WILKES PEOPLE FOR THE COLONEL

GREATEST ENTHUSIASM REIGNS AT REPUBLICAN CONVENTION—SOLID FOR T. R.

NORTH WILKESBORO, April 16.—On Monday, the 15th of April, the Republicans of Wilkes county, the banner Republican county of the state, met in convention and pursuant to delegates to cast a unanimous vote the instructions of the various townships of the county, instructed 32 for Col Theodore Roosevelt's nomination for president at the state convention on May 15.

There has never before been in the county such a unanimous expression of approval of the candidacy of any man, and long before the convention was held and even before Col Roosevelt signified his willingness to accept the presidential nomination, the people of the county were advocating his nomination and at the same time expressing an opinion that his nomination would insure the reclaiming of at least three congressional districts and with the probability of his sweeping the state in the November election.

IT'S LEAP YEAR.

GREATEST MARITIME DISASTER NOW CONFIRMED

Carpathia Enroute to New York With Only About 800 Survivors of the Ocean Liner Titanics' Wreck. Mostly Women and Children.

ASTOR, VANDERBILT, BUTTS, STEAD AND GUGGENHEIM AMONG THOSE THAT PERISH

(Special to Reflector)

The National Electric Signal Service at South Brooklyn picked up a message from Scout Cruiser Salem, at noon, reporting position of Carpathia then as just South of Cape Sable, making 13 knots per hour.

As announced in yesterday's issue of The Reflector only 868 persons were saved from the Titanic. The hopes at first entertained that the Parisian and Virginian had rescued other passengers were shattered when the officials of the White Star Line received wireless messages from the commanders of both steamers stating that although they had reached the place where the Titanic was sent to the bottom by the crashing berg, their arrival proved fruitless and only wreckage was found to testify to the horror of the disaster.

Wireless from the Carpathia, on her way to New York, with the 868 survivors confirm the fear that some of America's most famous millionaires went down to their graves with the Titanic. The wireless operator of the Carpathia managed to send the White Star Line officials a fair list of the names of the survivors. Mrs. J. J. Astor, Mrs. J. Futrelle, of Atlanta, and other well known ladies are in this list. No mention is made of Astor, Guggenheim, Major Butts, Hery B. Harris, the noted theatrical manager, Alfred Gwyne Vanderbilt, and a host of other notables who were aboard the monster ship.

Great throngs gathered around the White Star Line offices in Lower Broadway in New York, yesterday and this morning and anxiously inquired as to the list of survivors.

The news were at first received in London with doubt. Not until ample confirmation had been given the news, did Londoners realize that the unsinkable Titanic had gone to the bottom. London loses one of the most popular men of letters, William T. Stead, distinguished journalist, having perished in the catastrophe.

Little or no hope is now entertained that any more, other than the people being carried to New York on the Carpathia, were rescued.

WHY HAS COTTON GONE UP?

Why has cotton gone to ten cents? Is it because of a normal demand from spinners—so natural and normal a demand that farmers may expect ten cents if they make another bumper crop? Or is it due to such conditions as farmers should be warned against, and warned promptly?

We believe the latter explanation is the correct one. Let us present one significant fact to prove our belief. It was brought to our attention by Mr. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn, N. C., a farmer executive committeeman of the Southern Cotton Association and now state organizer in the cotton crop production movement. Mr. Brown, a few days ago very strongly emphasized the fact that although cotton has gone to ten cents now, our cotton growers must by no means assume that they can plant another crop and get ten cents next fall. The truth is, that the spinners believe the farmers are reducing their acreage and on that assumption they are now buying largely beyond their present needs—believing, as they do, that the reduced acreage will mean higher prices next fall. This explains the recent advance in the markets all over the country.

In prof Mr. Brown showed a telegram he had just received from Secretary Hester of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange reporting that for the first six months of this cotton year (it runs from September 1st to September 1st) the foreign spinners, European and Canadian, had bought 5,450,000 bales American cotton, while last year they took only 7,746,000 bales for the whole twelve months. This demonstrates conclusively that these foreign manufacturers are buying for future needs. In consequence, there will be a corresponding decreased demand from them next fall and if a big crop is made, prices will certainly go away below ten cents. In fact, if prices went below ten cents last fall, when mills were hungry and even famishing for lint, what must our farmers expect if they make a big crop this year with mills well stocked with our big 1911 crop?

In view of these facts, Mr. Brown made the following pertinent comment which we heartily endorse:

"The foreign spinner has not forgotten the experience of a few years ago when a crop of 14,000,000 bales caused a slump in prices from about sixteen cents (during the Sully campaign) to about six and one-half cents, followed the next year by a tremendous reduction in acreage and a series of four years of twelve to fourteen-cent cotton. The foreign buyer is evidently anticipating a repetition of this action on the part of the Southern cotton growers, and it would be suicidal on our part to disappoint them.

"Reduction and diversifications are the salvation of the South in this crisis and I sincerely hope that the recent small advance in prices will not fool the Southern people. Unless there is a reduction in acreage and practical diversification, then stagnation in all lines of business is sure to follow."

Ten-cent prices now are certainly no guarantee of these figures at selling time next fall. Keep your cotton acreage down to the point you have had in mind before prices advanced.

Lieut.-Gov. W. C. Newland, of Lenoir, of whom it was recently said he would contest the nomination for secretary of state with Hon. J. Bryan Grimes, has given out the statement that he will not be in the race. Mr. Newland says: "I am not and will not be a candidate. It would be inconsistent to be a candidate since only a few weeks ago I withdrew from the race for governor in the interest of party harmony."

The present condition of the sand clay street south of Five Points shows the large amount of good that results from a small amount of work with the split log drag. The drag, well used, is the proper thing for surfacing streets and roads.

Fine court house on one corner, handsome hotel on another, and magnificent government building on another puts The Reflector in mighty good company.

It is enough to strike all hearts with horror to read of such disasters as the sinking of the Titanic and the loss of so many lives.

There is not much time left for paying poll tax, if you are delinquent and want to save your vote.

Good Roads Progress

Nearly $150,000,000 was expended for road work in the United States during 1911; according to estimates made by "Good Roads," of that $50,000,000 is shown by the figures in the annual review of road building in the current issue of that journal to have been expended in those states alone in which some form of state aid is extended to the local units.

This latter amount covers all of the direct appropriations made by the commonwealth and, in addition, a large amount expended by the counties and towns. While it is impossible to obtain complete returns from these smaller divisions, it is probable that the total expenditures in the states exceeded the figure given by perhaps 25 per cent. The remainder of the estimated $150,000,000 was expended in states having no highway departments and in which the work is done entirely by the towns and counties.

A large mass of statistics covering the work of the states and in the other is published in the annual review of road building in the United States, which is compiled early each year by the staff of "Good Roads," a recognized authority on road building. The present review is the first in which an attempt has been made to go beyond the work done by the state highway department or analogous bodies, and form the first accurate report of any extent of the manner in which the vast sum of money devoted to road building each year in the United States are expended. In the same issue of "Good Roads," which, with the current number, is celebrating its tenth anniversary under the present ownership, are printed, also, the first complete digests of the road laws of all of the states in the union, a history of the good roads movement in this country from its beginning to the present time, and revised, up-to-date list of all the principal states officials throughout the United States having road work in charge.

No better index to the importance which the question of good roads is assuming throughout the country can be found than in the large expenditures which these figures show are being made everywhere for the improvement of the highway system, not only by the construction of new roads but by what is equally important—the maintenance of those already built. From the information which "Good Roads" has gathered during the past few months, it is estimated that the amount which will be spent for road improvement during 1912 will exceed $150,000,000, and will be greater than that ever before spent in any one year. The different methods of expending the sums making up this total as shown by the laws of the several states, form an interesting study. Since the beginning of the movement of roads through state aid, over two decades ago, state after state has embraced the principle, until there are now over thirty commonwealths in the union which have organized state highway departments, through which aid, either financial or otherwise, is extended to the towns or local units. —Raleigh Evening Times.

The Things Girls Eat

The things girls eat may well astound
And move to wonder most profound
The student of their curious way;
They gulp such messes in school days,
That grown-up frown, have always frowned,
At what girls eat!

Marshmallows by the jar-get browned
Of chocolates each day by the pound,
Cakes that would fill two good-sized traps,
Jams, sweet desserts that soon would craze
A hungry man of body sound—
Such things girls eat!

You've seen, in candy shops renowned,
Pink frostings, pink ice creams around,
And often you've expressed amazement
To know for who those pink things pays?
Well, girls love pink down to the ground—
Pink's what girls eat!

And often solid sweets are downed,
With drinks the weird repast is crowned—
Pink lemonade, wherein each lays
A cherry of a ruby glaze—
In liquids such as these are drowned
The sweetest girls eat!

No wonder when girls grow long-gowned
They have a keen scent like a hound
For things they deem their natural preys;
For them it is that hearts we raise,
Sweet hearts—they love them I'll be bound—
These things girls eat!

The Sidney Lanier Literary Society of the Training school feels deeply indebted to the Edgar Allan Poe Society for one of the most delightful and thoroughly enjoyable evenings they have spent during the scholastic year. The Poes in honor of the Laniers presented to the faculty Spring Class and Lanier Society on Saturday evening April 13, Anne of Green Gables in a dramatized form, also in a most original manner. Some of Dickens characters were allowed to speak for themselves. From beginning to end the program was attractive and interesting showing that the time and thought spent in performing it had not been wasted.

Coupon Date Changed.
Yesterday the coupons in the News and Observer contest changed from the 21st to the 28th. James—Wellons SMITHFIELD, N. C., April 13.—Last evening Corinth Methodist Church was the scene of a most beautiful marriage when Miss Mary Rand Wellons became the bride of Mr. Charles Fernando James. Rev. T. Sutton, pastor of the bride, officiated in a most impressive manner. Miss Lucy Hood, of Smithfield, presided at the organ and rendered the wedding music. The church was artistically decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being green and white. The white satin, with pearl trimmings, carnations and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a beautiful lavalere set with a diamond, surrounded by pearls and sapphires, the gift of the groom. The bride entered on the arm of her sister, Miss Eunice Wellons, who wore pink silk and carried pink carnations.
Mr. James is a Pitt County young man, and a son of Mrs. Mollie James, of Carolina township.

A Wellesley College Play.
The Elopement of Ellen, was written for and originally produced by Wellesley college girls. It has been played with success and well received by various colleges throughout the country. One critic says "It is strikingly fresh and interesting, its characters vivid and well contrasted and its dramatic appeal strong and sympathetic."

Plenty of lovmaking, disappointment, misunderstandings, reconciliations and fun to suit everybody, at the Training school on Monday evening.

GOV. WATSON ON POLITICS.

Forsyth Man Leans Toward Judge Clark Since Aycock's Death.
Hon. Cyrus B. Watson of Winston-Salem, one of the most levelheaded Democrats in the country, a veteran of the war between the sections, a great lawyer and a lovable gentleman, was one of the many North Carolinians who lost some interest in the senatorial contest when former Governor Aycock died. Governor Watson was asked today how he stood in the senatorial fight, and said:
"I was for Aycock, heart and soul, liked to have killed me when he died. I now have a leaning for Judge Clark, notwithstanding the fact that there are parts of his platform I do not approve of. He is a man of so much learning, of such great industry, is so faithful to duty, and has done so much along the line of preserving the history of the state that it causes me from a sense of duty naturally to lean toward him, although I cannot now say what course I may take in the future."
"He has been in office for a long time, but all the time he has held an office that required immense labor with little pay. This I know. In case he is elected to the senate he will be faithful to the people of the state and to the party."

ens, also all kinds seed for the farm or town at Ayden Feed Co.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Ayden is growing rapidly. They initiated about 15 new members Monday. This lodge has been asked by the Grand Master of the state to institute a new lodge of Odd Fellows at Farmville on the 23rd of April.
Mr. L. L. Kittrell has purchased the handsome residence of Mr. E. G. Cox on East avenue.
J. R. Smith and Bro., are doing business at the same old stand with their usual large stock of millinery, dry goods and hardware.

WELL DESERVED.

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Greenville People.
One kidney remedy never fails. Greenville people rely upon it.
That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Greenville testimony proves it always reliable.
Mrs. Joseph Fornes 1116 S. Washington St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with the most satisfactory results and I know that they are a good kidney medicine. About a year ago I was troubled my symptoms of kidney complaint. I suffered from dull, nagging backache and I also had headaches and pains through my kidneys. Dizzy spells annoyed me and I noticed that kidney secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from the John L. Wooten Drug Co., brought me prompt relief and a short time ago I again used them, they acted as effectively as before. I know that this preparation lives up to the claims made for it."
For sale by all dealers. Price 60 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

John Paul Jones Statue Unveiled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17.—With impressive military and civic exercises the magnificent memorial to John Paul Jones, the naval hero of the American Revolution, was dedicated in this city today. Congress appropriated $50,000 for the memorial, which occupies a conspicuous site at the main entrance to Potomac Park. The president of the United States and members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, justices of the supreme court of the United States, distinguished officers of the navy and the army, senators, representatives in Congress and many others prominent in official life, as well as a large concourse of citizens, were present. Thousands of bluejackets of the navy United States marines, soldiers of the regular army and of the National Guard and delegations representing patriotic and other civic organizations were assembled in parade as a tribute to the famous naval hero. The memorial, the work of Paul H. Niehaus, the New York sculptor, was admired by everyone who saw it. In many respects it differs from other similar memorials erected in the national capital. It consists of a marble pylon of classic design as the back ground for a colossal bronze figure of the intrepid naval commander of the early days of the republic. The pylon is a massive rectangular tower about fifteen feet in height. It occupies the center of an ornamental fountain, the water for which will come from the bronze heads of dolphins at each end of the pylon. On the back of the shaft is a large panel containing a bas relief representation of Commodore Jones raising the flag on the historic ship Bonhomme Richard.

The Jones statue stands at the base of the monument in front of the pedestal. It is of heroic proportions, being about ten feet high. The great naval commander is shown in full uniform, with an expression and pose suggestive of his indomitable will and unconquerable spirit. Apparently he is watching a naval engagement. His right hand is clenched and his left hand clutches his sword.

In the die under the statue is inscribed:

1747 First 1792
To compel the foreign men of war
To strike colors to the Stars and Stripes

There are two inscriptions on the rear of the pylon. The first of these is on the stone forming the cap of the shaft. It embodies the language popularly attributed to Commodore Jones when called upon by the commander of the British Serapis to surrender the battered American ship Bonhomme Richard. The inscription is as follows:

—Surrender?—
I have just begun to fight.

The second inscription is just below the bas relief representing Commodore Jones raising the United States flag for the first time on an American warship. It reads:

In life he honored the flag
In death the flag shall honor him.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer, presided at the dedication exercises and the memorial was unveiled by Admiral Dewey. President Taft addressed the assemblage and pronounced a splendid tribute to the valor and genius and patriot and told of his daring deeds on the high sea. The exercises concluded with the oration of the day delivered by General Horace Porter of New York, who while United States ambassador to France found the remains of Commodore Jones in an abandoned cemetery in Paris and had them brought to their resting place in a vault of the chapel at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The United States marine band furnished the musical features of the dedication program. At the conclusion of the exercises a vessel of the navy stationed in the Potomac opposite the statue fired a regulation salute.

Almost a Miracle.

One of them ost startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all of our family thought he was going into the consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for coughs and colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe and reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

BASEBALL NOTES

Pitcher "The Breitenstein, the former St. Louis-Cincinnati "$10,000 beauty," is now umpiring in the Southern League.

The National League teams played rings around the American League teams during the Spring inter-league series.

Manager Charlie Doolin of the Phillies, believes that Pitcher Masters, a young recruit, will develop into another Alexander.

The New York Giants will be the attraction at Cincinnati when Garry Herrman's new baseball park is formally dedicated on May 18.

Arthur T. Sheahan is the youngest business manager in the big leagues. At the age of 23 Arthur is looking after all the coin gathered by the Detroit Tigers.

It is said the Cubs are angling for Bob Fisher, Joe McGinnity's star second sacker. Chance wants Fisher in order to plug up the infield in case Evers fails to "come back".

The circuit of the Upper Peninsula-Wisconsin League will be composed of Menominee, Escanaba and Gladston in Michigan and Marinette, Wis. The season will open May 18 and close on Sept. 18.

John Franklin Baker of the Athletics, should be a drawing card this season. His home run stunt during the world's series last fall will be worth more than four dollars to Connie Mack.

It was in 1901 that Fred Clarke shifted Hans Wagner from right field to short, and Fred certainly showed he was there with the managerial noodle when he switched Herr Honus.

The Brooklyn fans hate Jake Daubert like John Dee hates money. The Surpebas followers claim that Jake has it on all the first basemen, not excepting the great Hal Chase of the Highlanders.

The Detroit crew seems to be well-fixed in all positions except in left field. From all accounts Jennings is up against the same riddle that nearly drove him to the Funny works last season.

Pitcher George Pierce has joined the Cubs, the Chicago team being the fourth major league team he has been connected with. During the past 2 years he has been tried out by the Giants and both Boston teams.

Three Indianapolis boys will perform in the major league this season. Owen Bush and Paddy Bauman with Detroit and "Dutch" Miller with the Brooklyn team represent the Hoosier capital in the big show.

With twelve Germans on the team the Boston Red Sox are the real Pretzels this season. Here's the delicatessen outfit—Stahl, Bedient, Bushelman, Pape, Hageman, Leonard, Nunamaker Yerkes, Wagner, Gardner, Engle and Krug.

WITH THE BOXERS

Pal Moore and Jack Britton have signed for a bout to take place in San Francisco the latter part of this month.

Carl Morris, the Oklahoma hope, denies that he has gone back to rail-roading. He says he intends to stick to the boxing game.

Many an indolent lawyer is only too glad to work with a will.

The pesky fly is making his appearance and now is the time to swat him.

MADAME RACHELLE'S ADVICE TO BEAUTY-SEEKERS

Margaret A.—Yes, it is possible to remove freckles quickly and without injury. There is a scientific laboratory product known as Wilson's Freckle Cream which is favored by the profession for its unvarying satisfactory results. You may buy it at most any good drug store for 50c the jar or direct from the Wilson Freckle Cream Co., Charleston, S. C. It is entirely harmless and positively guaranteed.

Mrs. Scott—To plump out your arms and neck is not an easy matter. Massage with a good skin food will help, and so will the proper exercise movements. I would suggest that you consult a physician concerning the most sound and safe method.

Wilson's Freckle Cream is 1/2 A by Moye's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.
