SEASON'S PLANS FOR STAR PLAYERS

THEATRICAL SEASON OF 1911-12.

Managers Extremely Active During Summer Months.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The theatrical season of 1911-12 is about to open and the big producing managers of this city, the star players, their supports and all the rest of the thousands connected with the task of preparing things for the opening of the theatrical season are as busy as bees in a clover field. The last weeks preceding the season's opening are indeed full of the most strenuous activity for all concerned and the general public has but a faint idea of the gigantic task of planning and preparing the season's work in the theatrical profession.

The producing managers have been extremely active during the summer months and, after a careful survey of the available new plays produced since the beginning of last season, have made their selection of such plays as, in their opinion, would best fit the peculiar tastes and talents of their star players, masculine as well as feminine. A big crop of new plays has been gathered and practically every one of the prominent stars will be provided with some new medium, in addition to plays already known, in which the stars have won successes in former seasons.

John Drew will open his season at the Empire Theatre, New York, on Labor Day, with "The Single Man" and if the play makes a hit, will probably continue in it for the rest of the season.

Ethel Barrymore will follow John Drew at the Empire Theatre, playing "The Witness for the Defense." Her leading man will be A. E. Anson.

Mrs. Fiske has prepared two new plays for the coming season and will open toward the end of September with "The New Marriage" a comedy by Langdon Mitchell.

Alla Nazimova, who is now under Charles Frohman's management, will appear in a new play adapted from the French, the name of which has not yet been given.

James K. Hackett will have two new plays during the coming season, one by the author of "The World and His Wife," the other of James Fagan.

Robert Edson will begin his season in Providence about the middle of the month, in "The Cave Man," a comedy by Gillette Burgess. Grace Elliston will be his leading man.

Margaret Illington has a new play, called "Kindling," from the pen of Charles Kenyon. She will tour the West during the first part of the season.

Helen Ware will begin her season in Boston in "The Price" and will not reach New York until later in the season.

Elsie Ferguson will not begin her season until some time in October, when she will appear in "Dolly Madison," a play by Charles Nirdlinger.

George Arliss will open his season at Wallack's Theatre, in Louis N. Parker's new play, "Disraeli," founded upon episodes in the life of the great statesman.

Margaret Anglin will present two new plays this coming season. She will open the season in "Green Stockings," and later will try Israel Zangwill's play, "The New Religion."

Frank McIntyre will begin his star season in "Snods," a comedy by Geo. Bronson Howard and will have the support of a strong company.

"The Arab," a new play of the Orient by Edgar Selvon has been selected as the medium for the author of the play, who will play the title role.

Some time next month E. J. Dodson will open his season in "Gountlet's Pride," a new comedy by Hartley Manners and later he will take the play on a tour.

Elsie Janis has decided to continue in "The Slim Princess" during the early part of the season, with the prospect of appearing in a new play later on.

Helen Lowell will star during the coming season in "Next," a new farce by Rida Johnson Young and expects to open her season early in September.

Cyril Scott will appear in a new play entitled "A Modern Marriage," which has been adapted from the German by Harrison Rhodes.

George M. Cohan has been persuaded to return to the stage and, supported by his parents will appear in his own play, "The Little Millionaire" Henrietta Crossman will start her

THE BEATTIE TRIAL.

Witnesses For The Prosecution Being Examined.

CHESTERFIELD C. H., Va., Aug. 24.—On this, the anniversary of his marriage to the woman he stands accused of murdering, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., sat in the stuffy courtroom today and heard seven witnesses, called by the commonwealth, give testimony on which the prosecution hopes to send him to the electric chair.

On the courthouse lawn, only a few feet away, stood the blood-soaked automobile in which the young wife met her death. Beattie himself calmly inspected the car when it arrived today, and not once during today's proceedings did he show any signs of blanching.

Twice during the cross-examination of two detectives he flushed with amusement and struggled to hold back his laughter.

Of the seven witnesses examined today were physicians: Dr. Herbert Mann and Dr. Wilbur Mercer, who examined Louise Beattie's body on the night of the murder. The others were Thomas Erwin, a court stenographer and uncle of Mrs. Beattie; Detectives Wren and Wiltshire, of Richmond, who investigated the case; Coroner Loving, of Chesterfield county, and May Stuart, a stout middle-aged woman, who told of Beattie's associations with Beulah Binford.

None of the witnesses except Mr. Owen recalled that Beattie had displayed any grief over the tragedy. Others said they had not seen him shed a tear.

CONFERENCE OF SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES

HOLD COTTON FOR 13 CENTS.

John Sharp Williams, Senator Owen, and Others in Conference.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—"Hold cotton for thirteen cents," is the advice to be formally given to the farmers organizations by a committee consisting of Senators Williams, of Mississippi, and Owen, of Oklahoma, and Representative Burleson, of Texas, representing the conference of senators and representatives from seven cotton-growing states. The committee will urge state banking associations to co-operate against the "bearish movement of the speculators."

The conference discussed the "threatening condition of the cotton market." Among the participants were Senators Williams and Owen, and Representative Underwood, of Georgia, Burleson and Beall, of Texas, Garrett, of Tennessee, Humphreys, of Mississippi, and Small, of North Carolina. A number of them are large cotton planters. The committee issued a statement, which read:

"It seems, in the opinion of all, that there was a preconcerted effort being made, principally through the instrumentality of the speculative element of the New York cotton exchange, to break down the price of cotton. It was the opinion of all present that the statistical condition of cotton did not justify the lowness of present quotations and the estimate of 15,000,000 bales was unjustified by any facts upon which a prediction could be safely based, and moreover, even if a 15,000,000 bale crop were in sight, the world's supply will probably fall short of the world's demand for cotton to the extent of more than 1,000,000 bales, because of the exhaustion of the present visible supply of carried over spot cotton. In other words, that with a 15,000,000 American crop the world's crop would sum up only 25,000,000, with 14,000,000 of spindles creating an active demand for 26,000,000 bales. This opinion is based upon the latest advices from Egypt, India, China, and other cotton producing countries."

The statement refers to the appointment of a committee to write, in the name of those present, a letter to the president of the farmers' organizations generally, asking them to advise their local union and other subordinate bodies to advise the farmers generally to hold their cotton for thirteen cents, and continue to demand that price until by convention or agreement, "arrived at in some way a different one shall be suggested." The conference expressed the view that thirteen cents was seemingly less than that justified by existing statistical conditions. The statements, continue:

"Information was given at an informal conference that assurances would be given President Barrett, or to southern banks, that ample funds from banks outside of the south could be had through the instrumentality of southern financial institutions to be lent at six per cent. per annum to those who did not wish to dispose of their cotton at a sacrifice upon cotton warehouse statistics. This committee subsequently met in the office of Senator Williams, of Mississippi, and concluded that the best way to carry out the ideas suggested and agreed upon, was to give this statement to the Associated Press, signed Robert S. Owen, John Sharp Williams, A. S. Burleson."

Fine Cotton Fields.

Mr. J. E. Winslow has shown us photographs taken of cotton fields on his farm near town. Several men are shown standing among the cotton, and the plants came up to their shoulders. The photographs make the field look like solid masses of plants. There is hardly any finer cotton in the county than Mr. Winslow has on his farm.

LEXINGTON.—After hearing arguments of the attorneys in the action of State vs. Mrs. Charles Noel, who is charged with assisting her husband in the "white slave" traffic, Judge Daniels last night granted the motion of counsel for the defendant to move the case to another county. He set the case for trial in Rowan county, August 30. It was contended by the defense that a fair trial could not be obtained in Davidson county. Noel was last week sentenced to serve 15 years in the penitentiary.

RALEIGH.—There was much interest here this afternoon over the announcement that Raleigh had captured the next annual meeting of the state council, J. O. U. A. M., which meet this week in Asheville. The capital city has the handsomest auditorium in the South—though not the largest, perhaps—and is well able to take care of any convention. Several new hotels in the past year, together with the building of the auditorium, have resulted in this city getting its share of conventions.

BATTLESHIP UTAH COMPLETE.

Will Be Turned Over to the Government Tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—The giant battleship Utah will be turned over to the government at the League Island Navy Yard tomorrow by her builders, the New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden. The Utah and her sister ship, the Florida, now nearing completion at the Brooklyn navy yards, are the latest and mightiest fighting units in the United States navy and one or the other will supersede the Connecticut as the flagship of the Atlantic fleet.

The Utah was built and equipped in record time and when turned over to the government tomorrow will have taken only a little over eighteen months to be made ready for active service. It is expected a speed of 22 knots will be made by the vessel, propelled by the enormous turbine engines of the Parsons type. She is the first of the large battleships to use these turbines.

When completely manned the Utah will carry 1,000 officers and men, and will have the largest steaming radius of any vessel at present in commission because of the unique feature of the oil tanks constructed along the bottom of the ship, which will carry a large quantity of fuel oil to be used under the specially arranged boilers.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., August 25.—A new and fatal epidemic in Mitchell county is baffling skilled physicians who have made every effort to check the malady, which manifests itself by small bloodshot stains on the tips of the fingers, passing through the arm into the body, reaching the heart and resulting in apparently painless death within a few days after the first sign appears. The plague has claimed a number of victims, including Dr. E. P. Slagle in Mitchell county.

NEW COUNTY JAIL

CHRISTENED

FIRST PRISONERS INCARCERATED

And They Were Responsible For Burning of Old Jail.

Though all the finishing touches have not yet been put on Pitt county's new jail, it was christened to use as a prison today. Deputy Sheriff T. R. Moore early this morning turned the key on the first prisoner, a colored man named Daniel Mitchell. Before dinner the number of prisoners had grown to six, all colored. Deputy Sheriff K. W. Cobb and Policeman G. A. Clark both having been busy in the meantime making the arrests.

A remarkable thing about these first prisoners in the new jail is they are charged with the responsibility of the burning of the old jail in February of last year. Everybody remembers the big fire that occurred on the night of the 24th of that month, starting in the old frame buildings once used by the John Flanagan Buggy Co., and practically sweeping two blocks, the buildings destroyed including the court house, jail and Masonic temple.

It was not known at the time how this fire started, but the origin has come to light. A negro in the guard house last night told that a bunch of his companions were in the old Flanagan building playing craps. There was a falling out among them and in a fight which followed one of them threw the improvised lamp (a bottle filled with oil with a rag for a wick) at another and this started the fire. The names of all engaged in the crap game and fight were furnished the officers and the arrest of the parties followed.

The names of the parties arrested besides Mitchell, were Jim Williams, Joe Foreman, Barney Burgin, Herman Baptist, Herman Cherry, Joe Perkins and Jim Tucker, Jr. They were given a preliminary hearing this afternoon before Justice C. R. Rountree and all except Jim Williams, who was released, were bound over to Superior court.

LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE.

Every county, every township, and every community where the population is sufficiently dense, should have a law and order league. Such a league should not be organized to take the execution of the law and order into its own hands, but to see that the law is enforced. The officers to whom are left the execution of the law should have both the moral and physical support of their community. An officer often risks his life when he goes out to execute the law, and cases are but of recent occurrence where officers have been assassinated for performing their duty. Public sentiment should be so strong behind law and its enforcement, that such things as this could not exist. An officer will go about his duty with less fear if he knows the people are standing behind him. A law and order league properly conducted could make public sentiment so strong that the man who commits crime will know that he must leave the community or take the punishment that his crime deserves. The laws will not be enforced as they should be until the people give their support.

Oklahoma comes forward with another outrageous lynching, if it may be called such. A negro assaulted the wife of a farmer and was captured by three members of his own race. In the broad day light a brush pile was made on the main street of Purcell, the negro was placed on this and roasted to death.

If they want the people to have pure food, Dr. Wiley should be continued on his job. The latest seizure by the government was a lot of maraschka cherries that were far from being the real article.

The Wilmington Star has not much respect for the knocker. It says, "Nine cases out of ten, a knocker is a man who hangs out down town while his wife is at home nailing on loose pallings."

The Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City will close for the season on Monday, 28th. The hotel has had a good season, and clear to the end the big catch of fish stories kept in evidence.

It is customary for cities to go forward and keep headed in that direction, but Birmingham seems an exception. That city has gone back to licensed saloons.

Profit by Others' Experience.
Many people make light of profiting by the experience of others, which always shows lack of judgment, and sometimes recklessness. Some of the many people go further and sneer at the experience of others as held up before them. The desire of a human derelict to reform is frequently scoff-

A Peek Into His Pocket.
Would show the box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve that E. S. Loper, a carpenter, of Marilla, N. Y., always carries. "I have never had a cut, wound or bruise, or sore it would not heal," he writes: "Greatest healer of burns, boils, scalds, chapped hands and lips, fever-sores, skin-eruptions, eczema, corns and piles. 25 cents at all drug-gists."

ed at, and the efforts of the man to reform move the thistles from the path he has trod are often hooted; the rather strained and painful position being assumed by the scoffers that "he is a pretty one to talk about reform," when he was one of the deepest dyed of the erring, or sinning. Such twaddle on the part of the on-looker is indeed disgusting. The man who has slushed about in the mud, has felt the loathsomeness of the slime and has managed to finally scramble out of the gutter is in a better position than any other to tell of the temptations, the snares and the actual disastrous results. He is the man who should shun such spots in future, and people who fail to heed simply because they think that mortal should not talk reform, because he blundered, or did what was vile, stand an excellent chance of going a-ground in the mud themselves, because their lack of conception is only exceeded by their dogma and narrow-mindedness. So many people throw away chances to profit by the experience of others. So many people have beheld disaster, throw its black cord around the strong neck of man, and place its crown of thorns on the fair brow of woman. Yet they have made light of it and have gone gaily into the arena to struggle with the invincible foe. The inevitable result was pain and sorrow.

If you can't pity the alleged patient you can at least note his story, and you can see for yourself whether or not there are pitfalls to be avoided. Error lines the path of everyday life and it is human to err, and while it is hard to avoid stubbing the toe on the small stones of blunder it is easy to avoid the cess-pools of mistakes, if one will but be cautious. Illustrations come to hand every day in hamlet and in city, where one can profit by the unfortunate, harsh experience of another. Note them and, after so noting, you do not admit that a person can profit by the experience of another, why go ahead. Your experience will furnish a danger sign for people who are more careful, and wiser. For example, this illustration came the other day, being the declaration of Mrs. Napoleon, known as "the best dressed woman in Newport," who is suing her husband, a Frenchman with a title, for a divorce:

"My divorce will add a chapter to the long story of unfortunate marriages between American girls and foreigners, all of them hinging on the money of the American girls. That is all the foreigners care for, a fact which their American wives find out all too soon. I would advise American girls to marry only men of their country, since they are kinder, more faithful, more considerate and, more worthy in every way."—Wilmington Dispatch.

A woman has been sent to an asylum on the complaint that she bought too much on her husband's account. If there is any general movement along that line the chances are that the institutions will have to be greatly enlarged.—New York Herald.

Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from the John L. Wooten Drug Company, relieved my aches and pains and improved my condition greatly. I cannot praise this remedy too strongly."

If We Knew.

Could we but draw back the curtains
That surround each other's lives.
See the naked heart and spirit,
Know what spur the action gives.
Often we should find it better,
Purer than we judge we should;
We should love each other better,
If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives,
See the good and bad within,
Often we should love the sinner,
All the while we loathe the sin.
Could we know the powers working,
To overthrow integrity,
We should judge each other's errors
With more patient charity.

If we knew the cares and trials
Knew the effort, all in vain,
And the bitter disappointment,
Understood the loss and gain,
Would the grim, eternal roughness
Seem, I wonder, just the same?
Should we help, where now we hinder?
Should we pity where we blame?

Ah! We judge each other harshly,
Knowing not life's hidden force;
Knowing not the fount of action
Is less turbid at its source,
Seeing not amid the evil
All the golden grains of good;
O! we'd love each other better,
If we only understood.

Born.

August 25th, 1911, to Mr. and Mrs. Robt. H. Wright—a son.

"THIS IS MY 68th BIRTHDAY."

Col. James Mason.

Colonel James Mason, well known as a military man and financier, was born in Toronto, August 25, 1843. After leaving school he entered the service of a Toronto bank, of which he became manager and director. As a young man he was ardently and actively interested in military affairs and served for three years in the Queen's Own Rifles, during the Fenian Raid troubles. In 1882 he was gazetted captain in the Tenth Royal Grenadiers. During the North-West Rebellion of 1885, Colonel Mason commanded a service company, which was the first company to cross the Saskatchewan at the Fish Creek fight. After crossing the stream Colonel Mason volunteered to rush with his company the final position held by the rebels, but General Middleton, the commanding officer, refused to allow the charge. At Batoche, the seat of the rebellion, Colonel Mason was severely wounded. He attained the command of his regiment in 1893 and four years later was one of the Canadian officers to the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

Six Things to do in August.

1. Give special attention to the milk vessels. Rinse in cold water before they are scalded. Summer diseases of children are brought on largely by unclean milk.
2. Remember that the quality of butter depends upon careful handling of the milk.
3. See that all domestic animals and fowls have a liberal supply of clean water.
4. Keep an eye on the garbage. See that it is properly disposed of.
5. See that enough tomatoes are canned for soups during the winter months.
6. Cut down the meat diet during the warm months. Introduce the cooling salads into the diet.

August Canning.

The success of canning depends upon absolute sterilization and heating the fruit till all the germs are destroyed, then sealing it air tight while scalding hot.

For canning use one-third to one-half as much sugar as fruit.

For preserving use three-fourths as much sugar as fruit.

For jam use equal amount of sugar and fruit.

For jelly use equal amount of sugar and juices.

For canning use only perfectly sound fruit, both firm and of good quality.

For preserving fruit is both cut up and left whole.

For jam imperfect or over-ripe fruit may be used.

For jelly fruit should be under-ripe.

Cook small quantities at a time.

Have the fruit boiling hot when put into the jars.

Fruits in a hot, dry season require less sugar than in a cool, damp season.—Ex.

A PRECIOUS MOSAIC.

For ages upon ages happiness has been represented as a huge precious stone impossible to find and which people seek for hopelessly. It is not so. Happiness is a mosaic composed of a thousand little stones which separately and of themselves have little value, but which united with art form a graceful design.—Mme. de Girardin.

The Confederate Independence.

It seems to me as I look back that one of the things which stood out strongly in the Confederate army was the independence and the initiative of the individual soldier. It would have been a better army in the field if it had been welded together by a stricter discipline.—but this defect was largely atoned for by the strong individuality of the units in the column. It was not easy to demoralize a body composed of men who thought and acted in a spirit of independence in battle.

As an illustration of the spirit of the private soldier I recall an incident to this effect. Major General Gordon had organized a strong column to make a night attack on Grant's lines at Petersburg. When he was ready to move and the order to advance was given, a big Texan stepped out of the ranks and said: "General Gordon, this column can't move before 1 a. m. The men have a truce with the Yanks, and it ain't up till 1 o'clock." The column did not move till that hour. The private in the ranks had taken command, and the Major General recognized his authority!—From "Glimpses of the Confederate Army," by Randolph H. McKim, in the American Review of Reviews for April.

Snake Story Corrected.

Mr. J. C. Boon, of this township, informs us that we were slightly in error last week in stating that the 9-foot chicken snake which he killed in his hen house one night recently was found, upon examination, to have shortly devoured thirteen young wild turkeys. Instead of being turkeys, Mr. Boon states that they were all young chickens and that just as the snake was in the act of devouring the old hen he arrived on the scene with a hoe and not only saved the life of the hen, but compelled the snake to disgorge some half a dozen of the small chicks.

And now comes the remarkable part of the story, which Mr. Boon vouches (and he is known by all his acquaintances as a most reputable man), and that is, the young chicks which the snake disgorged hopped out alive, were raised by the old hen and later were eaten by Mr. Boon and his fam-

FAIR DIRECTORS MEET.

Getting In Readiness For Fair To Be Held In November.

The governing board of the Pitt County Fair Association met here today to consider matters in connection with the county fair to be held on the 2nd and 3rd of November. Everything points to the fair being a splendid success. Enough of the township committees reported subscriptions secured for the premium list to show that the premium list is assured.

The executive committee was authorized to make such additions to the premium list as may be found advisable.

The next meeting of the governing board will be held on the last Friday in September, 29th. In the meantime everybody should be talking the fair and those who are to make exhibits should be getting some of their best products ready. The premium list covers a great many articles.

The Blowhard.

We have watched the gentlemen who blow with a good deal of interest, some amusement and a degree of pity. They make a confidant of everybody they meet and tell how much business they are doing and how much money they are making and what rosy prospects are right in front of them. They suppress no detail but make a clean breast of all their transactions except their losses. Not many years since we encountered one of these prosperous brethren who talked so loud about his amazing success that a couple of drummers sitting near heard every word he said. After he left the car they remarked that they did not enjoy the pleasure of his acquaintance but they were willing to wager any reasonable amount that his capital stock was wind. It turned out even so. The magnate collapsed and his creditors held the bag. The man who is really doing things has little to say about it. There is something else doing his talking, rather than his tongue. He goes quietly on his way and pushes his business, and the world soon discovers that is somebody. We have recently heard of a farmer who has been making a mighty stir in the world, and whose fortune was reckoned in five figures by people at a distance; but his neighbors say that he is simply a gas bag, and that his debts are his biggest possessions. The same thing is largely true in the moral realm. The man of modest worth who never parades himself or his attainment is usually the man who is doing things for the uplift of the race. Modesty is a beautiful trait and there never was a time when it needed more to be cultivated than today.—Charity and Children.
