ROOSEVELT FORGES LOOSING STRENGTH

California Contest is Further Postponed Taft Victory

TEDDY IS GOING TO CHICAGO

Several Friends of the Colonel Believe Roosevelt Will be on Hand Before the Convention

CHICAGO, June 10.—Postponement of the hearing of the contest in the fourth California district this morning brought to high intensity the heated conflict between the Taft and Roosevelt factions in the Republican national committee.

The vote of 38 to 13 by which the postponement was effected, on motion of Senator Crane of Massachusetts, drew beyond any possible doubt the lines between the factions.

The Indiana cases now before the committee have been looked upon as the first real test of strength in the committee. With former Vice President Fairbanks heading the Taft delegation at large and former Senator Beveridge, the leader of the Roosevelt delegation, the fight took on more general interest than any of the other contests.

In the contested Indiana Taft delegation were National Committeeman Harry S. New, chairman of the national convention arrangements committee; while former Senator James A. Henneberry was one of the first contested Taft delegates in the first congressional district.

The Indiana delegates at large thus confirmed on the temporary roll of the convention are Col. Harry S. New and former Vice-President Charles Fairbanks, of Indianapolis, for Representative James E. Watson, of Rushville, and Jos. D. Oliver of South Bend. The defeated contestants are former senator A. J. Beveridge of Indianapolis, E. M. Lee of Lawrenceburg, former representative Fred Landis of Logansport and Charles H. Campbell of Shelbyville.

The Indiana contests involved 12 delegates, the four at large and two each in the First, Third, Fourth and Thirteenth Congressional districts.

BOOK-MAKERS' ODDS ON CONVENTION CHOICES.

Following are the odds offered by members of the Metropolitan Turf Association that these combinations will not be named as Presidential candidates. The list is interesting because it shows the official bookmakers' chances, and the bookmakers have no politics.

- To head the two tickets 6 to 1—Roosevelt and Clark. 8 to 1—Roosevelt and Wilson. 10 to 1—Roosevelt and Harmon. 20 to 1—Roosevelt and Underwood. 25 to 1—Roosevelt and the field. 6 to 1—Taft and Bryan. 8 to 1—Taft and Clark. 8 to 1—Taft and Wilson. 15 to 1—Taft and Harmon. 15 to 1—Taft and Gaynor. 25 to 1—Taft and Underwood. 8 to 1—Hughes and Bryan. 12 to 1—Hughes and Clark. 12 to 1—Hughes and Wilson. 20 to 1—Hughes and Harmon. 30 to 1—Hughes and Underwood. 30 to 1—Hughes and the field. 7 to 1—The field and any of the above-named. 10 to 1—Any of above-named and the field.

Plant in Fine Condition.

Superintendent H. L. Allen did not have to cut off the water Sunday as was announced might be the case, while having the receiving and filtering basins overhauled and cleaned. The hands engaged at this worked 33 hours without a break, except to eat and this helped to avoid cutting off the water. The water plant is now in fine condition.

The President of the United States On the Stump In New Jersey

WITH the spectacular tours of New Jersey made by the three principal candidates for the Republican presidential nomination the climax of the pre-election primary campaign was reached. President Taft, like his two competitors, covered the state. Before he became president he was not a particularly effective public speaker, but during his four years of office he has become accustomed to the platform, his voice has grown stronger, and he has now the air of a seasoned campaigner. The photograph here reproduced shows him driving a point home by a characteristic gesture.

DELEGATES TAKING CHICAGO BY STORM

Arrangements Completed For Big Event

Senator Borah, of Idaho, Warm Supporter of Roosevelt Denies Report That Colonel Will Bolt.

CHICAGO, June 11.—The stage setting for the Republican National convention was completed today with the opening of LaFollette and Cummins headquarters at hotels. Cummins' headquarters was established in the same hotel that houses the Taft and the Roosevelt workers. The LaFollette headquarters opened by Alfred T. Rogers, national committeeman from Wisconsin, it situated six blocks from the others.

The managers of the several headquarters together with their advisers and assistants, tonight completed plans for the reception of delegates who are expected to begin arriving here tomorrow. Special committees to handle the delegates have been named and will be on duty from this time until the close of the convention.

A direct appeal will be made to each individual delegate by the campaign manager of each candidate for the nomination, despite instructions or pledges. No possible vote in the convention will be overlooked and any indication among the delegates shifting sentiment will precipitate a lively scramble among the managers.

A number of prominent Roosevelt leaders today declared reports of a possible bolt by the Roosevelt delegates, in case the president's friends succeeded in nominating Taft, were without foundation.

No Need to Instruct

While North Carolina did not intrust her delegation she endorsed Mr. Wilson and elected delegates who are favorable to his candidacy so we do not fail to see the difference.—New Bern Sun.

WOOLEN MILLS ARE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Snow Camp Mill Eaten Up By the Flames

South Alamance County Mill Completely Ruined, Loss Reaching $50,000 with Little Insurance.

GREENSBORO, June 10.—A long distance phone message from Burlington states that the plant of the Snow Camp Woolen Mills, located in South Alamance county, was totally destroyed by fire shortly after midnight. The loss is estimated at from $40,000 to $50,000, though it is said that this estimate is based on meagre information as to the value of equipment and stock on hand. The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

The mill manufactured woolen blankets and had a contract to furnish material for uniforms for convicts in this and other states. It is owned by a stock company.

The mill is located outside of Burlington and the only fire protection is that afforded by the mill's employees. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the mill is completely destroyed, the flames having gained a great headway before the fire was discovered.

CUBAN REBELS ATTACK A FORCE OF AMERICAN MARINES AT SANTIAGO

When Rip Van W. Comes to His Own Town

An acute case of asphasia took complete possession of one Greenville's citizens the other night. The gentleman who later did the Rip Van Winkle stunt had been gone a very long time. At least a couple of days. He had traveled far. The wanderlust had taken hold of him by his coat-tail and before he could catch his breath that treacherous Norfolk Southern had taken him to Raleigh. Pretty soon he yearned for the old home and the folks therein. Back in the "choo-choo" rollers of the N. S. The train backed its way into the slumbering burg a little after one o'clock a. m. Our friend got off and wondered, "Was he really in Greenville?". Of course he was! There was policeman Clark holding up the law and besides he had it on the conductor's word. He was in Greenville once more.

What changes our good town underwent in a couple of days must be gathered from the fact that the prodigal meant to go home direct, but could not. He suddenly found himself utterly lost in the wildest wilds of Forbes town.

Of course we prosper! If you don't believe it ask Mr. John Andrews.

Arrest Alleged Negro Murderer in Elizabeth City

ROCKY MOUNT, June 10.—After remaining at large for the past 17 years, Tom McKannon, a negro now 56 years of age and the alleged murderer of a prominent white farmer of South Carolina, was arrested Saturday night on the farm of W. C. Daughtridge, about three miles from this city in Edgecombe county, and is now in the city lockup awaiting the arrival of an officer from Bennettsville. The murdered man was Bill Brickman, a prominent farmer of his section and the murder caused much excitement in that section at the time. The negro was a wage employe on Mr. Brickman's farm and states as his reason for the murder numerous beatings inflicted upon him by Mr. Brickman. He bears a scar on his head now which he states was inflicted with a knife in the hands of Mr. Brickman.

FIEND MURDERER SLAYS FAMILY

Prominent Louisiana Family Put to Death With an Axe

TWO GUESTS ARE ALSO KILLED

The Eight Victims Were Slain in Bed. Neighing of a Horse Gives Alarm. Discovery Follows

VILLISCA, La., June 10.—Joseph Moore, a prominent Villisca business man, his wife and four children and two women supposed to be relatives of the Moores, were found murdered this morning in the Moore home.

Their heads had been mashed and an axe covered with blood and hair was found. All were murdered in their beds. There is no definite clue to the murderer, although search is being made, it is said, for one person suspected by the authorities.

No robbery was committed and it seems that only a desire for revenge could have prompted the murder unless the work was done by a madman.

The dead are:

Joseph Moore and wife; Herman Moore, 11 years old; Catherine Moore, 9 years old; Boyd Moore, 7 years old; Paul Moore, 6 years old; Miss Edith Spillinger, 20 years old; Miss Blanche Spillinger, 18 years old.

Owing to the terrible mutilation, the identity of the two young women could not at first be established. They were believed to be Mrs. Van Gilder and her daughter, relatives of the Moores.

Later they were positively identified as the Spillinger sisters, daughters of a wealthy farmer living a few miles from Villisca, who had been in attendance at a church entertainment here last night.

Horses neighing in the barn at the Moore home caused a woman neighbor to notice that no member of the family appeared to be up. After failing to effect an entrance to the house, the city marshal was summoned, and the doors forced.

Moore and his wife were the first to be discovered. They were lying in their bed in a front room. Then came the finding of the bodies of the two guests and later those of the children in a third room.

HEAVY RAINS IN SOUTHERN FLORIDA

Cause A Loss of Half Million Dollars

TAMPA, Fla., June 10.—South Florida has suffered half a million dollars loss from torrential rains within the past ten days. Not since the establishment of the local weather bureau has such precipitation been recorded. Rainfall for the first nine days of June was 7.65 inches. The heaviest previous record was 6.22 in 1890.

Thousands of acres of land usually considered high land are under water and all of the island lakes have risen to such a stage that crops are suffering and many bridges have been washed away.

In many sections of the state railway traffic is threatened and trolley car service has already been impaired in the Pineallas peninsula.

Illinois Druggists at Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 11.—What promises to be not only the biggest but also the best and most successful State meeting of the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association ever held opened here today for a three days' session. At the opening session the members were welcomed by Governor Dineen and Mayor Schnepf, while Mrs. Dineen received the visiting ladies. Many important business matters are to be gathered at this gathering.

may be used as a dispatch boat, it is ported.

Threats of resignation by President Gomez as a result of the sending of American warships to the island are rumored among the Cubans here.

Rebels Burn Canefields.

Santiago, June 10.—A force of insurgents last night burned some cane-fields on the sugar plantations of Hattillo.

A detachment of volunteers was attacked by insurgents last night three miles from Santiago. Several of the rebels are reported to have been wounded.

Admiral Osterhaus Sails Hastily For Havana

Washington, June 10.—With Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, on board, the flagship Washington hauled up her anchor this morning and steamed at full speed for the Cuban capital, the battleship Rhode Island following a few minutes later. The ships put to sea at 5 o'clock under sealed orders, their destination not being known at Key West when they passed out of the harbor.

The cruiser Washington and the battleship Rhode Island which steamed out from Key West under orders sent from Washington late last night, made the run across the Straits of Florida to the Cuban capital in about six hours.

Each of these ships, in addition to her regular complement of 65 marines carries an extra complement of 125 including officers. They would only be landed in the Cuban capital, of course, in a case of dire emergency, in which event the bluejackets of both ships also would be available.

The gravity with which this government regards the situation is indicated by the fact that Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commander of the Atlantic fleet, is aboard his flagship, the Washington, to observe conditions in Havana first hand. The remainder of the third division of the fleet remains at Key West and can join the flagship in a few hours.

The mine planter San Francisco leaves Annapolis today with a complement of midshipmen aboard and will join the ships at Key West. The first division of the Atlantic fleet, the Massachusetts, Utah, North Dakota, Florida and Delaware, also leave Annapolis today with midshipmen aboard.

While their destination is now Cape Cod, there is no assurance that the Navy Department may not order these ships to join those near Cuba at any moment.

Speaker of Cuban House to Confer With Knox.

Speaker Ferrera, of the Cuban House of Representatives and one of the first lieutenants of President Gomez, will have a conference today with Secretary Knox, at which the situation will be thoroughly canvassed. The speaker is non-communicative about his mission. It has been reported that his visit is in connection with a loan for the Cuban government's use in putting down the insurrection.

In government circles here the developments on the island and the Cuban speaker's conference with Secretary Knox, and perhaps with President Taft, are being watched with great interest. It seems that the events of this week probably will decide if the military force of 5,000 men now waiting to move on Cuba will be ordered on.

Hall is a native of Missouri and was graduated from West Point in 1868. Until the beginning of the war with Spain he served almost wholly on frontier duty. Brief News of Our Native State Items Concerning Those we Know Within Our Bounds.

Time-Limit Less Than 20 Days Off But No One Has Been Announced

DURHAM.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Democratic primary is little more than a month off, and the time of declaring candidates ten days less than that, not a single man in the county has yet announced his intention of running. So much of the attention of the various politicians has been taken up with the national contest that they have devoted little time to local affairs. All of the county officials will run again, it is said and so far as it now known there will be no opposition. However, it is said that the woods will be full of candidates for county commissioners.

The only positive announcement for the coming campaign is that of G. W. Bramham, who announces that he will not be a candidate on the Republican ticket for one of the legislative seats.

Judge J. S. Manning, manager for the senatorial campaign for W. W. Kitchin in this county, has announced that the governor will speak here next Monday.

Still Arguing Hawkins Case.

HENDERSONVILLE.—Attorneys Shipman and McCall, both for the defense, occupied the whole day in the Myrtle Hawkins trial at Hendersonville today. Mr. Shipman spent his time questioning the veracity of the state's witnesses and declaring that several of them had contradicted themselves on the stand. He said that Bob Waddell, star witness for the state, had sworn to one state of facts before the coroner's jury and to another when placed on the stand. Mr. McCall's argument was along the same lines. Attorney Thomas Settle, for the defense and Solicitor A. Hall Johnson for the state, remain to be heard.

Alleged Murderer Caught.

SANFORD.—Sheriff C. C. Petty received information yesterday that Ed Womack, a negro who shot and killed Fred McIver, also a negro in his Womack's restaurant in the town of Sanford in April, 1910, had been captured by a detective in Baltimore, Md. Sheriff Petty left for Baltimore today and will stop in Raleigh for requisition papers. Womack made his escape after killing McIver and no information as to his whereabouts had been gotten until Sheriff Petty learned that he was in Baltimore and through the aid of a detective they succeeded in landing him. Womack will be tried at the July term of the Lee superior court.

Rev. J. T. Riddick Attacked Just After Service at Roxboro.

ROXBORO.—Rev. J. T. Riddick, of the Second Baptist church at Durham, who has been assisting the pastor, Rev. D. F. Putnam, of the Baptist church here in a series of meetings for the past week, was taken quite ill yesterday just after the morning service. He is resting easy this evening and will be taken home to-night and it is hoped that he will soon recover from the attack. There is much regret here because of Mr. Riddick's illness. The church and community has been greatly awakened and quickened through the influence of the strong and forceful messages which he has been delivering. He had reached the point in the work where it was thought that the greatest results would be accomplished and it is a great blow that he can not complete the work which he and the pastor had planned.

News of the Nation's Capital

Special correspondence of the Reflector.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Before this letter is read the people of the country probably will know whether the Republican convention at Chicago will be controlled by the Republican elephant or the Teddy bear. You can wager your last dollar that Roosevelt is going to make one red hot fight to capture that nomination, and although he says he is not going to Chicago it is a safe bet that he will be on the ground directing his own cohorts and instilling into them some of his own pugnacious qualities as a political scrapper.

It is the general belief here that there will be no dark horse at Chicago and that the National Committee will ride rough shod over nearly every Roosevelt contest and give those delegates to Taft. If they do and Taft can hold his southern delegation, it means Taft's nomination on the first ballot because if it ever goes beyond the first ballot Mr Taft is gone fawn skin. That will be the cue for the bolt of the Roosevelt delegates and a rump convention that will nominate Roosevelt and pass a set of resolutions that will set forth a cry of fraud which will give them the occasion and the excuse for splitting the Republican party and handing the election over to the Democrats. The Democrats are very complacent over the situation and it makes no difference whether Taft or Roosevelt is nominated it spells disaster and defeat for the Republican party. If the Roosevelt following should bulldoze or cajole enough Republican delegates to take the nomination away from Taft there will be no bolt on the part of the Taft delegates but a sullen desire and intention on their part to go home and stick a knife between the fifth rib of Mr Roosevelt on election day next November.

There are two million German Republicans in the United States who will absolutely refuse to support any man for a third term and who will either vote the Democratic ticket or stay at home. Beside these there are a million business men who will do the same thing.

If Mr Roosevelt should be nominated by the regular Republican convention, he will be the worst licked man for President next November since Horace Greeley in 1872. This is the intention of the Old Line Republicans who do not intend to turn over the party to the montebank Roosevelt and his following of populistic Republicans.

His London to Brighton Coach

COACHING still has a strong hold upon "smart" society in England as well as in the United States. This spring Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, second son of William K. Vanderbilt, has resumed his regular trips between London and Brighton, a distance of sixty-four miles over splendid English roads. Three relays of horses are used. The coach makes the trip "down" (all places out of London are "down") one day and "up" the next, so that there are three round trips a week, the coach not running on Sunday. The start is made from Trafalgar square, which lies between the fashionable shopping and residential district of the west and the business and financial section to the east. The tours are popular, and the coach is usually well filled.

Maggie saw a magazine displayed amid a long array of fashion journals as she tripped ashopping on a summer day. Upon its cover posed a girl whose figure was a thing of awe; Yet seemed it most desirable—the magazine that Maggie saw.

She read its various fashion hints about new stuffs and styles and such, Then straight she hurried her away to put her in her modiste's clutch And still, as style to stuff they put and stuff to style they tried to mate, She mourned because her curves refused to shape them to the fashion plate!

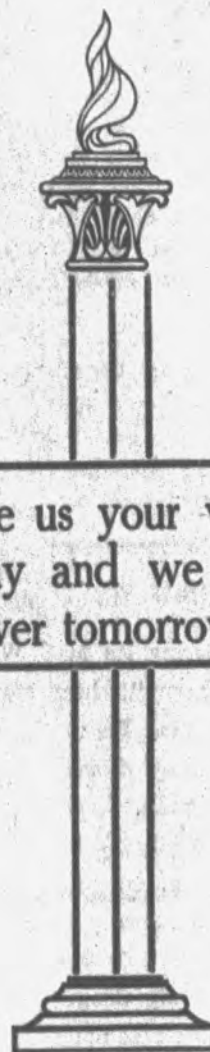

For solace to the tales she turned with which the styles were interspersed; Brave men and maidens fair they lined in clever affection versed. The heroine of each of these—quite artfully the tales were turned—A maid whose fortune was her face to win the which the hero yearned.

GREENVILLE IS GROWING.

Perhaps at no time during its history has the growth of Greenville been as apparent as it is now. The Proctor Hotel contract will be awarded some time at the end of the month. Construction we are told, will begin immediately. Mr. Small, some days ago again told us that the Post Office building will be in the course of construction early in 1913. The big Cooperage plant is rapidly nearing completion, which means that many hands will be employed there in a very short while. There has already been some talk for the next County Fair, and in fact everything points to a nearing season of prosperity that speaks very well indeed for the people of Greenville and Pitt county.

Naturally the activity is contagious and "we got it." It is quite true that the idea of a larger and better Reflector has been in our minds for quite some time. At intervals we have spoken of it with a longing that almost equaled the longing for the kind of pies that mother used to make. In other words a "far away kind of longing." At all times however we have been hopeful. Hopeful that the necessary support to take the plunge into the eight page a day paper sea, would be forthcoming, and that hope, with a little faith on the side, (faith in our local merchants) has finally led us up to the imaginary aisle of happiness that is with all newspaper men that see their publication appreciated to the extent of suggesting the advisability of an extension.

Today we present our first regular 8-page daily; and of course we feel a little nervous. The villain may be around the corner laying back for innocent enough mistakes, but we promise to be on time when the rescue scene comes up for attention.

In the meantime we want to tell our appreciation of all those that have made our change possible, local merchants especially. We need them, just as much as they need us, and glory to the powers that be, we have come together. What business has put together, let no visionary rate-cutter tear asunder.

ARTHUR BRISBANE.

We have already introduced Mr. Brisbane to our readers. From time to time we have re-printed some of his masterful editorials with his kind permission. We will not attempt to tell our readers what claims Mr. Brisbane has to the editorial crown. We will simply reprint daily some of his work, a course which we believe to be the fittest appreciation of his efforts to uplift that part of humanity that believes in education through the daily press. Along this line we do not believe Mr. Brisbane has a peer. Therefore our pride in being able to give our readers the best "food for thought" that finds its way into a linotype room.

OTHER NEW FEATURES.

Among several other features which we have introduced with this issue, we want to call the attention of our readers to the Side-walk sketches from the pen of Humorist H. L. Rann. These sketches are veritable gems of refined, yet dry humor. They deal with matters of interest; are up-to-date and their comical value never fluctuates.

Lack of space has not permitted us before to have a sports department, and we were always sorry that such was the case. With the increase of size the Reflector will have a "sports" department that will be kept up with as much care as will be devoted to any other section of the paper. Baseball results, items about players, news of the boxers, etc., etc., will find their way to the Reflector Sports Department daily.

Other features of minor interest are added with this issue and we trust that our readers will be with us on the belief that they are worthy of their attention.

attention and appreciation.

HIGH WAGES DETRIMENT.

Monday we run up with a contractor out looking for some hands, but he could not find them. At least he could not get men to work, though he found plenty of them doing nothing. And he explained the situation something like this: The present scale of wages paid for labor is a detriment to getting work done and instead of improving conditions it tends to make matters worse. The ordinary day laborer only wants to work enough to get along on and when he can make enough in two or three days to live on a week he will not work only that many days. Instead of laborers taking advantage of the present high wages by putting in a full week's work and getting something ahead, they prefer to loaf half the time and only make enough to live on from hand to mouth. If you do not believe this man sized up the situation correctly, just go out among the crowd standing around doing nothing and try to hire some of them.

It is looking like Taft will get the Republican nomination for president.

Some newspapers are saying the last state convention was packed. We failed to see it that way.

Men sometimes get beaten at their own game and then squeal about it.

It is not worth while to advise being a vegetarian in order to reduce the cost of living. A vegetable dinner in these days cost about as much as any other kind.

Editorial of Human Interest

By Arthur Brisbane

LIFTING UP. Part I.

Man has spent his active hours and years working and accomplishing, and his quiet hours thinking and wondering. Every race has had its plan, its little limited ambition—the race has vanished, and the plan has been forgotten. Always reality outrips ambition. The wild vision of yesterday is the sober reality of today.

The ancient king dreamed only of a feast war chariot, with knives attached to the wheels to cut down the enemy. He little thought of the gatling gun or the flying machine dropping dynamite.

Henry IV. wished for each peasant a boiling pot with a chicken in it. He did not dream of electric stoves, gas, telephones, electric street cars—comfort for everybody such as he, the king, never knew.

Each individual has his little idea. Few are they capable of seeing even dimly the wonders that await the race destined ultimately to guide, develop control and really own this planet. Let us consider the limited plan of one individual who has attracted attention.

Keir Hardie, member of the House of Commons, and member of the British Independent Labor party, has announced the "aim of socialists."

Of course when any Socialist tells you what the "aim of the Socialist" is you know that he is simply telling you what HE thinks as an individual.

Keir Hardie in England, Jules Jaures in France; Victor Berger, Charles E. Russell, Morris Hilquitt William English Walling in America, representing Socialist belief in different ways, would each give you an entirely different "program of Socialists."

And Victor Drury, a real representative of courageous, radical thought, if he cared to emerge from his retirement, would give you a program different from all, because he looks further back, and sees further ahead, than any of those named.

Keir Hardie is not a great Socialist. He is a good LITTLE MAN, and, like all little men who imagine themselves radical, he can think of nothing more desirable than to level things downward.

If he were a monkey he would pull the monkeys from the top branches and say, "let's all live near the ground, like brothers."

If he were a fish he would say "Let's all stay near the shore and none of us go out too deep."

If he were a bird he would say, "Let no bird fly more than fifty feet above the ground. Let's pull down the eagle and make him fly like the goose."

Being a well-meaning, but not well-informed, Socialist he says "We are going to master Parliament, control the state, wipe out class, and make the nation consist of citizens."

Humanity will never "wipe out class." The struggle of human beings has been to create Class—that is to say, to create power, ability, knowledge ABOVE THE AVERAGE. Class simply means that one or a few have stepped further ahead than the others. There is no class among monkeys or among wolves—they are all citizens of monkeydom and wolfdom.

Man has the power of thought, the driving force of ambition; therefore individually, and in groups, men forge ahead, and classes are established.

Without the establishment of classes, and the incentives of vanity, selfishness and the other passions to which we owe our growth, there would have been no progress.

The problem is not, as poor, ignorant Keir Hardie says, "to wipe out class," but to extend classes, and to make ever broader and more universal the privileges enjoyed by a few of the classes.

Once there was in this world a class of OWNERS OF BATHTUBS. This class consisted of Roman emperors, and a few patricians and rich vulgarians. THEY had bathtubs; the others had none.

Keir Hardie would have destroyed the bathtubs, thus eliminating the bathtub class.

But nature and human evolution wiser than Keir Hardie, made the bathtub class BIGGER. It now includes millions—and many Socialists are included among the millions in the bathtub class.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rann.

THE FLY

THE fly is an agile and prolific insect with four feet and one of the most industrious stingers known to sacred or profane history. It is looked upon as a pest and pursued with ceaseless energy by people clad in the filmy robes of night and a wire snickersnee. The fly lives upon bread crumbs, babies and the sensitive apex of the baldheaded man. The average fly will forsake a custard pie or a pineapple ice without a moment's regret in order to turn a few handsprings on a head which is not covered with anything but pure, fresh air. Many a bald-headed man has been roused out of a tuneless siesta by the rude footsteps of some able-bodied fly with no sense of propriety and a ball-bearing punch. We do not now recall a more pathetic sight than that of a bald man trying to spear a large, active fly with a palm leaf fan and profane protests that would burn a hole through an asbestos roof. The fly is the greatest little multiplier now engaged in padding the census returns. He does not live to himself alone, but scatters sunshine and blue-nosed offspring along the pathway of life in the most reckless and prodigal manner. The fly is beset by pitfalls on all sides, ranging from the calloused hand of the hired girl to the poisonous finger bowl. Every year millions of flies walk carefully into the embrace of a sheet of sticky fly-paper, rear agonizingly on their hind feet in an attitude of deep concern, then sink calmly to rest in a gluey grave. The fly does not work at his trade in the winter time, but devotes himself to sharpening his stinger and educating what is left of a happy and united family. The favorite pastime of the fly is to secrete himself in a bed-room on a hot night and walk up and down the face of some belligerent citizen who slaps himself on the verge of the vertigo. People have consigned the fly to the cold and silent tomb in large quantities for 6,000 years, but every spring he bobs up with a fresh crop of relatives and renews his attack upon infuriated man.

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

"The Most Available Democrat."

One of the most significant, and evidently one of the most stirring, of the Democratic State Conventions recently held, was that of North Carolina, which ended Friday morning just in time for breakfast, after an all-night session. Those Tar Heel Democrats were ever a lusty lot. They believe in grappling an issue and holding it until it is settled. That is what they have done in this instance and the result is that Woodrow Wilson has received their overwhelming endorsement for the nomination at Baltimore.

The eight delegates-at-large, each of them representing half a convention vote, will go without formal instructions but six of them are avowed supporters of Wilson and the other two are not unfriendly toward his candidacy. A majority of the district delegates are stanchly in his favor, so that the weight of the North Carolina vote will unquestionably fall to Wilson. His endorsement by the state convention was emphatic. There were 503 votes in favor of the resolution as compared with three hundred and ninety-six against it.

The significance of this action becomes apparent when it is noted that the Underwood interests, allied with the partisans of other candidates, did their utmost to prevent it. Senator Bankhead himself, the campaign manager and chief money-changer of the Underwood cause, left his duties at Washington and came to Raleigh, so important did he consider the consequences of the North Carolina convention.

All the devices that had been employed to defeat Wilson in other parts of the south were centered upon that State. Yet, when the telling moment came, the convention endorsed Gov. Wilson and the majority, if not all, of the state's votes will go to his credit at Baltimore.

The outcome in North Carolina is typical of conditions the country over. The opposition to Governor Wilson has spent its force. The allies are growing steadily weaker, while he is stronger than at any time during the campaign. As the time approaches when a national leader must be chosen Democrats realize that Woodrow Wilson is the one logical man, both from a standpoint of fitness as a candidate and ability as a statesman. Governor Harmon has been virtually eliminated from the contest. Congressman Underwood was never truly in the race. The nomination of Speaker Clark, as more and more Democrats are coming to realize, would predestine the party to defeat. Woodrow Wilson looms larger each day as a leader on whom all Democrats and all Americans desiring a freer and a better government can unite.—Atlanta Journal.

What May We Expect.

The Real Test

Senator Lorimer has again been implored to resign and save his friends from the humiliation of voting against him after having voted for him on his former trial. It is said that Senator Simmons is one among the number who will vote to unseat him this time. If the half of what has been said about Lorimer is true, he will stick and be kicked out. If he is the saint his friends say he is he will resign and save the men who have stood by him as long as they could.—Greensboro Record.

The Political Mix-Up The probability of Colonel Roosevelt's nomination in Chicago has already commenced to have its effect in Democratic ranks.

If that should prove the correct theory, the party would be in grave trouble, for Mr. Hearst's independence league in New York is still capable of doing mischief.

The World chose a most inopportune time to spring its support of Wilson. Instead of giving momentum to his candidacy, it has succeeded merely in encouraging combinations.

The period for political maneuvering has arrived. Most all the delegates have been chosen and the leaders of the several candidates are striving for convention advantage.

Not President Yet.

Just hold your lips firm, brethren of sanity, Theodore Roosevelt lacks a whole lot being president yet. There are all sorts of presidents we could cite to show that the colonel, though he seems to be swimming along nicely now, will have the rudest awakening of his life, even if he should be nominated.—Montgomery Advertiser.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by the Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui.

The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Try it.

Barrels and Barrels.

The only democratic candidate with no barrel, apparently is Woodrow Wilson. He could have had one had he given the word in the famous three-cornered conference. He could have had another if he had been unfaithful to Senator Marine and had agreed for "Boss" Smith to go into the senate. Where Wilson funds might have come from and didn't does not take any speculation to discover.

Where some of the other funds which have been disbursed in the interest of other candidates come from is not so easily settled. That the dirty interests which ought to be legislated against are taking this method of influencing the campaign is, however, apparent.—Chattanooga News.
