Hearing Not to Be Public in Chicago

When Question Put to A Ballot Roosevelt Forces Defeated By Vote of 39 to 13

ONLY MEMBERS OF THE PRESS TO BE PRESENT

CHICAGO, June 6.—Publicity will govern the Republican national committee's deliberations upon the contest for seats in the national convention.

The public and the newspapers will be represented by the five press associations recognized by admission of their reporters to the floor of the national house of representatives at Washington.

Thus declaring emphatically for publicity in all its proceedings the committee also elected Victor Rosewater, of Omaha, permanent chairman and adopted the rules of four years ago which are to govern the hearings preliminary to the national convention.

Opinions differ tonight as to the significance of the only vote taken during the meeting which might be construed as a test of strength in the committee as between the Taft and Roosevelt adherents in the committee.

The Roosevelt people contended for a complete "removal of the lid," by admitting also at least one representative of every newspaper having recognition in the press galleries of Congress.

The only other vote of a significant character was on the proposal of Senator Borah, of Idaho, that eight members should be sufficient to order a roll call.

The Taft adherents did not object to the widest publicity but argued that the committee did not have facilities for admitting all and urged that while no part of the committee sessions should be practically executive, stenographic reports should be given to the press.

A plan to give out daily and stenographic report of the proceedings came up through the adoption of a motion by Committeeman Shackelford, of Alaska and this will be done.

BASE BALL MEETING.

Don't forget the base ball meeting at the city hall tonight at eight-thirty o'clock. A large attendance will considerably brighten the chances for a team here this summer and show that you are interested, and give the boys a god send off.

Minnesotas' 24 Delegates for Wilson

Attempt Made to Stampede for Commoner. Disuaded By Letter From Bryan Himself

WILSON HAS A RATHER WEAK OPPOSITION

DULUTH, Minn., June 6.—Minnesota Democrats in state convention today voted to send a full delegation of 24 delegates to the Baltimore convention with instructions for Woodrow Wilson.

It was agreed, however, that whenever in the opinion of two-thirds of the delegation, Wilson's nomination is impossible the vote to be thrown to another candidate.

Victory came for the Wilson forces only after followers of Champ Clark and Wm. J. Bryan had made an attempt to have the delegates either instructed for Bryan or not instructed at all.

Several delegates who are said to favor Champ Clark are on the list, but they are under instructions to vote for Wilson.

The Clark manager, H. S. Williams, said after the convention that he would carry his fight to the national convention at Baltimore. The Wilson men selected Fred B. Lynch, of St. Paul, for national committeeman.

It became evident early in the convention that the opposition to Wilson was hopelessly in the minority. John M. Freeman, a Wilson man, was named temporary chairman without opposition permanent chairman in the same manner.

Opponents of Wilson made an effort to send delegates to Baltimore instructed for Bryan or instructed. Several laudatory speeches were made in favor of the Nebraskan, and his name was loudly cheered.

The clamor for Bryan ended when Guy Thomas, of Minneapolis, read a letter from Mr. Bryan saying he was not a candidate for president and John W. Freeman made an address urging that as the majority of Minnesota voters had named Wilson as their choice the convention should stand by him.

CRAIG FOR GOVERNOR BY ACCLAMATION

GOVS. JARVIS AND GLENN RECOGNIZED BY CONVENTION

CONVENTION HALL, Raleigh, N. C., June 6.—Upon reassembling of the great convention this afternoon the delegates came together ready for business. The first thing when Temporary Chairman Glenn rapped for order was reports from the committees.

The committee on credentials found no contest of any kind, but owing to the establishment of the new county of Hoke there had to be a division of the vote in counties in the same districts so as to give Hoke proper representation, which was easily adjusted.

The committee on permanent organization named Hon. F. D. Winston, of Bertie, as permanent chairman and Hon. Walter Murphrey, of Rowan, as secretary. Judge Winston made only a brief speech upon taking the chair before declaring nominations for governor in order.

Hon. Felix Alley, of Jackson, was recognized and quiet fell over the great crowd as he began making the speech to present the next governor of North Carolina. When he reached the name of Locke Craig there was an outburst of cheers and applause that reverberated throughout the building.

The roll call of counties was suspended and the nomination of Locke Craig was made by acclamation.

A committee was appointed to notify Mr. Craig of his nomination and escort him to the hall and while they were out the chair recognized Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, of Pitt. The ovation that was given this greatest living North Carolinian as he advanced to the front of the platform was enough to fill the hearts of his host of admirers with joy.

Following this Hon. R. N. Hackett, of Wilkesboro, offered a resolution that as J. Bryan Grimes for secretary of state, T. W. Bickett for attorney general, B. R. Lacy for treasurer, W. P. Wood for auditor, M. L. Shipman for commissioner of labor and printing, W. A. Graham for commissioner of agriculture, J. R. Young for commissioner of insurance, J. Y. Joyner for superintendent of education, G. H. Brown and W. A. Hoke for justices of the supreme court, had no opposition for nomination before the convention, that the rules be suspended and these all be nominated in one vote by acclamation.

American Consul Demands Protection

PRES. GOMEZ DEEMS INTERVENTION ADVISABLE

HAVANA, June 4.—The senate committee on laws reported this evening a recommendation for the passage of a law empowering President Gomez to suspend the constitutional guarantees but only in the province of Oriente. The suspension of the guarantees in the other provinces was considered unnecessary and inadvisable, especially on account of the approaching elections.

The American consul at Santiago, Ross E. Holaday, today expressed to General Montenegro, the Cuban commander-in-chief, that in his opinion it would be advisable to have an American warship stationed at Santiago, where there is cute alarm on account of the presence of strong bodies of rebels, some of which have advanced and exchanged shots with the police and volunteer guards.

for commissioner of labor and printing, W. A. Graham for commissioner of agriculture, J. R. Young for commissioner of insurance, J. Y. Joyner for superintendent of education, G. H. Brown and W. A. Hoke for justices of the supreme court, had no opposition for nomination before the convention, that the rules be suspended and these all be nominated in one vote by acclamation.

As the committee entered the hall with next Governor Craig, the convention rose to its feet with cheers to greet him. Mr. Craig's speech of acceptance was a gem and brought frequent bursts of applause.

The action of the state executive committee in ordering a primary to settle the question of United States senator was approved by the convention.

When nominations for lieutenant governor were declared in order a motion was made that nominating speeches be limited to five minutes. Chairman Winston said he would, himself amend the motion by making the limit three minutes, and amid much merriment the convention adopted the motion as amended. The speeches then started, they were good ones too, and while some speakers tried to go over the time limit the delegates would good-humoredly call them down.

For this office five names were presented, John G. Shaw of Cumberland; J. D. Boushall of Wake; W. E. Daniel of Halifax; E. F. McRae of Roberson; E. L. Daughtridge of Nash.

Then the convention was up against the first contest and had the first opportunity of voting by roll call. It consumed about an hour to take the first ballot, which resulted as follows, omitting fractions: Daniels 228, Shaw 228, Daughtridge 193, McRae 150, Boushall 103.

The next two ballots showed Daniels and Daughtridge gaining and the other candidates losing, the third standing Daniel 453, Daughtridge 236, Shaw 212, McRae 57, Boushall 2. Then there was an effort to adjourn for supper, but the Daniel supporters thinking he would win on the next ballot opposed adjournment and the next roll call was made. Contrary to their expectations Daniel fell back and Daughtridge climbed up almost to an equal vote with him, but the ballot showed no nomination.

Supporters of both leaders tried to stampede the convention for the next ballot and all through the calling of the roll there was the hardest kind of work on both sides. The finish showed Daughtridge the winner the vote being announced Daughtridge 591, Daniel 278, Shaw 96.

At this stage of the convention which was getting well into the night the committee report on platform was read. This brought on the strongest discussion of the convention. There was also a minority report, the two reports practically developing the strength in the convention of the two candidates for United States senator and showing that Simmons was largely in the majority. The report of the committee was adopted.

THE ORIGIN OF THE TWO-THIRDS RULE.

The origin of the two-third rule goes back to the first national Democratic convention ever held. This convention, which was held in Baltimore in 1832 (six out of the first seven Democratic conventions were held in the Maryland metropolis and the eighth in 1860 held its adjourned sessions there), was called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for vice president as Jackson's running mate, the Old Hero being without Democratic opposition for the first place. The convention, which was more of a national mass meeting than a convention in the modern sense, was very loosely organized, and on the second day adopted the following rule:

"That each state be entitled, in the nomination to be made of a candidate for the vice presidency, to a number of votes equal to the number to which they will be entitled in the electoral College, under the new apportionment, in voting for president and vice president; and that two-thirds of the whole number of the votes in the convention shall be necessary to constitute a choice."

This rule seems to have been adopted with little or no discussion, due doubtless to the fact that Van Buren, Jackson's choice for the vice presidency, had considerably more than the necessary two-thirds and was nominated on the first ballot. But the adoption of the two-thirds rule in the convention of 1835 produced a strenuous fight. General Romulus M. Saunders of North Carolina, who made the report of the committee on rules, said that the majority of the committee had reached the conclusion that a nomination by a two-thirds vote would give a more imposing effect than a nomination by a simple majority. He added that it was to be presumed that no one had the most remote desire to frustrate the proceedings and provided a majority on the first or second ballot fix upon an individual, it was reasonably to be expected that the minority would be disposed to yield and unite with the majority, so as to produce the effect contemplated by the foregoing resolution.

The report was vigorously opposed by a Mr. Allen of Massachusetts, also a member of the committee on rules, who asserted that the two-thirds rule was contrary to the fundamental principle of our government, that we should be governed by the will of the majority. It was undemocratic and unrepresentative and directly in the face and eyes of the constitution. The rule was defeated by a vote of 231 to 210. The reporter adds that the rule was brought forward for the purpose of keeping Mr. R. M. Johnson of Kentucky out of the vice presidency, many being willing to make no nomination rather than accept of him. The opposition to Mr. Johnson must have increased over night, for the next day a motion to reconsider prevailed and the rule was adopted. It is of interest to note that the General Saunders, who in 1835 urged the two-thirds rule as a means of making Van Buren's nomination more imposing and who disclaimed any intention to frustrate the will of the majority, was the same General Saunders, who, "before prayers" in 1844, moved the adoption of the two-thirds rule for the purpose of defeating Mr. Van Buren and of thwarting the will of the majority.

The Soaring Prices

The heads of American households have long realized from the strain upon their pocketbooks when they purchase the breakfast eggs and slab of bacon, the dinner roast, and the bread which goes with all meals, that food stuffs have gone soaring, but they will probably be started when they review the cold figures collected by the department of commerce and labor, setting forth the exact increase in these necessities of life for the past 22 years. The department has this report ready for publication.

Wholesale prices of meats, according to this report, have increased from 25 to 100 per cent within the past ten years. Poultry, at wholesale has followed the rise in meats with an increase, during the same period, of more than 33 1-3 per cent, while eggs jumped from 17 cents per dozen in 1897 to 47 cents in December of 1911. Egg in butter, selling at 18 cents per pound in 1896, commanded 36 cents last December. While collecting this data the department's agents visited practically every great source of food supply in the United States. The prices which the report contains are wholesale prices, thus shifting the blame of the high cost of living from the shoulders of the retailer and the middlemen and placing it squarely upon the great corporations, which dominate the nation's food supplies.

While the meat stuffs were soaring, bread stuffs were not stationary. Flour which commanded $3.77 in 1899, had reached $5.49 in 1909, and remained stationary at that price for two years. A pound of bread could be purchased at 3 1-3 cents in 1911. Cornmeal, which sold at 8 cents per pound in 1896 has exactly doubled its price by December 1911. The wholesale price of potatoes was 49 cents per bushel in 1907, but last September they brought 86 cents. New Orleans molasses rose from 31 cents per gallon in 1890 to 42 1-2 cents in December of 1911.

"The average wholesale price for 257 commodities," concludes the report, "during 1911 was 17 per cent higher than the average wholesale price of the same commodities for 1900; 44 per cent higher than the prices of 1897, and 29 per cent higher than the prices for the ten year period preceding 1890."—Ex.

A New Feature

By special arrangements with a large jewelry importing house we have been enabled to add to our usual stock a complete line of jewelry, of really high-grade quality, in a large and varied assortment.

Something For Nothing

We are really going to give away any article in this assortment. No such offer as we are making has been attempted by any local merchant. Think of it—you can buy any article of jewelry in this stock at wholesaler's price.

A Coupon with Every Purchase

Listen! This is our plan: We will give you free one 10 cent coupon with every 50 cent purchase you make at our store. These coupons are redeemable in our jewelry department for their face value. Thus, 50c in coupons and 50c in cash secures you any $1 article. In addition to this you are entitled to one estimate with every coupon received in our great Candle Contest.

How Long will the Candle Burn

Write plainly on the back of each coupon how long the candle will burn. If you are right you will receive a handsome full-jeweled Elgin Watch free. The Candle and Watch are on Display in our show windows. Come and see them.

We sell our goods at low prices, and give you the coupons extra.

Tobacco Flues

135,000 POUNDS MATERIAL

Three and one-half solid cars Tobacco Flue Iron for this season's trade. I will make my flues this season in the Center Brick Warehouse, where I will be glad to fill orders from my old and new friends, the fourth consecutive season.

The demand will be heavy this season and to avoid delay and confusion, I advise all those who are reasonably sure of needing flues to place their orders early, and get their flues before the beginning of curing season.
