HOPE FIRE COMPANY PUSHING FORWARD

WANTS HORSE FOR HOSE WAGON

Violators Of The Fire Ordinances Will Hereafter Be Reported To Mayor.

The regular monthly meeting of Hope Fire company was held Monday night, and twenty-four answering to the roll call out of a membership of thirty shows that the members are actively interested in the affairs of the company.

Quite a number of things were discussed at this meeting looking to the improvement of the company. Among these was that the company, out of the fund in its treasury, co-operate with the board of aldermen to purchase a horse for the hose wagon, provided the horse is to be used for no other purpose except in connection with the fire department.

A committee was appointed to look into the purchase of ten rubber suits for the nozzlemen; and another committee was appointed to confer with the aldermen relative to having two bed rooms built in the hall so that members of the company may sleep in the building to be close at hand in case of fire at night.

Complaint being made of persons jumping on the hose wagon and riding when an alarm is being responded to, the chief of the fire department instructed the members of hereafter report such persons to the mayor or that warrants be issued against them for violation of the fire ordinances.

READY FOR TRIAL.

S. Edward Stibbins To Be Tried For Murder Of His Father.

VINCENNES, Ind., Dec. 12.—Everything is in readiness for the trial of S. Edward Stibbins, the young man who is charged with first degree murder as the result of the mysterious killing of his father, George W. Stibbins. The case was on the court calendar for today and it is expected to proceed with the trial without delay.

The elder Stibbins was shot and killed while feeding cattle on his farm near Petersburg on the night of November 17, last. The revolver used by the murderer was taken out of the mud near where the body was found. The theory of suicide was advanced by members of the Stibbins family, but the authorities placed no credence in it after it was shown that the dead man wore heavily mittens and there were no powder marks near the wound.

The son, S. Edward Stibbins, was taken into custody and later charged with murder upon evidence that he had been on unfriendly terms with his father for some time and was unable to give satisfactory account of his whereabouts at the time the crime was committed. The accused man is thirty-two years old and a graduate of the state Normal school. For some years he has been engaged in teaching. Other members of the Stibbins family have declined to discuss the crime other than to assert their belief in the innocence of the son.

Arizona's First Election.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 12.—Arizona held her first state election today, voting for governor and other state officials, judges of the supreme court and district courts and members of the legislature. In addition, the voters also expressed their preference for two United States senators and also voted on the proposal to eliminate the judicial recall from the state constitution. Complete tickets were put in the field by the Republican, Democratic and Socialist parties. Owing to the multiplicity of candidates the complete results of the election probably will not be known before Thursday.

JAMES B. MCGREARY

Again Governor After a Lapse of More Than Thirty Years.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 12.—After a lapse of more than thirty years, James B. McCreary, for the second time in his long career of public service, was today inaugurated governor of Kentucky. The inauguration crowd was the largest ever seen here.

The parade of militia companies, Democratic marching clubs, civic organizations and military cadets was the feature of the day. Another feature was the presence of hundreds of Confederate veterans, who were doubtless attracted to the inauguration by the general feeling that Governor McCreary probably will be the last one of their number who will be chosen as chief executive of the Blue Grass state.

The governor-elect and his family reached Frankfort last evening on a special train, accompanied by a large delegation of his neighbors from Richmond, and under the escort of a special legislative committee.

The inaugural exercises were held on the front steps of the new capitol. The exercises were opened with an invocation by Rev. J. R. Leigler, Mayor James H. Polsgrove introduced Governor Wilson, who delivered his farewell address. Chief Justice Hobson then administered the oath of office to the new governor. Following Governor McCreary's inaugural address, Lieut. Gov. E. J. McDermott was sworn in. After the exercises were concluded Governor McCreary held a public reception in the capitol.

North Carolina Day in Societies.

The Edgar Allen Poe and Sidney Lanier Literary societies of the Training school at their regular meeting at 6:45 on Saturday evening, celebrated North Carolina day by each having a county program. The general plan and purpose of the two programs was the same. The representatives from each county had some special "stunt" on the program. The products of many were amusingly advertised; many bits of interesting local history and legends were told; others had merry toasts and jingles. The Poes carried county banners and sang state songs. The Laniers had some costuming and move history. County spirit was aroused.

Mr. L. R. Meadows conducted Y. W. C. A. services on Sunday evening, talking on the value of little things.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICES.

At the Training School Saturday Evening.

Bishop Robert Strange made a talk full of power and inspiration to the students of the Training School on Saturday evening. His theme was the reasonableness of God's love and power and how we can take our part in His plan. He clearly drew the distinction between predestination, God's purpose and election, God's plan for carrying out His purpose. Nations and individuals have been chosen for special equipment for the good of all. The Hebrews were chosen to teach the world morality and religion; Greeks for art and philosophy; Romans for organization and the force of law; Anglo Saxons for civil and religious liberty. Julius Caesar, William the Conqueror, Washington, Michel Angelo, all of the great men of the world were chosen to perform a task for the good of the world.

The Lord has given the power to do and to grow to each one. To do our part we must foster self-denial, be saved from the devils of vanity, laziness, selfishness, and all the sins that beset us and be open minded to good, and like the monk of old, "practise the presence of God."

The students hope Bishop Strange will stop and give us a message whenever he passes this way.

COLORED TEACHERS.

Meet And Form A County Association.

The colored teachers of Pitt county met at the graded school building and perfected an organization by electing Manning Moore, a farmer-teacher, president; W. A. Chance, another farmer, vice president; Dawson, secretary.

Almir A. Patrick, Ardena Moore, and the teachers of the second grade, Amy D. Bowen, were among those present. The principal of the graded school, C. M. Epps and three of his assistants welcomed the teachers and assured them of hearty support in seeking to create an interest in the county. This making the county superintendent proud of his colored teachers. The next meeting will be held on the 4th Saturday of the present month. All teachers urged to be present. The industrial spirit of the town school is to speed.

For Hog And Hominy.

Does farming pay? Ask J. C. McDowell, of Morganton; ask any farmer who really knows how to farm, and he will answer yes. He had heard so much of the phenomenal crops of corn produced to the acre in the two Carolinas that Mr. McDowell thought he would try his hand this year, and he has given The Observer a brief but very interesting account of his work. This year he planted six acres of his river land in corn, using two hundred pounds of acid phosphate to the acre. From the six acres he gathered 166 barrels of corn, 163 pounds of shelled corn to the barrel, or 483 bushels and 10 pounds, an average of 80 bushels, 7 pounds to the acre. Last year without the use of fertilizer Mr. McDowell made 240 bushels of corn on the same land. His fertilizer cost him $250 the acre, or $15 for the six acres. He believes that with a crop of crimson clover and 500 pounds of acid phosphate he will be able to make over 100 bushels to the acre next year. "Why should Burke county not produce as much corn to the acre as any county in the state?" Why not, indeed! There is not a single county in North Carolina that cannot be made to double its yield of corn and other grain crops by the intelligent use of fertilizers and intensive farming.—Charlotte Observer.

AT THE GALETY.

Large Audience—Duet Rendition Tonight.

Miss Edith Temple came for a return engagement to the Galety last night. Although the management of this house had decided to discontinue vaudeville on account of the slight support, many requests were made to have Miss Temple play a return date and we are all glad that this was possible. Those who heard her some days ago were most liberal with their praises and not without reason.

We are promised tonight a duet rendition of "The Rosary." Mr. Armstrong to accompany Miss Temple. This should be a treat that nobody who can go to the Galety tonight should miss. No sweeter song was ever written and we know what both singers can do.

The picture service continues to be nothing but first-class and we really think that no patronage could be liberal enough. The Galety can accommodate a good crowd and provides an entertainment to please, so why not go there?

APPEAL TO YOUR PRIDE.

Attend The Play At The Training School Tonight.

The people of Greenville owe it to their local pride, as well as to the students of East Carolina Teachers' Training school, to attend the play to be given in the school auditorium tonight. The young ladies of the two societies of the school have prepared and will present this play to help the fund to be applied to the purchase of oil portraits of two of Greenville's citizens—ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis and Prof. W. H. Ragsdale—to be hung in the auditorium of the school and remain there as a mark of esteem to these gentlemen for the work they did in securing the location of the school in Greenville. If this does not appeal to the pride of every citizen, we do not know what would do so. There should be no vacant seats in the school auditorium when the play is presented tonight.

"Your Presents Desired."

A little girl received an invitation to a party which a friend was about to give. The invitation had been written by the small hostess. After surveying the note with delight for a few minutes the recipient said: "Papa, I wonder if it's a birthday party?" "Let me see the invitation." "Yes, it must be a birthday party. It begins: 'Your presents is desired.'—Housekeeper.

There is hardly a crop the farmers could raise with less profit than cotton

The resignation of Judge Ward brings on more trouble for the governor.

The Republicans have about settled on Chicago as the place for holding their national convention sometime next June.

With fireworks on display, decorations going up and the general holiday hustle coming on, is a time that people should be very careful to take every precaution against fire.

Senator Overman has called up in congress the matter of the government paying citizens of North Carolina for cotton seized and sold in 1865, the money being converted into the United States treasury.

Two important meetings for this section will be held this week, both beginning Wednesday. One is the fish and oyster convention, which meets in New Bern, and the other is the state meeting of the Farmers' union in Wilson.

The tight-wads and the loan sharks reap their harvest in taking advantage of the people's necessities and demand extortionate rates of interest for the loan of a little money. If such as do this have any conscience left, they might turn to the Bible and read Leviticus 25:35-37.

An article headed "Bumper Crop and Its Effect," taken from the Charlotte Observer and printed elsewhere in this paper, should be read especially by every farmer. Pitt county is now suffering from the very trouble of overproduction of cotton as outlined in that article, and the same is true all over the South. Bumper crops bring more loss than profit.

Now comes Secretary of War Stimson with the scare-crow statement that the United States army is practically unprepared for war, and would be able to make no show at all in conflict with any first class power. He is paving the way for some manufacturers to get a big contract furnishing arms, ammunition and equipment. A peace treaty is what the world needs with the armies of all the nations disbanding altogether.

It is a course of regret that Judge George W. Ward, of the fourth judicial district, because of ill health, has tendered his resignation and will retire from the bench. He made an excellent judge of the Superior court, filling the position for seven years with credit to himself and to the state.

The cuts for the special edition of The Daily Reflector, to appear probably this week, arrived yesterday and by the proofs that accompanied them we can say that nothing better was ever sent us in this line. We can assure every reader of The Reflector a "treat" in all that this word implies. Greenville will be proud to see itself in black and white and we will feel that we have done our duty by the community we are working for. We can make these complimentary remarks about these cuts and hot blush, for the simple reason that we did not make them. However, the pictures were made in Greenville, of course, and Mr. Sheppard, who took most of them, is here complimented in his art. Not only complimented, but sincerely thanked for his co-operation. In a very few days we trust to issue this special number, and in the meantime will thank those business men of Greenville that responded to our call. We are sure that they will feel proud and gratified when they see the result.

We are all trying to make Greenville as good as we can and better. Of course each one in his own particular line. Ours happens to be (and we are glad of it) the "publicity part" and for this reason and as our contribution to the welfare of Greenville and Pitt county, we made up our minds to "do things in style" in this special issue, and if things keep coming the way they have been up to now we will have nothing to feel sorry for. Very much to the contrary.

BETHEL, N. C., Dec. 11, 1911.
The Round Dozen club met Tuesday evening, December 5, with Mrs. R. L. Barnhill. The meeting was one of the most delightful of the season, interesting talks being made by several of the members, after which a very laughable contest was entered into, in which Mrs. V. A. Ward was the successful participant. She was given a book entitled "The Following of the Star."
Dainty refreshments were then served.

Ten Trading Days.
There are left only ten trading days between now and Christmas, one for the digits of each hand. Yet these are ten days of opportunity in bargain getting if you take advantage of the special sale at the big store of C. T. Munford. The Christmas rush is on in earnest at that store, for the people realize that getting desirable goods at about one-half the usual selling price is worth while. With cotton selling at less than 9 cents and the money supply correspondingly short, you must make what you have go as far as possible on purchases. Munford's special sale is where you want to go to do this. Come while the opportunity is held out to you.

Deepened On The Defendant.

Bumper Crop And Its Effect.
The government will issue today its estimate of the cotton crop. We do not expect this report to throw much additional light on the probable output of the season, but it is, nevertheless, a vital and important document to the trade. The government estimate can hardly fall under 15,000,000 bales. We would not be surprised to find it registering a guess of a quarter million more than this. All are now agreed that the largest cotton crop in the history of the industry has been made and is now being picked and marketed. The ginners' report issued showing the total number of bales ginned up to December 1 astounds us. It reports 12,814,832 bales ginned, lacking only 637,000 bales of catching up with the maximum crop ever produced, that of 1904. Of course, the amount yet to be reported and yet to be ginned will undoubtedly raise the maximum of this season to 15,000,000 bales or more.

Two causes have produced this effect. Increased acreage and increased fertilizers are behind this enormous output. In following both these policies, the Southern farmer has erred and the disaster is now upon his head. The unescapable law of reaping what is sown is being enforced just now in the case of the farmer. He has made his plans for raising a monster crop and he has raised it. Bidden to this attempt by the factory prices received during the past few years, notably the last two, he has exerted himself to grow rich through an impossible means—that of dumping upon the market a commodity upon which he holds a monopoly in production but not in its disposition. The farmer has little control over the cotton market. This should not be the case, but it is. And the farmer knows it. He knew it when he increased his acreage last spring, enriched the soil by the use of more commercial fertilizers and made every preparation to make a big crop. He has assumed heavier obligations which must be met and he is receiving the lowest price for his cotton offered in six years with which to meet these obligations.

It is a great pity that the South has gone astray in this direction. It is a great pity the Southern farmer could not have been content with his present prosperity. It is a misfortune that he has hurt his own profession and wrought rather harmful influence upon the business of the country by making this big cotton crop. He was doing well before. He was receiving profitable prices for his ten to fourteen million-bale crops. The country was doing well with him. And while the farmer and the country generally is yet in business condition superior in tone and strength to that of a few years ago, it must be admitted that the big crop is damaging. The farmer claims he can not sell at a reasonable profit when receiving the prices now offered. This is the cause. It is true because the prices of all the materials and tools used in the production of the crop have advanced and further because the increased use of commercial fertilizers has brought on another obligation.

It is regrettable that such a situation should come about, but we look for good to come out of this evil. We believe in the intelligence of the Southern farmer and we believe in his ability to achieve independence. He has the way pointed out to him. He is learning another lesson which certainly should not again need to be repeated for his instruction. He ought to look the situation squarely in the face and act accordingly to his best judgment. With a surplus cotton crop carried over from this season into the next, there is but one wise course for him to follow. It is curtailment both in acreage and fertilizers. When this has been done, diversity which has likewise been preached so eloquently in his ears, will be inevitable. The South will then achieve another state of independence, the farmer his proper condition of prosperity and the country its right level of commercial supremacy to the extent that this commercial supremacy relates itself to the cotton industry.—Charlotte Observer.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING GONE

Destroyed By Catarrh Can Be Quickly Restored By Using Ely's Cream Balm.

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instantly relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal mixtures which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached by mixtures taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner. If your case requires a spray, ask for Ely's (Liquid) Cream Balm. Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to take.
