INTERESTING LECTURE ON TEMPERANCE

Mrs. Armena McDonald at Methodist Church

TO SPEAK AGAIN TONIGHT

As announced in yesterday's Reflector, Mrs. Armena McDonald, national lecturer of the Women's Temperance Union, of Chicago, gave a most interesting lecture on Temperance at the Methodist church last night.

On account of the unsettled condition of the weather the attendance, though select, was very scant and it is to be regretted that more people did not attend it, as it proved to be a gem of lectures. The subject of Temperance has been discussed a great deal of late, yet never has it been presented to us as it was by last night's lecture.

The evils of intemperance placed side by side with the virtues of temperance made the former appear even more loathsome than had they been presented in any other form. Forceful examples were introduced by the speaker and during the entire length did Mrs. McDonald claim the undivided attention of her audience.

The lecturer will again speak tonight at the Methodist church at 7:30 and everybody should try to be there and make up for last night's lost time.

Mrs. McDonald is the guest of Mrs. Wiley Brown and not of Rev. and Mrs. Hoyle, as we were led to believe yesterday.

Bryan Gives Views to Convention

Is in Favor of the Initiative, Referendum and Recalls and Calls it an Evolution, Not a Revolution.

COLUMBUS, O., March 13.—William Jennings Bryan gave the Ohio constitutional convention his views of the making of a constitution. Bryan favored the initiative, referendum and recall, saying the recall is an evolution rather than a revolution. Bryan said the only difference between the recall and impeachment, is that in impeachment the trial is before a body of officials, while recall places the decision in the hands of the people. Championing the initiative and referendum, Bryan asserted:

"Experience has shown that our government's defects are not in the people themselves but in those, who acting as representatives of the people, embezzle power and turn to their own advantage, the authority given them for advancing the public welfare."

Concerning the recall of judges Bryan said he believed the recall instead of menacing the independence of the judiciary is more likely to improve the character of those who occupy judiciary positions.

KITCHIN PARDONS WHITSON

HAD ESCAPED TO KENTUCKY

WAS BETRAYED AND BROUGHT BACK TO STATE—ROMANTIC CHAPTER IN CRIMINAL HISTORY

RALEIGH, N. C., March 12.—Thomas B. Whitson, whose sentence to death for murder in Mitchell county many years ago, subsequent commutation to thirty years, together with his escape from the penitentiary shortly after beginning his sentence, has formed a rather romantic chapter in North Carolina's criminal annals, need no longer fear a church or business rival. He was granted a conditional pardon today by Governor Kitchen and he may now return to his home in Kentucky, without danger of being surrendered to the officers.

Mr. Whitson was convicted in the spring of 1892, of murder—there being no second degree murder at that time—and his sentence was commuted to thirty years. Shortly after being sentenced he escaped from prison and went to Kentucky, where he lived well and became a good citizen. A business or church rival betrayed him.

Out of a registration of five hundred and sixty-seven votes, about three hundred were cast in favor of the issue. The bonds will not be paid until the road is completed to Winston-Salem. It is expected that the road will assist materially in developing this section. Winston had already voted $100,000 as her part in subscription to the road.

Nobody dropped dead with surprise when the colonel said he was a candidate.

Federal Prosecutor Wise Raps American Sugar Co. Declaring "This is one of the Most Extraordinary Cases Ever Brought to Court, Not in the Nature of the Charges, But Because of the Character of the Men That Made Them Possible"

LAWYER READS TENTH COMMANDMENT TO THE JURY

NEW YORK, March 12.—The government outlined its case today against Washington B. Thomas, chairman of the American Sugar Refining Company; John E. Parsons, th 83 year old lawyer who was formerly the company's chief counsel, the three associates, all of whom were placed on trial, charged with violation of the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law. Nearly 300 witnesses have been subpoenaed and almost as many are likely to testify for the defence. The trial promises to last many weeks. "This is one of the most extraordinary cases ever brought into court" said Federal Prosecutor Wise in his opening address, "not in the nature of the charges but because of the character of the men who allowed themselves to engage in the acts that I shall lay before you. These defendants are not charged with the violation of a man-made law but with violation of the law handed down by God to Moses in the tenth commandment."

THE TENTH COMMANDMENT

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man servant, nor his maid servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

He read the tenth commandment to the jury and declared that it was the foundation of the Sherman law with violation of which the defendants are charged. For twenty years, he said, they had violated the law and had acquired during that time control of 75 per cent of the sugar industry of the country when, in 1903, they saw a competitor in the form of the Pennsylvania Refining Company, which, at a cost of $1,000,000, built and equipped a refinery at Philadelphia.

ALDERMEN HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

Successor to Officer W. H. McGowan Elected

SIDE WALK QUESTION DISCUSSED

The board of Aldermen held a special meeting last night to consider several matters of importance.

The first thing to come up was in regard to the use of the fire horse by the town. Some time ago Hope Fire Company offered to pay $100 out of its treasury, provided the town would pay the balance, to purchase a horse to be used only in connection with the fire department. After the horse was purchased the aldermen wanted to use him for hauling trash of the streets and back lots. This was taken under consideration by the fire company who agreed that the town should have the privilege of hauling trash from Evans street and the back lots in the immediate fire district between the court house and Five Points, provided the town would hire a keeper and driver for the horse, who should have sleeping quarters in the municipal building and be under the direction of the fire department. When the aldermen at the regular meeting last Thursday night made provision for the driver, they also prescribed as one of his duties the use of the fire horse to the street sprinkler on the paved street between the court house and the A. C. L. railroad. The firemen did not approve of the horse being used to the street sprinkler, especially in a section of the town that would be so far from the hose wagon station and fire district and at the regular meeting of Hope Fire Company Monday night a committee was appointed to confer with the aldermen and advise against the horse and driver doing this work. After hearing the committee the aldermen agreed with the views of the firemen as best protecting the interests of the town in case of fire and curtailed the work of the horse and driver to the trash hauling in the fire district only.

The board took cognizance of the recent death of Night Policeman W. H. McGowan in the adoption of a resolution which is published in another column. The matter of a successor to him was discussed and it was decided to go into an election at once. Five applicants were placed in nomination—J. C. West, J. H. Kittrell, R. A. Forbes, E. T. Briley and Louis Wilson. A ballot was taken on which Forbes received 4 votes, West 2 and Wilson 1, and R. A. Forbes was declared elected night policeman.

A request came to the board that for the better convenience and comfort of pedestrians and shoppers, the time of sweeping the street in the business section be changed from late in the afternoon to early in the morning. This request brought out the fact that the aldermen already had this change under consideration and were only waiting for good weather to put it into effect and have the work done early in the morning.

condition to meet the requirements of the government postoffice department for the establishment of city mail delivery, something the postoffice receipts have entitled Greenville to for now nearly two years, was discussed at some length. By invitation Postmaster R. C. Flanagan made an interesting talk to the board on this subject, outlining what needed to be done to bring about the early establishment of the city mail delivery. The main obstacle that has kept the service back so far is the condition (Continued from 3rd page)

Another matter transacted at the meeting last night was the appointment of a chairman, who will have charge of all matters that come before the union relative to the action of Judge Clark.

A COAL FAMINE.

Some time ago we published the news of a gigantic coal miners' strike in the "Old Country" and yesterday we gave the news of similar strikes in Germany and France. The German miners of Westphalia and the French miners have struck in sympathy with their brother miners of the British Isles.

Almost simultaneously with the beginning of these strikes, the coal miners of America have gathered together their complaints against the operators and have peacefully demanded something which by right they should possess. As things stand just now the coal operators will refuse to listen to these demands and it would not be altogether wild to prophesy that the American miners will join the world-wide movement of the coal mining federations to obtain for themselves and their families that which their needs demand. And as to these needs Arthur Brisbane, writing in the American Press in his convincing style expresses himself as follows:

Such a strike shows the power that is in the workers if they care to use it and makes thoughtful men possessing education or information realize that before very long human beings will have to be treated as seriously as dollars at least.

The English government, by the way—consider what a change that means—is in sympathy with the workers and actually takes the ground that the welfare and the comfort of a million English families are more important than dividends on coal mine stocks.

England is lucky and quite safe from revolution in spite of extreme radicalism and widespread strikes because the government of England keeps ahead of popular thought instead of dragging behind it.

The English government begins to take seriously the fact that the one important demand in this world is a fair day's wages and a decent living for every man willing to work. They no longer try to hide, as we do in America, behind the old worn-out talk of supply and demand and survival of the fittest.

They take the ground that every workman and every one of his children HAS A RIGHT TO SURVIVE. And they take the ground that where there are millions of tons of coal hidden underground and millions of men willing to do the work the men are more important with their picks and their shovels in their hands than the gentlemen living in London with a deed to the coal lands locked up in his safe deposit vault.

England is far ahead of us in governmental attitude toward great questions. We are able to drag behind because our land is so rich that it can stand a lot of foolishness. But in time we shall have to do some of the thinking that England is doing now.

And that's just exactly the trouble in this country of ours. The government controlled and handled by interests who think a great deal more of dividends than they do of the comfort, health and welfare of the millions of citizens depending on their labor.

And do you realize what a protracted coal miners' strike would mean, even if spring and summer are so near us? The material loss to those very same interests that are fighting their backbone, would be enormous. Millions of dollars would be lost and the comfort of every citizen of the United States would be impaired. Trains and steamers would not run with the punctuality that they do today and if the strikers chose to stay out long enough they would stop altogether. Commerce, which means life to a country would panic, ridiculously small would ruin such as would make the money panics ridiculously small would ensue.

Anybody who cares to think over can at once realize what a coal famine, in this age of steam, would mean. The coal operators are the very first to realize it yet they are about to deny the miners their demands. Their position, with the government at their backs does, perhaps, seem to be very strong. And shame on us, they may be right.

Knowing full well how dependant they are on the workmen the interests in this country have gone about dividing plans whereby some day they would be in a position to tell the workman where he stood, and how really small were their rights to demand. How far they have succeeded is well known. There is hardly an industry in this country today that is not totally controlled by the interests, yet to find a parallel of workingmen's oppression you will have to go to countries that feel the yoke of ignorance, such as Spain, Italy, Turkey, etc.

In other countries where people are called slow, because they take the time to think, the workman can have rights and it should be recorded in honor of the truth, they do not abuse their rights.

Because they take the time to think and study social questions when a workman demands his rights there are many who having thought a little ahead are willing to listen to what they have expected to hear, and instead of being surprised they are ready to side with the man asking for what should rightfully be his.

In this manner have the laborers of Great Britain and Germany aimed at government posts which in spite, of the countries being ruled by a king and an emperor they have attained, not by might, but by right. The British workman is represented in Parliament today by such able men as Will Crooks John Burns and Keir Hardie. The German laborer is represented in the Reichstag by such a man as Herr Bebel and others. The American workingman is represented in Indianapolis today by fifty-four indicted leaders.

And still the ball rolls.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

We feel like again congratulating the young ladies of the senior class of East Carolina Teachers Training School upon the success of the play they rendered Monday night. Not only was it a success as a play, but also from a financial standpoint and a handsome sum was netted.

The young ladies of the school gave this play for a most laudable purpose. Their predecessors, the graduating class of 1911, as a mark of esteem, presented the school with a neat sum with which to establish a loan fund to help needy young women get an education. The present class will follow this worthy example and gave the play for the purpose of raising money to add to the loan fund when they graduate at the end of the present session. No doubt succeeding classes will catch this same spirit and there is no estimating the great good this fund will accomplish.

Judge H. A. Foushee.

From all the counties where Judge H. A. Foushee has held court comes words of commendation and praise to the excellent work of the judge. He won a warm place in the hearts of lawyers, juries and people, by his business like manner of dispatching business, by his just decisions and rulings and by his firm and determined but fair and impartial manner of handling his courts. The following taken from the French Board Hustler, published at Hendersonville, where the judge held court last week, and where the preliminary hearings in the Myrtle Hawkings case were heard, shows how the judge is appreciated:

"The State is to be congratulated upon having as a member of the A. Foushee, of Durham, who is presiding over the Henderson county judiciary the Honorable Howard superior court this week. Judge Foushee has been on the bench only a short while, but appears to be thoroughly familiar with every detail of the work and possesses a judicial mind and directs affairs of the court like an old hand at the wheel. General, affable, capable, industrious and a man of the strictest integrity, Judge Foushee gives promise of a brilliant career in the administration of justice in North Carolina. The people here are immensely pleased with him."—Durham Sun.

The Sad State of The Husband.

The perfect husband deserted two years ago because of his perfections has finally been divorced at Oakland,

Cal. He gave his wife every luxury and every liberty and showed no jealousy. He never spoke an unkind word or used liquor or tobacco or profanity and never kept late hours. If he had been less perfect in these things, she might not have turned against him. And if he had only beaten or at least scolded her once in a while, she could have loved him.

But who shall judge these by this instance? When a New York husband kept late hours his wife complained to the Magistrate, who ordered him home at 9 o'clock every night and after a few days of obedience he just as dutifully killed himself. Three Philadelphia wives last week went to the Magistrate with complaints of various husbandly imperfections. But when they were allowed to judge the cases themselves, two of them let their husbands off, while the third sentenced her husband to three months in jail.

We can judge the wife better by all these instances than the status of the husband under all these circumstances. He is not allowed to be perfect or imperfect, drunk or sober, out nights or in, kindly or scolding, sweet-tempered or brutal.

It is in "hours of ease" that the poet has said woman is "uncertain, coy, and hard to please." Clearly, the, the husband must look for comfort in the suffragist movement to the hope that some change to hours of statecraft may produce a different result—a course of conduct, for example, governed more by reason and less by impulse.—New York World.

ONE OF THE OLD TIMERS.

Mr. G. T. Tyson, of Beaver Dam who is one of Pitt's best citizens, dropped in for a chat with the editor Tuesday. While he came in primarily to tell us that he was at work for us in the automobile voting contest, he became reminiscent while talking and took us back over some of the old times.

Mr. Tyson is one of the few thirty-year readers of The Reflector and one of its truest friends. Away back at the first of 1882 when the paper started in a small building that stood in our mother's yard, he walked up there while in town one day to say words of encouragement to the two boys he found at work trying to make a newspaper for Pitt county and left a dollar for a year's subscription. From that day to this his name has been on the subscription list and his date never gets behind.

He took occasion to go through our plant again Tuesday and said it made him feel proud that the paper had grown so and that it was equipped with such modern machinery.

Come together, folks of Greenville, and let's hurry up the city mail delivery to which the town, by reason of its large postoffice receipts, has for some time been entitled. Put up names of the street, number the houses and improve the sidewalks is all that needs to be done to bring the mail delivery.

Some few crocuses have ventured to bloom and violets will be along soon.

When winter does take its departure we hope it will be for a good long time.

Did you know Greenville had a Mutt and Jeff? Spot them if you can.

In a short while you will see the trees budding.

Prophecs.

O seeress with the magic glass,
A legislator bids you pass;
He is very sure,
You cheat the poor
With prophecies untrue.
But when a common man regards
Your cheap performances with cards,
He would explain,
Beside that gent
A lot are worse than you."

Some pleasant afternoon we meet,
A pleasant fellow in the street
And get his word
That Ham preferred
Will soar to ninety-two.
But when that issue takes the stump
That makes the buyer feel a chump
We realize
O sibyl wise,
O lot are worse than you.

A tipster whispers, "Put your mon
On Icecart; he's the winning one."
And straight the fool
Bets on that mule,
Who runs like frozen glue.
O dame with horoscopes a dime,
Tough you are guessing all the time,
Beside that agen
A monument
Of prophecy are you.

And, seeress, you can put to shame
Those prophecs of the nation's game
Who cry in spring,
"Our team will bring
The penant to our view!"
When at the finish of the race
We see our club in seventh place,
We find that lot
Of prophecs not
One-half as good as you.

But worst of all the seers by far
Are those who see the name "T. R."
Writ stary-wise
Across the skies
In Fate's most yellow hue;
For when the touted person has
Been duly beaten to a fraz,
You fifty per
Astrologer,
We know they're worse than you!
—John O'Keefe.

Quarters for Firemen.

The town has had three nice sleeping rooms built in the municipal building for the use of some of the members of the fire department and the driver of the hose wagon. This provides a better protection for property in having some of the firemen ready to respond quickly in case of a fire alarm.

Paved Streets Covered With Mud.

Vehicles have taken so much mud off the other streets and scattered it over the paved streets, that the dust will be something fearful when this mud dries. It might be a good idea to wash the mud off the paved streets before it dries.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.
Hundreds of Greenville Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Greenville people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Greenville reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far away places. Read the following:
Mrs. Fannie Moore, 214 Pitt St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I feel very grateful for the relief I have received from Doan's Kidney Pills, which I obtained from the John L. Wooten Drug Co. Backache annoyed me and there was much lameness and weakness through my loins. My kidneys did not do their work as they should and the kidney secretions bothered me. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief from these symptoms of kidney complaint and improved my condition in every way."

Auto Expert in Peril.

The great automobile industry which is the marvel of the twentieth century has been developed at a terrific cost of human energy.

The well known automobile engineer of New York City, C. M. Archer, had a very trying experience which he relates in a letter as follows: "As a result of overwork in my profession my health became broken down a year ago. This grew worse and I became very weak and nervous. Then I began to take Vinol and now I am strong and well again."

"Vinol has certainly worked a miracle in my case. It is the greatest body builder I have ever seen and nothing equals it. You may publish this for the benefit of every man and woman who wants to know the way back to health and strength."

There are many overworked men and women in this town who ought to take Vinol right now and recover their health and strength while they can. Do not delay another day. We guarantee Vinol to do you good and give back your money if it does not.

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

Taxes for the year 1911 are long past due, and the time has almost arrived when I will have to collect. Those who are yet delinquent should come forward and pay, so as to avoid costs being added.

All who fail to pay by April 1st, will have to pay costs.
