Elections in Bay State Show Close-Calling of Third Term Although Conceding An Advantage

SEN. LA FOLLETTE "ALSO RAN" IN EVERY DISTRICT

BOSTON, April 30.—The contest in the primaries presidential today for the 36 Massachusetts delegates to the Republican national convention far exceeded in interest that for control of the delegation to the Baltimore Democratic delegation. Early returns showed that four Republicans voters went to the polls to one Democrat.

The race between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt, which on the showing of the preference of voters, was a neck and neck affair, for several hours absorbed so much attention that the long lead of Speaker Clark over Gov. Woodrow Wilson was almost forgotten.

In the first district in 23 out of 70 small towns, Crane had 386 to Baxters 334. This is Senator Crane's home district, and the election of the two Taft delegates was conceded by Roosevelt leaders in the early evening.

In the second district 12 out of 47 towns gave Crane 432 and Baxter 399, with a similar lead for the Taft men over Roosevelt district candidates.

President Taft carried Boston, exclusive of Hydepark, by more than 500 but ran behind in all the small towns that had reported up to 10 p. m. In these smaller towns, together with a number of wards in the cities of North Adams, Haverhill, Newbury Port, Lynn and Woburn the vote stood Roosevelt 6,468; Taft 5,355.

These same cities and towns gave Baxter, who headed the Roosevelt group of delegates 5,654 to 4,537 for Senator W. Murray Crane, who led the Taft group.

Heavy Losses By Fire in Winston-Salem

R. J. Reynold Company's Losses by Fire Amounts to $350,000, Fully Insured—Still have plenty of Leaf Tobacco in Storage—Fire will not Interfere with their Manufacturing.

WINSTON-SALEM, April 30.—The fire loss, according to statements made by the property owners in the fires here Monday night will aggregate $412,000 with insurance amounting to $410,000.

The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company had their tobacco insured for $350,000 and their loss is estimated at about that figure. They have plenty of leaf tobacco in storage here and the loss will not in any way effect their business.

Fire Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock also damaged the stock of Vaughan & company, wholesale grocers, to the amount of $20,000 fully covered by insurance. This business house is located only a block from the scene of the big fire.

Hallfax County Produces Nearly Double the Cotton of Last Year.

SCOTLAND NECK.—Already in Halifax county there has been ginned this season 40,000 bales of cotton as against 23,000 last year. On account of the inability of the farmers to get pickers to do the work much cotton was left in the fields and it is believed had all of it been saved that the county would easily have produced 50,000 bales this season.

Sen. Simmons Criticizes President for Not Signing Tariff Bills.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—The tariff fight in the senate opened today when Senator Simmons, in charge of the Democratic house measures, made the opening speech in support of the house metal bill.

Senator Simmons criticized President Taft for his refusal to sign the tariff bills of the last session and declared that the president's determination not to sign any tariff bills, previous to action by the tariff board was an impeachment of the competency of congress and "reactionary to the last degree".

The metal bill probably will be before the senate at least two weeks.

"Biggest of Them All" To Stand Thorough Trial

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30.—Suit against the International Harvester company, charging it with being a monopoly in restraint of trade and asking that it be dissolved, was filed by the government in the United States court here today.

In a petition in equity, this $140,000,000 corporation, popularly called the Harvester trust, is declared to exist in violation of the Sherman law.

To accomplish the disintegration of the so called trust, the government asks the court to issue injunctions to bar from interstate commerce the products of the International Harvester Company of America, its selling agency. The appointment of receivers to take charge of the property and wind up the business "if the court should be of the opinion that the public interests will be better served hereby," is suggested.

The filing of the suit came as the climax of five years of investigation by the government. Late in the case has figured prominently in political discussion between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt regarding certain instructions which Mr. Roosevelt while president in 1907 gave to his attorney general, Charles J. Bonaparte, concerning prosecution of the concern.

Jury in William Nichols Case Agrees As To Verdict After Full Night Of Deliberation

Floyd Allen Faces Court at Wythville

Mountaineers Attend Opening Day

WYTHEVILLE, Va., April 30.—Floyd Allen was before the bar in circuit court this morning to be tried for his life for the part he played in the Hillsville court tragedy March 14. His case was selected for trial first. The outcome will shape the state's methods in prosecuting the other five accused clansmen under guard in jail here. A large venire of citizens was summoned. It was expected considerable trouble would be experienced in getting a jury.

Many Mountaineers in Court.
A caravan of mountaineers traveling over rain-soaked roads from Hillsville and the surrounding country, arrived last night to participate in the trials beginning today of the six members of the Allen gang indicted for five murders in the Carroll county court house, March 14, when the judge, prosecuting attorney, the sheriff, a juror and bystander were assassinated.

More than one hundred witnesses have reached here. Some came part way by rail, others by horseback, while many drove all day in country wagons and camped outside the town.

Mrs. Floyd Allen Present.
Mrs. Floyd Allen, wife of the man who was being tried in the Hillsville court when the shooting began, rode twenty miles from the mountains at daybreak in a canvas-covered wagon to the nearest railroad station. She is a thin, frail woman, wrinkled with age, upon whom rests heavily the burden of seeing her husband and two sons—Claude and Victor, tried for murder. Mrs. Victor Allen, three small children and Jasper Allen, a brother of Floyd, accompanied her.

JURY ASKS JUDGE TO BE LENIENT WITH NICHOLS

CHRONOLOGY OF BELCHER MURDER CASE
Feb. 19.—Henry Belcher murdered in Farmville. Wm. Nichols and Knapp Burnett apprehended and accused of the crime.
Feb. 20.—Brought to Greenville jail.
April 26.—Accused men put on trial before His Honor Judge Justice.
April 30.—Knapp Burnett submits to second degree murder.
May 1.—Knapp Burnett sentenced to 5 years in the penitentiary. Nichols sentenced to 1 year in the penitentiary.

Quiet reigns once more in the room where His Honor Judge Justice presided last week and the early part of the present. Court house square has been deserted until the next term of court and justice has been dispensed in a manner that will long associate the presiding judge's name with the feeling of satisfaction for things will done.

A fitting close of the "just expired term" were the eloquent speeches made yesterday afternoon by both defense and prosecution in an effort to impress the sober looking jurors as to the guilt or innocence of the W. Nichols. Many people came into court yesterday for the express purpose of hearing the one and only "H. S." They were not disappointed. This distinguished Washington barrister was at his best as he squared before the jury box and proceeded to make his speech. For considerably over an hour arguments were presented and defeated, witnesses attacked windows rattled, people listened attentively and Lawyer Ward's eloquence kept up a steady flow that brought abundant perspiration to his temples. Many times did the attendants have an opportunity to appreciate the speakers ready wit. With gesture and word Lawyer Ward drove home every nail in sight and after a strenuous effort to have everything pink-colored for his client left it with the jury.

Most of us have heard Solicitor Abernethy address the jury. It has always been our privilege to "be there" when he started by vowing that there is nothing on earth that moves him (the solicitor) so much as a brother man in trouble. His heart simply goes out to meet the man in distress, but oh! it is so unfortunate he happens to be on the other side of the fence, for before he finishes his talk, Solicitor Abernethy has that poor brother sitting on the defendants chair half way to jail. And this bloodthirsty man with the thin voice and the kindly features pick here and picks there until he accomplishes his duty towards the people of the state. Solicitor Abernethy made a great speech to the jurors and his

COUNTY HOME AND HOSPITAL.

Going back to the report of the grand jury at the present term of court, it is well to consider their recommendations for the removal of the county home from its present location to some place nearer the county seat. The grand jury visited the home and made this recommendation after carefully considering conditions just as they are. The recommendation is most timely.

At the request of a committee of The King's Daughters, several citizens of Greenville went out to the county home last Sunday with a view of getting better informed as to conditions there. While they found every thing as good, as cleanly and as comfortable for the inmates as could be had amid the present surroundings, it is by no means such a county home as brings credit to a county as large and as wealthy as Pitt.

These facts were obtained on that visit, and are given here for the information of the public: The county owns there 208 acres of land of which about 35 acres are cleared. The home itself consists of some ten small one-story buildings, strung around a yard covering possibly two acres. One of these buildings is occupied by the superintendent and his family and the others by the inmates. The superintendent, who gets a salary of $30 a month and provision for himself and family, has the care of the home and inmates and the management of the farm, one hired farm hand being allowed him. When a cook cannot be secured and it is hard to keep one there, the superintendent's wife does the cooking, or in case of emergency he cooks himself. With all these duties he finds no idle time.

On an average there are about fifteen inmates cared for in the home. To feed and clothe these, with the superintendent's and hired man's wages included, costs the county about $2,500 in cash a year in addition to what is supplied from the farm. It takes from 150 to 200 cords of wood a year for the necessary fires in the buildings and this is cut from the county's land.

In addition to the cost of maintaining the home, the county pays about another $2,500 a year to outside paupers who take a small monthly stipend in preference to going to the county home. Thus it is seen that the cost of taking care of the county's unfortunate poor is considerable and it is generally believed that by equipping a better and more modern home the same expenditures would provide much better care.

The county could readily sell the tract of land now used for the home for $5,000 and this sum would buy a site sufficiently large for the home at some place near to Greenville. If the home was in easy access of Greenville there is much the people of the town would do for the comfort of the inmates that they cannot now do because of the distance.

And the home should consist of modern buildings.

The question of a county hospital is also being discussed now, and this is surely needed. Hence this suggestion that if the county home is moved, as should be done, the home and hospital could readily occupy the same tract of land and be conducted under one management. Pitt county is amply able to do more for the unfortunate among the citizens than is being done and for the sake of her reputation as a progressive county this should not continue to be neglected.

EARLY CLOSING.

It is some days since we presented the subject of early closing for the special attention of the local merchants. Up to date we only know of two stores that have fallen into line and are giving their employees the benefit of a measure that outside of being a reminder of the appreciation of the clerk's faithfulness throughout the fall and winter grind, allows the store owner to join his family at home otherwise than at bed-time.

It is a peculiarity of small towns, these long drawn working days for store clerks. You very seldom, if ever, see it in middle size and large cities.

The necessity for keeping stores open so long has never suggested itself to most of us. The straggler that "may" purchase something somewhere about nine-thirty or ten o'clock will hardly leave enough profit from the price of the purchase to pay for the light consumed in waiting for him.

And coming right up to the real issue of early closing of stores. Does it not seem proper that the men and women that have to stand around the stores and wait on customers, should have in some way the benefit of the long days now with us? It is very well that they should have longer hours on the fall and winter days. The weather as a rule, during those seasons of the year is non-inviting, to say the least of it. Life is just as pleasant in the light, well heated store and in the company of other brother employees as anywhere else. But, this is the season of the year when all who can do so, should go out into the sunshine and the clear atmosphere and have a chance to enjoy a little freedom after a day's work. There is no reason on earth to think that store clerks are any exception to this. They get down to their places of business as early as laborers do to their different tasks, yet it is hours after the laborer has returned home, that the clerk is allowed to put up the shutters and take a little rest, before he has to double up on his track and take down those shutters once more.

That idea of keeping the stores open until 9:30 or 10 o'clock is characteristic of very small places. It does not belong to towns that are on a fair march of progress and development, as Greenville is. And if we are progressing as unquestionably we are, why not discard that custom that will still make us range in that respect with towns much below our standard of progress and advancement?

TEDDY R. vs. BILLY T.

(Both members of this club)

The act "edifying" is at present being successfully handed out to the political vaudeville public by a president and an ex. It seems that it had to come. That the people wanted it; and the people got it.

The act as staged in Mass., was full of pathos and kiks, also profusely interstred with epithets unworthy of gentlemen trying to be leading men in the national game of holding down office.

The fact that Roosevelt saw his temper leave him by rapid degrees is not to be wondered at. He has done it before repeatedly. Witness his well stocked Annanias club and the scores of words coined by him to identify certain political stars that stood on his way. Therefore, no surprise should be evidenced at Teddy's "goat" again having forsaken him.

The strange happening is that the portly and benevolent looking White House star border should so far forget himself as to mix up in words with the disturber of the jungle. It strikes

WITH OTHER EDITORS

The Congress Record

Senator Heyburn of Idaho desires to make the Congressional Record a popular newspaper, and to this end he proposes to reduce the subscription price to $2 for the long session and $1 for the short session. He thinks this may serve to give it a circulation among the people of 2,000,000 copies daily as against 150 copies that are now regular subscribers for at the rate of $8 for the long session and $4 for the short session. Of course, the rate suggested by Senator Heyburn would not pay the expense, but even if it would we fear the hope of a large circulation would be doomed. The people would not stand for the Congressional Record as it is today at any price over ten cents a year, postage paid.

In the first place the Record is not a record at all. It contains tens of thousands of words every session that are never uttered upon the floors of congress at all. It prints columns of a speech delivered by the Hon. Columbus Collins of Crazy Creek, when as a matter of fact the Hon. Collins said no such thing. The Record is largely a fake. There is a day that it appears when it does not palm off some fictitious utterance as a speech of a member.

But even if it were a veracious chronicle in all respects, it would attain no great circulation. The people haven't time to read and digest the mass of hot air that is uttered upon the floors of congress. They want the important news and the daily newspaper give this accurately and properly boiled down. It may be true that every speech made interests somebody us that he ought to have known better. No man can afford to indulge on mud slinging and scape some of it himself.

And whilst these gentlemen indulge in the battle of words what are the other aspirants doing? Taking full advantage of the weaknesses brought out by the mentioned duel, of course. And they have a right to. You can't blame them for taking full notice of what is being said and for promising the prospective voters that they will never be guilty of whatever accusations are being hurled back and forth between the president and the "has been".

Practically the same thing has been happening right here at home, in our Old North State. And we don't need to say just exactly how it happened.

STOP AND THINK.

If those people who seem so persistent in destroying the stock law fence would stop and think a moment, they would see among what sort of people they are voluntarily classing themselves. However much they might spurn such an imputation, they are putting themselves by their acts in the same class with night riders and anarchists. It is a Bible truth "that as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." The same Book teachers that if a man carries murder in his heart he is guilty of murder even though he does not outwardly commit the act. Now do you not suppose that the men who go out under cover of night to wontorily destroy property, take weapons on their persons with the view of using these weapons on whoever might interfere or attempt to arrest them in the midst of their lawlessness act. Then they put themselves in the class with murderers, for they go out to do an unlawful act with the feeling that they would kill a fellow-man to avoid apprehension. One crime leads to another and those who go out to destroy public property or the property of a neighbor would resort to any crime on occasion. Simply because they are not readily detected does not remove the thought that they are criminals from their own consciences and it is enough to make them hang their heads in shame. The acts of these people are a reflection upon themselves, their families, their neighborhood and their country. For the sake of their own consciences and that they might hold up their heads as law abiding citizens, they should desist from such lawlessness.

One of Mr. Henry's dissections upon the constitution or exhortations of the Money Devil would be good stuff in Waco, but down in Austin the people want to know what Mr. Burleson says or thinks of introducing the bread food three in the Morris Sheppard's district want to know about the prospect of a second distribution of free souls.

The present system meets this situation splendidly. Mr. Henry can frank his constitutional argument or Money Devil philippic to Waco and Mr. Burleson can send his observations of the bread tree to Austin or San Marcos. Thus it is not necessary to punish millions of interested in these particular subjects.

We do think the Congressional Record can be reformed, however, by employing a competent editor with a supply of blue pencils to kill the hogwash and drivel that at present find their way in its columns. By a good boiling process, which would reduce its bulk, by 50 percent, and the addition of such features as Laura Jean Libbey, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Elbert Hubbard and Lillian Russel, with some timely illustrations, probably in time a good many people would be tempted to buy it.

But so long as the Record is practically edited by the members of congress it is a dead one, save as it interests the long-haired boy at home who watched every word accredited to the incumbent, whose seat he craves, in the hope of finally putting together a record so vile and unpractical as will induce the elaborate to unseat the wretch and put the yearning patriot in.—Huston Post.

Tobacco Flues

135,000 POUNDS MATERIAL

Three and one-half solid cars Tobacco Flue Iron for this season's trade. I will make my flues this season in the Center Brick Warehouse, where I will be glad to fill orders from my old and new friends, the fourth consecutive season.

The demand will be heavy this season and to avoid delay and confusion, I advise all those who are reasonably sure of needing flues to place their orders early, and get their flues before the beginning of curing season.
