FERNBANK DAM AND LOCKS

Cincinnati Celebrating Completion of $13,000,000 Enterprise

OHIO TO BE NAVIGABLE ALL YEAR

Six Waters Mingle With The Ohio—Great Home-Coming Alumni Meeting and Other Events Swell Crowds Improving Ohio River.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 4.—The city is gaily decorated and the big crowds in the down-town streets lend a festive air to the opening today of the great celebration in honor of the completion of the Fernbank dam across the Ohio river. The festivities will continue through the week and the program comprises the official dedication of the dam, upon which occasion six bottles, containing water from the Great Lakes, the Mississippi river, the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans, the Panama canal and the Gulf of Mexico, will be broken over the new dam, so as to mingle their waters with the water of the Ohio river; river and street parades, roving regattas, motor boat races, band contests and many other features of entertainment.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, the committee of citizens in charge of the celebration and other civic bodies the week has been made a home-coming week for a large number of former Cincinnatians and the meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, the re-union of alumni of the University of Cincinnati and other gatherings of a similar nature will contribute to swell the crowds of visitors and add to the festive character of the occasion.

The Fernbank dam, the completion of which, on July 22, last, is the occasion of this week's celebration, is one of the important links in the chain of Ohio river improvements undertaken by the United States government for the purpose of improving and facilitating navigation upon the Ohio river, which forms an important waterway giving an outlet for the commerce of a large area of the middle west to the Mississippi river and by the latter to the sea. In accordance with the general plan for the improvement of the Ohio river, as sanctioned by the United States government, a chain of fifty-four dams will be constructed across the river between Pittsburg and Cairo, each provided with locks for passing river crafts around the dams. The entire improvement is expected to involve a total cost of about $50,000,000, and, when completed, will insure nine feet of water in every part of the river, from Pittsburg to Cairo, all the year round. In view of the fact that heretofore navigation in the upper and middle course of the Ohio frequently had to be suspended for several weeks and even months at a time owing to the low stage of water, the importance of this improvement can scarcely be overestimated.

The general project of the Fernbank dam was adopted by congress on June 3, 1902, when an appropriation of $100,000 was made for the preliminary work of surveying and planning the dam. The actual work on the dam was begun in May, 1905, and the work was practically completed in January of the present year. Additional work on the river banks near the dam was necessary, however, and the sand accumulated in the recesses of the lock-gates had to be removed and not until July 22, last, was the American flag hoisted from the big flagstaff at the dam by Maj. Jervey, in charge of the work, and the dam and lock placed in commission. The first craft which passed through the lock on the morning of that day was a gasoline launch, named Ramona owned by the Ramona Club. Capt. Albert Bettinger, who had worked indefatigably for the improvement, and a number of prominent Cincinnati citizens were on the boat when it passed through the lock.

The Fernbank dam, the construction of which cost $13,000,000, has a width of 1185 feet, with a lock 900 feet long and 110 feet wide. The lock is on the Ohio side of the river, while the so-called "Bear-Traps," which can be operated by compressed air so as to regulate the flow of water through the dam, are located close

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.

Three Years Ago Noted for Bad Roads Now His Improved Highways.

McNeill's township, Moore county, should be an object lesson to the people of the whole South. Three years ago the township was noted for its abominable roads. Today according to a statement from John R. McQueen, road supervisor, the township has nearly seventy miles of improved roads, money in the treasury to build more, money coming with the taxes soon due, and the sinking fund to provide for the bond issue has already reduced the bonded debt incurred at the beginning of the road-building period.

When the township decided to try for good roads it was proposed to do the work with the taxes. This was sufficient to show what a good road signified. Then a bond issue of $15,000 was voted. From that bond issue the present mileage has been constructed, and $2,000 of the debt has been paid from the funds accumulated in the sinking fund. The debt will be wiped out in a few years, eight or ten at the most, and the increased value in property will give an increase in taxes that will put the township on an entirely different plane.

J. E. Buchan, in a speech on the subject of good roads at Raeford recently, said that not a farm in McNeill's township was more than two miles from a good road at the present, with roads still pushing in all directions, while four years ago most farms scarcely knew what a good road meant. The township is big, and not within a day's travel of a passable road when the movement began. Now it is one of the most agreeable sections of the South to travel in wagon, buggy or automobile. The difference in the life of the people is astonishing. New air thrills and interest spring up, traffic is on an entirely new basis, farms have a different appearance, and the general stimulus to everything is beyond measure.

The results in McNeill's are most accurately measured by the vote for road bonds taken recently in Sand Hills township adjoining. Sand Hills has been like McNeill's, without roads. But when the vote was taken it was almost unanimous in both precincts for a bond issue, and already the township is getting good roads, the equal of those of McNeill's.

Never was a more complete conversion. Those who opposed good roads in McNeill's four years ago are now adherents of the improvement, and no price would induce them to go back to the old system. Around Vass, Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Aberdeen, Lakeview, and vicinity travel is a pleasure as well as a profit. Hoke county is fast getting into the line, and Cumberland is joining the movement, and, in two or three years more it will be almost impossible to find a main road in this section that is not like a boulevard.—News and Observer.

National Motor Boat Races.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The annual national motor boat carnival held under the auspices of the Motor Boat Club of America began in Huntington, L. I., today and will last through the week. The feature of the carnival will be the races for the British International cup; otherwise known as the Harmsworthy trophy, which will be defended by three American boats against an equal number of British challengers.

Mother Cures Snake Bite.

PIERRE, S. D., Sept. 2.—Myrtle Olson, a nine-year-old girl, of Lantry, was bitten in the leg by a rattlesnake and was hurried to her home. Her mother, considering the case required heroic actions, slashed the wound with a table knife, washed it out with kerosene, then covered the incision with salt and waited for a physician. As a result of the treatment, the child is walking about today, little the worse for the experience.

A man arrested for vagrancy naturally has a pinched look.

to the Kentucky shore. The Bear-traps have a total width of 240 feet and between them and the lock is the dam proper, formed of 225 wickets, of a total width of 900 feet. It is expected that the total improvement work in the Ohio river will be completed in about ten or twelve years.

MRS. C. A. WHITE DEAD.

An Excellent Woman Passes From Earth.

About 7 o'clock Sunday evening, at her home on Dickinson avenue, there passed from earth the spirit of Mrs. Louise A. White, wife of Capt. C. A. White. The death of this excellent woman fills many hearts with sadness, for she was greatly beloved by all who knew her. Hers had been a life of closest devotion to her family and friends, and none could have been called from earth who will be more missed. Patient, gentle, kind and loving, there was an influence in her life that drew the hearts of all to her.

Mrs. White was 70 years of age, and is survived by her husband and four children—Messrs. S. T., J. B. and R. C. and Mrs. Lula Fleming. The aged husband and sorrowing children have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their bereavement.

The funeral takes place at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Cherry Hill cemetery with services conducted by Rev. C. M. Rock. The pall bearers are Messrs. R. W. King, W. L. Brown, D. L. James, R. L. Carr, N. W. Jackson, J. L. Wooten, D. E. House, C. O'H. Laughinghouse, R. C. Flanagan, J. G. Moye and J. L. Little.

AQUATIC CARNIVAL AT ASTORIA.

Greatest Aquatic Carnival Ever Held In That Section of Country.

The affair is to be held in connection with the centennial celebration and the events will include swimming competitions, rowing contests and trophy for sailing yachts and motor boats.

Returns to Finish Term in Penn.

RALEIGH.—Charles Tinsley, of Vance county, applied voluntarily yesterday to the penitentiary authorities to be recommitted to the prison to complete a sentence of one year for larceny and receiving. He had begun the sentence in October, 1903, and escaped in December while serving as a "trusty." Since then he went to Virginia, first to Richmond and then to Danville, where he became involved in a highway robbery and was sent to the Virginia penitentiary for six years. He was pardoned after five years service and spent two years in Atlantic City, where he has accumulated a bank account of $700. He says the dread of being an escaped convict has impelled him to come back to finish his North Carolina sentence. He hopes for a pardon in time.

Convention of Postoffice Clerks.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 4.—Several hundred delegates, representing nearly every state in the Union, were present here today when the annual convention of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks met. The sessions will continue four days, and the programme shows that there is much business to be transacted. A movement is on foot to defeat the re-election of President Frank P. Rogers and other of the present national officers, the opposition asserting that their administration has been inefficient. Alleged failure of the officers to push legislation desired by the membership is the principal grievance.

WHAT DOETH IT PROFIT IF THE SOUL IS LOST

DISCUSSED BY PRAYER LEAGUE.

The Whole World Cannot Compare With the Loss of a Soul.

A little further increased attendance marked the meeting of the Men's Prayer League in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. "Profit and Loss" was the subject for consideration and this was discussed with much interest by Messrs. E. A. Moye and J. L. Jackson. Some of the strong parts brought out were, the value of a soul, all the wealth, honor and social position of the world would not equal it, what is gained and what is lost, and how cheaply men sometimes sell their souls.

Next Sunday afternoon the meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church. Subject, "The Lord Looketh at the Heart." Text, I Samuel, 16:7. Leaders, Messrs. E. H. Thomas, H. D. Bateman and D. M. Clark.

An effort will be made to still further increase the attendance next Sunday. The benefit derived from these meetings is worth making even some sacrifice to obtain. Men should remember that they are going through this life but once, and if they could gain the whole world it would not compensate for the loss of even one soul.

BETTER TO BURN SOME?

Or Try Joseph's Plan And Store Cotton.

NEW YORK.—Col. Robert M. Thompson declared that as a mere matter of money it would be better for the country if, in the event of the South producing the 15,000,000 bale cotton crop some persons predict, the farmers should burn two million bales in the fields.

"Better than that, however, would be the establishment of a warehouse system by which the surplus cotton could be held off the market," he said. "Joseph had the right idea back in the days of Pharaoh, when he stored up grain in fat years against the time when lean harvests threatened famine. It's entirely feasible to apply these methods today, unless, perhaps the Sherman Anti-Trust law be held to forbid. In that event the Sherman Anti-Trust law should be amended or repealed."

ROGER Q. MILLS DEAD.

Was One of Best Known Democrats In The Country.

CORSICANA, Tex., Sept. 2.—Former United States senator from Texas, Roger Q. Mills, died at his home here Saturday. Senator Mills was one of the best known men in Texas politics and in his twenty-four years' record as a member of house of representatives and the senate he took a leading part on the Democratic side. He was born in Kentucky, March 30, 1832.

Great German Naval Review.

One hundred and forty vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 400,000 tons and a personnel of 25,000 men will be seen in line. Two of the 22 battleships will be of the Helligoland or super-dreadnought type, of 22,800 tons.

Minnesota State Fair.

In addition to the educational exhibits the management has provided an attractive programme of entertainment. Horse racing, aeroplane flights, band concerts and various outdoor spectacles are included among the features.

Half Time For Cotton Mills.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 4.—The majority of the Fall River print cloth mills were put on half time today. Some of the mills are to run three days weekly and other alternate weeks.

PLATFORM OF WALTER CLARK

A Candidate For The United States Senate.

The following taken from Judge Clark's letter to Hon. A. Hall Johnston, 17 May, 1911, accepting the invitation of friends to become a candidate for the United States Senate, expresses objects for which he will work if chosen to that body:

1. Adequate and unequivocal legislation that will destroy the trusts.

2. Tariff for revenue only. Protection levies tribute, in favor of a class, upon all other classes. It is unjust and undemocratic.

3. Election of U. S. senators and U. S. judges by the people.

4. Election of postmasters by the people of each locality.

5. He also favors putting Confederate soldiers on U. S. pension list, not only in justice to them, but to stop the financial drain from the South, which has already paid to Federal pensioners more than the war indemnity (1,000 millions dollars) which France paid to Germany.

6. A parcels post, especially for the country districts.

7. Public regulation of railroads and other common carriers, but operation of telegraph and telephones by post office, as in all other countries. This will give lower rates to the public, with shorter hours and better pay to employees.

8. He also advocates the destruction of corrupt methods by strict restriction of the purposes and amounts for which candidates, or others for them, can expend money at elections and in primaries, and full publicity of all such expenses, before and after each primary and election.

9. State-wide primaries for U. S. senators and all state officers.

10. The adoption of the initiative, the referendum, and the recall—the latter for such officers, state, county, or town, as may be designated by law.

11. Extension of public schools and good roads.

12. Enforcement of laws regulating hours of labor, prohibiting child labor and requiring safety appliances.

13. Execution in good faith after election of all pledges made before.

DR. COOK OPENS UP.

North Pole Fakir Brings Sensational Charges Against Fakir Peary.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, before the international congress of the Geographical Society, brought sensational charges against Admiral Robert E. Peary today. He repeats his assertion that he and not Peary discovered the North Pole and asks the international congress to appoint a committee to investigate.

Dr. Cook said: "I have purposed to wait so I could marshal my material in proper order. I have now all my proofs and in addition evidence of fraud and bribery in a conspiracy to discredit me."

He says he did not send all the evidence to Copenhagen and assails Peary's record as "bordering on the improbable."

Change in Bursars.

Mr. J. B. Spilman, formerly of Droughan's Business college with headquarters at Nashville, who is to succeed Prof. C. W. Wilson as bursar of East Carolina Teachers' Training school, has arrived to enter upon his duties. Prof. Wilson will hereafter have charge of the department of pedagogy in the school. Mr. Spilman is a brother of Rev. B. W. Spilman, who is well known here.

Deer Going to School.

Children attending the Center school in Barhamsted, Conn., were astonished, as well as the teacher, the other day, to see a deer at the school house windows. The session was temporarily interrupted to permit the pupils to count the heard, which numbered 24.

Virginia State Shoot.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 4.—A number of well known shots faced the traps here today at the opening of the annual state shooting tournament. The affair will last two days and is being conducted under the auspices of the Lynchburg Gun Club.

Gallant Youth Has Bride of 96.

TROY, Mo., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Nancy Edey, 96 years old, was married for the sixth time yesterday to Reed Inlow, 24 years old. The bride's fifth husband died six months ago on the county poor farm at Troy.

NORTH CAROLINA HAPPENINGS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Told for The Reflector's Busy Readers.

FAYETTEVILLE.—Lonnie Long and wife, Lina Riddle Long, first persons convicted under the North Carolina "White Slave" law, were given their sentence by Judge Whedbee, in the Superior court, of one year on the roads and in the jail, the woman receiving the latter sentence. Judge Whedbee's arraignment of the pair in imposing sentence was very severe. He expressed regret that the maximum punishment had been fixed at twelve months under the indictment of the case.

GREENSBORO.—One of the largest gifts ever made for the education of young women in North Carolina was made by J. W. Fitzgerald, of Davidson county. Mr. Fitzgerald has agreed to donate to the trustees of Greensboro Female college the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of erecting a dormitory, on the condition that other friends of the college contribute $15,000.

John H. Westry, a farmer, was found dead in a branch about two hundred yards from his house on the G. W. Colley farm, five miles from this city, at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. Foul play is feared, as so far as is known, there was no reason to believe that his death was accidental and the water was not deep enough to drown him. Westry was about 45 years of age and leaves a wife and five children.—Rocky Mt. Record.

Recently a man near here went out and killed a rabbit for turtle bait. He had two hooks, so he put a piece of rabbit on each hook and deposited them where he thought it was most likely to attract turtles. Next morning as he went down to examine his hooks, to his surprise he found that he had a turtle on one hook and had a cur dog on the other.—Spring Hope Leader.

The county superintendent has just made his second report to State Superintendent Joyner, and the records show that about 85 per cent. of the children in Watauga were enrolled in the public schools last year, and that nearly 50 per cent. were in attendance every day.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1911.

September is the school opening month, and those already started are reporting large attendance.

So much free advice is given to farmers, that the donors of it are in danger of being called a cheap set.

There are said to be three hundred applications for positions as colonel on the staff of the governor of Georgia.

From the way the courts are dealing with white slave offenders, it is evident that such a business cannot thrive in North Carolina.

Every cross roads neighborhood could have a team and get up baseball enthusiasm, but with football there is a difference. That is confined to the schools and colleges.

As high as is the cost of living, especially when it comes to vegetables and eggs, two women led an attack in a Chicago riot in which these things were freely used as missiles.

A hundred million of Uncle Sam's good money is estimated to have been spent by American visitors in Europe in the last four months. We have to get in the push and help take care of the fellows on the other side.

Until judges are better paid it may be expected that they will resign now and then. While the honor is something they like to have if they can afford it, a good lawyer can make more out of his practice than he can as a judge.

Those who have been saying that $50,000 would not be sufficient to improve the roads of Greenville township, should carefully note the article in another column showing what has been done with less money in one township of Moore county.

Governor Woodrow Wilson thinks the American farmer is somewhat behind the pace with farmers of some other countries, and is not helping himself as much as he might. This is no doubt true, but is not going to be true long, as the American farmer is now waking up to his opportunities as never before and is striking out to help himself.

Congressman Carter, of Oklahoma, is somewhat a pugilist. He was in a Washington store shopping with his daughter. Leaving his daughter alone for a while, a clerk insulted her. Learning of the insult the congressman waded into the offending clerk with his fist. Three other clerks rushed up to aid their com-

The Sunshine of Praise.
Mrs. Stowe states the truth effectively when she says: "Praise is sunshine; it warms, it inspires, it promotes growth; blame and rebuke are rain and hail; they beat down and bedraggle even though they may at times be necessary."

John Ruskin in his book, "Sesame and Lillies," says: "The greatest efforts of the race have always been traceable to the love of praise." "We live by admiration," says another writer, but I prefer to say: "We live not by admiration, but by appreciation." For lack of appreciation many a fine spirit has fainted by the way, many a loving heart has shut itself up in loneliness, many an aspiring soul has fallen short of success. A man does a piece of work in the home, or the church, or the community and he does it with all the earnestness and skill of which he is capable, and he feels he has done it well, and yet not one word of encouragement comes to him. His enthusiasm is chilled, and he says: "What's the use of excelling if nobody cares?" There is nothing more pathetic in life than to see men, women, and children every day hungering and thirsting with the deepest, direst longing, while all around are those who could satisfy the yearning, if only they would let fall a few gracious, kindly words. Alas! these words are never spoken, and hearts pine that might have been inspired to do magnificent deeds, and lives that might have made immortal music pass into the dark and hopeless silence.—Christian Herald.

Dog Sold For Taxes.
For the first time in the history of Wake county, so far as the records show, a dog was sold at auction for taxes yesterday, the beast bringing $5.13. The auctioneer was Mr. O. L. Parham, of the sheriff's office and the highest bidder a colored man by the name of Charlie Walters, while the canine, previous to its seizure by Deputy Sheriff J. J. Harward, was the property of one Henry Richardson, colored.
Henry, being in humble circumstances, owed only $4.03 taxes. Of this amount $3.03 was poll tax and $1. tax on his dog, which was his only possession.—News and Observer.

Four hundred and eight bales of cotton from a 200-acre field is the wonderful record made last year by J. D. Whittle, near Blackville, S. C., on the Southern Railway, and is evidence of the vast resources of the soils of the southeast for growing the great American staple.

For this two-bale-to-the-acre crop made last year the ground was broken twice, five loads of stable manure per acre were broadcasted, then 2,000 pounds of guano, composed of 800 pounds 16 per cent acid, 1,000 pounds cottonseed meal and 200 pounds pot-

Old Volume of Congressional Record.

Mr. W. M. Weddington, who loves to delve in the past, and who is always digging up something ancient and interesting, brought to our office yesterday a bound copy of the Congressional Record giving the acts of the 15th congress, in 1818. James Monroe was president, Daniel D. Tompkins, vice-president, and Henry Clay, speaker of the house. One of the acts that was passed by this congress, is as follows:

Chap. 45. An act to regulate the pay of the army when employed on fatigue duty:

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That, whenever it shall be found expedient to employ the army at work on fortifications, in surveys, in cutting roads, and other constant labor; of not less than ten days, the non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, so employed, shall be allowed fifteen cents, and an extra gill of whiskey or spirits, each, per day, while so employed. (Approved, March 2, 1819).

Mr. Weddington also showed us a copy of the Vicksburg Citizen dated Thursday, July 2, 1863. Gen. Grant had expressed the determination to celebrate the Fourth of July in Vicksburg, and under the heading "On Dit," the Citizen said:

On Dit—That the Great Ulysses—the Yankee Generalissimo, surnamed Grant—has expressed his intention of dining in Vicksburg on Saturday, next, and celebrating the 4th of July by a grand dinner and so fourth. When asked if he would invite General Jo. Johnston to join, he said, "No, for fear there will be a row at the table." Ulysses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is "first to catch the rabbit" etc.

At the bottom of the paper, under date of July 4, the Citizen has this: "Two days bring about many changes. General Grant did eat his dinner in Vicksburg, and he did bring his dinner with him. He caught the rabbit. The Citizen lives to see it, and for the last time appears on wall paper. No more will it urge its brave Southern soldiers to deeds of heroism while they dined off horse flesh and fricaseed kitten. This is just as it was found in type, except this note, and will probably be valued as a curiosity in years to come.—Concord Tribune.

Home Songs in Heaven.

I do not think the world to which we go
Will be so strange that we shall be afraid,
But rather that the sweetest things we know
Will there be held and stayed.

I do not think the songs will all be new,
For we should hunger for the sweet old lays
Whose echoes oft have bid our souls be true,
Amid the loftier praise.

And so the choirs will hush their anthems when
They fear for souls from earth the homesick pang,
And we shall sing to listening angels then
The songs our mothers sang.

Captain and Mrs. J. S. Barr Entertain.

WELDON, N. C., Sept. 2.—Captain and Mrs. J. S. Barr gave a brilliant reception Wednesday evening at their handsome home on Third street in honor of their charming guests, Misses Lucy Forbes, Arlene Joyner and Myrtle Warren, of Greenville.

The house was tastefully decorated, the color scheme being green and gold, with the national plant, the "golden rod," looking conspicuous in its place. Mrs. J. E. Porter and Mrs. Frank A. Call served delicious punch to the guests as they were shown into the rear hall by Miss Mercer Green. In the receiving line were the guests of honor, assisted by Captain and Mrs. Barr, and Mrs. Paul Sparrow, of Aurora.

Excellent music for the occasion was rendered by a three-piece orchestra, composed of Miss Annie Musgrove, piano, H. A. Hardison, cornet, Dr. L. G. Schaffer, of Greenville, violin.

Conversation on which were written twenty subjects were distributed and the fun began. Miss Ea Spears was the timekeeper and the merry jingle of her bell would cause a change of partners every two minutes. One of the subjects for discussion, a mist timely one, was "Mosquitoes."

Four little girls, daintily dressed in white, with broad ribbon sashes, served the guests with elegant refreshments.

There were about seventy-five in attendance and the occasion was one of the most delightful social events of the season.

A Tribute to ### The Laboring Man.

The cause of union labor has its foes as well as its followers. While the various unions throughout the country number their members by the hundreds of thousands, there are some people who believe they are a greater hindrance than help to the working man.

We do not by any means want to enter into a discussion of the merits of unionism here, but every fair-minded person must admit that the organization of laboring men has brought about certain benefits, such as shortening the working day, raising the type of our skilled labor, etc.

But the cause of union labor is really secondary to that of the laboring man, and we must all admit that the man who toils is largely responsible for the growth and greatness of our country. The setting aside of one day a year is a splendid and most worthy tribute to all workers and Labor day today ranks in importance with the other national holidays.—The Auxiliary.

Light Sales, But Good Prices.

This being Monday the tobacco market had only light sales today. The good prices that started on the opening day were maintained.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Pick Ups and Hand-me-Downs.

Greenville Masonic lodge meets tonight.

The John Flanagan Buggy Company are shipping many vehicles. Loads of them are seen going to the depot any day.

This is Labor Day, and we are at work.

The opening of the tobacco market and steameries have again brought housekeepers the trouble of getting and keeping servants.

We notice that "Dan." Smith, the efficient operator of the Gaiety motion picture machine, is working today.

Marriage Licenses.

Register of Deeds Moore issued the following licenses last week:

White:

Zeno Crowford and Laura Vail.

Colored:

Lafayette Williams and Amanda Hines.

John C. Coppage and Lizzie Johnson.

George Garris and Mary Phillips.

Statue of Von Steuben.

The gift of the American people to the German nation, a replica of the Washington statue of General von Steuben, the Prussian-American general, was unveiled at Potsdam Saturday in the presence of members of the German imperial family and a large assemblage of foreign diplomats and German statesmen. The monument was presented to Emperor William by Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri and C. B. Wolfgram, of New York, the special ambassadors of President Taft. Both Mr. Bartholdt in his presentation speech and the Emperor in accepting the gift, emphasized the blood relationship of the German and American people and the long friendship existing between the two countries.

"THIS IS MY 63rd BIRTHDAY."

Rear Admiral Rees.

Rear Admiral Corwin P. Reese, who was the last of the Civil war fighters to retire from active service in the United States navy, was born in the town of Reilly, Ohio, September 4, 1848. He entered the army as a private in the first part of 1864, and although but sixteen years old at the time, he took part in the siege of Atlanta, the whole of Sherman's march to the sea, the storming of Port McAllister and numerous other engagements. A year after his honorable discharge from the army he was appointed to the United States Naval Academy, from which he was graduated in 1870. In the years that followed he served in every part of the world, his service ranging from junior officer on the Arctic steamer Alert to executive officer on Dewey's flagship Olympia in the battle of Manila Bay. For gallant conduct in that battle Admiral Rees was voted a medal by congress. After a sea record of nearly twenty-eight years Admiral Rees was placed on the retired list a year ago, on account of age.

Holiday at Post Office.

Get In Your Advertisement.

The business men who are taking advantage of The Daily Reflector's large circulation are wise. Those who are not advertising are losing an opportunity. More than 2,200 of these papers are being sent out every day, and that means over 10,000 regular readers.

Will They Get It?

A number of people want the stock law extended to include all the south side of the river. Some don't care either way, and others are hot against it. The matter was up before the commissioners today and set for a hearing at the November meeting, when each side is expected to present its case.

Want Rural Route Restored.

Many people in Belvoir are upset, disturbed or displeased with a little change in the rural mail routes. The route from Conetoe and the route from Bethel have been changed a little, a number of families who have been on the Conetoe route are now left out, while a very few get their mail by the Bethel route. Those left out are working together for a better state of affairs for themselves.

Visits Church.

Rev. J. M. Roberson, of Millwood, Va., preached in St. Paul's Episcopal church here Sunday morning and night, and the congregation was greatly pleased with him. Some time ago the church extended a call to him to become its rector, and his visit here was with this in view. It is hoped that he will accept the call.

Explanation Needed.

Today being a national holiday the post office, of course, had a day off. Posted at the delivery window was a plain statement of the fact and a schedule of what hours it would be open for delivery of mail. This notice was a puzzle to a great many who read it. The post master just forgot to put any one on duty to make explanations.

Excursion Rates.

THE MALLEABLE RANGE IS RIVETED
together just like a boiler. Were it not made of malleable iron and steel, it would be impossible to do this. Cast iron ranges are put together with bolts, the nuts get loose and fall off, the joints leak, but once the rivets is driven home on our ranges, it is there for ever. Just think what this means—air tight where it should be, perfect combustion, perfect cooking. For sale by Carr & Atkins Hardware Co. 9 5
