bull fighting because it is considered inhuman and unsportsmanlike. It is certain that the Mexicans would not continue their national pastime if it involved so tremendous a sacrifice of human life as motor racing," says Barney Oldfield, himself one of the champion auto racers of the world. In one of his articles now being published in which he is making a fight for the discontinuation of this brutal amusement. He says that there have not been five deaths among bull fighters in Mexico in as many years whereas last year there were 29 deaths in motor racing contests and so far this year, with the season not half over, there have been eighteen. Almost every great racing contest among autoists in America is little less than a carnival of death. It is time that a movement was being started to bring about a discontinuance of this useless sacrifice of human life but it is a little bit unusual to see such a movement started by a man who has himself been one of the wonders in this very sport.—Gastonia Gazette.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it." Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health. It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women. In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.

SAGE TEA WILL

DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another fine scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent Moyer's Pharmacy.

Clark Sums Up Work.

Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, in a review of the first session of the 62nd congress, declared that the Democratic party set a good example for Democrats everywhere and that the party had redeemed every promise it made in the campaign of 1910 when the Democrats wrested control of the house from the Republicans.

"At this session the Democrats have made a record which has surprised our friends and dumbfounded our enemies," said Speaker Clark. "It has put heart and hope into Democrats everywhere. The extra session was extraordinary not only in the sense of being a special session called by the president but also in the amount and quality of the work done in the house by the combined Democrats and insurgents and the combined Democrats and Republican insurgents in the senate, and especially by the unanimity of action developed by the house Democrats."

Dare a man to do a thing, and if he's a fool he will attempt it.

Out in the Field With God.

The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday,
Among the fields, above the sea,
Among the winds at play,
Among the lowing of the herds,
The rustling of the trees,
Among the singing of the birds,
The humming of the bees.

The foolish fears of what may happen,
I cast them all away,
Among the clover-scented grass,
Among the new-mown hay,
Among the husking of the corn,
Where drowsy poppies nod,
Where ill thoughts die and good are born,

Out in the fields with God.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Mr. Arley M. Moore, of Durham, spent today here.
Mrs. E. B. Ficklen left this morning for Kelford.
Mr. D. W. Seifort, who has been catching for the Greenville base ball team left this morning for Raleigh.
Mrs. J. H. Kittrell is visiting relatives in Grimesland.

Miss Margurite Higgs and her guest,
Miss Blackshear, of Dublin, Ga., left
this morning for Scotland Neck.
Mrs. J. S. Cockrell and children left this morning for Richmond.

Mrs. J. H. Parham, of Kinston, who has been visiting Mrs. E. E. Parham, returned home Wednesday evening.
Mrs. L. C. Skinner returned Wednesday evening from Oxford, where she has been visiting her people.

Mrs. Frank Wilson and children returned Wednesday evening from Hendersonville, where they have been spending the summer.

Miss Amine King returned Wednesday evening from a visit in Raleigh.

mony in the presence of only a few invited friends.—New Bern Journal 23rd.

Mr. Boyd is a Greenville young man, a son of Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Sr., and brother of Mr. J. H. Boyd, Jr.
His many friends here send congratulations.

Miss Gertrude Critcher Entertains.

On Wednesday evening, from nine until twelve, Miss Gertrude Critcher delightfully entertained a number of her friends at her home on Dickinson avenue.

When the guests arrived they were received by the hostess, assisted by Mr. Ficklen Arthur, and were served punch by Miss Mamie Ruth Tunstall, assisted by Mr. Willis Fleming.

The game of the evening was hearts and Mr. Willis Fleming making the highest score, received the prize.

When the game was over delicious
refreshments were served.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, we are again bowed with sorrow and mourning, at the untimely death of our beloved brother, W. S.
Rawls, from whose nerveless grasp has forever dropped "the working tools of life," and whose spirit has been called to the God who gave it;

therefore,

Be It Resolved, That Greenville
Lodge No. 284, A. F. and A. M., acknowledge its great loss and we bow in submission to the Divine will of Almighty God and commend his mercies to the bereaved family of our brother;

Be It Further Resolved, That, while Brother Rawls has been away from us for several years, yet he held a high place in the heart of every member of Greenville Lodge, therefore, we beg to express to his family
our deepest sympathy in their great sorrow and recommend that a copy of these resolutions be sent to them,
also published and a page set apart
in our Masonic records to the memory of Brother Rawls, who has been a Mason for about twenty years, and has ever been true and faithful to his trust.

Respectfully submitted,
O. W. HARRINGTON,
H. B. HARRISS,
J. A. LANG,
Committee.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Pick Ups and Hand-me-Downs.

It all comes to Greenville.
Knights of Pythias meet tonight.
Showers once more frequent.
It is difficult to get hands to pull fodder.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY," James Wickersham.

James Wickersham, the Alaskan delegate in congress, who has been testifying before the congressional committee appointed to investigate the Controllor Bay (Alaska) affair,
was born in Patoka, Ill., August 24, 1857. After finishing the school course in his native town he studied law
and in 1880 was admitted to the bar.
About the same time he went to the state of Washington, where he began the practice of his profession and also interested himself in local politics.
He served four years as probate judge of Pierce county and was also city attorney of Tacoma. In 1898 he was elected to the Washington legislature on the Republican ticket. He was appointed United States district judge for the third division of the district of Alaska in 1900 and served on the bench until 1907, when he resigned to take his present position as delegate to congress. Mr. Wickersham's home in Alaska is in the town of Fairbanks.

The Money Side.

Saying nothing of the educational and social advantages of good roads,
or of their comfort and enjoyment,
or of feeling unable to pay for them,
some men regard with disfavor all plans for highway improvements, and are likely to oppose efforts for the betterment of our roads, unless they can be convinced that good roads will be a paying investment.

Speaking then, only of the money
side of the question, it would seem that all must agree in the following reasons for good roads, bringing dollars and cents into the farmers' pocket. A good road will:

1. Economize time and force in transportation between farms and market.
2. Enable farmers to take advantage of market fluctuations in buying and selling.
3. Permit transportation of farm products and purchased commodities
during times of comparative leisure.
4. Reduce wear and tear on horses harness and vehicles.
5. Enhance the market value of real estate.—Fayetteville Index.

WHAT A PICTURE.

Why Not Have The Best Schools In The County?

"Yes, that neighborhood has the best school in the county."

When you hear this said about a community what a pleasing picture
at once flashes through your mind!
You not only see the pretty, painted,
attractive school building, with well-kept grounds, but a joyous picture of the thrift and enterprise and progress of the entire community also suggests itself. You know that if the neighborhood has the best school in the county, then it must be that about the best people in it already, and that more good people are coming to it—for a good school always attracts good citizens like a magnet.
You know that the fact that these people have had the enterprise to get the best school in the county, means,
too, that they are wide awake about everything—that they live in good homes; that they have painted their houses; that they are using improved implements and machinery;
that they are getting better roads;
that there is a wholesome social life
and that the young people are happier, and that in a hundred other ways the school and the spirit it represents have made their influence felt in brightening the lives of the people round-about.

All these suggestions lead directly to another thought: Why shouldn't your neighborhood have the best school in the county, or at least one of the best? It would only take a little determination and co-operation on the part of all the people in your community.

First of all, get your district so enlarged or arranged as to provide proper support for a school. Then vote whatever local tax is necessary in order to get an adequate teaching force and an adequate school term.
This will cost money, but so does seed corn cost money. Still one doesn't mind putting valuable seed corn into the ground when he knows that it is going to bring a good harvest in the fall. The harvest of returns from the school tax investments are just as sure. Next, you want to get a good teacher and pay him or her enough to keep him with the school not merely for one term but as long as he can do good work. Finally, get these practical courses introduced. Let the boys learn the scientific principles that will have practical application in farm life. Let the girls learn the principles of domestic science. And let both boys and girls give a proper amount of time to the principles of sanitation and hygiene—how to live right and how to keep well. Let your school give adequate training along these three practical lines then ground the student thoroughly in the Three R's, and if the parents have done their part, you need have no fear as to the sort of men and women your community will turn out.—Raleigh Progressive Farmer.

Ruined by Jestings.

The Antiochenes themselves brought about the ruin of the beautiful city of Antioch, the ancient capital of the Greek kings of Syria. These people were famous for their biting and scurrulous wit as well as their ingenuity in devising nicknames. When the Persians under Chosroes invaded Syria in 538 the Antiochenes could not refrain from jesting at them. Ample revenge for this was taken by the Persians,
who totally destroyed the city.

Would Do His Own Biting.

The British gentleman new to our shores stepped up to the cigar counter and requested of the "clerk" a cigar.
"What will you have, a bit cigar?"
asked the "clerk."
"No; I'd rath'er bite it myself," replied the Briton.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Men Are Beacons.

Every man is the center of perpetual radiation like a luminous body. He is, as it were, a beacon which entices a ship upon the rocks if it does not guide
it into port.—Amiel.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

The Iolsen sisters, aerialists, are a recent German importation.

George Arliss will open Wallack's Theatre with Louis N. Parker's "Disraeli."

The work of pulling down Madison Square Garden, New York, will begin next February.

Marguerite Clark is to star in Owen Days' new play, "When All the World Was Young."

Harry B. Smith and Reginald de Koven are at work in a new musical play for the Shuberts.

Eddie Foy's new musical farce is called "The Pet of the Petticoats." It will open at Asbury Park, August 25th.

Fritzi Scheff is to appear in "The Duchess," by Joseph Herbert and Harry B. Smith, with music by Victor Herbert.

Margaret Anglin will begin her season in "Green Stockings," and later will try Israle Zangwill's play,
"The New Religion."

Gaby Deslys, with a troupe of five,
will make her American debut under the Shuberts in "Less Debuts de Chichine," a one-act sketch.

"Next," a new farce by Rida Johnson Young, with Helen Lowell as the star, will be one of the early New York productions the coming fall.

"Little Boy Blue," adapted from the German by A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulton, will be one of the early musical productions of Henry W.
Savage.

Martin Harvey will not come to America until next January, as he is booked to appear in the London
Covent Garden round the holidays.

Mary Boland will play her fourth season as John Dew's leading woman
in a new comedy by Hubert Henry Davies, entitled "A Single Man."

George M. Cohan, with his mother and father, is to appear in September in his new play, "The Little Millionaire," at the George M. Cohan Theatre.

Edgar Allen Woolf is said to be the Clyde Fitch of vaudeville. There are more of his comedies being played in vaudeville than are credited to any other author.

Margaret Illington recently appeared in Los Angeles in a new play, entitled "Kindling," the work of Charles Kenyon. The play was well received and will soon be seen in New York.

Yvette Guilbert, who will appear in concert under the management of R. E. Johnson, will bring an orchestra of seven to accompany her old-fashioned instruments in a sketch called "An Evening With Marie An-toniette at Varsallies."

The plays in which the celebrated French actress Madame Simone will appear during her fall season in this country are Henri Bernstein's "The Thief" and "The Whirlwind" and Rostan's "The Lady of Dreams."

Madame Simone will play in English.
Weber's Theatre, New York, will open on September 14, when Joe Weber will offer Edmund Breese in "A Man of Honor," a modern drama
by Isaac Landman. Mr. Breese will be supported by Edward H. Robins,
Ben Johnson, Ralph Delmore Muriel
Star, Fay Wallace and Hans Roberts.

A Dark Smoke.

Funny thing about smoking! If a man were compelled to puff a good cigar with his eyes shut the operation would lose its zest. A man who had undergone a slight operation upon one of his eyes had to stay in a darkened room for a week with his optics bandaged. After a few days his doctor told him he could take a gentle smoke
if he liked. He jumped at the chance and to his amazement found it afforded not the slightest pleasure. To be sure, men often smoke in the dark, but there's always the rosy glow of the lighted end to be seen and the faint outline of the cloud of smoke in the air. There's no more fun in a sightless smoke than a saltless egg or a kiss implanted upon your own hand.
What's the psychology of it.—New

Too Late With Consideration.

One of the commonest problems the newspaper has to deal with is the fellow who falls afoul of the law and then wants his name left out of the paper because it will wound the feelings of some of his relatives when they read that he has been up in court. Nothing could be more natural than for one to want to avoid hurting the feeling of any one related or dear to him in any way. What puzzles the average newspaper man is the fact that this magnanimous thought for dear ones' feelings doesn't manifest itself until after the deed that brings disgrace has already been committed and the knowledge of it becomes public property.—Statesville Landmark.

Some Nuts for the Farmers To Crack.

How much do you suppose it costs you a year to repair your wagons and harness on account of bad roads? How much does it cost you a year for shoes and clothing that are ruined by your children wading through the mud to school? How much does it cost you a year for medicine to cure your children's colds contracted in wading through the mud to school and church? How much of a damage a year to you is the mud that prevents your children from attending school, or damage to them, rather, in the loss of an education? How much damage to you is our bad roads in preventing your reaching the markets with your produce?—Fayetteville Index.

Beautification and Deformation.

The Railway Grading Association, at its recent annual convention in Chicago, approved a suggestion of R. W. Hutchinson, landscape gradener of the Pennsylvania lines, that the railroads of the United States and Canada replace all unsightly right-of-way fences with hardy flowering hedges. Much has already been done by the railroads of the country to beautify the open spots about stations and render sightly to the looker-on from the car windows the available spaces alongside the track. The proposed floral hedges would constitute an extension of the work of beautification and afford a continuous delight to the weary traveler. When it is considered how many millions of people are every year carried back and forth over the rails, and how much time is spent on the trains, the effort to make travel more agreeable is well worth while. The pleasure and soothing effect on unstrung nerves so provided amply repay the cost.

But to prevent the natural landscape from being marred and reforming is no less important than artificially to beautify. Along the routes of the trunk line railroads the practice of erecting advertising bill boards has reached such proportions as to render the out look from the car windows one continuous, shrieking, hideous horror. For this the railroads are, of course, not responsible, nor can they say that the nuisance shall be abated. The boards are erected, as a general rule, not on their rights-of-way, but on property over which they have no control. But they can at least, lend their influence to movements to secure legislation restricting, if not absolutely prohibiting, such blighting and blotching of the landscape; and certainly they should so do. There may be a place for the unsightly bill board, but that place is no more along the routes of railway travel than along the streets of a municipality which pretends to the dignity and title of a city.—Va.-Pilot

A Master of Fiction.

"What is Dobbleigh's general reputation for veracity, Bildad?" asked Hick-enlooper.
"Well, it's this way," said Bildad. "If Dobbleigh could write the way he talks he'd have Sir Walter Scott and Alexander Dumas lashed to the mast."
—Harper's Weekly.

No Duty on Anecdotes.

"This sword came from the battle-field of Waterloo. An interesting anecdote goes with it."
"It is a really interesting anecdote," said the other man, after listening carefully. "I bought the same anecdote once with an old musket."
—Washington Herald.

We are put into this world to make it better, and we must be about our business.—General Armstrong.

Good Roads in Our Great Southwest.

But ten years ago, the highest percentage of bad roads—roads of a badness almost impassable—was in the Southeast and Southwest. This is no longer true. From being a fad, good roads have become in the Southwest a public passion on which all men are united, irrespective of party, and on which some of the smaller counties threaten almost to bankrupt themselves. The bicycle was, perhaps the first evangelist of the new movement. Then came the motor. In a land of no winter and little rain and almost perpetual sunshine and tremendous distances off the line of the railroad, the motor became almost a daily necessity. The railroads necessarily follow the easiest grades; and easiest grades in the Southwest mean the desert region. The ranches, the heavy timber open and upland, like German parks, the noble land, the scenic grandeur—all lay more or less back off the beaten highway.

For instance, to go to the Cliff Dwellings of the Jemez by team, takes the better part of a hard day's driving and necessitates rising at four and six. By motor, you can leave at nine, be out in time for lunch at the ranch house, and be back by sundown. The same may be said of the wonderful sulphur springs of Northern New Mexico, the game resorts of the White Mountains, Arizona, and the best scenery of the Grand Canyon.

Then came the influence of the tourist; and that clinched the evangelism of good roads as far as the Southwest was concerned. California suddenly realized that the tourist traffic yearly left her $10,000,000 to the good. San Joaquin county alone in 1910 issued bonds for nearly $2,000,000 for road improvement; and the whole state of California put the stamp of public approval on a plan to issue $18,000,000 of state bonds. Colorado has just voted $10,000,000 of bonds for the improvement of public highways.

The contagion has spread—not gradually but like wildfire—to Arizona and New Mexico and Colorado and Texas and Wyoming. If France and Italy can attract 300,000 American tourists a year by sunny skies and good roads and old ruins, why not New Mexico and Arizona and Colorado which have just as sunny skies and higher altitude and clearer, cooler air, with ruins older than anything in Europe or Egypt, according to Archaeology, by 8000 years?—Agnes C. Laut, in American Review of Reviews.

UNCLE SILAS SULKED.

What Aunt Melissa Had to Say When She Heard the News.

Aunt Melissa Spigott was such an exceedingly energetic talker that the youngsters of the family used to suppose that her tongue must be copper toed, because it never wore out. Uncle Silas, on the other hand, was an economical of words as a marketman is of early strawberries.

The too free exercising of this unruly member of Aunt Melissa's on one occasion gave Uncle Silas serious offense, which he manifested by a severe silence lasting for several days. At the end of that period one of the older daughters approached her mother upon the subject with the remark, "Ma, seems like you ought to make up with pa by now."

"Make up with pa?" exclaimed Aunt Melissa in great astonishment. "Make up what?"

"Why," returned the daughter, "don't you know poor pa's feeling bad yet? He's still huffing."

"Huffing—for the land's sake! How long's he been a-huffing?"

"Ever since you came down on him so hard about wasting sugar by not stirring his coffee; that's three days ago."

"Why, you don't tell me, Janie Maud!" Aunt Melissa looked amazed. "Your pore pa. Been a-huffing for three days, and I never mistrusted a thing of it!"—Youth's Companion.

LOADED SILKS.

The Way the Fabric Is Adulterated to Increase Its Weight.

If properly handled silk is the strongest and most durable of all textile materials, but the various processes of manufacture that remove much of the natural gum cause it to lose so large an amount of its weight that unscrupulous dyers and manufacturers resort to "loading," dipping the thrown silk into a solution of bichloride of tin. Some are not content with restoring the original weight of the raw silk, but "load" it until its weight is multiplied three or four fold. This operation makes the skeins more valuable, but it destroys the durability of the filaments.

Stretching the threads to their elastic limit, so that a given weight will weave a greater number of yards, and steaming to give the material an unnatural luster are other processes that prove profitable to manufacturers, but costly to the consumers and that cause many people to regard silk as an uncertain and treacherous fabric, with an inexplicable tendency to split, crack and fall into holes, even though packed away in drawers or hanging up.

The use of cheap, inferior and destructive dyes is another practice equally injurious and perhaps still more common.—London Family Herald.

MORE THAN 100 CITIES

Using School Buildings Out of School Hours.

Not many years ago we closed our school house doors at four o'clock, and allowed them to remain closed on Saturdays, Sundays and during the summer vacation. In other words, an immense amount of valuable property belonging to the people, and needed by the people, was put to only half of its possible use. Now we are changing all that; we have waked up to the fact that the schools may and should be a common meeting ground, and the movement for a wider use of the school plant is spreading over the country. At present, in more than one hundred cities of the United States school buildings and property are being systematically used to further the social life of the people.

The root of the movement lies deep down in the growing realization that those upon whom falls the heat and burden of the day have a right to more than mere existence. The toilers of the world have been for centuries creatures of the blind necessity of economic laws, but in this era the "laissez-faire" policy is dead and buried. We must give our workers the chance to live; and not the least of the needs of this many-sided business—living—is that of some legitimate form of play. The man who feels no joy in the passing day is only partially alive, and lowered vitality means lowered value as a social factor. The boy who has no chance to play becomes either dull or vicious.—Mary Josephine Mayer, in American Review of Reviews.

Optimistic View.

We may be over sanguine, but for the life of us we can only see signs of better business, both in the immediate and indefinite future. We hope that this is broad enough to justify the statement. In the first place in spite of the grumbling and growling over slow trade, and in spite of the quakings and tremors we have gone through with too much trust prosecution, we are going right along with slow but steady steps toward a return to the greatest volume of trade this country has ever had, counting both home and foreign trade to make up the total. Of course, the foreign trade is partly due to domestic. If we can continue the present rate of prosperity for a few years we shall have the greatest boom this country has ever experienced. We will keep it up if bumper crops still further put down prices of staple products, such as cotton, corn and wheat, and if continued dull trade at home holds down prices of manufactured products to the point where foreign nations will continue to enlarge the volume of their purchases.—Southern Tobacco Journal.

Indiana Women's Golf Tourney. LOGANSPORT, Ind., 24.—A state tournament to decide the women's title kind to be held in Indiana, opened here today with a large and regular championship, the first event of representative list of contestants. Play will continue over tomorrow and Saturday.

Pineapple Juice.

As an aid of digestion, a really material aid, the pineapple stands alone among the fruit. Its vegetable pepsin neutralizes, or perhaps rather digests, albuminous substances in the stomach. Fresh pineapple or, better still, the fresh juice of one placed in direct contact with eggs or gelatine or milk will prove this fact conclusively by producing a bitter tasting dish. In cases of catarrhal ailments of the throat and in its downward connection the alimentary canal or tract pineapple cannot be overestimated, and it acts with equal force in malarial affections.—New York World.

McSwiney's Gun.

Near Horn Head, County Donegal, Ireland, there is a hole in the rocks called McSwiney's gun. It is on the southeast and is said to have connection with a cavern. When the north wind blows and the sea is at half flood the wind and the waves enter the cavern and send up jets of water from the "gun" to a height of more than 100 feet. The jets of water are accompanied by explosions which may be heard for miles.
