T. R.

The eagerly-awaited for Roosevelt's answer was given out to the governors during the colonel's absence from his New York office. This is one of the promises he has made good on. In the past months Roosevelt has made many promises. Some has kept and some he has kept not. In connection with the campaign he made a promise which at the time must have filled Taft with joy—Roosevelt absolutely and positively announced he would not seek a third term. This is one promise he has not kept.

Whether the Republican governors who wrote Roosevelt urging him to run have a right to thrust him into the campaign or not, remains to be seen. What prompted them to do it is a good deal more than can be guessed. One reason that may stand a fair show is that by introducing Roosevelt in the race, Taft's possibilities may be weakened as probably there might be a rush of Republicans proper to the ranks of the progressives under the strong leadership of the colonel.

LaFollette's attempt, notwithstanding the statements sent broadcast that he is still very much in the race, do not seem to have much foundation, and if, as was at first surmised, the Wisconsin senator was really only a stalking horse for Roosevelt, we might still see a very strong progressive party out antagonizing the president.

So far, Taft has only shown fears of the Democrats. His hesitancy in the matter of selecting a successor for Harlan; his absolute absence of hesitancy in turning down some North Carolina Democrats after federal jobs and still his assurance to the Virginia negroes to give them a fair deal, clearly shows that Taft is gathering around him all the Republicans he can against the Democrats. Not yet has he taken any important steps towards guarding himself from the progressives. His only serious mention of that party being the reference he made about them in the New York Lincoln dinner, when unfortunately for himself, he attached certain adjectives to them, which called forth from every progressive many denunciations of his administration.

Roosevelt may still be the same popular idol that he was when "back from Elba," and there is not the slightest doubt that he will "draw." If nominated the colonel will miss some of his old friends, who are bound over to be president. Yet he may even now have found fit substitutes for them. It is almost sure that his former secretary, Wm. Leob, now collector of the port of New York, will come to the front and undertake Roosevelt's campaign management. Although this is only a supposition.

The colonel's "come back stunt" may be his undoing as far as politics are concerned, yet as shrewd a man as Roosevelt is, it would seem that he has a pretty good idea about how he stands with his people, otherwise his answer would have been quite different.

"IN TO WIN."

At least that is the way his manager Senator J. H. Bankhead, made it known to the citizens of the United States at large and particularly to the Southern people.

Majority Leader Underwood has opened his campaign quarters in the capital and were we to take Bankhead's statement seriously, Wilson, of Virginia and New Jersey, would not have much of a show in the Southern States.

Underwood's claim to Southern popularity and Southern votes is based on his being a Southerner—so is Wilson, with the only difference that Wilson did not have to stay at home to reach the high office he now occupies. And furthermore, Wilson already has the assurance of the Southern support Underwood is claiming. Already the majority of the South's senators have expressed themselves in favor of Wilson, and the Southern press is practically unanimous in acclaiming Wilson as the best exponent Democracy has had since the palmy days of the great Bryan.

The fact that Metcalf, The Commoner's editor, and naturally a Bryan man, has declared for Wilson seems that the governor of New Jersey has the support of the most famous Democrat the South has produced.

Local newspaper votings invariably give Wilson an overwhelming majority over his opponents—still Underwood is "in the race to win."

We heard a lady put another construction on Greenville's slogan. She says "Our Greenville, Yours if you come," is literally true, for when they come the town is turned over to them.

A man said to be 124 years old was recently found dead in Kentucky. The item did not say what brand he used nor how long he had been a smoker.

One thing is sure—if the attempts to break in houses here is kept up somebody is going to make a date for the undertaker, or call in a doctor to extract bullets.

A headline says "Oscar Underwood enters race for Presidency." We thought he had been in the race from the start.

In his silence Roosevelt sets an example that it might pay some of the others to follow.

If you are afraid the robbers will get it, put it in the banks. Plenty of them convenient.

Torrens Land Title System.

A hundred years ago or perhaps more, our wise fathers abandoned the use of the British system of coinage and currency, to-wit: The one of pounds, shillings and pence, and adopted a decimal system of dollars and cents. The use of four dollars and cents has been of infinite convenience to the people, and the freedom from the old system was a great relief. The old British system of land titles came down from medieval times. The system is even more inadequate than the English currency system, yet we blunder along in the use of it as England is still blundering along with her pounds, shillings and pence. Every time there is a transfer of land under the English system, there is to be a new examination of titles. The survey has to be revised, new deeds have to be drawn and new descriptions put in. This work all costs money. A lawyer has to be paid a considerable sum each time a piece of land is sold, and even if it is transferred to use the land as collateral, the mortgage papers are as cumbersome and complicated and expensive as the deeds. As we abandoned the English coinage system in favor of a simpler and a better one, so Australia abandoned the English land title system in favor of a better one. There the government has the land surveyed. It also has the titles examined. The fees for these services are less than those of the average lawyer is for examining a title and writing a deed. If a government examination shows a flaw of the title, the government proceeds at once through its own courts to perfect the title, then make a guarantee of title which is good for always. It also guarantees the survey. Then of records these papers in the state house or elsewhere and gives out a certificate of title precisely similar to a cotton mill certificate of stock or other corporate certificate of stock. This gives the owner a perfected title and an easy form of transfer. To sell the land and transfer it, all that is necessary is to sign the certificate and have it witnessed. The title goes with a state certificate. If it is desired to use the land as collateral at bank or with an individual, all that is necessary is to sign the certificate and attach it to a note. There is no new examination of title and the guarantee by the state is absolute. There are no deed or mortgage papers to be made out, and both the loaner and the borrower are made absolutely safe by the state's guarantee both of title and of survey. It requires no publicity as the mortgage system now does. The certificate stands good exactly as a corporate certificate of stock stands good any may be sold and resold 40 times without publicity or expense. It may be used as collateral 40 times again without publicity. Many states have adopted the system as an optional one. Thus a land owner may have his land under the old English system or under the Australian-Torrens system—whichever he prefers. The Torrens system is in vogue throughout Australia and is said to be making rapid headway wherever it is in use in this country.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Ants Are in Fashion.

It is doubtful if a single sluggard, from the days of sage Solomon down to the present time, has ever betken himself to the ant to consider her ways and be wise; and this goes to confirm another proverb-maker who declares that fine percepts never yet instilled a virtue or corrected a vice. From Paris, however, comes a piquant little story which shows that the lightsome-minded world is not entirely unappreciative of the ant's philosophical life. The fact is ants have become the furor of Parasian fashion. Every up to date hostess provides her drawing room with a glass case in which a thousand or more ants are snugly colonized with a liberal supply of earth and bread crumbs. The guests, furnished with magnifying glasses, gather eagerly about this insect world and watch the swarming commerce, the wars and adventures that are enacted. Care is taken to stock each case with rival clans of ants so that there is no end of fierce battles—and often, it is said, the bejeweled spectators make high wagers on whether the Reds of the Blacks will come off as victors.

What an admirable form of entertainment! Certainly, it is more diverting than many other pastimes which have found high social favor and a thousand times more seemly. It brings indoors something of the zest that goes with open-air sports and something of the dramatic appeal of the stage. Indeed an ant's nest is the universe in miniature.

It is not to be expected that the Parasians will turn philosophers over their newly found amusement. But is there another people in all the world so ingenious as to have conceived such a vogue. The ant is to be commended to hostess everywhere as a celebrity to be secured for an evening's pastime with no worry or pains and as one that will do rich credit to the occasion.—Atlanta Journal.

of the British consular service, was born in England, February 27, 1850, the son of the late Admiral Alexander Boyle, of the Royal Navy. Captain Boyle was educated at Harrow and after leaving that institution he joined the Royal Irish Fusiliers in 1869. In 1884 he went to India as military secretary to the Governor of Bombay. In 1891 he was transferred to the consular service and his first post was at Galveston. Since leaving Galveston Captain Boyle has served as British Consul at Athens, Copenhagen and Maderia, the last-named place being his present post. While serving in Copenhagen Captain Boyle was created a Knight of Danebrog by the king of Denmark.

Social and Personal

Trust.

I do not ask that God shall always make
My pathway light,
I only pray that He will hold my hand
Throughout the night;
I do not hope to have the thorns removed
That pierce my feet,
I only ask to find His blessed arms
My safe retreat.

If He afflicts me, then, in my distress,
Withholds His hand,
If all I do, wisdom I cannot conceive
Or understand,
I do not think to always know His way
Or wherefore, here;
But sometimes He will take my hand and make
His meaning clear.

If in His furnace He refines my heart,
To make it pure
I only ask for grace to trust His love,
Strength to endure;
And if fierce storms beat round me,
and the heavens
Be overcast,
I know that He will give His weary one
Sweet peace at last.

UNIVERSITY ITEMS.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Feb. 27.—Dr. Edwin Mims, professor of English in the University of North Carolina, has accepted a position as head of the English department at Vanderbilt University. The University sustains a great loss—one that will be hard to replace. Dr. Mims has been here only two years, but during that short time has endeared himself to the students, the faculty, and the townspeople alike. Especially will the students who have been instructed by him regret to see him leave, so attached are they to his pleasant and kind teaching. Dr. Mims leaves the University not because Vanderbilt offers any larger field of service, but solely because the call of his alma mater could not be resisted.

The Johns Hopkins University Club of the University of North Carolina held its annual banquet last Wednesday night. The occasion was one of the most enjoyable social events of the present term. Eight members of the faculty who are alumni of that institution were present. A telegram of congratulations was sent to Johns Hopkins by the club.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council of the University held last week John Hall Manning, of Durham, N. C., was unanimously elected graduate manager of athletics at the University in accordance with the provisions of the constitution lately adopted by the Athletic Association. He took immediate charge of the affairs of the association. Mr. Manning has long been connected with athletics at the University both as a player on the varsity football teams and as an alumnus. He graduated with the class of 1909.

The Harvard Club of North Carolina held its annual banquet at Chapel Hill last Friday night. The room in which the banquet was held had been beautifully decorated. Great bunches of crimson carnations were in the center of the tables. Harvard pennants and banners hung on the walls. The room was lit by a large number of candles. Sixteen members of the club were present. A. L. Cox, of Raleigh, presided as toast-master. Speeches were made by President W. P. Few, of Trinity; Professors Card, Patterson, and Cobb, Dr. R. J. Wilson, and Rev. H. W. Starr. A very enjoyable time has had by the members of the club.

RALEIGH, Feb. 27.—Many delegates are arriving to attend the Republican State Convention, which meets at the Yarrowborough House in this city tomorrow to name the delegates at large to attend the Republican State Convention at Chicago. The "regular" organization is solidly for Taft, but among the rank and file of the party there are many Roosevelt supporters and as a consequence a contest is promised on the presidential instructions.

STATE AND COUNTY NEWS

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Feb. 27.—Mr. H. M. Hardee and little daughter, of Norfolk, spent one day with Mr. B. W. Tucker last week.

Harrington, Barber & Co. have received a large shipment of shoes, something new and up to date for ladies, gentlemen and children.

Mrs. M. A. Adams returned last week from Ahoskie, where she has been spending several weeks with friends.

A. W. Ange & Co. are headquarters for all kinds of hardware. Examine their stock before purchasing. Miss Anna McLawhon and father, Mr. C. L. McLawhon, attended a box party near Fountain last week.

Harrington, Barber & Co. have received another large shipment of Royal flour right from the mills.

Spring time in all of its beauty will soon be here. You will enjoy driving over the hills and making a study of nature when she is at her best. As you spin around you will seemingly make the flowers and blossoms smile if you are riding in a "Hunsucker buggy," manufactured by the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company, Winterville, N. C. Better place your order for a new buggy now.

Don't forget Dr. Hess stock food and panacea at A. W. Ange & Co.'s. Miss Mamie Chapman, who has been teaching near Shelmerdine, came home Saturday, her school being over.

When you need nails, both cut and wire, Harrington, Barber & Co. have them in any sizes.

Rev. Mr. Kligo, of Ayden, filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church here Sunday morning and afternoon.

Remember the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company carries a complete line of buggy harness.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGowan, of Cox's Mill, spent Sunday in town with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Chapman.

It will pay you to see Harrington, Barber & Co. for your fertilizer distributors. They have the Cole and Spangler style, also the Cole cotton, corn and pea planters.

Misses Lizzie Cox and Mamie Venters, accompanied by "Laughing" Theodore, visited Ayden Monday afternoon.

See the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company for wire fencing. They have made arrangements to take care of your wants in this particular.

The trustees of Winterville High school have purchased a new ball ground which will add much to the athletic spirit of the school. At a mass meeting of the students on February 16th, more than $80 were subscribed by the student body on the purchase of the grounds. Prof. Jno. R. Carroll has been elected manager of the ball team for the season, and we expect things to begin to hum as soon as the weather opens. The enrollment has passed the 250 mark. The work is moving along smoothly. Mrs. W. J. Wyatt has been supplying in the absence of Prof. J. L. Olive, who underwent an operation at the Kinston hospital. He will take up his work again next week. The mid-term examinations will begin today and close Monday.

Mrs. A. J. Flowers, of Bayboro, is visiting her daughter, Miss Annie who is a student at Winterville High school.

A training school for Sunday school workers will be held in the Winterville Baptist church, February 29 to March 3. You are cordially invited. Bring pencil and note book. Come to study the Bible and how to teach it. The training school will be conducted by E. L. Middleton, Sunday school secretary Baptist convention, Raleigh; Dr. Prince E. Burroughs, teacher training secretary of the Baptist Sunday school board, Nashville; Tenn.; Prof. L. E. M. Middleton, professor of the Bible in Meredith College, Raleigh; Prof. F. C. Nye, principal of Winterville High School; and AYDEN, N. C., Feb. 26.—Last Friday evening from 8:30 to 11 o'clock, at the home of Mr. O. C. Noble, Misses Powel and Gaddy delightfully entertained a few of their friends in honor of Miss Lizzinia Moore, of Greenville, and Miss Sallie Shaw, of Winston.

The east and west parlors were beautifully decorated with matchets and national colors, this being George Washington's one hundredth and eighteenth birthday.

Miss Luey Turnage and Mr. E. J. Gardner received the guest at the door, and from there they were ushered to the cloak rooms, then they were taken to the parlors and presented to the guests of honor.

Promptly at 9:30 o'clock, the hostess passed around the score cards with a cherry tree and hatchet daintily painted on them for the purpose of playing "Progressive Sweethearts." Miss Moore receiving the highest score was presented a handsome box of "Martha Washington" candy by a speech befitting such a patriotic occasion, delivered by Prof. H. L. Koonce.

At 10:30 dainty refreshments, consisting of Mantauk cream with cake and cherries were served. After the refreshments were disposed of, classical music was rendered by Miss Lucy Wilkinson, of Alta Vista, Va.

This brilliant social event was by far the most enjoyable of the season.

BINGHAM SCHOOL NOTES.

BEBANE, N. C., Feb. 26.—As spring comes on, interest in the baseball prospects at Bingham is rapidly increasing. Cadet D. T. Tayloe, who was captain of the ball team last year, is again at school this year and will have charge of the team in the same capacity. Major John J. Henderson, the efficient coach of last year's players, will also be in place again as he gave splendid satisfaction both last year and this in the teaching of English, Latin, French and German. The schedule of games is as follows:

March 4—Witsett Institute, at Mebane.

March 16—Oak Ridge at Burlington.

March 18—Guilford College at Guilford.

March 16—Whitsett Institute at Whitsett.

April 1—Trinity Park School at Mebane.

April 6—Whitsett Institute at Burlington.

April 12—Trinity Park School at Durham.

April 18—Lenoir College at Burlington.

The standing of the cadets in scholarships has never been better than it is this session. This is partly due to the Night Study Hall, where all of the cadets study at night with the teachers, who assist them on their studies, and partly to the splendid discipline which prevails and which effects for good every department of the school.

The honor men on the last report issued are as follows, namely:

Kesler Cobb, Willie Gray Lang, George Fries, Charlie McCutcheon, Will Griffin, Wilbur G. McFarland, Bingham Gray, John Gray Paul, Preston Gray, Knott Proctor, Herbert Gray, Owen Reese, Bascom Harrell, Luther Sykes, Cedric Harris, George Slover, Nelson Jones, Battle Wall.

The cadets who have most recently entered, Messrs. Herbert Smith, Fred Blakely and John Covington, of Virginia; Mr. John Mikell, of South Carolina, and Mr. Glenn Cox, of Alabama, are doing well in department and scholarship.

The new gymnasium which was erected last summer, has proven very popular; especially is it so at this time of the year. Besides attending the regular physical culture classes in it, the cadets also seem to enjoy it very much at other times.

Captain Fred B. Spiker, who for several years has been the efficient and popular teacher of music at Bingham, has been pushing the band work recently, and will have the usual high grade music all ready for commencement. His orchestra will also be ready to furnish the thoroughly enjoyable selections which have always been rendered heretofore at that time.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DON'T SUFFER WITH

when a 25 cent bottle of Noah's Liniment is guaranteed to drive this terror away—or money refunded. At the first twinge, applied as directed, Noah's Liniment will give immediate and effectual relief. It quiets the nerves and scatters the congestion, penetrates and requires very little rubbing.

Noah's Liniment is the best remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lame Back, Stiff Joints and Muscles, Sore Throat, Colds, Strains, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Colds, Cramps, Neuralgia, Toothache, and all Nerve, Bone and Muscle Aches and Pains. The genuine has Noah's Ark on every package and looks like this cut, but has RED band on front of package and "Noah's Liniment" always in RED ink. Beware of imitations. Large bottle, 25 cents, and sold by all dealers in medicine. Guaranteed or money refunded by Noah Remedy Co., Inc., Richmond, Va.
