CHAIR FACTORY BURNED

HIGH POINT INDUSTRY REDUCED TO ASHES

$50,000 WORTH OF DAMAGE

Insurance $30,000--Heroic Work By Firemen

HIGH POINT, April 9.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon the Best Chair factory caught on fire and was entirely destroyed. The fire started on the inside of the building and before the fire companies could get to it the building was a seething mass of flames on the inside, the dry material and stock carrying the flames like powder. The origin of the fire is not known.

The building was a splendid two and three story structure built of brick and metal on frame with brick fire partition walls 20 to 30 feet apart. Had it not been for these fire walls no doubt that other nearby buildings would have caught and burned. These made it possible for the firemen with several strong streams of water and fast and at times heroic work, to confine the flames to this one building with the exception of the burning of a three room cottage which was so near that it could not be saved.

There was some uneasiness felt for the warehouse of the Beeson Hardware company, which is in close proximity, it being rumored in the crowd that a large quantity of powder and dynamite was stored there.

Directors of National Bank of Greenville Hold Meeting

The directors of the National Bank of Greenville held their semi-annual meeting in the offices of the bank on Tuesday, 9th. In going over the affairs of the bank the directors were much gratified at the progress made and the efficient work of the officers. The deposits and assets have grown steadily and since Mr. F. J. Forbes took charge as cashier four-and-a-half years ago the business of the bank has increased more than three-fold.

In this time the stockholders have been paid $16,500 in dividends, $10,000 has been added to the surplus and still about $2,000 remains in undivided profits. The bank has gained a strong position in the confidence of the people and ranks with our very best financial institutions.

The officers of the bank are: F. G. James, president. J. P. Quinerly, vice-president. F. J. Forbes, cashier. M. L. Turnage, assistant cashier. Charles James, teller.

These officers have thoroughly demonstrated their efficiency in the management of the bank and leave nothing undone that protect the interest of stockholders and depositors and to provide every reasonable accommodation to patrons.

At this meeting of the directors a semi-annual dividend of five per cent was declared and ordered paid at once to the stockholders.

No Traces of Virginia Outlaws

Detectives After the Allens are Unable to find Traces of Famous Fugitives. Plans to Capture Them by Bribing Some of Their Relatives Fall.

Hillsville, Va., April 9.—This day was the 26th since the Allen gang shot up the Carroll county courthouse and Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, two of the assassins, are still at large. Another day of raiding in the Blue Ridge promised a clue, but it did not pan out. On one of the lonely roads the posse found a basket of food under a laurel bush, with a white handkerchief tied upon it. The posse watched the point all day, expecting the outlaws would appear to get their rations, but the maneuver was a vain one. The posse also raided a log cabin near Sidna Allen's home without result.

Detective Payne returned today after meeting Beck Allen, one of the clan, who gave up no information of the fugitives.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 9.—Incomplete returns from Illinois primary election precincts indicate that Theodore Roosevelt led President Taft about two and a half to one in the preferential presidential primary today and that Champ Clark's vote in the same primary was approximately twice that for Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey.

Colonel Chanuncey Depew, head of the state Roosevelt organization, gave out a statement declaring that the former president had carried Illinois by 150,000 and that while the average proportion of his vote to that of President Taft was 2 1-2 to 1, in places it had been as high as 5 to 1.

Senator LaFollette polled a small vote.

MAY GO UNINSTRUCTED MCKINLEY MAY LOSE JOB

OPPOSE INSTRUCTION FOR TAFT TAFT'S MANAGER IS IN DANGER

REPUBLICAN BOSS BARNES DECLARES AGAINST INSTRUCTION--BIG FIGHT ON TODAY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 9.—The Republican state convention held its first session here today after a "key-note" speech by temporary chairman Nicholas Murray Butler, adjourned until tomorrow to permit the all important committee on resolutions to draft a platform, select four delegates at large to the national convention and try to determine whether it would be best for the interest of President Taft to send instructed delegation to Chicago.

The resolution committee with Congressman Edward V. Vreeland, as chairman, worked well into the night formulating the platform which state Chairman Barnes desires to present as a model for adoption at the national convention.

The thousand and odd delegates were still discussing tonight the unanswered question of whether it would be expedient to instruct the delegation to the national convention for President Taft, but it was generally believed some satisfactory resolution would be reached before the convention meets tomorrow.

REPORT THAT MCKINLEY HAS MISMANAGED CAMPAIGN IS ABROAD--PROBABLE RECALL

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Serious dissension regarding the management of the Taft campaign which have been removed for some time, are expected to become immediately acute if the Taft campaign fails to annex Illinois in the primaries today. That it will fail is the confident expectation of politicians in all camps who have been watching developments in the state. From the day Congressman McKinley was placed in charge of the Taft headquarters, there has been grave concern among the Taft backers. The situation was made vastly worse by the development that Mr. McKinley was to be chairman of the national committee if Taft was nominated.

Atop of this came the mismanaged Taft campaign in Indiana, which not only cost Taft half the delegates, but convinced the country that peculiarly coarse and objectionable methods were being employed—methods certain to injure the cause.

The Weather. Unsettled weather, probably showers tonight or Thursday, light to moderate west winds.

WICKERSHAM RAKED OVER THE COALS, MAY RETIRE

Washington, April 9.—George Whitlock, of Baltimore, Md., secretary of the American Bar Association, in a letter to Attorney General Wickersham made public today, sharply criticizes the course taken by the latter to have William H. Lewis, of Boston, a negro associate attorney general, retained as a member of the association. Associate Attorney General Lewis' application for membership was favorably passed upon, but the governing board later rescinded his election to the bar association.

Replying to Attorney General Wickersham's statements that Mr. Lewis had been "wrongfully injured" by this action, secretary Whitlock criticizes the attorney general for the method pursued in trying to secure immediate redress for the negro attorney.

Mr. Whitlock intimates that Attorney-General Wickersham has tried to "coerce the committee through extravagant statements in the press," and "insinuated in your correspondence with me and in your circular a want of good faith on its part."

"Few will be persuaded you have protected or even think that you have thus promoted the cause of social justice," wrote Mr. Whitlock.

Repetition of Last Week's Scenes of Penury and Desolation

No loss of life has occurred, so far as is known here tonight. WOMEN WILL VOTE—WOMEN OUGHT TO VOTE.

By Mr. Arthur Brisbane and reprinted with his permission.

A little girl, Anna B. Hooper, nine-year-old daughter of Governor Ben Hooper, of Tennessee, got up in the legislature of her father's state and made the following brief speech on votes for women:

"My Fellow Citizens—I come pleading for you to let women vote. Do you believe in the way Mrs. Pankhurst is trying to get votes? No, I do not. I do not believe in smashing up the windows, but I think you ought to let us vote.

"Why shouldn't we help to make the laws of our country? The ignorant men are allowed to vote, but the sensible women are denied this privilege. This is not right, and every sensible man knows it."

A very good little speech for a girl of nine. But a speech that the little girl will improve upon when she is twenty years older.

It may be, and it may not be, that the throwing of stones into windows is useless.

Certainly it is disorderly. And certainly it is unpleasant.

But the little girl, whose immature mind very properly rebels at violence, is the daughter of a governor simply and solely because Americans something over a hundred years ago employed against England's government the methods that the suffragettes are employing now.

Men could no get the right to vote in the United States until they had thrown stones through windows and done many things more violent and more deadly.

It may be that the women of England are right when they make up their minds that they will not get the vote until they frighten the men into giving it to them.

There is no question whatever that their militant tactics, unpleasant as they are, especially when practiced by women, have attracted attention to their demands and will hasten the day of votes for women.

Opposed very successfully, it must be said, to the methods of the women trying to get the vote in England are the methods of the Social Democrats of Germany fighting against the injustice which deprives hundreds of thousands of men of a fair representation over there.

The German Social Democrats, led and advised by some of the ablest statesmen in the world, have carried on their campaign peacefully and legally. They have been winning year by year, constantly getting stronger. And they have done their work under the eye of an irritable, egotistical emperor. And they have done it in such a way that although he has five hundred thousand armed men under his orders, he has not been able to invent any scheme for suppressing the determination of the German workmen to have their way in the German empire.

By some it is suggested that the tactics of the Social Democrats would help the women seeking for votes. But those who decry violence on the part of women and who recommend organization and legal united action FORGET THAT THE WOMEN HAVE NO VOTES AT ALL. No single woman in England has any vote effecting the making of laws—outside of local trivialities. Whereas in Germany the intelligent members of the Social Democratic party can build up a gigantic vote, in spite of their handicap, by argument and persuasion. The women of England have no such weapon.

We are inclined to think—although we dislike the thought of women being compelled to use bricksbats to get what ought to be gladly given them—we are inclined to think that when the votes for women fight is over, Mrs. Pankhurst and her daughters and the other English women that are not willing to wait patiently and humbly for men to make up their minds to treat their mothers as human beings WILL RANK AMONG THOSE THAT HURRIED ON THE RESULT IN OUR CIVILIZATION.

The announcement is made from Salisbury that Lieutenant Governor Newland, of Lenoir, is to enter the race for secretary of state against Col. J. Bryan Grimes. While he has a perfect right to do this if he wants to, Mr. Newland will make a mistake if he allows himself to be persuaded into making this race. If he aspires to being the nominee for governor in 1916, it is not going to help him to enter the race for another place now and get left, as will surely be the case if he comes against Colonel Grimes.

Every visitor who comes this way wants to go through and examine our new court house. It is worth seeing.

The man who makes excuse for the cutting of the stock law fence is as mean as the one who cuts it.

Even if it is cool, spring goes right along.

George R. Colton.

George R. Colton, governor of Porto Rico, was born in Galesburg, Ill., April 10, 1865 and received his education at Knox College in his native city. After leaving college he went to New Mexico where for five years he was a ranchman. He then located in Nebraska, where he served a term in the state legislature. As an officer of a Nebraska volunteer regiment he went to the Philippines at the time of the insurrection and after the American occupation of the islands he was selected to organize the customs service at Manila. He performed a similar task in Santo Domingo in 1905, under the agreement between the island republic and the United States government. From

Our Ill-Arranged Superior Courts

Before supporting the proposal for additional Superior Courts Judges' The Raleigh Times wants the assurance that the Judges and the lawyers will mend some of their present ways. As several other newspapers have done, it complains that many of the Judges are "painfully anxious to shut up the court houses and rush away to their homes." I doubt that additional Judges would sure this defect. "Some lawyers," we read, "prefer a Judge with a certain 'temperament' and others prefer a Judge with another kind of 'temperament'." Numerous cases are continued, therefore, for one cause and another and the Judges too readily consent in order that they may reach their families earlier. There have been times when a Superior Court Judge, for the sake of getting home a day or two earlier, has forced the State into trial of a case on the last day of the week, despite the protest of the prosecuting officer. By such methods the evidence could not be developed properly and as a result of the prodding of the prosecuting officer an orderly trial was impossible. This complaint does not blame a Judge for wanting to remain at home as much as he can, but submits that work and hardship necessarily attend the honor, and that when a man aspires to the office he should be willing to do his full duty by the State.

In our contemporary's pleading there is much reason, but we would amend it by citing some circumstances which will show that the trouble proceeds more from the system than from men. Throughout the State there are many small counties which have been assigned two-weeks terms of court each Spring and Fall and which actually utilize from two to four days. These are not the counties where unnecessary continuances most prevail; they simply need only a few days where a period of two weeks has been assigned. Accordingly the Judge, perhaps four hundred miles from home, finds himself with nothing to do. It is about ten days before he can hold another court, and that in a county adjoining the one where his last court was held. Shall he make the long, tiresome and expensive trip home, and back? Sometimes he does. If the loafing interval came not quite altogether when he was too remote from home, he might be tempted to make the journey worth while by cutting down three or four days to two or three. And, after having been left strained far from home time and again, he might also be tempted to shave a day or two off the end of a really needed two-week term when his home was conveniently near.

It is quite true that the lawyers often get cases continued because they wish or do not wish a Judge of a certain "temperament" and for other reasons which the courts are not bound to respect. But they could not do this to any greatly hindering existed if the Judges insisted upon prompt proceedings in the absence of good and sufficient excuse. If we get uniform insistence upon the part of the Judges, this aspect of the problem will be solved.

Assignment of terms of court in reference to actual conditions would count as the equivalent of several additional Judges even with rotation continuing to be in the state at large. With rotation confined to four circuits, as has been proposed—no Judges getting excessively far from home—the effect would be greater still. This should give superfluous weeks of court assignment to counties which rely need them and also irritate the other reform. In this manner we can get better service from sixteen Judges, with less hardship upon them, than from eighteen, or twenty or even twenty-four Judges as our court terms now stand. Very possibly we need more Judges, anyway, to get the full measure of reform desired—so far from that condition are our Superior Courts now. But increase in number of Judges will be a vain thing unless the other changes are also made. When those changes have been made we shall no longer have the spectacle of Judges under the pressure of such unnecessary and irrational hardship that, being human they do what almost any human being in such circumstances would at least occasionally do.—Charlotte Observer.

1907 until 1909 Governor Colton was again in the Philippines, acting as insular collector of customs. Since 1909 he has been territorial governor of Porto Rico.

FOR CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS.

The Advocacy of United States Pensions for Confederates Received With Applause in House of Representatives

In the House of Representatives Hon. Robert Y. Thomas of Kentucky, son of a Federal veteran, said on the second of April:

"I believe that every man that fought in the Federal army and who has passed the age when he can earn a livelihood should be granted a pension and I believe that these pensions should be granted not only to Federal soldiers, but to every Confederate soldier. I am one of those people who believe that the war is over and there should be a union of the roses of the red and white." (Applause).

The applause with which this remark was received is noteworthy. Senator Works of California, has been advocating pensions for Confederate soldiers for some time. It is known that many other senators and members are of the same way of thinking. The movement in this direction is gaining strength. It will be remembered that it is one of the things for which Judge Clark has pledged himself if sent to the Senate.

And the louder a man talks the less it amounts to.

A. A. Starts Tenth Pennant Race.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 10.—While major league cohorts are absorbed in anticipation of the opening of the season in their respective circuits tomorrow, the fans of the American have their long-anticipated opportunity today. None the less marked in the point of interest and enthusiasm the followers of Tom Chivington's circuit start on what promises to be the most successful of all A. A. seasons.

In the initial contests today Kansas City plays at Columbus, Milwaukee at Louisville and St. Paul in Indianapolis. The schedule calls for a season of 168 games, with September 25 as the date for the curtain to fall.

Reports from about the circuit indicate that the outlook is one of optimism, notwithstanding the fact that all of the teams were handicapped in their training by bad weather. Though the early date left little time to complete he work of preparation the teams swing into action today with every indication pointing to a spirited race. Mud Hen fans, Saints enthusiasts and followers of the Brewers, Cow Boys, Millers, Senators, Colonels and Moosiers all have their eyes towards an eventual pennant-winning team.

Minneapolis expects to cop its third successive pennant. Toledo, under the management of "Topsy" Hartsell, looks good to finish well to the front of the race. Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Kansas City will be surprised if they fail to finish in the first division. The real strength of the Columbus club has yet to be tested and the Louisville and St. Paul teams have problems to solve before they can hope to win.

Owner Charley Somers of the Cleveland club, has not given up the idea of securing Moriarity, of the Detroit Tigers. With Turner crippled the Naps are weak at third base.

Clasp hands, press lips, cling close
One mad, sweet moment, so!
Then each a twilight path
Lonely must go.

Clasp hands, press lips, cling close
Then, if you will, forget
That, comrades of the road,
We ever met!
—Winifred Sutcliffe Greaves, in Academy.

Easter at the Training School.

On Saturday afternoon the Poe Literary society entertained the students who remained at the school for Easter with an Easter egg hunt and a burlesque track meet. The young ladies had a merry time hunting for the eggs and rolling them.

In the track meet the contests were—carrying an egg on a fork, picking an egg up with the teeth, pitching a bag of egg shells, rolling eggs with a spoon and jumping with an egg between the feet. After these there was a trial of speed to prove which could go to a certain place, put on hat, coat, gloves and over shoes and return first. Both contestants and spectators seemed to enjoy the sport.

On Monday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. gave an egg hunt. The eggs were sent to the county home.

Everything possible was done to make the holiday pleasant for those who could not go home.

The Danger After Grip

Lies often in a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the glorious tonic, blood purifier and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50 cents. Sold and perfect satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

You can sometimes do a friend a favor by refusing to give him advice. It doesn't take a very clever woman to make a man make a fool of himself.

One of them ost startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for coughs and colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe and reliable and guaranteed. Adam Bell, Clym of the Clough, and William of Cloudeley—Fair Alice and Her Children Three.

The three noted outlaws above mentioned dwell in the Forest of Englewood, not far from Carlisle. Ben Jonson in his "Alchemist" mentions Clym o' the Clough. Sir William Davenant humorously describes the London attorneys and proctors as meeting in Finsbury fields.

"With loynes in canvas bow-ease type Where arrows stick with mickle pride, Like ghosts of Adam Bell and Clym, Sol sets for fear they'll shoot at him."

The descendants of Bell were noted rogues in Elizabeth's reign but an old ballad makes Adam and his two friends contemporary with the father of Robin Hood.

"The father of Robin a Forester was And he shot with a lusty long-blow Two north country miles and an inch at a shot,

As a plinder of Wakefield does know. For he brought Adam Bell and Clym of the Clough

And William a Cloudeley To shoot with our Forester for forty mark

And our Forrester beat them all three."

But in the north country the fame of this trio was unsurpassed.

Once upon a time Cloudeley, against the advice of his unmarried brethren, stole from the Englewood Forest to visit his faithful wife. A miserable old woman whom William had generously supproted for years reported his home-coming to the mayor of Carlisle and received a rich reward for her treachery. William, at sight of the great company sent to arrest him, took refuge in the strongest chamber, while Faire Alyce stood at the door with poll-axe in her hand. The house was set on fire. With sheets William let his wife and sons of a high back down, praying God to protect them. He shot deadly arrows at the enemy "while the fire so fast upon him-fell, that his bow-straight burnt in two."

Scouring to die "this coward's death," "He took his sword and his buckler, And among them all he ran. Where the people were most in press, He smote down many a man. There might no man abide his stroke. So fiercely on them he ran. Then they threw windows and doors on him, And so took that good yedman."

He was cast into a dungeon to await his hanging. The City gates were locked, for the sheriff said: "Him shall not help Clym o' the Clough, Nor yet shall Adam Bell, Though they come with a thousand men, Nor all the devils in hell."

A tiny swineherd squeezed through a crevice in the wall and told the other outlaws who started at once for Carlisle. The porter, who was "no clerk", believing that they brought the king's seal and an important letter to the mayor, opened the gate: whereupon.

"They took the porter to council, And rang his neck in two, And cast him into a deep dungeon, And took his keys him fro'."

Arrived at the crowded market place just in time, one shot the sheriff and the other the justice, and William's bonds were loose ere the terrified crowd could move a muscle.

Fighting their way through the mayor's soldiers they reached and passed the gates, when

"Here have your keys," said Adam Bell.

"Mine office I here forsake. If you do by my counsel, A new porter you will make."

He threw the keys at their heads and bade them evil to thrive, for grudging a good yeoman a visit to his wife.

In the forest they found fair Alice and her children three weeping for William. Explanations made, "They went all to supper, With such meat as they had,

Advertising a Town.

There are a dozen different drinks that sell for 5 cents on which over a million dollars are spent each year advertising them. A certain brand of chewing gum retailing for five cents a package is advertised to the extent of over a million dollars annually. It is a paying proposition and the manufacturers find it profitable to spend this much in advertising them.

If it pays to advertise these simple, everyday articles, why should not a town, or a community advertise. If we have advantages that the world should know of; if we have business opportunities that would appeal to those who are looking for investments, should we not let these opportunities be known.

The railroads are advertising their sections; many towns are telling the world-of their advantages, and southern cities that are having phenomenal growths are advertising. These are telling the world of their advantages and are getting business. They are getting new industrial plants. They are getting big manufacturing concerns to locate in their cities and are growing by leaps and bounds.

OLD PEOPLE'S HOME FAILS.

Inmate Thrown On Charity.

A "home for old people" recently became bankrupt in Detroit and many inmates who had paid into it every dollar they had in the world, expecting to be assured of a comfortable old age, were thrown on charity.

We say that every institution of this nature ought to be under the supervision of the state so such things could not happen. It is the duty of the young and strong to safeguard the welfare of the old and feeble.

Their health and vigor for example should be kept up as-much as possible. Nothing is so good for this purpose as Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil. Miss A. H. Ralston of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., says: "As a tonic, I think Vinol is excellent and especially for an old person. A condition of general debility which has lasted for months yielded promptly to Vinol and this gives me the fullest confidence in it."

Vinol is not only pleasant to take but always agrees with the stomach and we guarantee it absolutely. Moye's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.

Puts End to Bad Habit.

Things never look bright to one with "the blues" Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the liver with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of feelings end the "blues". Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25c. At all druggists.

And thanked God for their fortune. They were both merry and glad."

Then putting Faire Alyce and two of her sons in a nunnery, they took the firstborn and hastened to London, forced an entrance to the palace, and, on their knees before the king, craved his grace for the slaying of the deer.

As a boon to the gentle queen's asking, the reluctant king promised them grace and had food set before them.

As he was dining messengers from Carlisle came to say how these three men had slain three hundred men and more, to rescue one vile outlaw. The monarch could eat no more. He led the outlaws into a field and they, at his command, performed wonderful feats of archery. The climax came when William tied his seven-year old boy to a stake, and, at a distance of six-score paces, cleft an apple from his head.

"Much people prayed for Cloudeley. That his wife spared might be, And when he made him ready to shoot There was many a weeping eye, But Cloudeley cleft the apple in two, As many a man might see.

"Now God forbid," then said the king, "That thou shouldst shoot at me."

William was made "gentleman of clothing and of fee," Adam and Clym became yeoman of the chamber, for they were so comely to see, Alice was appointed the queen's "chief gentlewoman to govern the nursery." But first, in order to be assolated of their sins by a bishop,

"Forthe beagone these good yeoman, As fast as they could hie, And offer came and dwelled with the king.

And died good men all three."

These archers with Alyce and her children will be among the revelers on May 18th, at the State Normal College, Greensboro, N. C.

HOME ENDORSEMENT.

Hundreds of Greenville Citizens Can Tell You About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Greenville people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Greenville reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mrs. C. Barnhill, Greenville, N. C., says: "I have been so greatly helped by Doan's Kidney Pills that I am pleased to recommend them. My back and head ached and I had dizzy spells and pains in my sides. My kidneys did not o their work properly and caused much suffering. Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at the John L. Wooten Drug Company, relieved my aches and pains and corrected the trouble with my kidneys. I most cheerfully recommend this preparation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Drainage Congress Opens

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 10.—The second annual meeting of the National Drainage Congress formed last year was opened here today with a large attendance of delegates representing very state in the Union as well as many large and small cities in all parts of the country, delegates of various large commercial, industrial and other civic bodies and representatives of various colleges and agricultural institutions. The congress will remain in session three days and will devote its attention principally to the consideration and discussion of the national land reclamation plan which has been worked out by a committee appointed by the first congress. Efforts will be made to secure the co-operation and assistance of the national government in the plans for reclaiming for agricultural purposes the 75,000,000 acres of overflow alluvial and swamp lands in the United States. Congress is to be urged to create a commission to make the necessary surveys and estimates of cost and to work out, in connection with the several affected laws, for the gradual reclamation of such waste lands. Colonel William C. Gorgas, chief engineer of sanitation in the Panama canal zone, who, with the sanction of the federal government accepted the position of third vice-president of the congress, will be one of the notable speakers.

Joe Delehanty, who was with Toronto last season, has signed with the Atlanta Southern League Club.

Titanic Sails on Maiden Trip.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 10.—Carrying a full complement of passengers the gigantic new White Star Line steamship Titanic sailed out of this port today on her maiden voyage to New York. Thousands of spectators gathered to witness the departure, which was marked by the firing of salutes and the dipping of the flags by all the shipping in the harbor.

The Titanic is a sister ship of the Olympic, placed in commission last year. She is 840 feet in length and has a displacement of 60,000 tons. She is literally a floating hotel, provided with dancing rooms, smoking rooms, cafes, a library and even a garden of Oriental palms and beds of roses and carnations. A swimming tank and a skating rink are among her other features. She has accommodations for 5,000 passengers and carries a crew of 600. On her maiden trip the Titanic is in command of Captain Smith, formerly of the Olympia.

Alabama Sunday Schools.

SELMA, Ala., April 10.—The annual convention of the Alabama Sunday School Association is in session here with an attendance of delegates and visitors from every part of the state. The meeting will last three days and will be addressed by a number of ministers, evangelists and Sunday School expositors of wide prominence. The annual reports show a gratifying increase in the number of Sabbath schools in Alabama during the past year.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The Pittsburg club has released Pitcher Grover to the Hartford, (Conn.) club and Pitcher Everett and Outfielder Irvin to Montreal.

Must be something to this young Mr. Russell, the Baltimore pitcher, when he can make the Philadelphia Nationals lay down and play dead.

Pitcher Howrd Northrop, champion flipper of the Tri-State League, looks good enough to become a regular with the Chicago Cubs.

Steve Yerkes may land a regular job at second base with the Boston Red Sox. He has been covering the bag this spring and doing the work in July form.

Manager Wolverton, of the Highlanders, figures that his pitching staff will be able to put the art of fence-busting out of business this season.

The chances are that Rath nd Weaver will start the season in the infield for the White Sox, with the veteran Tannehill ready to jump in, in case the youngsters blow.

President Ward of the Boston Nationals, says that he would not trade Vin Campbell for Ty Cobb, and that in Miller, Campbell and Jackson he has the greatest outfield in the country.

Bill Dahlen's Brooklyn outfit has had a hard time to get into condition this spring. Rain and snow followed the Superbas from town to town and made ball playing practically impossible.

Larry McLean says he intends to catch every game played by the Cincinnati Reds this season. Larry is twenty pounds lighter than he was last season, is working hard and is showing Hank O'Day what a real back stop looks like.

A story is going the rounds to the effect that Joe Cantillon has a quart of whiskey on the bench for Rube Waddell when the "Rube" is working. The "Rube" has caused managers too much trouble for Joe even to think of such a foolish thing.

Honus Wagner and Mike Donlin, of the Pirates, represents two extremes in men's scenery. Mike changes his clothes three or four times a day, while a slouch hat and a soft collar is Wagner's swellest makeup. Still the flying Dutchman is there when it comes to sport. He is a first-class bowler, a billiard player, a crack-shot a basket ball expert, a hockey player, clever at golf, a skillful auto driver and takes down $10,000 for six months work on the diamond.

MADAME RACHELLE'S ADVICE TO BEAUTY SEEKERS

R. V. T.—Baldness of the complexion is usually caused by a faulty diet and lack of exercise. Consult a physician about the matter, keep out in the air as much as possible. Sleep with windows open.
Miss M. K.—Your druggist can supply you a preparation known as Wilson's Freckle Cream which I can recommend as a very effective freckle remover. It acts quickly and its bleaching properties are entirely harmless. Follow the directions on the package and protect the face from all undue exposure to the wind and sun. The cream sets for five to ten minutes, and if your druggist is out, you may obtain it direct from the Wilson-Freckle Cream Company, Charleston, S. C.
Wilson's Freckle Cream is sold by Moye's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.
