

CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE HOT AFTER MR. BRYAN

He Must Explain What He Meant By His Recent Words

TO BE FIRST WITNESSED EXAMINED

His Assertion That the Money Trust Thought it Could Control the Banking System Offended Every Congressman in the Committee and the Chairman Asks on Behalf of all That Mr. Bryan Explain.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—William Jennings Bryan will be the first witness to be summoned before the house committee on banking and currency to testify in the "money trust" investigation, which the Democratic caucus repudiating Mr. Bryan's demand for a special committee, referred to standing committees of the house.

Mr. Bryan trod on the toes of the Democratic members of the committee when he recently declared that the "money trust" thought it could control the committee. The committee insists that Mr. Bryan must explain what he meant, notwithstanding the fact that the Bryan adherents in the caucus Wednesday night offered a resolution which was adopted, expressing confidence in the integrity of their colleagues on that committee.

"The committee is a unit," said Representative Pou, chairman of the banking and currency committee today, "in the decision that Mr. Bryan must explain to us exactly what he meant."

FOUNTAIN MAN BURNED TO DEATH

Was Locked Up In Local Jail When Fire Broke Out

TOWN BUILDING AND MARKET BURNED

Farmer, Under the Influence of Whiskey, Locked up is Victim of Fire Which Destroyed Town Property and Market.

Special to Reflector.

FOUNTAIN, Feb. 9.—Early this morning fire was discovered in the public market and although the fire alarm was given and the town fire-fighters readily answered to the call, the element had gathered such strength that both market and town building were totally destroyed. Mr. C. C. Baker ran the market which was partly covered by insurance.

Owing to a peculiar circumstance, F. S. Nichols, a farmer of the neighborhood, lost his life in the fire. Yesterday afternoon Nichols was bled under the influence of liquor and the policeman, Walter Langley, saw the necessity of locking him up, more for his own good than anything else.

The general opinion is that the police, in searching him, failed to find all the matches that he had on his person and upon waking late at night for some unknown reason, he fired the contents of the cell.

The building was a good structure, two story, the bottom being used for the market and the top as city hall. The cell was on the inside of the hall so as to prevent persons from giving prisoners assistance through the windows. When the fire was first seen it was confined to the hall in and around the cell, and but few, if any, knew that within the cell surrounded by fire, was a man. However, had we all known it, there was no possible way of saving him, as beyond a doubt, he must have been at least unconscious before any one reached the scene. The body when removed was a horrible sight to behold, the feet and arms were burned off.

The weather. Snow tonight and Sunday; continued cold; increasing northwest winds.

CLOSE OF COUNCIL

Federation Hold Final Meeting Friday.

The council of the Federation of Women's Clubs which began its sessions here Tuesday night closed with a rally day in the court house Friday afternoon. Besides the members of the council, there were several club women present from neighboring towns, and this meeting being public many of the town ladies were also in attendance.

The chorus class of the Training school gave several vocal selections, and Mrs. W. L. Hall sang a solo.

With Mrs. Cotten presiding and interspersing the talks of the others with timely remarks and suggestions, there were reports from the various heads of departments of the council with an interchange of ideas, the discussions being participated in by several representatives of visiting clubs.

With the singing of the Federation song the rally came to a close at 2:00 o'clock, and an elaborate luncheon followed in the basement of the court house.

This meeting of the council proved very helpful in the federation cause through its representatives, as well as gave inspiration to the local clubs to greater advancement in their work. The visitors gave many expressions of pleasure at their stay in Greenville and the many courtesies shown them. Both the town and our Training school were revelations to them, and they carry splendid impressions of these with them to their homes. The members of the council left Friday evening for their respective homes.

Representative Cudger Explains Pension Grab

Declares He Is Disgusted With Presentations of Endless Chain of Claims

Thought That On Voting For Big Grab, Small Pension Claims and Petitions Would Forever Be Put A Stop To

THE FRUADS ON THE TREASURY NOT MINIMIZED

Gudger Spoke Against the Passage of Many Small Pension Bills, Declaring That in Voting for the Sherwood Bill He Meant to Stop the Very Thing for Which He Was now Against.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The voice of Representative Cudger, of the tenth district, was raised today in opposition to the passage of the numerous private pension bills that were presented to the house yesterday, and took the opportunity to express his views on pension legislation generally.

Mr. Gudger declared that he had looked upon the Sherwood pension bill as an effort to do away with the "railroading" of these private bills through the house, and that he had voted for it for this reason. At the sixty-first congress he said 600 of these bills were pushed through the house, simply on the recommendation and request of the members in whose districts the beneficiaries lived.

"Personally I voted for the Sherwood bill because I understood it to be a party policy to prevent this class of special legislation," he said "I oppose any legislation that will increase our present pension burden."

Mr. Gudger believes that the Sherwood bill will provide for an adequate investigation of each of these special bills, in contrast to the "railroading" methods now in vogue.

Representative Pou announced today in behalf of the house committee on rules that the committee would confer any reasonable additional powers which might be requested by the committee on banking and currency for the investigation of the money trust. He cited the fact that it has always been the custom to confer additional powers as requested on a committee to which an important investigation had been assigned.

It is generally conceded that the committee on banking and currency will conduct the main part of the investigation and that the different phases of the investigation that were assigned to the committees on election of the president, judiciary and Interstate Commerce will not be prosecuted immediately.

CLOSING OF LORIMER PROBE

That Is As Far As Public Hearing Is Concerned

MOST EXHAUSTIVE INQUIRY MADE

During Last Eight Months Five Million Words of Testimony Were Taken Down And Printed by Government in Lorimer Scandal.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Public hearings in the second Senatorial investigation into the election of Senator Lorimer were declared closed today by Chairman Dillingham, of the Senate Lorimer Committee. Attorney Heney, representing Senator Lorimer was allowed to file a brief to the effect that the Senator's election had been adjudicated before the present investigation began and therefore, that it could not be subject of a second investigation.

The inquiry was proved to be one of the most exhaustive ever made by a congressional committee. In the eight months hearings of about 10,000 pages of printed testimony were taken, constituting about 5,000,000 words. It is estimated that the stenographers' fees alone reached $15,000.

The closing hour of the hearing was a veritable love feast. The attorneys explained that they had never intended really to display temper and the committee added that it had not entertained like intentions. M. W. Blumenberg, official stenographer, who was discharged for his conduct before the committee Saturday night, wrote a letter of profuse apology. Edward Hines was the last witness. He denied he had attempted to bribe Miss Healen Seavers, a local telegraph operator, to see a message a private detective in the case had just sent.

NEW WRANGLE IN MEXICAN MOVE

Texan, Mexican and U. S. Authorities At Odds

GOVERNMENT STOPS SENDING TROOPS

Texas Governor Points Out to Government That American Troops at the Border May Prove a Hindrance Rather Than a Help in Settling Affairs at El Paso.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Diplomatic complications arose today between the state of Texas and the United States Government on one hand and the Mexican Government on the other, which temporarily at least, will not allow Mexico to move any troops over American territory in connection with her revolutionary disturbances.

Secretary Knox of State tonight made further inquiry from Mexico through the American Embassy at Mexico City, asking the specific purpose of the military expedition for which permission is sought to travel from Eagle Pass, Mexico, to El Paso, Texas, in order that points in northern Mexico may be reached to which the rebels have cut internal railroad communication.

Governor Colquitt, of Texas, pointed out to the State Department in his messages today that residences of El Paso were apprehensive that rebels at Juarez, Mexico might resist the entry of Mexican troops from American territory and precipitate a battle endangering American lives and property. Secretary Knox assured Governor Colquitt that no permission would be granted until the matter had been carefully studied and indications tonight were that it would be adjusted in a leisurely diplomatic manner. Advices are had here that no troops had started on the proposed expedition and none would do so until the question had been adjusted.

REVIEW OF HAPPENINGS AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

(By C. H. Tavenner).

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—While 30,000 men, women and children mill workers at Lawrence, Mass., were out of work because of a strike to prevent a cut in their $6, $7 and $8 a week wages, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, mother of the baby that is heir to $100,000,000, gave a $35,000 dinner to 50 guests at Washington, the nation's capital.

The hostess at this banquet wore diamonds that actually cost more than a half million dollars. In her hair was displayed the "famous" Hope diamond, which cost $180,000, and at her throat another widely celebrated gem, "Star of the East," which was even larger than the Hope diamond. The cost per plate at the McLean dinner was $700. One item in the expense was 4,000 yellow lilies imported from abroad at a cost of $2, each. One of the highest paid mill work-

$100,000 COMPANY IN SALISBURY

To Be Known As The Catawba Ice and Fuel Company

STOCKHOLDERS ELECT OFFICERS

A New $100,000 Company Was Organized Here to Conduct The Ice And Fuel Business. J. W. Hines, of Rocky Mount, President.

SALISBURY, Feb. 9.—A new concern organized here today to known as the Catawba Ice and Fuel Company, closed a deal tonight for the purchase of the Sasilbury Ice and Fuel Company, the consolidation being about $100,000. The stockholders met this afternoon and elected the following officers: President, J. W. Hines, of Rocky Mount; vice president, W. R. Braswell, Rocky Mount; secretary and treasurer, T. H. Hines, Salisbury. In addition to the above M. L. Jackson, of Sasilbury, and A. J. Haygood, of Charlotte, were elected directors. Senator Lee Overman, M. L. Jackson and J. D. Lambing were the principal stockholders of the old company.

ers at Lawrence would have to work 84 years to receive the cost of that banquet. The earnings of a dozen Lawrence workers for half a century would not have purchased the gems worn by Mrs. McLean. A Lawrence worker would have to labor 30 years to pay for the yellow lilies alone.

The strike of the men, women and children at Lawrence, and the $700 a plate dinner at Washington, is a striking example of conditions existing under our system of excessive protection in the year of our Lord 1912. Neither the Lawrence strikers nor the $35,000 McLean dinner are exceptions. They are but samples of many similar illustrations which could be cited if space permitted. Only recently, Wm. M. Wood, the head of the woolen trust, whose employees are now on strike at Lawrence, was arrested for knocking down and Voices.

All day with anxious heart and wondering ear
I listened to the city; heard the ground
Echo with human thunder, and the sound
Go reeling down the streets and disappear.
The headlong hours in their wild career
Shouted and sang until the world was drowned
With babel-voices, each one more profound * *
All day it surged—but nothing could hear.

That night the country never seemed so still
The trees and grasses spoke without a word
To stars that brushed them with the silver wings.
Together with the moon I climbed the hill
And in the very heart of Silence heard
The speech and music of immortal things.

Fads and Fancies

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Indications point to a spring season of tailored costumes less sombre in tone than those of last year. The buyers, on the strength of Paris advices, are investing heavily in the light shades of fawn and sand and brown and gray and charming suitings in all the soft light tones are shown. There are many attractive possibilities among the light toned suitings. Rough and loosely woven fabrics are still popular, but there is a noticeable revival of interest in the smoother, omre closely woven stuffs.

A very light weight covert cloth is finding acceptance in Paris and is quite practical as well as attractive. The light weight cloth of the whipcord class are liked, too, as are the Bedford cords; and soft toned fawns and light grays in these cloths woven diagonals and basket in these light mixtures and of serges fine and course, hard and soft finish, there is no end.

Big revers of collars upon many of the best looking summer-winter models of tailored type, some original detail in this collar often constituting the costume's chief claim to novelty; but on the other hand one finds an occasional suit of striking smartness which is collarless, these latter models usually crossing in front to fasten down the left side and having more or less of a Russian suggestion.

The white ratine collars and cuffs of the winter tailored suit, a mode soon commonized by over popularity, is likely to have a successor in the collars and cuffs of white linen or cotton ratine which in various goes under the names of terry, ratine, sponge and towelling. As its heaviest it is blood brother to Turkish towelling. As its lightest it makes one thing of certain silks and pongees, though of course in terms of cotton and linen.

There is also a reversible fabric of which nobody seems to know the exact name. On the right side it resembles the lighter and looser varieties of sponge in weave. This is shown chiefly in a deep cream, ecru and pale biscuit, with smooth reverse surface of warmer color, soft old blue or rose or violet or green and it makes particularly good looking long coats for warm weather wear.

The ecru, cream and kindred tones of white are increasingly in demand and it would seem that we are to have the greatest white season of recent years, though the dominating whites are not really white at all, and even the sheer muslins are prone to take on a yellowish tone. There are lovely fine cotton crepes or crepons in these ecru and yellowed tones, and this material promises to be more modish than it was last season.

Many pretty little cotton crepe moles of simple character are appearing, and these often show the touch of black tulle, which is one of the most pronounced Parisian fads in connection with white. A note of black in one form or another enters into almost every French frock, but the craze for black tulle is the latest phase of this tendency and effects every type of color.

REVIEW OF HAPPENINGS

running over a pedestrian with his automobile. When arraigned in court he was asked how many automobiles he owned, and he replied he didn't know. Imagine a man so rich he doesn't know how many autos he has on hand.

Fortunes which make it possible for one woman to wear a half a million dollars' worth of diamonds at one time, and which enable a man to possess so many automobiles he cannot keep track of them, necessarily come through the power to place a price on the things which the common people must have in order to live.

It is significant, in this connection, that the tariff, the cost of living, $700 a plate dinners—everything but the workman's wages—have increased hand in hand, revealing the intimate relationship of one to the other.

"The Story of the Extra Session." Congressman Ebenezer J. Hill, standpat protectionist of Connecticut, made a speech in the house recently which he considered a gem. He extolled the Payne-Aldrich law to the skies, proclaiming in a loud voice it had nothing to do with high prices. Mr. Hill thought so well of his speech that he named it "The Story of the Extra Session," and sent it broadcast among his constituents, asking them to read it and to comment upon it. Some of the comments, however, were not what Mr. Hill expected. The following comment sent in from a resident of Stratford, Conn., for instance, must have been a severe jolt to Mr. Hill's standpat nerves:

"My wife and I came to New York by steamer having with us seven yards of serge cloth, which was to be made into a dress for my wife. This cloth cost in London $11.90, and was declared dutiable by the customs officers. On those seven yards of cloth I was obliged to pay a double duty—a duty on the weight and a duty on the value—44 cents a pound and 55 per cent ad valorem. These duties to $9.24, making the cost of the $11.90 article $21.14.

"A tax like this is unjust and excessive, and cannot be degended. If this is a sample of the provisions of the present tariff law I am not surprised at the universal dissatisfaction that prevails with regard to it, and I hope the Democrats will succeed in changing this law with some regard for the interest of the consumers."

Profits of Beef Trust.

The beef trust packers declare that during the years, 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910 their net profits from fresh meat were only one-eighth of one cent a pound.

In 1907 the retail price of fresh meat was from 11.8 to 13.3 per cent higher than in 1900, while the price of cattle declined in that period from $92.46 to $61.53. And while dressed beef was half a cent a pound dearer in 1910 than in 1909, the price of beef was lower, declining from $9 per hundred pounds in 1909 to $7.55 in 1910.

Any self-respecting cow, says the New York World, has the right to wonder who get the extra difference between her price on the hoof and her price dressed.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
