DELIGHTFUL EVENING AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Mr. Bob Delights An Appreciative Audience

THE PLAY IS WELL PRESENTED

Young Ladies In Their Respective Roles Acquit Themselves With Marked Credit—A Bunch Of Demons Smooted Out At The Finale.

At the Training school auditorium Tuesday night the young ladies of the Sydney Lanier and Edgar Allen Poe Literary societies of that institution gave a delightful interpretation of the two-act comedy "Mr. Bob," before a very representative audience.

Somehow or other a young man, named Brown, gets into a whirlpool of identities that would make the Malestrom look cheap and after a series of scenes rich in comedy emerges from the shadows of doubt with a wad of important papers, which he meekly hands to a maiden lady by the name of Rebecca Luke. Cats are given a chance to mew profusely, but are not given the advantage of showing themselves, whilst the love making of Patty and Jenkins, maid and butler, respectively, in the home of the maiden lady, proves a wealthy mine for mirth. Somewhere beyond a window in the back of the stage, perhaps back of the auditorium, a yacht race is in progress which a young lady named Miss Bryant, otherwise Mr. Bob, wins much to the delight of a young man named Philip Royson.

The portrayal of every character was most creditably carried out by the young ladies. Perhaps Miss Eula Proctor, as Patty, and Miss Willie Greene Day, as the butler, received more applause, but then, their parts were of the nature that calls for it when acted the way they were by these two young ladies. Jenkins, even if a little plump, would have no doubt made "some" Romeo, but made a much better Jenkins, whilst Patty, the Juliet, of the feather duster was great.

Miss Edna Campbell, as the young man with many names, certainly brought back fond memories when she tried the fragrant weed. Her entrance on the second act, shoes in hand, was very natural and must have reminded some of us how foolish we look when we try to sneak into the house very early in the morning after sitting up all night watching a friend get sick. Although her part had her before the audience a great deal, Miss Campbell gave a mighty good account of herself and much credit should be given her for helping make such a success of the evening. Miss Mary Moore, playing the part of Philip Royson, was very natural. If some of the young men in Greenville adopted her manly step some fathers would be proud of their sons. She can also handle the pipe O. K. Miss Margurite Davis, as Rebecca Luke, was very dignified, as befits an old maid with a falling for cats. Katherine Rogers, played by Miss Lula Quinn, was delightful. Miss Patty Uzzelle played the part of Marlon Bryant, otherwise "Mr. Bob," and did it in a most creditable manner.

The stage setting was perfect, showing that the young ladies in charge of the play are not only talented but very resourceful.

Every young lady in Tuesday night's play should be complimented and we take pleasure in doing so now. Clever acting of a very funny play, such as this is not often our privilege to enjoy and we want to thank the young ladies of the Training school for providing such an entertainment.

As a curtain raiser and intermission Miss Ora Cassiday and Miss Arlene Joyner, at the violin and piano, respectively, gave selections of pleasing music; altogether Tuesday night's entertainment at the Training school was delightful.

Steam Laundry Coming.

Mr. R. A. Bishop, of South Boston, Va., was here Tuesday looking into the desirability of establishing an up-to-date steam laundry. He was much pleased with what he saw of Greenville and about made up his mind to locate here. A modern laundry is much needed here, and we believe he will find a liberal patronage in Greenville.

WANT FEDERAL PARK BOARD.

Urges For Creation of Bureau Of National Parks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—A country-wide campaign to urge upon congress the creation of a bureau of national parks, to have charge of all national parks and reservations, with a view to preserving and adding to their beauty, is to be launched by the American Civic association at its seventh annual convention which began in this city today. The movement already has received the indorsement of President Taft and Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

The convention will remain in session over tomorrow and Friday. City planning and neighborhood improvements are the chief subjects to be dealt with in the papers, addresses and discussions, in addition to the national park matter. In the city planning the wisdom of applying system to the development of the aesthetic as well as the practical city of today. Experts from Minneapolis, Dallas and other cities will tell of the successful work done in their communities in the way of neighborhood improvement. J. Horace McFarland, of Harrisburg, Pa., is the president of the association and the presiding officer at the convention sessions, which are being held at the New Willard hotel.

One Day Less.

Again you are reminded that there is one day less between you and Christmas and also one less opportunity to take advantage of the unparalleled bargains to be had in the special sale going on at C. T. Munford's big store. Good people, be wise, and save money when you can, for saving it is as good as making it. That is what Munford is helping you to do by giving you the very best goods at about one-half the usual selling price. You only have to visit the big store to be convinced of this, for every article is marked in plain figures. Come on while the opportunity is held open for you.

Fifty Years As Editor.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 13.—The St. John Globe, issued a special fifty-page edition today to mark the completion of the fiftieth year of the editorship of John Valentine Ellis. Mr. Ellis is believed to be the oldest daily newspaper editor in America in point of continuous service. He was born in Halifax, seventy-five years ago and at the age of twenty-six became editor of the Globe. He was appointed to the senate of Canada in 1900, after having served for some years as a member of the provincial legislature of New Brunswick and later of the Dominion house of Commons.

Don't Keep Us Waiting.

Subscribers who owe for The Reflector are unusually slow about paying up, notwithstanding their attention has been repeatedly called to it. Friends, please look at the date after your name on the paper, and if you owe us let us have the money. The date should be sufficient to show how far in arrears you are without making it necessary for a statement to be mailed.

Gulf Conference of the M. E. Church.

MARSHALL, Texas, Dec. 13.—The Gulf Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church began its annual meeting in this city today, with Bishop Neely of New Orleans presiding. The programme extends over four days and provides for sermons and addresses by a number of well known divines, in addition to the transaction of the usual business of the conference.

Monument Unveiling Postponed.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 13.—Announcement is made of the postponement of the unveiling of the monument erected in this city to the South Carolina women of the Confederacy. The unveiling was to have taken place tomorrow, but owing to a delay in shipping the bronze from Europe it was found necessary to defer the event until a later date.

Special Meeting Tonight.

In connection with the prayer meeting in the Methodist church tonight there will be a special meeting at which every member is urged to be present. Matters of importance are to be considered.

By saying something interesting, Alonzo, you may possibly interest people in what you say.

HEALTH CONFERENCE.

Canadian Public Health Conference at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Dec. 13.—Noted physicians, bacteriologists and health officers from all parts of the Dominion have come to Montreal to attend the first congress of the Canadian Public Health Association. The proceedings, began with a business session this morning in the new medical building of McGill University. This evening his royal highness the duke of Connaught, who is the patron of the association, officiated at the formal opening of the gathering in the Royal Victoria College.

A wide range of subjects for discussion, touching the preservation of public health, has been prepared for the sessions of tomorrow and Friday. Sectional conferences will occupy tomorrow morning and in the afternoon there will be a symposium discussion on "Housing and Town Planning." The biological methods of sewage disposal will be discussed Friday morning and the congress will close with the election of officers in the afternoon.

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

News Happenings Out In That Neighborhood.

ROCHDALE, N. C., Dec. 13.—Miss Joel Tyson, of Farmville, spent several days of last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Joab Tyson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tyson, of Rensston, visited relatives here Sunday. Mr. B. F. Crawford died Saturday night and was buried Sunday afternoon. He was one of our oldest and most highly estimated citizens.

Miss Bessie Lee Alston, of E. C. T. S., spent Sunday with Mrs. Lloyd Smith.

Mr. Robert Jones came home from Trinity College Sunday.

There will be services at the Christian church at Arthurs Saturday night and Sunday. From 10 to 11 o'clock Sunday morning will be an interesting mission program. Everybody is cordially invited to attend each service.

To Investigate Foreign Missions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 13.—A commission of eminent experts appointed to investigate the work of the missions in the Far East sailed today on the steamship Shinyo Maru. The commission was appointed some time ago by the International Bible Students' association as a result of criticisms from various sources in regard to the methods pursued by the American missions in the Asiatic field. A thorough investigation is to be made of existing conditions with a view to recommending changes in the present plan of operations, if any changes are deemed necessary to forward the interests of religion and humanity.

To Conserve the Fishing Industry.

NEW BERNE, N. C., Dec. 13.—Persons interested in the conservation of the fishing industry in North Carolina, particularly the seacoast and tide water fisheries, met in conference here today to launch a concerted movement for an adequate State law dealing with the subject. The conference met under the joint auspices of the North Carolina Fish Commission, the North Carolina Oyster Commission and the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey.

Cheaper Cable Messages.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The long agitation for cheaper cable messages has finally reached a successful culmination. Today the various cable companies put into effect a fifty per cent reduction of all press messages from the British Isles to Canada, Australia and the United States. Ordinary messages in plain language subject to deferment will also be accepted at half the present rates, beginning the first of the coming year.

For Civil Service Reform.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 13.—Preparations have been completed for the annual convention of the National Civil Service Reform league, which is to be held in this city tomorrow and Friday under the auspices of the Philadelphia association. Delegates from every part of the country will be in attendance, and civil service questions will be discussed at the sessions by men of national prominence.

A girl seems to have a bigger horror of sensible clothes than a man has of prison stripes.

THE BRICEVILLE MINE DISASTER

WORK OF RESCUE BEING PUSHED

Thirty Found So Far, But Only Five Alive.

BRICEVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 13.—Spurred on by last night's discovery of survivors of Saturday's dust blast in the Cross Mountain coal mine, fresh rescue squads went into the cross entries this morning, hacking and digging with redoubled energy. Their only reward, however, was the discovery of the corpse-strewn chamber far back in the mine.

Six bodies were recovered. Two of the six were identified. One was Joseph McQueen, a widower. The other, Tate Vallalee, had a wife and four children.

Stricken mad, probably from fear inspired by their plight, two members who had been with the party rescued last night are now dashing wildly in and out of channels in the far recesses of the mine. All night long men of the rescue squad have been chasing the maniacs, but just as soon as would-be rescuers get close on their trail, the madmen would dash away, screaming wildly. First they scurry like rats down the main entry, then scamper away into black recesses of the mine at the approach of men from the outside.

The madmen miners are believed to be John Duff and John Smith. News of their plight is being kept from their families, who have given them up for dead.

The Knoxville Iron company, owner of the ill-fated mine, has provided every attention for the five survivors taken from the mine last night. The president of the company, T. L. Stephenson, has slept scarcely a wink since the disaster.

Squad of Doctors.

A big squad of doctors came to the fore last night, outranking undertakers' assistants, who had almost taken possession of the miner's outer chambers before the five men were brought out alive. The doctors will lessen the tension under which the entombed miners have strained before they will be taken into the open air. Near mine opening plaster masks will be placed over the faces of survivors and they will be wrapped in warm blankets.

Not the most unique feature of the rescue work is aversion of the miners to digging graves. They will take their lives in their hands at rescue work, going far into the chambers of the ill-fated mine, but they hesitate at digging holes for bodies of their fellow workmen.

Director Chandler, of the rescue workers, was compelled to go among the miners and plead with them before a sufficient number volunteered for grave digging. Most of the victims are buried as soon as their bodies are recovered.

The rescue party penetrated into cross entry No. 23. No miners were found there, but additional directions for their rescue were found scrawled in chalk on the walls. They evidently were compelled to change their vantage points on account of altering air conditions. The rescue squad pressed on in the direction indicated by the chalk marks.

At 11 o'clock a total of thirty bodies had been removed.

Ordemann and Femler.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 13.—Jesse Pelmer, of Des Moines, and Henry Ordemann, of Minneapolis, who are to engage in a finish wrestling bout here tomorrow night for the championship of the northwest, have completed their training and are ready for the timekeeper's signal to start them on their contest. Each man expressed himself today as certain of victory, and the consensus of opinion among the followers of the sport presages an interesting and hard fought match. The contest is the result of efforts that have been making for more than a year to bring the two big wrestlers together on the mat.

Nice For Christmas.

Engraved cards make nice Christmas presents. The Reflector takes orders for these, but orders should be placed early to insure delivery in time, as it requires about ten days to get an order filled.

A girl has a lot of best beaux so as to be grateful afterward that she didn't marry any of them.

AT THE GAITY.

An Interesting Program For Tomorrow Night.

An interesting program will be carried tomorrow night at this popular house. The management is giving a benefit for the Junior Guild of the Episcopal church of Greenville, and it is to be expected that a large audience will attend.

The program includes: Solo—By Miss Vernessa Smith. Recitation—By Miss Ward Moore. Greenville's popular quartette will sing several good songs and extra good pictures will be shown on the screen.

Altogether a most interesting program which should not be missed by all those that can go to the Gaiety tomorrow night.

Tonight Miss Temple and Mr. Armstrong will sing another duet: "Silver Threads Among The Gold." Last night's duet rendition of the Rosary was loudly applauded by a fairly large audience.

HATCH DIVORCE TRIAL.

Being Tried In The Superior Court This Week.

The suit of Mrs. Hatch against her husband, Mr. L. C. Hatch, for divorce and alimony, began in the Superior court before Judge Harry W. Whedbee this morning. There is a strong array of counsel on both sides and many witnesses. The case will likely occupy two days.

Mrs. Hatch was the principal witness examined this morning. Her testimony showed their marriage, how and where they had lived since, and the frequent instances of mistreatment on the part of her husband. She was given a rigid cross examination by counsel for the defendant, but maintained her position throughout and made a good witness.

JUDGE WARD ONLY ASKS RELIEF FROM EXTRA WORK.

RALEIGH, Dec. 12.—Instead of the expected resignation as judge of the first Superior court district from Judge George W. Ward, as newspaper specialists from Elizabeth City foreshadowed last night, there came today a letter from Judge Ward merely a request to be relieved of holding special terms of court during the remainder of the winter recess season on account of poor health. Especially he asked to be relieved of the special term that the governor had directed that he hold one week in Perquimans county, beginning January 1st. The governor directs Judge Ferguson to hold this court.

Growth Of Farmers' Union.

WILSON, N. C., Dec. 13.—The annual meeting of the North Carolina division of the National Farmers' union assembled here today for a session of three days. One of the most interesting features of the convention will be the annual reports showing the remarkably growth of the organization during the past twelve months. During the year just closed 14,000 new members were enrolled in North Carolina, distributed among more than 4,000 local branches of the union.

Wool Growers At Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 13.—Large delegations of sheepmen arrived in Omaha today from Ohio, Nebraska, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and other states to attend the annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association. The convention will open tomorrow morning and continue its sessions until the end of the week. In connection with the convention the Sixth National Midwest Sheep show was opened here today.

Bishop Farthing 50 Years Old.

MONTEREAL, Dec. 13.—Bishop Farthing, head of the Anglican synod of Montreal, quietly celebrated his fiftieth birthday anniversary today. Though a native of Cincinnati, Bishop Farthing was educated in England and has been a resident of Canada ever since his ordination. Prior to his election to succeed the late Bishop Carmichael in this city he had served for some years as dean of the diocese of Kingston.

Church Meeting At Ayden.

There will be a meeting of the official board of the Christian church of Ayden on Thursday night at which all members are urged to be present.

THE HAPPENINGS AROUND WINTERVILLE

PHILATHEAS RENDER PROGRAM.

Items Of Much Interest To Our Busy Readers.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Dec. 13.—Rev. C. J. Harris has returned from Kingston with his little son, who was operated on with success.

For good, cheap blankets and comforts, see Harrington, Barber and Company.

Mrs. E. E. Cox has returned from a visit to Seven Springs.

Lard stands, butcher knives, hog scrapers, sausage mills and stuffers, at A. W. Ange & Co's.

Mr. J. C. Fox, of Rendleman, spent a few days in town last week.

Harrington, Barber & Company have now on hand a large lot of good ceiling and flooring ready for use. It will pay you to see them.

The Winterville correspondent has been off of duty for a few days and has missed some news. He has had his hands full of something else, having some of "Buddie's" experience, but it was very laughable and pleasant.

Salt, lime and cement at right prices at A. W. Ange & Co's.

Mrs. Ottilie V. Rhodes, of New Bern, spent Saturday in town with her brother, Mr. J. E. Green.

Get your supply of American farm fencing now at Harrington, Barber & Co's.

Cox spent Sunday evening very pleasantly in the country.

Service and safety are prime essentials in a bank. The Bank of Winterville offers you both.

Miss Louise Satterthwaite, of Pactolus, spent Sunday with Misses Eva and Lucy Belle Langston.

For fine or course salt, see Harrington, Barber & Co.

Mr. M. B. Bryan, of Washington, spent Sunday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Bryan.

Good shoes, small shoes, fine shoes all cheap at Harrington, Barber & Co's.

Miss Laura Salsbury, of Hassells, spent a short time in town last week.

Call on the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company and let them figure with you on farm and poultry wire fencing. They handle the "Pittsburg Perfect," Electric welded and those who know, contend nothing contributes more to perfect fence service than the weld that holds.

The Philathea class rendered a very interesting program at the Baptist church Sunday night.

We still have some very pretty buggy robes on hand. If you want a bargain, come to see the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company.

Mrs. J. C. Fox, of Rendleman, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. M. G. Bryan, returned home Tuesday evening.

Bear in mind that the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company are in position to do your undertaking. They carry most anything you want in either coffins or caskets.

Messrs. C. T. and Harvey A. Cox visited over the river last night. They report a pleasant time.

Rev. C. W. Blanchard, delivered one of his excellent sermons to an attentive audience in the Baptist church last night.

Perhaps the Durham Sun hits it best in saying, "Maybe some people write it 'Xmas' because of the cross they have to bear in paying for the presents."

When some of the disgruntled do not know what else to do, they come together with a view of organizing a new political party. Such a move is brewing in Chicago as a result of the recent labor troubles.

The South is taking on Western ways in the matter of train robberies. Before day Tuesday morning an Atlantic Coast Line train was held up soon after leaving Savannah, and the mail car was robbed of the pouches containing registered mail.

In some counties the question of paying the chairman of the board of county commissioners a salary is being agitated. It is not a bad idea, either. The chairman of the board, especially if he is such a man as we have holding that position in Pitt county, does many times more work than he gets compensation for in his per diem and mileage in attending meetings.

Warehousing Tobacco.
The Stokes County Union Warehouse opened for business one month ago today, and, so far, the success of the venture has been most gratifying to those who have charge of the enterprise. There is already approximately 200,000 pounds of tobacco in storage here and the season only fairly opened. This tobacco is graded, dried and stored at once on being received, the farmer receiving 60 per cent of the value in cash and a warehouse certificate for the remainder. The farmers are, as a rule, well pleased with the values placed upon the different grades—in fact, we heard one say a few days since that he was better off than if he had sold on the open market if he never received another cent. It is to be hoped that the farmers of Stokes and adjoining counties will more liberally patronize this, their own plant, as this is their only hope to ever again secure the top of the market for their tobacco. —Walnut Cove News.

We Must Blame Ourselves.
The cotton farmers are in trouble because thousands let the good price of cotton make them lose their heads and plant all the land possible in cotton. One would suppose that the farmers of the South had had enough of that experience in the past. If one-third the area had been planted in cotton on a good farming basis, and the same big crop had been made, there would not have been anything like the trouble there is, because the cotton would have been grown at a lower cost, and other crops in the rotation would make up the difference and the farmers would be getting cash for oats and corn and hogs and cattle. The best plan is to make a good rotation of crops and stick to it and never let cotton run away with your land because it brings a good price in one season.—Progressive Farmer.

Ends Winter's Troubles.
To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost-bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold-sores, red and rough skins, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of burns, boils, piles, cuts, sores, bruises, eczema and sprains. Only 25c at all druggists.

ON THE FARM.

Something To Take The Place Of Cotton.

There is no part of the country where corn can be grown more successfully than in the South.

There is no section that can compete with the South in the production of winter oats.

There is no section of the country that can compete with the South in the production of crops for hogs to gather themselves and thus to raise cheap pork.

There is no section of the country that can compete with the South in the production of forage from legume crops and grasses, and there is more future in hogs and cattle and dairy products than in black-eye peas and lima beans as field crops.

If you are really compelled to drop the cotton crop, simply go to farming as farmers do elsewhere. Adopt a good rotation of crops. Grow corn with peas among it, then oats followed by peas for hay. Then oats again on the pea stubble with liberal applications of acid phosphate or Thomas phosphate. Follow with peas again, and sow crimson clover or vetch on the pea stubble and manure with the manure made from feeding the corn stover and the pea hay and turn all under in the spring for corn and then repeat the rotation, and my word for it, you will soon get into shape to not miss the cotton. You will have forage and grain for cattle and hogs. Then you can lay off a series of, say, four lots and fence them and on these keep up a constant succession of crops for hogs to gather like rape, crimson clover, cowpeas, sweet potatoes, etc., that will carry the hogs through the winter and summer till time to fatten on corn. There is not the slightest need for hunting up strange crops, but simply to farm well with the regular farm crops.

But if I were farming in the weevil-infested sections, I would certainly make a strong fight before giving up cotton as part of a good farm rotation.—W. F. Massey, in Progressive Farmer.

The Big Cotton Crop.

Texas has already ginned the rise of 4,000,000 bales of cotton and it is altogether probable the yield of that state will go a quarter of a million more. The government's report of ginnings of nearly 13,000,000 bales, would seem to indicate a crop of over 15,000,000 bales, and with this big crop and low prices, the South is in a bad way. What is to be done? The New Orleans Picayune, always a wise counselor, suggests that the thing now of most interest is how to dispose of this immense yield at a profit. The entire crop cannot be sold profitably in a few months, even if the needs of the world for twelve months could absorb it all. The proper policy is to hold back as much of the balance of the crop as possible and to make preparations to plant judiciously next spring. At present prices there is sure to be a greatly increased demand for cotton and the staple is also certain to be used in many industries that have avoided it while it sold at high prices. Once convinced that prices have touched bottom the mills of the world will not only buy eagerly for present requirements but will buy as much as they can carry for future needs when, as is inevitable, prices will again advance to a higher level. The consumption of cotton cloth is bound to materially increase in the

From The Experience Of Greenville People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Greenville residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. James L. Goodwin, 416 Dickinson avenue, Greenville, N. C., says: "I feel justified in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the benefit I received from them. For a long time my back ached and I had dizzy spells and headache. The kidney secretions also annoyed me and I had bad pains through my loins. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box from the John L. Wooten Drug Company, and their use as directed relieved me. I can now rest much better at night, and my condition has improved in every way."

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not of Electric Bitters be used as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and pellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. Birthday Parties.

On Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, Master Richard Rountree, a little son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rountree, celebrated his fifth birthday. About twenty-five of his little friends were present.

Little Miss Margaret Moore gave a party Tuesday afternoon to her many little friends in honor of her tenth birthday, at her home, on Dickinson avenue.

"THIS IS MY 37th BIRTHDAY."

Lady Helen Forbes.

Lady Helen Forbes, a leading light among the clever, cultivated English women of the present day, was born in London, December 13, 1874. She is the only surviving daughter of the third Earl of Craven and a sister to the present holder of the title. Her marriage with Ian Forbes, of Northampton, took place in 1901. Lady Helen began writing when she was eleven years old, and since then she has published a number of successful novels. Besides literature she has many other interests and pursuits. She has composed several pieces of instrumental music, has a taste for languages and speaks several fluently, cares much for history and science, particularly the old-world science of heraldry, and is a keen collector of rare postage stamps.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY.

High Price For So Little.

A Baltimore man, whose son is a student at Princeton, has had frequent occasion to remonstrate with his boy touching his extravagance, but the father invariably "comes to the front" when request is made for further funds.

In his last letter to his son the father, after the usual recital, stated that he was forwarding a check for $50, and he wound up with:

"My son, your studies are costing me a great deal."

To which the hopeful in his next letter replied:

"I know it, father, and I don't study very hard, either."—Christian Work.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back The Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Weyth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

Don't neglect your hair. Start using Weyth's Sage and Sulphur today, and you will be surprised at the quick results.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, Moye's Pharmacy.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Oshkosh, Wisconsin, has adopted the commission plan of government.

Senator Wetmore, of Rhode Island, and Senator Guggenheim, of Colorado, have announced their intentions to retire at the end of their present terms.

The first presidential primary elections in the United States will be held in North Dakota, on March 19, next.

The Lotus club, a non-partisan political organization of New York City, is to have Governor Harmon, of Ohio, as its guest of honor next month.

Next year in the presidential conventions of the two dominant parties, Republican and Democratic, there will be in each from 1,060 to 1,070 delegates.

Ben F. Caldwell, formerly well known as a member of congress, has made announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Illinois.

The Massachusetts Socialists just succeeded in getting at the November election the three per cent that entitles them to be called a party and to have a place on the official ballot.

Presidential preference will be among the matters submitted to the voters of Tennessee at the state primaries to be conducted by the "Independent" Democratic party next April.

Like numerous others who have attained prominence in public life, Joseph A. Taggart, the new Democratic congressman from the second Kansas district, began his career as a school teacher.

A circumstance unknown to the average voter of today is that Pennsylvania was almost as reliably Democratic previous to 1860 as it has been robustly Republican ever since that year.

As a result of the elections held last November, the commission form of government has increased 10 per cent in the United States, measured by the population of the cities adopting it.

United States Senator George P. Wetmore, of Rhode Island, who is to retire next year on account of failing health, has been a member of the senate since 1894, with the exception of one year—1907—when his seat was vacant because of a deadlock in the legislature.

Delaware next year will elect a complete set of state officers and a legislature which will elect a successor of United States Senator Harry A. Richardson, whose term will expire in 1913 and who has already announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Newton D. Baker, who recently was elected mayor of Cleveland by the large plurality of 18,000, is now being discussed by Ohio Democrats as a candidate for governor to succeed Governor Harmon. To make the race for governor he would have to resign as mayor, since his term in the latter office does not expire until January 1, 1914.

Of the several Democratic leaders who are being discussed for the presidential nomination the oldest in point of years is Governor Marmon, Ohio, who will be 66 next February. Representative Underwood is in his 50th year, Woodrow Wilson is 53 and Speaker Champ Clark will celebrate his 61st birthday next March.

It must keep his satanic majesty busy if he finds work for all the idle hands to do.

FOR AGED PEOPLE.

Old Folks Should Be Careful In Their Selection of Regulative Medicine.

We have a safe, dependable, and altogether ideal remedy that is particularly adapted to the requirements of aged people and persons of weak constitutions who suffer from constipation or other bowel disorders. We are so certain that it will relieve these complaints and give absolute satisfaction in every particular that we offer it with our personal guarantee that it shall cost the user nothing if it fails to substantiate our claims. This remedy is called Rexall Orderlies.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity. Three sizes, 10c., 25c., and 50c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Moye's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.

PERILOUS FISHING

A Midwinter Adventure on the Ice In Lake Michigan.

TWO SURPRISES AND A FIGHT.

First the Lone Hunter Was Startled by the Ice Going Out and Then by the Intrusion of a Treacherous Visitor. The Battle and the Rescue.

A few years ago, in the dead of winter, Dr. M. A. Leach was out on Lake Michigan in a friend's hut, fishing through the ice. Everything was proceeding merrily when, says the doctor: "There came a sudden report, sounding like thunder. The ice was going!" "I rushed outside, but the snow was blinding, and I could not even see the shore line. All around the thunderous reports were sounding and the ice was quivering strangely. I was frightened, but as there was no help for it I went back to the hut.

"This was about noon. I noticed, to my relief, that there were no cracks coming beneath the hut, so that if the ice did go out I should at least be on a big cake for a time. The big cakes do not last very long in Lake Michigan. I could not tell what was happening outside, for the wind was shrieking and howling horribly, and every few seconds the ice would split with a resounding crash. So, for lack of something better to do, I arranged a frying pan I had over the little stove, and to keep up my food supply I started frying some fish. In a few minutes the place was filled with a most appetizing odor, which, I presume, had something to do with what followed.

"First of all I heard a series of low whines outside; then something scratched at the door. I opened it in amazement, thinking that some dog had perhaps been lost on the ice and had found my hut. To my surprise, however, a great unkempt animal entered and fawned about my feet, licking my boots, and although I had never seen one, I knew that it was a gray wolf. The animal seemed terrified beyond measure and showed no sign whatever of wildness.

As the doctor had no other weapon than his knife and a frozen fishing line, he was in a quandary. But the wolf seemed lonely and showed a strong desire to make himself at home, so they spent the night quite charmingly together. The next morning—to hear what the doctor says:

"I awoke to find the sun up, the day bright and clear and the land four or five miles west of us. All around floated cakes of ice, going the same way as ourselves in the grip of some current. My fears passed away with the bright sunlight, and I used up my last wood in cooking some fish for the wolf, while I finished the basket of provisions.

"So the wolf and I went out in the sunshine, and now the animal grew surly and no longer welcomed my approaches. However, I saw a dot moving among the ice and as it neared saw that it was a fish boat, doubtless with a rescue party on board. And now came the most surprising part of my adventure.

"The boat was about half a mile distant, and the occupants, having seen me and waved to me, started to make their way through the floating ice. I saw the wolf watching them with bristling hair, and suddenly he turned to me with a low growl. I offered him a bit of fish, but he took no notice, and I began to fear that he realized that my rescue would not include him. At any rate, he drew back a few steps, his eyes fixed on mine; then, with a quick movement, he sprang at me.

"I had no weapon except a short knife, which was closed. All I could do was to jump aside, hitting him with my fist as he missed me, an old boxing trick. But I had not counted on that savage side slash of the great teeth, and when the animal gained his feet and turned to fly at me again my hand was streaming with blood from a small gash. I heard shouts from the approaching fish boat, but as the party were unarmed they could not help me.

"Immediately upon getting his balance on the snow the wolf came toward me slowly and sprang again. This time I was really frightened, and with a wild idea of holding him away till my friends could assist me I met him halfway, grasped his throat in both hands, and we both fell to the snow together, for the impact of his leap was tremendous. I hung on to his throat; but, although I kept the gleaming teeth off, I could not hold his feet. He struck at me savagely with his hind paws, the sharp claws tearing through my coat like knives, and I realized my danger just in time to cast myself backward. Instantly the wolf returned to the attack, and this time the look in his face frightened me so that I did not wait for him. I whipped my coat away and threw it in his face, then turned and, running to the side of the ice cake, leaped into the water.

"I am a good swimmer, and the boat was only 100 feet distant, so in no time I was aboard and getting into warm clothes. The engine was stopped, and we lay there watching the wolf. He seemed puzzled at my disappearance, running backward and forward on the ice. Then he looked at the boat and howled dismally. None of the men liked to attack him with knives for their only weapons, and so presently the boat was turned about, and we threaded our way out from the ice to the free water. Behind us the lonely wolf sat watching us disappear and slowly, hopelessly, floated onward to his doom."—Wide World Magazine.

Here
Is Where The Draft
Enters

The most perfect draft ever discovered is the patent Hot Blast Down Draft of the Wilson Heater. The only draft that secures perfect combustion and prevents waste.

Wilson
HOT BLAST
Heater

The air enters at the top, drives the combustible gases into the fire where they are burned—prevents the escape of heat up the chimney—doubles the heating power of the fuel.

In other words, only half the amount of fuel used in ordinary heaters is necessary. The Wilson is air-tight, making perfect combustion possible and a fire can be held 36 hours. We sell Wilson Hot Blast Heaters for either wood or coal.
