FOUNTAIN "TIGER" LEAVES BONDSMAN IN THE LURCH

Disappears After $500.00 Bond is Put Up

WILSON COUNTY MAN GLADLY PAYS

Pitt county recently had a blind tiger case out of the ordinary. The latter part of February Mr. J. B. Owens, of Fountain, was arrested on a warrant charging him with selling liquor. He was brought to Greenville and spent one night in jail. The next day Mr. N. G. Moore, of Wilson county, came to Greenville and good Owens' bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance for preliminary trial before Justice C. D. Rountree, and Owens was released.

When the fourth of March arrived Mr. Moore, the bondsman, came again to Greenville, but Owens, the defendant did not show up. The non-appearance of Owens greatly disturbed the bondsman and he sought counsel to learn how he might be relieved of the situation. He was advised that this could be done by his paying the bond, whereupon, he went to the clerk of superior court and planked up the $500, saying he was glad to get rid of the dilemma.

Owens has evidently shipped to parts unknown and though his bondsman paid up in order to relieve himself, this does not relieve Owens from the consequences of the warrant as he is found anywhere in North Carolina.

The ages of the present members are: Justice Holmes, seventy-one; Justice McKenna, sixty-nine; Justice Lurton, sixty-eight; Justice Day, sixty-three; Chief Justice White, sixty-seven; Justice Lamar, fifty-five; Justice Van Devanter, fifty-three, and Justice Hughes, fifty. Mahlon Pitney, the new member, was fifty-four years old last month.

NEGRO'S HARD EXPERIENCE

BEATING HIS WAY IN BOX CAR

WAS LOCKED UP IN SAME CAR FOR FOURTEEN DAYS. NO FOOD OR WATER AVAILABLE

CHARLOTTE, March 9.—George Johnson, colored, Mt. Holly, was brought to the city last night and sent on to his old home after having suffered an experience that may yet cost him his life. Johnson left this part of the country some years ago and went to a number of distant cities. He boarded the train at Cincinnati 14 days ago, entering a freight car filled with loose corn that was being shipped to Johnson City. He hoped to beat his way to that city where he hoped to find work that would enable him to complete his trip on home.

During the fourteen days he was in the car he got neither food to eat nor water to drink. He was locked in and the car booked straight through. When it arrived at Johnson City and was opened, Johnson was found in a helpless condition and unable to speak above a whisper. He was frozen from his waist down and when taken to the fire, blood issued from every pore of that part of the body. He was given expert medical attention and while he is yet in a serious condition he may survive the shock of the experience.

Representative Dies Gives T. R. the Lie

Ex-President Roosevelt, William J. Bryan, and Socialist Wisconsin Representative Berger "Amongst the Foremost Enemies of Free Government in America To-day" is the way Dies puts it

FURTHER SAYS "ROOSEVELT ONLY PROFESSES AGAINST SOCIALISM -- FOR IT"

Mr. Dies Discussed at Length the Latest Activities of the Wisconsin Representative -- Include Abolition of Veto Power by the President and the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Former President Roosevelt, W. J. Bryan, and Representative Victor Berger, of Wisconsin, socialist, were branded in a speech in the House today by Representative Dies, of Texas, democrat, as being "among the foremost enemies of free government in America today." Mr. Dies insisted that both Mr. Bryan and Mr. Roosevelt were socialists, and he coupled their names with those of Mr. Berger and the McNamara Brothers.

"Mr. Berger is over there," said Mr. Dies pointing dramatically in the direction of the house office building, where the Lawrence, Mass., strike inquiry was proceeding, "presenting himself as the great friend of labor. It is high time that the country should know just what Mr. Berger stands for. I am not now appealing to any district or to any party, but to my colleagues here to recognize the peril of socialism."

The legislative activities of the Wisconsin socialist member then were reviewed by Mr. Dies. These he said, among other things included abolition of the veto power of the president and both the supreme court and the senate and two measures which, Mr. Dies charged, were intended "to save from the clutches of the McNamara brothers and others who afterwards might find themselves similarly in the toils of the law."

"Mr. Berger, I may say, yields to no man, living or dead, in his desire to disrupt the constitution and destroy the liberties of the people under a representative democracy. In his desire for a re-enactment of chaos, Mr. Berger is as earnest, if not as vociferous as the lion tamer who roars from the peaks of Sagamore Hill."

PROCTOR BROTHERS FURNISH REST

Mr. B. W. Moseley, one of the hotel soliciting committee, informs us this morning that the new hotel is assured. The committee raised $20,000 in subscriptions and Mr. W. E. Proctor has accepted the proposition to put in the other two-thirds of the amount proposed to expend on the hotel. A charter will be applied for at once, and the organization and plans for beginning work on the building will be perfected as soon thereafter as possible.

The Reflector was in error in stating that the tenants occupying the property where the hotel is to be located had been notified to vacate by the first of April. It will take a few months to get all in readiness to begin work and the present tenants will be given notice in ample time when to vacate.

The soliciting committee, Messrs. B. W. Moseley, C. T. Munford and W. H. Dail, Jr., did some good work in raising the $20,000 subscriptions.

GREENSBORO ROOSEVELTERS

STATE MEETING WELL ATTENDED

MANY PROMINENT STATE MEN ATTEND ROOSEVELT STATE MEETING IN GREENSBORO

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 8.—In response to a call made ten days ago by Hon. R. M. Pearson, of Asheville, about seventy-five Republicans, from nearly every section of the state, assembled here today for the purpose of perfecting a state organization to further the candidacy of Roosevelt for president.

The first arrivals late last night were the Asheville quartette, consisting of Col. V. S. Luck, Hon. Richmond M. Pearson, Mr. A. J. Lyman and Mr. J. F. Barrett. By eleven o'clock when the delegates went into executive session, it was reported that the roll-call showed forty-nine counties representing and every Second and Third and that of these only the First was not represented by wired proxy or delayed delegate.

The assemblage was notable for the earnest, sober purposeful demeanor of its make up. There was no hurrah spirit manifest, but when a visitor was questioned privately, he would at once go into particulars about the sentiment in his section or county, declaring it was all one way, except among Federal office-holders and their dependents for Roosevelt.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR GOSS

IS BEING HELD WITHOUT BAIL

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH THE TRIPPLE GAS DEATHS IN RALEIGH SOME WEEKS AGO

RALEIGH, March 9.—J. W. Hinsdale, Jr., as counsel, sued out a writ of habeas corpus today for F. W. Goss, of Durham, who is held without bail on charge implication in the murder and robbery of three young men from Benson, who were asphyxiated in the Wilson apartments a month ago. Associate Justice Walker, of the supreme court will hear the case next Monday morning. The watch, purse and kodak pictures believed to have been the property of the Benson men found on Goss, and the revolver he pawned in Durham is like one member of the Benson party owned which caused his detention without bail. His counsel claim they are ready to account for all the suspicious articles found on Goss as not having belonged to the Benson men at all.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE.

Yearly we hear about strikes organized and sometimes successfully carried through by the working classes and yearly we are made to wonder as existing conditions are brought to our attention by investigations into the causes leading these several strikes.

Some of these strikes have become famous. The one at present holding sway on the Massachusetts town, Lawrence, seems bid fair to eclipse all others from the point of publicity given it and the shocking conditions revealed by the children of the strikers, taken to Washington to testify before the house committee, carrying on a wide scope investigation.

If in this country of ours a merchant were to make a bargain with a customer, say something like the following:

A merchant to deliver to the customer a certain line of goods, of a quality set forth in the contract and the merchant fails to deliver the quality of goods, the contract would be declared void by any court.

A contract, or something akin to a contract was made by the woolen manufacturers and the government some time ago. The woolen manufacturers claimed that the high standard of living demanded by the AMERICAN WORKMAN, made it impossible for the American manufacturer to produce goods and compete favorably with the foreign manufacturers. This was their plea to have the government come to their rescue with a high protective tariff. The Lawrence strike is the first inkling that the manufacturers proceeded in bad faith when making their claims to the government, for the present strike has brought to light that any but American workmen, are employed in the big Lawrence mills, and that the supposed high wages demanded by the American workmen are in reality the very small wages given the foreign workmen plus the very large profit which goes to the manufacturer.

The very patriotic American has heretofore been paying heavy prices for his clothing. Perhaps he was not altogether very pleased at having to pay twice for something, that he could buy abroad for half the money, but the idea that he was helping along in the maintenance of a home industry and the upkeep of many thousand of other American citizens that helped make his clothes must have come to his rescue and stood on his way, if ever he prepared to make a strong "kick".

What must now be his surprise to learn that he might have been supporting a home industry, but that the part relating to the upkeep of thousands of other Americans was only a myth, and what he was really doing was helping the woolen manufacturers to buy expensive "limousines," valuable artistic treasures and diamond tiars ABROAD? He and in fact all of us are bound to feel as though we had been "flimflammed" pure and simply.

The cry of the woolen manufacturer:

ers: "Protect AMERICAN INDUSTRIES, come to the rescue of the AMERICAN LABORER," must have found a willing echo in every American citizen whose heart was in the right place. The Lawrence strike should likewise find an echo in every American who thought so well of the protective tariff.

GOING, GOING—GONE!

Something which was very much in the way, is to be taken away where it will not hurt the eye of the casual inspector. The something alluded to being the vault-building in which the county records were kept during the construction of the present court house.

The county commissioners are to be congratulated for this move. With as beautiful a court house as we have and as pretty (?) a jail, this little building stood very much in the way and looked very much like a very black blot in the center of a very white paper.

It is to be hoped that there will be a ready sale and that the buyer will not wait the thirty days allowed him to take it out of the way.

Already Sheriff Dudley and his gang has done a great deal to set off the magnificent buildings in Court Square and we are glad to notice that he has taken steps to clear the whole square of the many mounds of brick and rubbish that has ungraced it since the time these buildings were erected. All that is good work and no amount of encouragement seems adequate to the men who take such steps toward the beautifying of Greenville.

If some of the private citizens who have city property were to take the example furnished us by our very able sheriff we feel sure that within a very short time we would have quite a town. For until those necessary improvements are made we may tell each other that we have a "right nice town" but the stranger come in to see us will have all the right in the world to offer us a pair of glasses.

Never a Word Against the Mileage Graft.

In casting about for places to which the knife of economy might be applied, it is said that the House Appropriations Committee will attempt to strike out the $25,000 appropriation made during the last two or three years for the traveling expenses of the President of the United States. This appropriation has been made on the theory that the country wanted to see the President and that $25,000 might be expended for this purpose with propriety. It is now proposed to cut it out, but we trust that the proposition will not be approved. After the fourth of next March we shall have a president of our own in the White House and the people of the country would like to see him occasionally and his expenses should be provided for. Why not let the appropriation go, say for the next two years at any rate?

Besides, if the economists in the House are really sincere in their desire to save money, why do they not cut down their own mileage allowance from 10 cents the mile to 2 1-2 cents or 3 cents, the amount they are required to pay for their tickets. That would be something worth while, and would save the Government many tens of thousands of dollars, and it would prove that the members of Congress are honest. Charlotte News.

Democratic State Convention.

The meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee has been called by State Chairman A. H. Eller for Wednesday, March 20, in Raleigh, and this meeting is to be a most important one. Each member of the committee is expected to be present.

Besides passing upon the matter of the time and place for holding the State Democratic Convention, the committee is to set a common day for holding precinct meetings and primary elections throughout the State, and a common day for holding county conventions in each county in the state.

A most important matter that will come before the committee will be that of the request of the four candidates for the United States senate that the committee recommended to the Democratic State Convention that it order a primary for the naming of a United States senator on the day of the general election in November, and that a committee named by the State Committee prepare plans for such a primary to be submitted to the State Convention. It is not doubted but that the committee will accede to the request and will take action with regard to rules for such a primary.

It is well to state that Raleigh is anxious to have the State Democratic Convention to meet here this year. It is prepared to give it the best of accommodations and entertainment, and it extends a warm invitation that it meet in this city.—News and Observer.

OPPORTUNITY.

Master of human destinies am I,
Fame, love and fortune on my footsteps wait!
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and passing by
Home and mart and palace, soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate
If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach ev'ry state

Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury and woe
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore.
I answer not, and I return no more!
JOHN JAMES INGALLS.

Unique Posters.

The posters on cards around in windows, advertising the play to be given by the senior class of the Training School, Monday night, have attracted much interest and many compliments. The posters were painted by members of the class and are real works of art. They speak forcefully of the skill and efficiency of the art teacher, Miss Kate W. Lewis and the talent of the pupils.

Who's Who in the World of Sport:
The Set Back Department is "Doing it, doing it!" since the tobacco market closed.

"Splinters" is some jurist when it comes to bridgework. Too bad, he can't always have his own way about things.

"Duke" is a welcome visitor at the club rooms these days. Since the close of the hunting season things are very dull with the nose artist.

The Pianola music this month is fine. "Berliner Luft" (whatever that means) has been played 7,004 times already.

Winterville High School Items.

The Sunday School Institute conducted by Prof. E. L. Middleton of Raleigh, Dr. L. E. Freeman of Meredith College, and Dr. P. E. Burroughs of Nashville, Tenn., closed last Sunday. These men were masters of their work and the result of their coming will tell throughout eastern North Carolina. A large number of the students received lecture certificates. These gentlemen spoke in the highest term of the excellent promptness and attention shown by our people.

Rev. B. W. Spillman, one of the field secretaries of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention paid us his annual visit last Wednesday evening. He lectured at the Baptist church Wednesday night on the B. Y. P. U. work. He showed the difference in the Sunday School and the B. Y. P. U. work. On Thursday morning he delivered a thrilling address on, "The Help of Imagination in the Study of Scriptures." Our people love B. W. Spillman for they know that there is always something in store for them when he comes. He left for his home in Kinston Thursday.

Lumber is being sawed for the new dining hall which will be erected during the spring.

A set of Stoddard's Lectures has just been added to the library. This is a most valuable addition.

Prof. J. L. Olive has taken up his work again after having been detained on account of an operation.

Rev. R. E. Hoffman of Washington conducted devotional exercises Wednesday morning at the school.

AYDEN, N. C., March 9.—Don't forget the County Sunday School Convention meets here next Monday and Tuesday.

Ayden has a swell organized chamber of commerce, with Mr. G. W. Prescott president, Rev. J. W. Fulford, Sec.; Mr. C. V. Cannon, Treas. This organization is new and untried but they mean business.

Mrs. L. D. McLawhon was buried at Wm. Dennis cemetery Friday afternoon. She was the youngest daughter of the late Skilton Dennis. She leaves a husband and 5 small children.

house and its contents burned Tuesday while the family were away from home attending a burial. He lived near Rountrees church.

The union prayer meeting will be held in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, led by Mr. J. T. Smith.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Robert Quinerly, one of the mail carriers out of Grifton, caused by pneumonia. On one of his trips during the snow his horse ran away while he was closing one of the stock farm gates, causing him to run some distance to catch the horse. Getting very warm when he cooled off was taken with a chill which developed the pneumonia.

A prize is offered to the party presenting the best slogan for the town of Ayden by next Friday at 12 o'clock noon. Mr. C. V. Cannon is chairman of this committee who will decide the one to be adopted. Send your name with your selection to Mr. Cannon who will see you have a trial before the committee. FIRST QUARTER. LESSON X.
MARK 1:14-28. MARCH 10, 1912.

JESUS, THE HEALER.

The scene of Jesus' tireless activity is at once transferred from the publicity of the synagogue to the sweet privacy of the home of the chiefest of the apostles. What Peter had just seen of the Master's power emboldens him to call attention to an instance of sickness in his own home—a low, consuming, fatal fever. This domestic miracle will produce no such sensation as that wrought in the synagogue; but love for His disciples and the desire to conform to His somewhat unstable character as well as sympathy for the sufferer, leads Jesus to give the word and touch of power.

What God does is well done. No tedious convalescence follows the breaking of the fever. As a token of the gratitude, the sick woman instantly arises from her couch and prepares a savory meal. All unconsciously she gives a convincing evidence of the perfection of her cure at the same time she refreshes the Master after the toils of the day, and fortifies Him for the overwhelming exertions of the early evening. For scarcely was the meal finished before the street in front of Peter's house was converted into a hospital. That miracle in the synagogue had been a silver bell whose notes of hope had sounded in every shadowed home. In obedience to its encouraging call, when the setting sun had absolved the people from their over-strained notions of Sabbath observance, they came with confidence to him whose sovereign power had had such a conspicuous amplification.

From one sufferer's mat to another's Jesus walked in that hastily-extended Lazarus under the stars. Nor did he desist as long as there was a tiny sufferer on any mother's gentle bosom.

Now we know how Capernaum was lifted to heaven in point of privilege. No other city had such a perfect exhibition of Jesus' power. In a single night every malvolent demon was expelled, every diseased person made whole. The sun that went down on a sick and suffering city rose upon one healed and happy. Yet see once more the inveterate power of sin! Those mighty works produced no general or lasting faith in Jesus. Capernaum's doom was deserved. One fairly hears the Master's stern words still waking the echoes of her desolation, "Thou shalt be brought down to hell!"

The Teacher's Lantern.

The glittering fragments of the marble synagogue which the centurion proselyte built greet the eye of the modern traveller. Fragments of the conventional twisted foliage ornamentation can still be traced—mute reminders of the sentence of death Jesus passed upon the recreant city. Mark's spirited narrative describes Jesus going to the synagogue as soon as the doors were open. By common consent He took the stand and uttered words that had the principle of life in them. He quoted the profits as if he himself was overshadowed in their message.

This quality of self assertiveness made Jesus different from the conventional teacher. "I say unto you!" "I am the way, door, vine, shepherd, the truth, life, resurrection!" "Before Abraham was I am!" The vulgar wit that is forever tossing its inane jibes at the "mother-in-law" here has its rebuke. It is one that had that relation to the chief of his Master's loving solicitude. With marked deference He takes her by the hand. That Sabbath in Capernaum is Jesus' whole life in miniature—attendance on the synagogue; sermon; expulsion of demon; beneficent deed in Peter's home; healing of all sick folks brought at sun-down and closing with His lonely vigil in the

Fads and Fancies

NEW YORK, March 9.—A careful study of the latest models exhibited by the noted makers of fashion in Paris and here leads to the conclusion that the vogue of the scant tight frocks is approaching its vanishing point. That does not mean that the return of the crinoline may be expected any day; it merely means that the autocrats of fashion have, for the present, abandoned the extreme snugness of skirts and, while still clinging to the slender silhouettes, construct their models on a more conservative basis, introducing features which allow greater freedom of movement and add slightly to the width of the skirts.

Even the smart tailored suit has taken on skirts in sections, tunic effects, shaped flounces, platings, caught up draperies, greater hem width, all the while retaining a comparatively straight silhouette. The cutaway coat echoes pannier lines in some models. In others it assumes a Directoire character. The Directoire slashed skirt re-appears, but it is often slightly draped and the opening is discreetly filled, though in dressy frocks the filling consists merely of filmy chiffon or laced flounces which the French wear without underskirts, though the Americans have never accepted this phase of the Directoire.

Even where there is considerable fullness in the new lingerie and tube models, length and an air of straightness are frequently retained by full length trimming lines or by trimming lines continuous in bodice and skirt, though perhaps not running to full skirt length. The crossing embroidered tulle bands of the lingerie frock already seen last summer, offer one such effect, providing too the modish pannier and surplice lines, and the girde passes under this front trimming in order that the long lines may not be broken.

A similar girde trick may be observed in some of the lingerie and other tube frocks in which the long line is given by a front panel or apron tunic, arrangements much favored. Frankly belted or girded blouses with peplums of various lengths and lines show the Russian influences mentioned above, although many belt-solitary place. What a tireless toiler! What human life was ever packed with greater industry—and all that He ministered and gave himself for others!

Mosaic from the commentaries.

One of the busiest days in the life of Jesus, but only a specimen of many. In his ordinary preaching Jesus was "Good News." Miracle in Peter's house is proof and example of his continuous power to bless the home. Multitude came for healing at sun-down because of the heat of the day—because the Sabbath ended then and because by this time fame of the day's miracles had been widely spread. In communion in the solitary place He sought refreshment after the first two days of his public ministry. Going to the next towns to preach He did more for the kingdom than if He had remained only to heal. Leprosy leisurely eas up its victim in a long remorseless meal. The first business of the church is to call men to repentance. Its next business is to imitate Jesus in improving the physical conditions of the people. Perfection of cure: Evidence of it.

'U'T READY TO DROP.

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, then you need help right away.

Miss Lea Dumas writes from Malone, N. Y., saying: "I was in a badly run-down condition for several weeks but two bottles of Vinol put me on my feet again and made me strong and well. Vinol has done me more good than all the other medicines I ever took."

If the careworn, haggard men and women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Miss Dumas' example, they too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong.

It is a wonderfully strengthening and invigorating body-builder, and we sell it under an iron-clad guarantee of satisfaction. You get your money back if Vinol does not help you. Moye's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.

ed bodies and coats are very from Russian modes.

Even the most casual glance at the new models reveals the fact that the long waist has at last established itself firmly after two seasons of insistent siege. There are short waists still, they belong with certain types of frock; but the normal waist is the rule and with it comes a revival of belts, of girdles, of corsets clipping the figure a trifle more snugly at the waist than has been the rule in recent seasons.

With the lowering of the waist line and the renewed vogue of the belt this season the separate blouse is once more coming into favor. Girls could wear lingerie blouses, cream net blouses, etc., with their dark skirts, but the average woman's figure demanded a blouse matching the high waisted skirt in color. With the fall of the waist line and the return of the belt and girde a less firmly drawn limitation in the matter of the blouse is likely to prevail. The blouse matching the costume may still be smart, but it will not be absolutely imperative. Women are not going back to the days of the separate waist available for all purposes, but the separate blouse that does not match the skirt will be less obnoxious upon the ordinary figure than it has been.

The chiffon blouse has become a welcome solution of the problem which presents itself when one tries to make a blouse to match a wool costume yet be cool enough for comfort, becoming and slightly gressy. Its admirable qualities will keep it in evidence again this season, and one finds it in all degrees of elaboration from theatre blouse in which laces, embroideries, etc., play an important part, to the streets and travelling blouses, in which the dark veiling chiffon rises quite to the base of the throat and exposes no more than a becoming collar and sleeve finish of the cream lace or net which is veils. There is, so far, nothing radically new in these chiffon blouses, but there are some attractive new blouse models in crepe, taffeta and other silks in nets and laces and in lingerate effects.

Negro Murderer to Die.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Condemned to die for one of the most heinous murders committed in this city in recent years, Joseph Roberts, a West Indian negro, will pay the extreme penalty of the law in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison next Monday. Roberts was convicted of the murder of Isaac S. Vogel, an aged and wealthy dealer in diamonds and jewelry, whose body was discovered in a loft building on Canal street early last December. Roberts was the elevator conductor in the building. The negro is supposed to have committed the murder for the purpose of robbery, as Mr. Vogel carried much jewelry about his person. After beating the aged man to death the negro made an ineffectual attempt to burn the body of the victim in a furnace. The crime was fixed upon Roberts when the police discovered the negro's bloody finger prints upon a silver cigarette case which belonged to the murdered man.

Religious Educators to Meet.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 8.—The local committee has everything in readiness for the entertainment of the 9th annual conference of the Religious Education Association, which is to meet in this city next week for a session of four days. The attendance at the meeting will include several hundred of the foremost clergymen and educators in the country. The Rev. Dr. James H. Kirkland, chancellor of Vanderbilt University will preside.
