

ANNIVERSARY OF TRAINING SCHOOL

Its First Opening Was on October 5th 1911

REMARKABLE TWO YEARS' RECORD

Governor Jarvis Addressed The Students at Opening Exercises This Morning—The Home is What Father, Mother, Children and Teachers Make It.

It was just two years ago today, October 5th, since the doors of this institution were opened for the reception of students. The friends of the school believed that there was a demand for a school of this character in North Carolina, when working for its establishment, but this belief had to be tested when the school did open, therefore they had some anxiety as to what would be the results. If they had such care it all vanished, because it has been clearly demonstrated that the demand for a training school for teachers was even greater than the most earnest advocates of the measure conceived. This has been shown by the attendance and the place that the school has in the hearts of the people generally, and the teachers particularly.

The first two years show an enrollment of one thousand and ten, and the beginning of the present term is larger by fifteen or twenty per cent than last year. The personnel of the student body is also unusually fine and the spirit the very best. This school stands for teacher training and the people are realizing this, as is shown by the fact that last year about eight per cent of the student body paid tuition. This year only two per cent are paying tuition; the other ninety-eight per cent are preparing to teach.

At commencement last May, thirteen young ladies received diplomas as having completed the professional course. At the close of the summer term on the 29th of July, four other young ladies received diplomas. This means that here work accomplished is what counts in securing diplomas, and not time of residence. The summer term of the school stands for the same earnest work that the regular term does and counts as much for the student if the work is successfully done.

The courses offered to those desiring to teach are so arranged that students may enter at the beginning of any quarter and do successful work.

As today marks the third anniversary of the opening of the school, the student body was assembled at 9:30 a. m. in the beautiful auditorium of the school and that "Grand Old Man," Governor Jarvis, whose efforts have done so much for the institution and whose heart is so wrapped up in every detail of any kind which has for its purpose the success of the school, spoke to the student body. President Wright said in part in presenting Gov. Jarvis:

In my talks to you this week I have tried to make it clear that our educational problem today is how to secure efficient teachers for the schools of our state. Our people have realized this and as a result of this recognition the state has established this school for the sole purpose of training young men and women for the profession of teaching. Two men who have been prominent in bringing this about, live in the town of Greenville. One of these has been president of the Eastern Division of County Superintendents since its organization. He has fully realized the necessity for well trained teachers for he has given the better part of his life to the work of teaching. That person is a member of our faculty. I refer to Mr. W. H. Ragsdale, superintendent of schools for Pitt county.

There is in Eastern North Carolina a man who has not only a state wide reputation, but he has a national reputation. He has held the very best positions of honor that the state of North Carolina could confer upon him. More than that, he has held positions of importance under our Federal government. This man realized that the best thing for the people he loves best is good schools, and that to secure these it is necessary for the state to make provision for training her teachers, so he threw all of

NOTICE

To The Water and Light Customers.

At a regular meeting of the Water and Light Commission, held October 3rd, the following motion was made and carried:

"Moved that all counter sales not exceeding $5.00 must be cash.

Fixtures, motors, fans and other portable appliances, one-third cash, with installment note for balance.

Wiring, when done for anyone other than the owner of the property, shall be cash."

The term "counter sales" refers to lamps, fuse plugs, small repairs and anything that is usually sold from the office.

We have been obliged to adopt this policy with regard to our wiring and supply department to avoid keeping a considerable amount of money tied up in small accounts for long periods. The above rules will be in force on and after October 10, 1911.

U-KNOW REPLIES TO UNCLE BETTS

STILL SAYS PEOPLE DON'T THINK

Relates Old Familiar Story of The Preacher and Peddler.

HANRAHAN, N. C., Oct. 5.—Little did I think when I wrote that article on how few of us think on what we head, that I would get into a discussion with a man on whom great ministers of our state have conferred the degree D.D. But when I write I endeavor to think, and though but a clod-hopper, when forced on the defensive; I know that I shall stand until I fall, though one with D. D. S.S.D. should array himself against me.

I want to say just here that I love the M. E. Church, South, and when but a lad I solemnly promised to defend, and to abide by her doctrines, and to help to support her institutions, all of which I have tried to keep and to perform with a fixed and steady purpose since the day that I took the vows. I love her true ministers with all my heart, and no man has a higher regard for the ministry than I have, unless his capacity is greater than is mine and there is none of her ministers that I have a greater respect for and more implicit confidence in their Christian character and great zeal in the Master's cause than I have for the Rev. A. D. Betts, D.D. I love him almost as a father. But in his great zeal and emotional make up he has displayed the same weak point that I said in my article so many of us showed. He did not stop to think on what he had read. He begins by calling me your witty correspondent, U-Know, the first time I ever was accused of an attempt at wit, "should be very serious when he writes on some subjects." I must say that I was never more serious than when I wrote the article to which he refers, because I wanted to teach a sad truth, and that truth is too few of us mortals think on what we read. "Saved at last." Well, there is a record in the Bible that one was saved at last, and that was the thief on the cross, and I think he has but few stars in his crown. He says there is no better prayer that U-Know and himself can offer than this: "That God for Christ's sake will save us at last," or he adds "receive us at last." Quite a difference in receiving and saving. So I think that still a better prayer for Brother Betts and for U-Know would be: "Oh, God, for Christ's sake keep me saved and steadfast in Thine own cause, and then at last Thou will give me a place at thy right hand."

I meant no thrust at the preachers, but they of all men should think, and I only cited this to show that even they did not always think and now I cite one other case to illustrate my point and I am through.

About 20 or 25 years ago the state convicts built a highway leading from what is now known as Cove City and Trenton, in Jones county. This highway leads through a dense pocon without a house on either side for a space of seven miles. A lonely and desolate road it was. But one bright and lovely day, a thoroughly consecrated and very zealous preacher chanced to pass that way, riding in a buggy, or spring wagon, and at about the thickest and most desolate place in that road the earnest preacher overtook a bag peddler. The peddler, in his broken language, asked the kind preacher to let him ride. The man of God readily consented. So he deposited his pack in the hind part of the vehicle and got up. The preacher was in earnest about the peddler's salvation. So they had only gone a few yards when the kind preacher laid his arms around the peddler's neck, as only this preacher can do, looked him earnestly in the eyes, and said to him: "Young man, are you prepared to die?" Being accosted in this manner and in such a place he took the preacher to be a robber instead of what he really was, a true and faithful man of God. So he jumped out, ran and left his pack with the preacher. The preacher did not think how that would sound to a stranger in such a place as that. Now, if Brother Betts can't just recall who that preacher was, if he will turn to his Bible and read the old prophet Nathan's reply to the young man, David, when Nathan told David about taking that poor man's lamb, he will find the answer as to who that preacher was.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY IN NORTH CAROLINA

ENORMOUS WASTE EACH YEAR.

It Is Inexcusable And Criminal, for the Bulk of It Is Preventable.

To the Citizens of North Carolina: After a consultation with and the approval of our governor, I, as insurance commissioner of this state, designate October 9th as Fire Prevention Day in North Carolina.

The fire waste in this country is enormous, over $250,000,000 each year. It is inexcusable and criminal, for the bulk of it is preventable. At the Convention of Fire Marshals of America and the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners, Fire Prevention Day is being named and observed in a large number of states by proclamations of governors and otherwise, and October 9th is designated, the day of the great Chicago fire. The loss by fire in North Carolina is practically $3,000,000 annually, over three hundred dollars per hour, and more than one-half is not covered by insurance. It is said that practically three-fourths of this loss could be prevented by the exercise of reasonable care. It is certainly proper that the citizens of North Carolina should join heartily in the observance of this day in a campaign for the stopping of this enormous and unnecessary waste.

On this day let the property owners personally examine their premises and see that all rubbish and debris likely to cause a fire is removed. Let them examine their chimneys, flues, pipes and furnaces, and see that they are safe for the winter fires. I earnestly request the mayors of our cities and towns and the chiefs of our fire departments and their men, and in fact, all business men and good citizens, to spend one day at least in the examination of our cities and towns, learning their fire conditions and dangers, and having every menace and condition which will bring about a fire promptly remedied.

Fires are not only destructive to our property but a menace to the lives of our people. Fires have caused the death of seventeen persons during the present year in North Carolina, to say nothing of the loss in property.

Let our school committees and teachers examine our school buildings as to safety from fires and ways of escape in case of fires. Let the boards and superintendents of state institutions, hospitals, and orphan home, and other like institutions, as well as owners of our hotels, factories and theatres, carefully inspect the buildings under their charge, and see that all conditions likely to start fires are removed and that proper escapes are provided in case of fires for the inmates entrusted to their care.

Under our state building law quarterly inspections are required in the fire district and annual inspections of all buildings in our cities and towns, and I especially urge all chiefs of fire departments and building inspectors charged with this duty, as well as all officials, property owners, and insurance agents especially interested in the prevention of fires, to make good use of this day, not only to improve fire conditions, but to educate our people to a proper care in fire prevention.

Insurance Commissioner.

Mr. Bryan's schedule calls for an average of three speeches a day.

NORTH CAROLINA'S GREAT STATE FAIR

WILL BE A RECORD BREAKER.

Many Interesting Attractions Have Been Secured.

Much interest is being shown over the entire state with the approach of the great state fair dates, which will be October 17, 18, 19, 20, as the fair this year promises to surpass all former events. With the many exhibits and the amusement attractions along with the many free attractions and other features, the fair promises to be of unusual interest to every true North Carolinian.

Mr. Geo. C. Hall, of Raleigh, was in the city today in the interest of the fair and was very enthusiastic in his remarks about this great week. "The fair this year," said Mr. Hall, "will eclipse all former occasions in many respects." Continuing he said, "Nothing has been left undone this year in booking some of the largest exhibits and attractions. The coming of Hon. Judson Harmon, who will speak at the fair grounds on Wednesday, will be a big event, no doubt, but what a record-breaking crowd will be at the fair on that day."

The state fair has closed a contract with the Glenn H. Curtiss company for aeroplane flights at the grounds every day at the fair.

A contract has also been completed for the exhibition on the fair grounds of California Frank's Wild West shows, the biggest and best aggregation of the kind on the road.

The Great Calvert, known the country over as a peer among high-wire specialists, has also been engaged. He has been seen before at the fair, and he more than made good.

The miraculous painting, "In the Shadow of the Cross," will be on exhibit for the first time in the South.

A great free attraction will be the Osha Troup of Japs. These little fellows will perform many interesting acrobatical stunts.

The foot ball game to be played Thursday between the mighty A. and M. team and Bucknell will be another great feature.

It is expected that this will be the banner year in the history of the great state fair and that the attendance will break all records, as only a few of the many attractions and features have been mentioned in this article.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1911.

Guess this is the Indian summer prolonging the white man's kind.

The tumble in price has also knocked down cotton receipts. Farmers are holding.

Greensboro and Charlotte both claim to have given the Richmond boosters the best reception.

The next Virginia town that sends a booster train in North Carolina to solicit business, would do well to leave the whiskey agents out of it.

Really it is time those who are doing nothing for Greenville were catching the spirit of get up and do something.

As his family have picked out a place in which to bury Beattie, the convicted wife murderer, hope of his getting a new trial must have been abandoned.

The number of people reported to have lost their lives in the dam breaking at Austin, Pa., last Saturday, has dropped from eight hundred to less than a hundred.

The Reflector always tries to do its best for Greenville, and if Greenville had the same spirit of trying to do her best for herself there would be more doing here.

The members of the North Carolina press have a heartfelt sympathy for Secretary J. B. Sherrill, editor of the Concord Tribune, in the death of his aged mother which occurred a few days ago. Those who have had such bereavement know what he has lost.

The commissioners of Halifax county, in accordance with an act passed by the last legislature, have called an election to submit to the people the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $300,000 to build good roads in that county. If Pitt does not look out, all the neighboring counties will be getting ahead of her in road building.

From accounts in the papers we take it that the train of Richmond boosters which visited several places in North Carolina this week, was principally a boost for the Richmond liquor dealers. It was really an insult to North Carolina, a prohibition state, that those Richmond boosters should have brought along a car load of whiskey to give away as samples. We shall not be surprised if that trip loses rather than gains North Carolina trade for Richmond.

ways well applied nor appreciated. In Guilford Superior court Judge O. H. Allen, before whom three young criminals were convicted of larceny, gave them a sentence of twelve months each, and directed that they be hired out rather serve the time on the roads. Parties willing to hire the boys were readily found, but two of them run away the very first night after being taken from the custody of the officers. One of them was recaptured and put in jail.

The article in another column from Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young, calling upon the people of the state to observe October 9th as Fire Protection Day, is most timely. The season for cold weather is approaching when people will begin using fires in their homes and places of business, and a little forethought to examine flues and chimneys to see that they are in good condition may prevent loss. It is also wise to remove such trash and waste as might cause a fire. Much of the loss that occurs each year might be prevented with proper care.

NORTH CAROLINA HAPPENINGS
GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES

And Briefly Stated for The Reflectors Busy Readers.

SPRAY—The body of Kittle Gilbert, a girl about 20 years old, living in the cotton mill section of Spray, was found floating in the main canal, just in front of the Spray Mercantile company building of this place yesterday about 2 o'clock. Life was extinct when the body was discovered. No signs of violence were found on the body, and it is thought to be a simple case of accidental drowning. It is reported the girl was subject to fits of some nature and it is thought that in crossing the canal on a footway she was seized with a fit and fell into the water.

GASTONIA—If reports brought to Gastonia by farmers from the southern and eastern parts of the county are correct, and there is no reason to doubt them, a cotton worm, which made its appearance only a few days ago, is working havoc on the late cotton bolls, stripping entire fields, as they come to them, of both leaves and the unopened bolls. There is quite a lot of this cotton in Gaston county and the opinion of conservative cotton farmers is that this pest will curtail the crop in this county several hundred bales.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble.

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui.

Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH WEDNESDAY NIGHT

SUBJECT, "DEAD IRON DEVIL"

Another Large Audience Hears Mr. Boblitt.

Another large crowd assembled at the Christian church to hear Evangelist H. C. Boblitt discourse on the "Dead Iron Devil." Mrs. C. C. Ware sang "I Am Praying for You," with more than usual impressiveness. Mr. Boblitt made the singing as largely congregational as possible, and thus it was much above the average, as he succeeded so well in leading the singing.

His text was Heb. 11:6, "Without faith it is impossible to please God." He explained that the "Iron Devil" was the faithfulness of the middle ages when men wore complete armor and trusted neither in God nor their fellow man. He said that this is the age of faith as evidenced by the many articles designed for moral and spiritual uplift printed in magazines, as contrasted with the writings of infidelity, to which liberal space was given years ago. And now the Lyceum Bureaus send out lecturers who speak on moral and religious views many times; Chataqua all over the country aim to uplift citizens, and business men are organizing closely for the moral good of their fellow man. In fact, faith is an essential of our everyday life. Our currency system is based on faith for if we did not believe our government could redeem its gold and silver certificates, they would at once cease to be usable. Our banking system, is a system of faith. Ninety-five per cent of our business is done by checks. The home life is determined by faith. There are two kinds of homes, the one with faith and the one without faith. The one is a foregleam of heaven, the other is a pocket edition of hell. The preacher then emphasized the importance of faith in God's plan of salvation, saying that it was a prime essential. Faith as a condition of salvation is clearly indicated in the following Bible quotations: "Without faith it is impossible to please God," and, "He that cometh to Him must believe that He is," "And whosoever believeth not shall be condemned." Some people make faith a very mysterious thing, but the Bible does not make it so. According to Bible definition faith is simply belief that arises from convincing evidence, given by the Holy Spirit through the word of God. There are some who act under the delusion that one may get faith by praying for it. He illustrated the fallacy of this by citing the politician who was full of Republican or Democratic faith without having prayed for it. There is nothing in God's word to show that prayer is the moral source of faith. Faith and prayer can and ought to be made to go together, yet, faith does not rest upon prayer. Furthermore, there are many who confess faith and feeling. Feelings may be very delusive. He illustrated this in a characteristic way, by saying he might get on a train and feeling like a conductor, proceed to collect tickets, which would be most inadvisable, the feeling being delusive. There are those who say, "I don't know whether I am a Christian; I just feel like I am." We ought to know with positive certainty whether we are Christians or not. Paul did not hesitate to say "I know in whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him." A plea was then made to those who had not confessed Christ, to manifest faith in Him.

The audience was large, and gave responsive attention and it is expected that a still larger number will be present tonight to hear him give one of his ablest sermons on "Young Men Gone Wrong." There is special music each service, and a warm welcome to all who attend.

Why the Inquiry?

A colored woman was going around from house to house inquiring if the occupants had cooks or were doing their own cooking. Wonder what was the object of this investigation?

"THIS IS MY 63rd BIRTHDAY."
T. P. O'Connor.

Thomas Power O'Connor, the noted journalist and Irish parliamentary leader, was born in Athlone, Ireland, October 5, 1848. His education was obtained at the college of the Immaculate Conception, Athlone, and Queen's College, Galway, from which he was graduated in his eighteenth year. He entered journalism as a reporter on a Dublin newspaper in 1867, and migrated to London in search of a situation in 1870. Subsequently Mr. O'Connor was employed in the London office of the New York Herald. He entered the British house of commons for Galway in 1880 and in 1885 was returned for both Galway and Liverpool. He chose the latter constituency, which he continued to represent for many years. As a journalist he is known throughout the English-speaking world. He was the founder of no fewer than eight daily and weekly journals that now exist in the British metropolis. Mr. O'Connor was married in 1885 to Miss Bessie Pascall, of Austin, Texas. Both he and his wife have paid frequent visits to America.

his soul and influence into the work and was largely instrumental in having this school established. He has, since the foundation of this school, been a member of the board of trustees, and chairman of the executive committee of this board. The person to whom I refer needs no introduction to the students of this school. It is, therefore, with pleasure that I present to you Governor Jarvis.

As the governor arose to speak the applause showed the place he holds in the hearts of the students, even though probably a number of them had never known him personally before. In brief, Governor Jarvis said: Fellow Teachers and Students:

I can not express to you the pleasure that comes to me this morning on seeing so many of you here present. Two years ago today, this school was opened, and it was an anxious day with me as well as with many others, because we did not know then just how strong a hold this school had taken or would take upon the people of Eastern North Carolina, and what would be the character and extent of the patronage given to it. Its two years' work for exceeds the most hopeful expectation of those who were most active in its organization, and your presence here today is further evidence that this school is here and here to stay. That it has a place to fill, that it has a mission to perform, and it is going to perform it. I shall not talk to you long, young women, but I would beg that you will give me your very closest attention and record in your memories the words that I speak to you this morning.

The home has no inherent, self-propagating, self-executing virtue, but the home is just what father, and mother, and children and teachers make it. Nor does the happiness of the home depend very largely upon the building that houses the inmates of that home. There may be envy, jealousy, hate, and even hell in a palace. There may be peace and joy and happiness in a cabin. Nor, is there inherent, self-propagating, self-executing virtue in a school, but the school is just what the faculty, the teachers and the pupils make it. Nor is the school dependent solely upon the beauty of the building. There may be a worthless school in the most costly building, and there may be a school full of usefulness in the humble log-cabin.

Now, I understand it is the purpose of the most of you, if not all of you, to become teachers. Therefore, it is your purpose, your chosen purpose, in life to become home builders and school builders, and pray tell me in all the wide range of vocations in this life what could be a more perfect life full of usefulness than that of a home builder and a school builder? Out of these homes and out of these schools are to come the men and women that shall dominate the world. Out of these homes and these schools are to come the men and women that are to lift up the world and to link it nearer to the Throne of God. Out of these homes and schools are to come men and women with character, will add to that the happiness and joy of the world and be an ornament to society and the church and to the state, and you are to take part in perfecting the characters of these men and women who are to dominate the world, and I know of no grander, nobler mission in life. It is a work well done, that is to go on and on, and on. It will be seen in generations long after you have passed away.

The first shovel full of dirt for the construction of these buildings was turned on the second day of July, 1908, and by the 5th day of October, 1909, all these buildings had been completed and furnished and equipped, and ready for the admission of students. I am sure as you walk around the buildings and grounds and look at them you must be struck with their real architectural beauty and their completeness of construction. Yet, the time will come when these buildings shall be no more, and already the process of disintegration has set in, and you may walk around here and see evidences of the beginning of this disintegration, and by and by there shall come a time when these buildings shall be no more, but the work you are to do in building homes and schools and character is to live on, and on, and on, and on for ever. So, I charge you that you have chosen for yourselves the noblest work of life and as you perform that work, so will be the home and the school and the society in which you live.

Now, this to you is the period of preparation, and that is what this school is established for, and that's why you are here—to prepare for this great work that lies before you. Are you going to idle away your time while you are here? Is that what you came for? As much as I would regret to see any young lady leave forms of indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn, belching, or that full stuffy feeling after eating a hearty meal. It is a harmless remedy absolutely free from poisons or habit-forming drugs; it simply digests food and tones the stomach to its natural healthful condition.

The distributors of this remarkable remedy propose to prove beyond a doubt its merit and have authorized Moye's Pharmacy to furnish a limited number of full size 50c packages without cost.

If you are a victim of indigestion you cannot afford to miss this opportunity to get relief. Go to Moye's Pharmacy now and get a package without cost. The number is limited—Better go now.

this school I stand here and solemnly declare if there is a young lady in this audience who came here to spend so many months and idle away your time, the very best thing you can do is to go to see President Wright and tell him that you are not going to work, settle up your account, pack your trunk and go home. Now, I charge you solemnly, that is the best thing you could do, but if you are here to prepare yourselves for this great work that stands out before you and which you have chosen, I declare to you there is no place in North Carolina that you could go where you can have better opportunities for that preparation than right here. You are at the right place.

Now, I beg of you to use every hour and every day and every week and every month while you are here in earnest hard work, in this preparation. You have an able faculty—you have a willing faculty—you have a sympathetic faculty, you have a faculty that loves their work and loves you. They love the state and they love society and they love humanity, and they want to equip you for this work, and if you are not equipped, it is your own fault. Be women. Have some individuality about you. Learn the books, learn what is in the books, but more than that, learn to have some opinion of your own about these books, and then learn how to teach what is in the books, and if you go away from here with this individuality, if you go away from here well grounded in what these books teach, then you go out into the communities in which you are to labor, you will labor efficiently and every community that is fortunate enough to secure your services will be well helped and placed in their onward march in this life. And, in conclusion, I beg of you again to use every hour and every day and every week and every month while you are here in fully preparing and equipping yourselves to do well the work that you have chosen in your mission in life.

NEW SEMINARY DEDICATED.

Most Distinguished Gathering Ever Held for Such a Purpose.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 5.—Before one of the most distinguished gatherings of educators and churchmen ever held here for such a purpose, the ten new buildings of the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary at Haywood were formally dedicated today with an all-day programme of exercises. The programme was ushered in this morning with an historical address by Rev. Dr. Henry Warren Roth, of Greenville, Pa. The Rev. John Haas, D. D., president of Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., and Rev. Dr. Samuel Wagenhals, of Fort Wayne, Ind., delivered the dedicatory address. The afternoon was given over largely to addresses of greeting by representatives of colleges and theological seminaries throughout the country. An inspection of the new buildings followed the conclusion of the exercises.

Sarcasms.

File—I certainly have a few in my cabinet.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE HAPPENINGS AROUND WINTERVILLE

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Every Item Has Something Of Interest In It.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Levy Holiday and sister, Miss Mary Proctor and Miss Lizzie Galloway, of Grimesland, are visiting friends in town this week.

Wagons have surely been going out from the plant of the A. G. Cox Manufacturing company for the past three weeks. There are none like the "Tar Heel" and the farmers are realizing this more and more. Better place your order for a buggy right now.

Mr. Adrian Brown, of Greenville, has taken a fancy to our town or some one here. He is here right often, much to his pleasure.

A car of salt just arrived at A. W. Ange & Co.'s.

Mrs. J. D. Cox is on the sick list this week. Hope she will soon be out.

Harrington, Barber & Co. have just received a large shipment of children's, misses, women's and men's shoes for fall and winter, and they are in a position to save you money in shoeing up your family.

Miss Esther Johnson is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. H. B. McLawhorn, in the country.

If you need cotton seed meal, drive by A. W. Ange & Co.'s warehouse.

Miss Pearl Hester has been on the sick list for several days. We hope there is nothing serious.

The one sure way to have money is to save it. The one sure way to save it is by depositing it in a responsible bank. Call and see us, Bank of Winterville.

Messrs. Harvey A. and C. T. Cox were visitors in the country yesterday evening, much to their pleasure.

Time will not lie—she reveals all things. Just so have the superior qualities in the Hunsucker buggy been revealed. For a good many years this buggy has stood the test and what has been revealed is to its credit. Come to see the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company and get your next buggy.

Mr. M. B. Bryan, of Kinston, was in town yesterday.

The Rev. Claudius F. Smith will hold services in St. Luke's Episcopal church beginning Monday night, October 9th, and will continue through Friday night, October 13th. All people are cordially invited to these services. Such services are called a mission in the Episcopal church. Mission implies many sorts of a message. First: to the patient whom we attempt to arouse; second, to deliver, these latter are more especially of two classes; those interested and zealously at work for the Lord and those who are indifferent. To preach a mission means to address all these classes, by reviving the careless and indifferent by deepening the earnest adherents and by opening the eyes of those who have not beheld the goodness and mercy of an all-loving Father. The members of St. Luke's church desire the earnest prayers of Christian people that our God may bless these services, the preacher and those who come to hear.

Men's clothing, a good line of clothing at Harrington, Barber & Co.'s and they are pricing them way down, and you can get a good suit of clothes for little money. Come and see them.

Mr. A. W. Ange left yesterday for Jamesville to spend a few days with his father, who is sick.

The A. G. Cox Manufacturing Co. can show you a buggy robe that will please your wife, children and all. It not only looks good, but will keep you warm. They have a complete line. See them and buy.

Mr. B. F. Manning, our clever cotton buyer, went to Farmville today in the interest of the fleecy staple.

Illinois W. C. T. U. Meeting.

PONTIAC, Ill., Oct. 5.—Practically every county of Illinois was represented by delegates at the opening here today of the annual state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Addresses to be delivered during the four days' session include the following: "Physical Culture," Miss Mary Blood, of Chicago; "The Work of the Juvenile Court," John H. Whitman, of Chicago; "Co-operation With Missionary Societies," Rev. J. W. Eaton, of Evanston, and "Health and Heredity," Mrs. M. Andlap, of Savoy.

Some Size and Some Papers.

The Daily Reflector was so busy talking for others Wednesday that it did not do any talking for itself, except to let the paper do its own talking. All the same that eight-page edition with its array of advertisements and reading matter showed something worth talking about in size, while the press counter registered just one over 2,500 copies printed, which is something to talk about in the way of numbers. And these papers all go to people who read them, and the advertisers get the benefit thereof.

Not Enthusiastic.
