IMPOSING FUNERAL FOR MR. CALDWELL

South's Greatest Newspaper Man to be Buried Today

INTERMENT IN STATESVILLE, N. C.

Imposing Ceremony and Tribute of Respect to be Paid the Famous Charlotte Editor. Many Persons of High Rank in the World of Letters to Follow Body to Resting Place.

STATESVILLE, N. C., Nov. 23.—(Special).—The body of J. P. Caldwell, the noted editor of the Charlotte Observer, who died yesterday morning in Morganton, will be laid to rest this afternoon. The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. C. E. Raynal, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Statesville, Mr. Caldwell's birthplace. Rev. Raynal will be assisted by Archibald Johnson, editor of Charity and Children, Rev. P. R. Law, editor of the Presbyterian Standard and Rev. Plato T. Durham, presiding elder of the Winston district and formerly connected with The Observer. The pallbearers will be Statesville friends of the dead editor. The directors of the state hospital of Morganton will be present as will the staffs of The Chronicle and Observer. A special train will be run from Charlotte to Statesville this afternoon.

Mr. Caldwell's illness dates back to March, 1909, when he was stricken with paralysis while sitting at his desk in The Observer building at Charlotte. He partially recovered from this attack, however, and was well on the road to health again, when he was stricken a second time shortly after his return from a meeting of the North Carolina Press association in Hendersonville, N. C., in June of the same year. This second stroke affected his speech—motor aphasia—to such an extent that he could only express himself with great difficulty. On the advice of physicians and friends that he get away from the noise of the city, Mr. Caldwell then came to Morganton, and from that time until his death he lived in the family of his beloved friend, Dr. McCampbell.

Mr. Caldwell had been chairman of the board of directors of the state hospital for twenty-seven years and his labor in its behalf was second only to that service which made The Charlotte Observer the great paper it is today; nothing could have pleased him better than to enter into the last sleep under the shadow of its protecting wall. His mind was clear until the end, and with daily visits from his friends of all sections of the state and members of family at his bedside, his last days were happy, in spite of the fact that they were passed beneath the cloud of a great affliction. He bore his troubles with wonderful fortitude and exhibited a patience little short of superhuman. He met death with unflinching mien, unafraid.

"Death is nothing," he was heard to say when the realization had come upon him that his hour was at hand. "I dread it not save for the inconvenience of my friends."

News of the passing of the father of North Carolina Journalism will not come as a surprise. That his condition was critical has been known for several weeks and the announcement of the attending physicians of hope given up was made about the first of November. He has been gradually sinking since that time and only his great vitality postponed the coming of the final summons.

Mr. Caldwell's connection with The Charlotte Observer began in 1892, when he purchased The Evening Chronicle and changed the name to The Charlotte Daily Observer. Mr. Caldwell became editor and general manager and continued in control of it until stricken in 1909. When he took the helm The Observer was a small, insignificant local daily with a small circulation and less news. By his untiring efforts he has placed it at the head of North Carolina newspapers and from his heavenly sanctum he may look down upon the offspring of his genius with just cause to be proud of the service he has rendered to his city and his state. He has placed The Observer in a position

GOOD ROADS TRAIN COMING TO GREENVILLE

Of Great Interest to Good Highway "Boosters"

SPECIAL TRAIN IS NOW ON ITS WAY

Atlantic Coast Line Sends Out Special Train, Stopping at Several Cities—Due in Greenville Tuesday, December 5th—Questions Will be Answered by Experts.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 23.—For the purpose of promoting public interest in the good roads movement the Atlantic Coast Line today started out from this city a special train, containing models, operated by electricity, of road working machinery, together with a corps of road experts who will give practical demonstrations. The train will be run over the entire system, making stops in many cities and towns in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

The experts will be glad to answer questions and confer with all interested parties. The working models will be shown in actual operation, the motive power being furnished by a gasoline engine installed for the purpose, and, with these, the experts are enabled to explain what materials make the best roads, how they are made and repaired at the smallest necessary cost.

This train will be on the Atlantic Coast Line from November 24th to February 22nd, and will make two or three stops each working day. The Atlantic Coast Line invites the hearty co-operation of all interested citizens and are very much in hopes that good crowds will meet this train at each stop.

This good roads train will reach Greenville at 6:12 p. m., on Tuesday, December 5th, spend the night and until noon the next day here, when it will leave for Kinston. The lectures and demonstrations here will begin at 9:30 on the morning of Wednesday, December 6th, and persons who wish to take advantage of these should make it a point to be present on time, as the train will leave here at noon on that day.

NEWS HAPPENINGS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Apple Show in Spokane.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 23.—With the promise of eclipsing all previous records in the wealth of exhibits and the accompanying festivities, Spokane's fourth annual National Apple Show opened here today to continue for one week. The exhibits range from carloads of apples down to a single plate of the fruit and represent practically all of the great orchard districts of the Pacific slope and the intermountain country.

Methodists at Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 23.—The annual meeting of the Austin conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America, the Northern Methodists, convened in St. Paul's Church in this city today, with Bishop Quayle of Oklahoma City presiding. The business of the conference will occupy four or five days.

Texas Baptists in Session.

WACO, Texas, Nov. 23.—A large and representative attendance marked the opening here today of the annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. Reports prepared for presentation to the convention show the past year to have been one of remarkable activity and prosperity, educational, missionary and other branches of the church work. The convention will remain in session until next Monday.

Largest Concrete Arch Bridge.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 23.—Spokane today began a week's celebration in honor of the completion of the great bridge spanning the Spokane river in this city. The bridge is the largest concrete arch structure in the world, the central arch having a length of 281 feet. The total length of the bridge is 791 feet. It was designed by J. C. Ralston and erected at a cost of half a million dollars.

Miss Emily Langley District Number One Again Takes the Lead

Contestants and Their Friends Doing Their Level Best to Capture Prizes Only Three Days Left in Which to Reap a Veritable Harvest of Votes. Diamond Ring is the Question of the Hour

Many Subscriptions Are Being Hurried to the Contest Manager's Office to Benefit Contestants With the Fifty Per Cent Increase Fast Drawing to a Close.

Today's list of candidates has suffered another change and once more Miss Emily Langley, who led the contestants for the greatest part of the contest, is again in the lead. In the last twenty-four hours many subscriptions have been received at the contest department. Many subscribers have come to the office and voted for their favorites and it seems that the contest spirit has worked up contestants and their supporters to fever heat. This should not be a bit surprising since the greatest date in the contest is getting uncomfortable near for those that have failed to answer to the knock of opportunity.

Within a matter of two or three days the fifty per cent increase in the voting schedule will go out of effect, and in realizing what this means the worth-while contestants are "out" gathering in subscriptions that will be worth to them just half as much as after the coming Saturday.

Two For One.

They also seem to fully realize the importance of whatever showing they can make on Saturday, next. A diamond ring of unquestionable value and great beauty and a rare chance to "cinch" the piano or any of the other prizes, hangs in the balance. That particular showing to be made on Saturday by one of the fair contestants is about to lift that diamond ring and make a claim on that piano which other contestants will have to strive hard to disallow. That the contestant lifting the diamond ring will have the best chance to also carry the piano by a good margin is more than apparent by reading over the vote schedule which will be in effect up to the close of the contest. All the subscriptions turned in up to 9 p. m. next Saturday night will receive an increase of fifty per cent, which will not be allowed after the 25th. Thus for every subscription turned in before Saturday the contestant will receive half as many votes again, as for any other subscription received at the Contest Manager's office after that date.

Hard to Decide.

It would be a matter of the utmost difficulty to decide right now who will wear that ring on Monday, the 27th. Subscriptions are coming in thick and fast from every contestant and it is probable that when the count is made Saturday night most of the young ladies in the race will hold their places in the list, and that only a slight difference in the subscriptions turned in by 9 p. m. Saturday night will win the handsome diamond ring.

Until further notice no contestant will be permitted to poll more subscription votes on any one day than will place her 10,000 ahead of the leader of the day before; for example, if the leader today has 25,000 votes to her credit, no contestant may poll more votes for the list tomorrow than will make her total 35,000.

GREENVILLE AGAIN VISITED BY FIRE

Local Fire Hoop Again on the Warpath

MATERIAL DAMAGE WAS SLIGHT

John D's Greenville "Plant" Visited Early This Morning by Fire, Which Does Practically no Damage—Brave Fire Fighters go out on Call—Origin Unknown.

At about three o'clock this morning fire, of unknown origin, broke out in John D's Greenville domain on the west side of the Atlantic Coast Line tracks. With an activity and willingness which speaks volumes for the Greenville fire ladders, considering the intense cold prevailing at the hour, a number of fire-fighters turned out and rushed the engine to the place where the Standard Oil Company's tanks are and after a short struggle the fire was extinguished, however, not before a single story frame house had been "ate up" by the flames. Although there was a material loss it is not expected that John D. will lose any sleep over it.

This fire coming fast on the heels of the spectacular affair witnessed near the scene of this morning's fire by practically half of Greenville last Sunday, will go one better in establishing the hoodoo about there not being a fire in Greenville without two successors. It is to be hoped that the third one will never take place and that this will set up a precedent to put the hoodoo to a shameful flight.

Charities and Correction.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 23.—Columbia today welcomed a large number of distinguished visitors from all parts of South Carolina, who have gathered in the city for the third annual State Conference of Charities and Correction. The sessions will last twodays and will be devoted to the discussion of a wide range of subjects. President Mitchell of the University of South Carolina, Frank B. Gray, of Abbeville, and other persons of wide prominence are on the program for addresses.

LATEST NEWSFROM THE WORLD OF POLITICS

Senator La Follette will address the Progressive Republicans in Cleveland next month.

More than 150 cities of the United States are now under the commission form of government.

For the first time in the history of New York state the Socialists have elected a member of the legislature.

Abram J. Pothier, who has been elected governor of Rhode Island for a fourth term, is a native of Canada.

It is rumored in Illinois that Governor Deneen will not be a candidate for re-election, but instead will try for the United States senate.

Alvah H. Martin, who is the Republican national committeeman from Virginia, has been re-elected clerk of the circuit court of Norfolk county.

James B. McCreary, governor-elect of Kentucky, might be termed a political "comeback," as he resumed the governorship after a lapse of 35 years.

William V. Allen, once United States senator from Nebraska, failed in the recent election as a candidate for judge of the district court in that state.

Political experts of the two leading parties are greatly agreed that the battleground for the presidential campaign of next year will be in the following state: Oregon, California, Wisconsin, Ohio, New Jersey, New York, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Kansas, Iowa and Indiana.

The session of congress to begin next month will be the last long one of that body to be held under the appointment of the census of 1900. The next long session will be that of a house of representatives made up under an appointment according to the census taken in 1910.

DEATH CHAIR LOOMS HIGH BEFORE BEATTIE

Justice Will Be Satisfied To-morrow Morning Early

PRAYER AND TEARS AT LAST

As The End Approaches, Henry Clay Beattie, Convicted Wife-Murderer, is Deserted by His Iron Nerve and a Break Down Followed by a Full Confession is Expected.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 23.—(Special).—As the last chapter in the life of Henry Clay Beattie is drawing to a close, a radical change of behavior is to be observed in the prisoner confined in the death cell in Murderer's Row. No longer does young Beattie smoke his cigarettes and read popular novels. With the desertion of the iron nerve which backed him up throughout the ordeals of the trial, he seems to realize that within a few hours he must stand before a judge who will try his soul. Quiet prevails in that part of the prison where Beattie is confined and the absence of the noise and flurry which characterized his trial has made his thoughts turn to the Great Beyond. His father and spiritual director are the only visitors received by young Beattie in the death cell. His young sister, and brother, Douglas, are both rare callers, and with the imminence of the end, Henry Clay Beattie is finding consolation in prayer. It is believed by many now, that before Beattie takes his place in the electric chair he will make a confession which will remove any possible doubt that may remain with some of the thousands who carefully followed the developments of his trial. Young Beattie, in the eve of death, intermingles prayer with violent expressions of hatred for those that helped to convict him, but thus far he has failed to utter the name of Beulah Binford, the "other woman in the case."

History of the Case of Henry Clay Beattie, Under Death Sentence to Die Tomorrow.

July 18.—While returning to Richmond in a motor car driven by her husband, Mrs. Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was shot and instantly killed. The shooting occurred on the Middlethian turnpike, five miles from Richmond. Mrs. Beattie was 23 years old and had been married only one year. After the tragedy the husband returned to the home of "Tom" Owen, an uncle of his wife, with the body of Mrs. Beattie, saying she had been shot by a tall, bearded man, whom they encountered on the road.

July 20.—At the coroner's inquest, Paul Beattie, second cousin of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., confessed that he had purchased a shotgun for Henry and subsequently three cartridges, and had delivered them to his cousin a day or two before the murder. The same gun was picked up on the road, where it was said to have been jolted out of the auto the morning after the shooting and identified by the husband as the one he had taken out of the hands of the strange man in the struggle following the tragedy.

July 22.—Arrest of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.
Aug. 14.—Indictment of Beattie, based on the testimony of his cousin and on evidence showing that he had been attentive to Beulah Binford, a girl of seventeen, for three or four years, and that their relations had been resumed after Beattie's marriage to Miss Louise Owen, of Dover, Del., and even after the birth of their child. With the passing of J. P. Caldwell from the world of the living, the South loses its "grand old man" of journalism. To what extent Mr. Caldwell's efforts to make North Carolina journalism what it is today, have succeeded we have not to look very far. Since his memorable advent into the newspaper world many years ago, Mr. Caldwell's untiring energy did a great many things for the people of the state and the state's newspapers. We hope that every reader in the South, and every man who is striving to achieve something through the newspaper columns will keep well before him the example set by this admirable man.

Master Charlie Parker, of Hertford county, North Carolina, aged 16, is now the champion corn-grower of the world, having raised on one acre 235 1-2 bushels of corn, harvest weight, which, when dried out, made 195.87 bushels of dry crib corn, containing 12.21 per cent of moisture. It cost the farmer but only 24 cents per bushel to produce this record breaking amount. He had three acres and each of the other two contained practically as much as the one that was tested.—Raleigh News and Observer.

That is a fine record for corn-growing made by Master Parker, and a record for which every North Carolinian should feel justly proud. Now, we ought to keep that record right in North Carolina.

Progressive Republicans of Ohio have declared for Roosevelt for the presidential nomination in 1912. Thus it looks as if Taft's own state is going to be against him.

Cowan, of the Wilmington Dispatch, wants to give a man time to but his Thanksgiving dinner before he shouts at him to do his Christmas shopping early. He believes in doing the thing nearest at hand, first.

The progress of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad is shown in the directors recently declaring a semi-annual dividend of 3 1-2 per cent, which constitutes an increase of 1-2 per cent.

At a moving picture fire in Pitscairn, Pa., last Saturday Willis Swearer met his Waterloo, being badly burnt. Wonder if he lived up to his name.

When the prohibition national committee meets in Chicago next month it will have no lack of applicants from which to select the meeting place for the presidential nominating convention of next year. Among the cities that will like to entertain the convention are Milwaukee, Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland, Oregon.

Nehemiah D. Sperry, who has just died at his home in New Haven, Conn., was the oldest member of the national house of representatives at the time of his retirement a year ago.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Mathew Carr, of Grifton, came in Wednesday to visit Mrs. D. M. Jones.

Mrs. W. B. Greene and Mrs. J. A. Andrews returned Wednesday evening from Kinston.

Mr. J. B. Kittrell returned Wednesday evening from Rocky Mount.

Mr. James Fennell, of Wilmington, who has been visiting friends here, returned home this morning.

Mr. S. J. Everett left this morning for Tarboro.

Mr. W. L. Hall left this morning for Jamesville.

Mr. Donnell Gilliam returned Wednesday evening from Oak City.

Mrs. N. W. Outlaw left this morning for Goldsboro.

Miss Lizzinia Moore left this morning for Burgaw.

Mr. W. B. Wilson, Jr., left today for Philadelphia to attend the army and navy football game.

Birthday Party.

Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, Master Robert Sweeny Moyer, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moyer, Sr., gave a party to forty of his little friends in honor of his fourth birthday. Many games were played by the little folks, after which delicious fruits were served. He received many beautiful presents. Each little guest departed declaring to have had a good time and wishing him many more happy birthdays.

King's Daughters Serve Supper Monday Night.

The King's Daughters will serve a supper Monday night, November 27, in the corner store on Main street, formerly occupied by the old post office. The proceeds from this supper is for the purpose of making the final payment on the King's Daughters cottage of the Stonewall Jackson Training school for boys.

The King's Daughters of the state have erected a cottage there at the cost of $5,000, which has now been in operation about two years, doing most excellent work. This is a cause that will doubtless appeal to the heart of every parent, and is well worthy of a most liberal patronage from the entire community. 11 25

Mr. E. G. Couch Resigns.

Greenville readers of The Daily Reflector will be sorry to hear that Mr. E. G. Couch, who, up to now so ably managed the Water and Light Commission, is to leave us. Mr. Couch's resignation goes into effect December 15th, and with Mrs. Couch he will probably locate in Oxford, where a more lucrative position has been offered him. We are sorry to lose a young man of the stirring qualities and personality of Mr. E. G. Couch, but must not be selfish and feel that Mr. Couch is going where his services will be appreciated in what they are worth.

Our very best wishes go with Mr. Couch in his new position.

"THIS IS MY 52nd BIRTHDAY."

Frank Morrison.

Frank Morrison, who has been honored with re-election as secretary of the American Federation of Labor, was born in Franktown, Ontario, November 23, 1859. His education was received in the graded schools of his native town, supplemented by a year in the high school of Walkerton, Ontario. After leaving school he learned the printer's trade, which he followed for more than twenty years in various cities of Canada and the United States. Early in his career he joined the typographical union and soon after became actively interested in the work of labor organizations. In order to better fit himself for his chosen work Mr. Morrison took a course in law at Lake Forest University graduating in 1894. He has been secretary of the American Federation of Labor since 1897 and is generally regarded as one of the ablest representatives of organized labor in the United States.

ADMISSION 10 AND 15 CENTS.

The Gaiety Theatre Has New Vaudeville Tonight.

"Hearem and Giggle" in their own original comedy, singing, talking and novelty acrobatic act, entitled, Teodles and the Crazy Clown. Hearem is the only acrobat doing a back somersault from the stage into the audience.

This act is full of good, clean comedy, and will be appreciated by everyone.

The price of admission will be reduced to 10 and 15 cents.

Now, Listen!

Any lady, accompanied by a gentleman, will be admitted on ten-cent ticket.

Now, boys, take your best girl to the show, or some other fellow's best girl, and it will only cost you 25 cents. See! Now, isn't that nice.

Now ladies, if the boys won't do their part, I'll tell you what. Any two ladies together will be admitted for 25 cents. Now, isn't that nice.

We are sure that these prices will reach everybody.

The management is trying to please every patron by giving a good show at low prices.

Mr. Armstrong will also sing for us. Keep it up, boy, we love to hear you sing.

It is a great pity that we can't save money without economizing.

Many a man who can find fault is unable to find anything else.

THEY INJURE CHILDREN.

Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic May Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given. Ordinary pills, cathartics, and purgatives are too apt to do more harm than good. They sometimes cause griping, nausea, and distressing after-effects, and may actually injure the health, thus establishing a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as a safe and dependable remedy for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies not only relieve constipation, but help to remove the cause of this ailment. They also frequently overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition.

There is really, in our opinion, no similar medicine so good as Rexall Orderlies for the purpose to which it is directed, especially for children, aged and delicate persons. They are prepared in tablet form and in two sizes of packages: 12 tablets, 10c., 39 tablets, 25c., and 80 tablets, 50c. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Moyes Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.

IMPOSING FUNERAL FOR EDITOR JOSEPH PEARSON CALDWELL

to wield an influence over an army of readers and command the respect and confidence of all. He was one of these editors who are greater than the papers they edit.

Joseph Pearson Caldwell was a son of the late Hon. Joseph Pearson Caldwell and Amanda McCullough Caldwell, and was born in Statesville, Iredell county, N. C., June 16, 1853. The early years of his life were spent in his native village, where he was educated by his sister, Miss Janie A. Caldwell. He also at that time attended a night school.

At 14 years of age Mr. Caldwell, then nothing more than a lad, went to work as a printer in the office of the Iredell Express, a weekly newspaper whose name was changed shortly after the war to The American Soon after this Mr. Charles R. Jones located in Statesville and established The Statesville Intelligencer. Mr. Caldwell was offered a position on this paper at $6 a week with a raise of $1 a week, which he accepted. It was while setting type in this office that he tried out his prentice hand, offering his services at nights to do a little writing in the local department.

After working for several years in the office of The Statesville Intelligencer, Mr. Caldwell decided to pay a visit to Charlotte. He went down to one of the old Carolina fairs and while in Charlotte paid a visit to all of the newspaper offices in the city. Dropping in at the office of the old Charlotte Observer, Mr. Caldwell met Mr. Johnson Jones, the editor at that time. Mr. Jones questioned Mr. Caldwell as to what line of work he was engaged in and on being told that he worked in a newspaper office, offered him $35 a month to become local editor. This tender was accepted, Mr. Caldwell moving to Charlotte in November, 1872.

A few months after the arrival of Mr. Caldwell in Charlotte to work on The Charlotte Observer, Mr. Jones of The Statesville Intelligencer went to Charlotte and purchased The Observer. The two worked together until 1875, when Mr. Caldwell was seized with rheumatism and returned to Statesville, remaining in bed six weeks. While in bed Mr. Caldwell received an offer from Mr. William H. Bernard, editor of The Wilmington Star, at $20 a month and was about to accept it when he was offered a better position in Charlotte. After working in Charlotte about a year, he was offered $1,000 a year and the position of city editor of The Raleigh News. He went to Raleigh and lived about a year. Soon after this Mr. F. Brevard McDowell purchased a half interest in The Observer and Mr. Caldwell was sent for and offered $1,100 to serve as assistant editorial writer. He accepted, returned to Charlotte and in June, 1877, was wedded to Miss Margaret Spratt. She died in 1893. Surviving as the result of this marriage are three children, namely: Mrs. H. D. McCullough, of Empire, Panama; Mrs. Julia Tallaferr, of New York, and Mr. Frank M. Caldwell, of Charlotte. Miss Janie A. Caldwell, Mr. Caldwell's sister, also survives.

In 1880 Mr. Caldwell purchased The Statesville Landmark and went there to edit it. From the beginning the paper was a success, and Mr. Caldwell often said those years spent in Statesville were the happiest of his life.

The Charlotte Observer later suspended. The Evening Chronicle was then established and February 1, 1892, it was purchased by Messrs. J. P. Caldwell and D. A. Tompkins. Its name was changed to The Charlotte Daily Observer. Mr. Caldwell became editor and general manager and continued in control of it until stricken in 1909.

While living in Statesville Mr. Caldwell was elected mayor of the town and he served four years. He became a member of the board of directors of the state insane asylum and was made chairman in 1884, a position which he held until his death. In 1892 Mr. Caldwell was elected a delegate to the national Democratic convention and was chairman of the North Carolina delegation.

Mr. Caldwell's second marriage was to Miss Addie Williams, of Charlotte. One child, Adelaide, survives.

DEATH CHAIR LOOMS HIGH BEFORE HENRY C. BEATTIE

which was three weeks old at the time of its mother's death.

Aug. 24.—Beattie pleaded "not guilty" to the indictment.

Aug. 24.—Commencement of the trial. Prosecution introduced evidence to show that Beattie had taken the gun bought for him by Paul and secreted it along the Midlothian pike, at the scene of the murder, and had there induced his wife to get out of the automobile and shot her. Paul Beattie testified that Henry, several days after the murder, had confessed to him that he had shot his wife, saying: "I'm sorry that I did it. I would

BEGINNING WEDNESDAY, NOV. 22nd, there will be, for one week, a at the store of Hart & Hadley Representatives from the factory will be present to demonstrate these goods. Everybody, ladies especially, invited not do it again for $1,000,000."

The defence bent every effort to break down the testimony of Paul Beattie, whom they described as a "moral weakling," and tried to ascribe Paul's testimony to a desire to escape from the "ugly fix" he was in. However, Paul's testimony was substantiated in its important features by other witnesses.

Sept. 4.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., took the stand in his own behalf and on cross-examination held to his previous statements in regard to his wife being shot by a strange man who held them up on the road.

Sept. 8.—The jury in the case recorded a unanimous verdict of "guilty." This verdict was believed to have been influenced not only by the strong direct evidence of Beattie's guilt, but also by the testimony of his relations with his "affinity," the Binford girl, which was supposed to have furnished the motive for the crime. This young woman, scarcely more than a child, met Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., when she was but thirteen years old and two years later gave birth to a child alleged to have been his son.

Nov. 13.—The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia denied the petition for a writ of error.

Nov. 15.—The young wife murderer's last hope of escaping the electric chair was wiped away when Governor Mann declined to interfere with the sentence and issued a signed statement in which he stated that he had followed the case with the closest attention and declared his belief that Beattie had had a fair trial and merited the punishment imposed upon him by the jury and court.

Rheumatism Yields to MILAM

Read The Proof: Former U. S. Postmaster Recommends Milam.

Gentlemen—My niece suffered for many years with a trouble pronounced by her physicians as Uric Acid Rheumatism, and although he treated her, she never obtained relief.

Being well acquainted with MILAM and knowing it had been used successfully very frequently in similar cases, I determined to put her on it. She took six bottles with the happiest results. I regard her as being entirely relieved, and will always take pleasure in recommending MILAM for Uric Acid troubles.

Yours truly, C. T. BARKSDALE Danville, Va., July 18, 1910.

Spent $3,000 on Rheumatism.

Norfolk, Va., July 23, 1910.

About five weeks ago I was indeed to take Milam for an aggravated case of Rheumatism, for which I had spent over $3,000 for all known remedies and tried many doctors, went to Hot Springs, but received no benefits whatever. For fifteen years I have been a sufferer, each spring I have been in bed and incapacitated for work until this spring, which, I am glad to say, I have been attending to my business, feel fine, splendid appetite, and feel confident that I will be a cured man from Rheumatism.

I wish to say that Milam has done all that I claim it will do in my case, so far, and I look forward to a speedy recovery, and would not take five times the amount of the price of the medicine for what it has done for me so far.

Yours very truly, C. H. WADE Business, Cor. Church and Lee Streets

Rheumatism Entirely Gone.

I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism and decided to try MILAM. I bought six bottles, and am now on my fourth bottle. I can truthfully say that I have never taken a medicine that has done me as much good. My Rheumatism is entirely gone, my complexion greatly improved and my appetite good—in fact, I have not felt so well in a long time. I would not take $50.00 for the good your medicine has done me, but in order to be sure that the trouble is entirely eradicated, I will take the two remaining bottles.

I voluntarily give this testimonial, and cheerfully recommend Milam to anyone suffering from Rheumatism.

(Signed) ALBERT McBRIDE, Danville, Va.

Here Is Where The Draft
Enters

The most perfect draft ever discovered is the patent Hot Blast Down Draft of the Wilson Heater. The only draft that secures perfect combustion and prevents waste. This draft is found only in the

Wilson HOT BLAST Heater

The air enters at the top, drives the combustible gases into the fire where they are burned—prevents the escape of heat up the chimney—doubles the heating power of the fuel.

In other words, only half the amount of fuel used in ordinary heaters is necessary. The Wilson is air-tight, making perfect combustion possible and a fire can be held 24 hours.

We sell Wilson Hot Blast Heaters for either wood or coal.

Famous Coffee of 200 Years Ago

Over a century ago the old French Market at New Orleans was famed for its delicious coffee. It was quite different from the ordinary coffee of today. People were accustomed to visit the French Market and drink cup after cup of the delicious beverage. Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay and other famous men praised this rare old French Blend. Beautiful women of New Orleans enjoyed it at the close of the Mardi Gras balls, and after the daily siesta. Then you could obtain only at the French Market in New Orleans. But NOW you all may serve it—daily—at your own tables. For the real old French Market Blend is perpetuated by

French Market Coffee

The Same Unique Hygienic Roasting Process

No matter where you live you can now obtain this rare old coffee, with all its enticing, natural strength and aroma, for it is packed in hermetically-sealed cans, untouched by human hands.

There is but one genuine "French Market Coffee"—only one French Market Flavor. No wonder the secret of its blend and roast was guarded so carefully for so many years.
