DEMOCRACYS' OLD WAR HORSE RECEIVES OVATION IN CHICAGO

William Jennings Bryan Eclipses All Shining Lights At Windy City.
 Wanted to Have A Look At Steam
 Roller

REPUBLICANS JOIN IN DEMONSTRATION FOR COMONER

CHICAGO, June 16.—William J. Bryan was a center of attraction in the pre-convention scene today and though appearing at the headquarters of leaders of an rival party as a newspaper reporter, was given a demonstration by the throng of visitors and delegates.

Mr. Bryan had a personal chat with Theodore Roosevelt late in the day after he had interviewed Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt campaign director, and managing director McKinley, of the Taft bureau.

As he entered the hotel lobby elbowing his way through the crowd some one shouted "Hurrah for Bryan," and the Nebraskan was given a demonstrative welcome. He was cheered for several minutes and continuous cries of speech! speech! came from all parts of the lobby. Mr. Bryan waved his hand to the crowd and remarked to those near him that he had come merely as a newspaper reporter, and not seeking nomination from a Republican convention.

"I came to see your steam roller," said Mr. Bryan, as he shook hands with Congressman McKinley. "is it anywhere in sight?"

"No, we have laid it aside," said Mr. McKinley "but would be glad to lend it to you if you would like to have it at Baltimore."

"Oh, no, we Democrats don't need it, we are going to hold a model convention," Mr. Bryan laughingly responded.

where I stand. There are other good fighters at Chicago, but there can be none more valiant, none more faithful and loyal than the army of Iowa soldiers."

Final Work on Contests.
 Chicago, June 15.—Review of Republican national committee hearings:
 Total number of contests heard 254.
 Taft delegates seated 235.
 Roosevelt delegates seated 19.
 Today's results:
 For Taft, Texas delegates at large, 8; first, second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and fourteenth districts, 18; total 26.
 Virginia delegates at large 4; first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth and tenth districts, 16; total 20.
 Washington delegates at large, 8; first, second, and third districts 6; total 14.
 District of Columbia 2.
 For Roosevelt:
 Texas, third and fifteenth district 4.
 North Carolina, fourth district 2.
 Total for Taft today, 62.
 Total for Roosevelt today 6.

Delegates are Arriving.

Headed by Dynamite Ed Perry, its chairman, the Oklahoma delegation arrived today. More than 600 are in the party and the first arrivals headed by a brass band marched through the streets to their hotel, waving T. Roosevelt banners, and singing the Roosevelt houn dawg song.

The New Jersey delegation also, paraded behind a band when it arrived. It swung down the streets singing: "Rah, rah, rah, who are we? We are the delegates from New Jersey are we in it? Just you wait Till we give Teddy 28 straight."

The delegation came into town already organized.

Virginia's delegation arrived late in the afternoon and will caucus tomorrow.

The rival delegations from Massachusetts both came in today and opened headquarters in the same hotel.

Roosevelt delegates tated tonight that there would be no change in the complexion of the Massachusetts delegation as to the support of the rival candidates.

Eighteen for Each.
 There will be 18 firm for Roosevelt and 18 firm for Taft, said Charles L. Baxter, of the Roosevelt delegation.

Governor Bass of New Hampshire a supporter of Roosevelt, accompanied the Taft delegation from that state.

The Connecticut Taft delegation of 14 arrived, bringing with them nearly 100 enthusiasts, including the alternates, Republican state leaders and visitors to the convention.

The Nevada delegation, with its six delegates instructed for Taft, arrived today.

In addition to the LaFollette forces was the North Dakota delegation, a solid ten votes, they say, for LaFollette from the first to the last ballot.

Cammins Thanks Supporters.
 Iowa delegates assembled in their headquarters here today, and cheered a telegram from their candidate for the Republican nomination for President, Senator Albert B. Cummins, ex-The telegram directed to Senator Kenyon was as follows:
 "I deeply appreciate the efforts for me at Chicago and want you to express my profound gratitude. I have been in a continuous struggle for progressive principles for many years and know you will hold the colors high, so that no man can mistake me

How Our Little Brown Brothers Amuse Sightseers In London

LONDONERS have been enjoying at the Earl's court exhibition the sights presented by a band of Igorrotes, aborigines of the mountain districts of the island of Luzon, in the Philippines. The members of this primitive people have been transplanted temporarily to the big open air show place of London, where they carry on their village industries after the fashion made familiar to Americans in various "midways" of expositions in this country. One of the most striking "stunts" which these savages perform is that of tree climbing, in which they are nearly as proficient as monkeys. The accompanying photograph is of an Igorrote ascending to one of the tree houses common in his native country.

TEDDY'S FRIENDS FEEL BETTER

Steam Roller At Rest After Heavy Campaign

Stampede Towards Roosevelt Has Started With Both Candidates' Uncertain of a Majority.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 16.—A spirit of optimism much more pronounced than has yet been observable tonight pervades the Roosevelt ranks. Last night Boss Barnes felt confident he had beat Woodruff back permanently into the Taft ranks. Today little Tim took his formal departure from the Taft reservation and there is little doubt this will give Roosevelt even without further defections more than 20 votes from the Empire state. This with several desertions from the Taft southern contingent—flee from Georgia—make it a Roosevelt day.

The atmosphere is tense tonight and one expects to encounter dynamite and gun cotton at every turn. On the surface of the conclusion is fully warranted that the much discussed Roosevelt stampede has already been set in motion. From the Taft camp, however, comes the confident assertion that there will be reprisals and that certain delegates from Illinois, Maryland and probably other states will turn to Taft if the southern delegates in any considerable number do violence to their instructions.

One Relief Department Put to Sleep

The question of the validity of the so-called "Relief Department" of the Atlantic Coast Lin Railroad, in this state, has been a burning one with the railroad employees who have been contending that it was created for their own relief by the railroad and was a practical denial to them of the benefits of the statute known as the "Fellow Servant Law". In a late case King vs Railroad, in the supreme court of this state, Chief Justice Clark in an earnest dissenting opinion took that view and held that the Relief Department was invalid.

FIERCE WINDSTORM VISITS OHIO

Minister Among Many Killed By Cyclone

Many People Dead and Property Destroyed by Severest Windstorm Felt in Buckeye State in Years.

ZANESVILLE, O., June 16.—There were killed and a score or more injured early today when a cyclone struck here, toppling the steeple of St. Thomas Catholic church through the roof while services were being held. The Rev. F. R. Rouch was struck and killed while administering the last sacraments as 500 of the congregation were fleeing.

Thomas Skinion's head was crushed by falling stone and he was instantly killed.

John F. Dixon, crushed, died two hours later in a hospital.

Father Roach met death while administering the last sacraments to Skinion after the priest had directed the panic stricken worshippers to leave by a rear door their lives being imperiled by falling walls in front.

The storm cut a path about a block wide through town. It lost its force apparently after traveling 20 miles east of here and toppling over numerous barns. No lives were lost outside of the city, it is believed.

More than 500 houses were badly damaged and 50 families were rendered homeless.

The United States Supreme court, in an opinion filed on May thirteen in the case of Schubert vs Railroad has taken the same view and has held that the Relief Department is in derogation of the statute and that benefits received under it can not be pleaded as a defense to any action by an employee for injuries sustained.

This decision is one that is particularly gratifying to the railroad employees who have strenuously fought the features of the Relief Department proposition in which their right to bring suit for damage for injuries sustained were denied. The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Clark has been sustained by the United States supreme court, which declares that the relief department is invalid.

PAY BROTHER PAY IN BALTIMORE

High Cost of Living Gets A Boost

FIVE DAYS OF RIOTOUS LIVING

Lodging, Be it of The First, Second or Third Class Will Cost at The Rate of $20 Per Day.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 16.—North Carolinians who anticipate attending the Democratic convention here which convenes a week from Tuesday need not expect to get "Baltimore rates" for hotel accommodations at least. The man who expects to get away with less than $30 a day is going to be disappointed. If you are coming to the convention you must make a contract for five days beginning next Sunday. You will be expected to pay for these five days just sixtimes as much as the usual rates charged in this beautiful city of Baltimore. That they are beyond the reach of the average man will not be doubted after reading the following table:

The rates for lodging are about as follows:

First class hotels $20 a day.
 Second class hotels, $20 a day.
 Third class hotels, $20 a day.
 First class lodging houses, $20 a day.
 Other lodging houses $20 a day.
 In the arks $20 and costs.
 In the taxicabs $5 for the first half hour, and $5 for each hour thereafter.
 In Chesapeake Bay steamer—$20 per stateroom on the half shell.
 On the fleet of United States battleships which will salute conventions—free, but reservations made for Republicans only.
 Salvation Army barracks overcrowded now.

The above figures include bed rent only. Gas, bell boy service, towels, sheets, pillow cases, toothpicks, porters, sheybogan water and Scotch whiskey will be extra—also food.

Mr. Hotchkiss and his associates took pains to make it clear that they had come here without the knowledge of Justice Hughes.

"I did not come to Chicago as an opponent to Colonel Roosevelt when, as an exponent of progressive principles, I shall support should he be nominated," said Mr. Hotchkiss.

PERTH AMBOY STRIKE NEAR END

Officials of Smelting Company Sure of Victory

BACKBONE OF STRIKE BROKEN

Strikers, 5000 Strong are Slowly Returning to Their Mills. Three Men Were Killed, Many Wounded.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., June 16.—Officers of the American Smelting and Refining company declared early tonight that the backbone of the strike at their plant had been broken. About 1,500 men have been out at this plant, around which the strike trouble of the last week centered. Nearly 5,000 men and women in all are on strike. Three men have been killed and a score or more injured during riotous demonstrations.

The prediction of American Smelting and Refining Company representatives that the end is in sight followed a conference between H. H. Alexander, general manager of the company and Willard F. Morse, a director, with a committee of the strikers. Terms were then proposed which the strikers declared probably would be acceptable.

Adjutant General Sadler, of the national guard, representing Governor Wilson immediately reported the situation to the governor and apparently satisfied that there would be no more rioting left for his home in Trenton.

The terms proposed by the American Smelting officials were not announced. The strikers asked approximately 25 cents a day more. The officers said they had offered a substantial increase and that the strike committee went away satisfied after promising to report the company's offer to the strikers tonight. The strikers were given until noon tomorrow to come to terms.

The 900 striking employees of the Barber Asphalt company will return to work tomorrow at the same wages they received when they quit. Their's was a sympathetic strike.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—An eastward storm now over the Great Lakes and another disturbance in the north-west about Thursday were announced in the weather bureau's week-ahead forecast tonight. The prediction was for showers in the east and south the first part of the week with rising pressure and cooler weather until the latter part of the week in the middle west and the eastern states and fair the next several days over the middle west and far west.

The next disturbance from the north west prevailing over the middle west, at the close of the week were attended by local showers and thunder storms and preceded by a general rise in temperature.

MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH Makes Much Improvement to Building.

The congregation of Memorial Baptist church is very happy over the possession of a splendid pipe organ and many people were out Sunday to hear it in the first public service. All were delighted with the sweetness and volume of its tone. But the purchase of a pipe organ does not cover all the progressive steps this church has recently made. A short while ago the church purchased an individual communion service to be used in celebrating the Lord's supper. And in preparing to install the pipe organ it was necessary to change the baptismal pool and a new one was built on the north side of the pulpit which commands a good view from the auditorium.

The church has also placed an order for art windows for all of the building except the basement and these are expected in a few weeks.

New concrete steps with wide landings have also been built at both the front entrances of the church.

2,000,000 CHILDREN AT WORK IN THE UNITED STATES.

1 in 7 of all children 10 to 14 are not in school.

There are more than 6,000,000 illiterates in the United States and one in seven of all children between 10 and 14 are not in school, according to the Child Labor Bulletin, a new quarterly review issued today by the National Child Labor Committee. 29 states do not care whether children can ever read and write when they permit them to go to work, and "there are a million children today under the age of 16 years who are employed in the various industries of the country, in addition to another million in agriculture, only a part of whom are assisting their parents on the farm."

The first number of the Bulletin is devoted to child labor and education, the subject of the Eighth Annual Conference on Child Labor, held in Louisville, but incidentally shows how far the United States has progressed since the first child labor law was passed in Massachusetts in 1876. 39 states have passed child labor laws since the organization of the National Child Labor Committee in 1904. The fourteenth birthday is now the lowest limit for work in the northern states, with the exception of New Hampshire and in four southern states: Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana and Virginia. What is involved in the absence of adequate restriction is vividly expressed by P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education. "In the Carolinas I have seen children under ten years of age working their lives away in the mills. Their pale faces haunt me still. I saw little boys eight years old drinking black coffee at midnight to keep awake until the end of their shift at four or five o'clock next morning. Then they went out of the hot, steaming, noisy mill into the cold air of the morning to their homes probably for a little fitful sleep and a drowsy, joyless day, only to come back at night and grind again through the long, dark hours."

"In four states: Ohio, Oklahoma, Illinois and Michigan," Florence Kelley says, "there is now provision made to lift the burden upon the widowed mother by giving her, as her right and not as the dote of a private charity, an allowance out of public finances on condition that she stay at home and keep her children at home and in school as the state requires." As Jean Gordon of New Orleans puts it on another page: "Certainly the mother does as much for the country in rearing her children as the veterans did in killing her sons."

Occupations dangerous to health or morals are singled out by some few states and forbidden to minors under sixteen or eighteen or twenty-one, as for example the night-messenger service is now regulated by special laws in New York and nine other states. Having noted progress the Bulletin offers the following indictment of the child labor system, namely, that "child labor means radical degeneracy, the perpetuation of poverty, the enlargement of illiteracy, the disintegration of the family, the increase of crime, the lowering of the wage scale and the swelling of the army of the unemployed."

The National Child Labor Committee says it intends to issue the Bulletin regularly because of the splendid results already secured through pamphlets. Other numbers will be devoted to one or another phase of the child labor problem and will keep subscribers in touch with the progress of the fight against child labor and with the result of investigations.

The Reflector makes its best bow to some of the brethren of the press for the nice things they have been saying about its enlargement to eight pages.

Adolph Frederick of Mecklenburg-Strelitz

Grand Duke Adolph of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, whom rumor says has been selected as the future husband of Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of the German Emperor and Empress, was born June 17, 1882. He is the eldest son of the reigning Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz and a brother of Princess Militta of Montenegro. The reigning house of Mecklenburg-Strelitz was founded more than two centuries ago by Adolph Frederick, the second youngest son of Duke Adolph Frederick I of Mecklenburg. The duchy is one of the smallest of the German empire, but at the same time it is considered a very important factor of imperial unity. When Adolph Frederick comes to the throne he will be one of the wealthiest of the German sovereigns, as he will be the overlord of more than half of the land in his duchy.

Editorial of Human Interest

By Arthur Brisbane

IF YOU HAD NINE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS—WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

PART I. Are You Sure That You Would Do Better Than Rockefeller With His Nine Hundred Millions?

We spend too much time in this country criticising others and too little time in analyzing and criticising ourselves.

The other day a government investigation enabled financial sharps to unearth the sad fact that John D. Rockefeller is worth only about nine hundred millions of dollars. This is disappointing after spending years in the belief that he has one thousand millions. Perhaps he has been a saving man and has saved up the other hundred millions out of his income, and perhaps he really has the billion that public imaginations gave him.

However that may be, many citizens are ready to criticise Rockefeller and to tell, without hesitating, what they would do if they had nine hundred millions.

They say they would abolish poverty—forgetting that nine hundred millions would only buy one ten-dollar suit of clothes for each person in our country. They would take care of the old and feeble and free age from anxiety—forgetting that Rockefeller's income would not pay the annual tobacco bill of the aged.

They say that they would give children in public school good and sufficient food and give pure milk to babies—forgetting that Rockefellers, Vanderbilts, Astors and Morgans combined have not money enough for such a task; forgetting that the only thing that can help all the people is the combined wealth and intelligence of all the people.

We are brilliant and ready in our criticising of others. Every veteran in the old soldiers' home can describe Napoleon's mistakes at Waterloo. Few are equal to Napoleon.

What would you do if you had nine hundred millions? The question is worth thought—for all thought is useful and thinking what would you do helps you to shape your efforts in the things that you can do.

After you have thought the matter over and planned out just what you would do, if you were Rockefeller, ask yourself why you don't do now on a small scale the things that you think you would do.

Do you say that with nine hundred millions you would provide for a million of poor children. Why not provide for one now, without waiting for the nine hundred millions.

Do you think you would enjoy making the life of an old father or mother? Why not do that very thing now? You can do that, without nine hundred million dollars or nine hundred cents.

What fathers and mothers want is to see their sons and daughters doing their best. You need not take your mother out in a snorting ninety horsepower machine with six cylinders, a proud chauffeur and a cloud of dust to make her happy. Take her through the country on a trolley and make her feel that you would rather be with her than with any other human being and she will be just as happy as though you gave her half of nine hundred dollars—and happier.

If each man would think of the things that he would do with nine hundred millions and then do the one-millionth part of the work without waiting, this would be a very fine world.

Each of us, merely as a working machine, is worth at least nine hundred dollars and would sell for that at public auction. Nine hundred dollars is one-millionth part of the fortune of Rockefeller. Let each one of us do the one-millionth part of what he thinks he would do if he were Rockefeller and most of our problems will be solved.

For it is only the combined wealth and intelligence of all the people that can really accomplish big things. And if each did now the best things possible with the power in his hands all things would be done.

Three Water Drops Converse.

Three drops of water, stranded in a crevice on the side of an inland mountain, talked in this way:

First Drop—"They say there is an ocean whence we came and to which we shall return."

Second Drop—"They say we three drops are made in the image of that ocean; that as far as we go, which is not far, we are miniature oceans."

Third Drop—"Bosh and nonsense. There is no ocean. It is all superstition. Before we were born here, from the mist, what are we? When we evaporate in a few minutes what becomes of us? You two drops make me feel sorry for you. I know that when I cease reflecting that white cloud up there, that ends me. I have no delusions about oceans or going back to anything."

You know what happened. The cloud formed into rain and our three drops were washed into a tiny trickling stream. The thin stream of rain ran into a brook, the brook into a river. Soon the three drops were back in the ocean—possibly without knowing it.

Shall we some day go rolling back to the ocean of cosmic wisdom whence we came?

THE STEAM ROLLER

THE steam roller is a political traction engine which is used to convert a minority into a majority. It is never steamed up unless somebody is short a few votes of controlling the convention when it is brought out and run over the southern delegates in a reckless and fatal manner. This device is comparatively new. It was invented in 1908 by Postmaster General Hitchcock who ran all four wheels over Joe Cannon's boom and flattened out several other worthy citizens who were hugging the ground with one ear. The first type of steam roller was a crude affair, but the people could ventilate his past life. 1912 model comes fully equipped, including a pile-driver attachment guar-

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

"The Most Available Democrat."

Why Wilson is So Strong

As the time for the meeting of the Democratic national Convention draws nearer, the prospects for the nomination of Gov. Woodrow Wilson are daily growing brighter. The New York World yesterday stated clearly and succinctly the consensus of the best Democratic sentiment of the country when it said that the Democrat to be nominated this year should be one on whom all Democrats can unite and for whom it will be easy for Republicans to vote; that the Democratic National Convention must speak and act for a harmonious Democracy; that Mr. Wilson is abreast of the times; that he awakens none of the old antagonism; that he would poll the whole party vote and that he would have the favor of a host of Republicans and independents whose ballots are to decide the election.—Harrisburg Patriot.

Wilson in The Debatable States

The Times-Dispatch believes that Wilson stands a better chance of carrying the debatable States and capturing the independent vote than any other Democrat. Any Democrat but Clark might be elected, but Wilson although representing no new principles, has the platform and the personality that will have the most forcible appeal to the American electorate, and he should be nominated.—Times-Dispatch.

Clark Delegates for Wilson

There is a degree of interest in the situation because of the fact that a majority of the Nebraska delegation instructed for Clark are believed personally to prefer Wilson. When would they be free to change their votes from the one to the other? Answers to this question may differ, but certainly there will be agreement to this answer: Not so long as Clark is the leading candidate, or even one of the two leading candidates, before the convention. For a delegate instructed for Clark to change to Wilson at a time when the fight was between Clark and Wilson would clearly be a failure to keep faith with the constituency that had given the instruction.—Omaha World-Herald.

Up to Dorothy.

"Dorothy Mitchell," the Wadesboro girl who is doing excellent work for The Charlotte and Chronicle makes this observation in discussing the careless appearance of some married woman: "A woman has no right to make herself look ugly simply because her husband is—she might be sometimes." Why certainly we thought the dear creatures were made because by nature exdude made beautifully by nature think that it is all made-up!

Carping Still.

Objection is raised by the Charlotte Observer to the building of a monument in Frederick, Maryland, to Barbara Fritchie because "it is now recognized that J. G. Whittier's verses about her embody a pure myth." Thus again is illustrated the greed of the monopolist.—Columbia State.

Press Comment

A Good Shot

About the best thing William J. Bryan has said lately was a remark to Judge Ben B. Lindsay, in Denver the other day. Judge Lindsay, who is a Roosevelt supporter, was just leaving for Chicago, when he met the Nebraskan. "I have been following both you and Colonel Roosevelt for many years," he said to Colonel Bryan. To which the Nebraskan replied: "Well, if you keep it up much longer you are sure to become crossed-eyed."—Raleigh Times.

The Winning Combination.

The Charlotte Observer describes the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina as "a farmer and a business man." Unfortunately the time is not yet in the South when to state that a man is the former is also and in itself to say that he is the latter. When that time comes agriculture in this section will have reached its maximum prosperity, and not until then.—Virginian-Pilot.

Still Fling Flings

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot will take notice that nine Charlotte drug stores have petitioned the aldermen against the granting of liquor license. Yes; we understand that in your city the talking out of a license for the sale of intoxication is a formality so generally neglected that those who observe it are at a pecuniary disadvantage as compared with the great majority of the local dispensers of booze. Why should the few pay for a

In time to cry "fraud" in brigstone accents he can retire to another hall and run on an independent ticket. This is a dangerous procedure, however, as the November elections are liable to be purified by several first class funerals.

'Tis now the college graduate
Makes his address,
And as he shows his sort of lore,
We mut confess,
He has all the knowledge in the world
And nothing less.

But then another wisdom fount
Next holds the stage,
The sermons baccalaurate
Our ears engage;
To our surprise and fear we find
A sage more sage.

Which has the better chace of cure
From Wisdoms gall?
It is the youth who first may hope

He has more time in which he may Forget it all.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Fair and warm once more

Greenville lodge A. F. and A. M. meets tonight.

Some of the farmers will soon be curing tobacco.

Last night ought to have satisfied those who were wishing for a warm one.

Some business men do not realize what they are losing through failure to have an advertisement in The Reflector.

End of the Century club will meet with Mrs. L. C. Arthur on Wednesday, 19th, instead of Tuesday.

The ladies of the Round Table will meet with Mrs. C. T. Munford Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Miss Emily Jenkins of Wilson spent Sunday here with her brother, Mr. J. J. Jenkins.

The Amusement club will meet with Miss Essie Whichard tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

A Heart Dice Party.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. David House enjoyably entertained at the home of Mrs. J. G. Moye in honor of her niece, Miss Helen Mayo, of Indianapolis. The guests were received at the front door by Mrs. House and shown to the parlor where Miss Ernestine Forbes presented them to the guest of honor.

Heart dice was the game of the afternoon and the tables were marked by cards to which were attached clusters of sweet peas. Sweet peas were also attached to the score cards.

Delicious chocolate fudge was served throughout the games.

The prize, a bottle of perfume, was won by Miss Maude Lee. The guest's prize was a pretty fan. At the conclusion of the games cream and cake were served by Mrs. J. G. Moye, Mrs. House and Miss Louise Fleming. Pretty baskets filled with nasturtiums formed the center piece of each table and on the plates were small bunches of sweet peas tied with tulle.

A Euchre Party.

Misses Lucile and Ruth Cobb entertained about fifty guests on Friday morning at "Euchre". The guests were welcomed by the two hostesses.

The pretty home on Fifth street was made prettier for the occasion with carnations and pansies. Seven tables were placed in the library and parlor for "Euchre" and one in the reception hall for "Rook". The games were enthusiastically played for about two hours. The "Euchre" prize was won by Mrs. T. M. Hooker and the "Rook" prize was won by Miss Vernessa Smith. Each prize was a pair of silk hose. At the conclusion of the games the hostesses, assisted by their mother and sister, Mesdames R. J. Cobb and Albion Dunn and Misses Mary Shelburn and Mary Smith served a delicious salad course.

NOTICE

My wife, Lucy Heath, left my premises last Sunday morning without cause and I hereby forbid any one giving her aid or employment under the penalty of the law.

The Commencement Gown—Models are too Elaborate—Too Much Lace for Good Taste

The great majority of the feminine population at this moment is thinking of commencement gowns. The mothers are planning how to meet the expense of the style, the graduates to be are planning as best suited to their individual fancy.

I have been giving these little frocks considerable attention and find that simplicity is the key note, but not always the simplicity that implies as well as a modist outlay.

Take for example a model dotted swiss—that sounds reminiscent of grandmother in white muslin and blue sash. But the dotted swiss, to work with, was a dollar and a quarter a yard, and not over wide at that, so that the basic fabric meant quite a penny. You will find if you are buying dotted swiss which is a very popular fabric, because it does not demand of silk lining, having some body of its own—that the smaller dots demand the larger price. This special gown was of the pin head dot variety. It was really warm looking save as it was relieved by wide inserted bands of lace.

Here is where the main extravagant feature took hold.

The short elbow sleeves, the tight fitting gored skirt and the Dutch neck insertions of real lace, the cost of which was about twenty times that of the material itself. Then when a soft messaline sash edged with fringe was added, the whole gown mounted up to a pretty figure.

The use of lace in these gowns is overdone to my mind. In many cases it comes from the whole frock and does not merely serve as a trimming. Sometimes the corsage and sleeves are in one piece. Again the lower part of the corsage and a quaint apron effect are featured in lace. Lace panels, boleros and plastrons appear on even twenty five cent organdies and mulls.

The girl whose mother owns a lace shawl seizes upon it with avidity to secure that very popular draped corsage effect to which the shawl lends itself readily.

If the shawl is big enough, it is frequently employed as a tunic overdress, the under skirt or petticoat being of tulle or messaline. This is a very dressy and overdone arrangement for any school girl. My heart and taste reverts to the models hard to find but still obtainable, that are more suggestive or girlish simplicity.

Of course a little really good lace is a desirable touch. But the excess is in bad taste. What remains for the bride, if she has revelled in Mother's lace shawl or veil at commencement, when these would be a far more fitting accompaniment to the white satin and orange blossoms, beloved and upheld by bridal traditions?

A really simple little gown was made of white silk mull. It was a one piece affair with high waist line square cut neck and elbow sleeves. At both neck and sleeves and also edging the skirt were folds of the goods held at intervals by tiny rosettes of white chiffon. A high scarf sash of chiffon edged with fringe completed the daintiest little dress I saw in a day's survey of lace trimmed, silk lined and generally overdone models. That it would be equally effective for a debutante made it doubly desirable.

No matter what fashion may decree remember the occasion and the youth of the wearer and refrain from having the commencement gown look like an understudy of a court presentation costume.

FADS AND FASHIONS

A Charming Summer Frock.

Costume for Misses and Small Women. (In raised or normal waist-line).

White corduroy with bands of embroidery for trimming was used to make this attractive design. It may be finished as a one piece gown or with separate skirt and waist. The trimming tab on the skirt may be omitted. The waist is cut with long shoulders and has a deep collar of unique shaping. The pattern which is suitable for any of this season's dress materials, is cut in 5 sizes: 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 5 1-2 yards of 36 inch material for a 17 year size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Funeral Honors Paid to King Frederick VIII. of Denmark

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

Four reigning monarchs, the kings of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Greece, followed the body of Frederick VIII. to its tomb in the abbey of Roskilde, where lie the remains of thirty-three predecessors of the late king. Many representatives of foreign countries were present at the service in the cathedral, and in the funeral procession, of which a photograph is reproduced above, walked the male members of the Danish royal family—the new king, Christian X. (2); the Crown Prince Frederick (1), King Haakon of Norway (4), brother of King Christian; Prince Gustav (5) and Prince Harold (7), brothers of King Christian; Prince Axel (6), cousin, and Prince Knud (3), the king's second son. The other photograph shows the late king's coffin, borne from the royal yacht which brought it from Hamburg on the shoulders of colonels representing the various arms of the Danish service.

Advertising

Is the connecting link between the merchant and customer—it is the merchant's salesman.

Goods snugly resting on a shelf are very much like a miser's gold—all right, but in need of circulating...

A Secret has better chance to travel than the goods of a merchant who will not talk about them all the time. The up-to-date merchant looks to advertising like the announcer to his megaphone. Advertising enlarges the circle of merchant's business, the megaphone strengthens the volume of the voice. Both multiply the chances of a hearing. In grand father's time advertising was not thought of. But in grandfather's time competition was slight. Today it is so keen that a merchant must look out else the edge of competition may separate him from his business. Be sure to tell the people what you have, why you have it, and what they can have it for. This is vital to your business. Also when telling the people use a medium that will reach them with your message of intelligence.

Town 150 Years Old.

ATHOL, Mass., June 15.—A week's celebration of the 150 anniversary of the founding of the town of Athol will be ushered in tomorrow morning with the anniversary sedices in all of the churches. Parades, band concerts, athletic contests and historical exercises will fill out the week.

The Man to Defeat Roosevelt

No more politician, no more good fellow, no more harmonizer, can defeat Roosevelt. It requires a man who is progressive and has the popular confidence well done; who is aggressive, educated and of culture measuring up to the standard of the Presidency. It requires a man who can poll, first, the Democratic vote, and secondly, the independent vote. The description fits no other man so well as the Governor of New Jersey.—Harrisburg Patriot.

No Loss to Wiley.

Doctor Wiley does not appear to have been a financial loser by the severance of his connection with the helath bureau, and those who have heartily supported him in his fight for the pure food product against numerous enemies are glad of his present prosperity. His salary as chief chemist of the department of agriculture gets $5,000. He is now an editor at a salary of $7,500, lecturer with an assured income of $10,000, and Boston has offered him the chairmanship of its board of health at $7,500. Such are the occasional emoluments of the mind of science—and Dr. Wiley is far beyond the Oslonian age limit.—Boston Transcript.

New Century

No Levers. No Springs Always in Balance.

Farmers actually want the "New" of its many distinctive features, which are briefly: Operator's weight balances gangs, perfectly balanced pole without even so much as a balance lever. Simplicity unequalled—not a lever, spring, ratchet or other nuisance on it. Light on draft, because it weighs less and has draft closer to shovels. Evenness of cultivation, that is, movement does not effect position of gangs. Six shovels, spring break works perfectly in widest or narrowest rows cotton, corn, beans, peanuts, tobacco, potatoes, etc.

Maine's First Primary
AUGUSTA, Me., June 17.—Maine held her first primary, state-wide, today, both parties expressing their preferences at the polls for candidates for United States Senators and representatives in Congress and for Governor and other state officers to be voted on in the biennial election in September. Chief interest centered in the contests for the Republican nomination for governor and United States Senator. On the Democratic side there was no opposition to the re-nomination of Governor Plaisted and Senator Gardner. For the Republican nomination for governor the candidates were Wm. T. Haines of Waterville, Frederick E. Boothbay of Portland and Albert H. Shaw of Bath. For the senatorship the Republican contestants were former congressman E. C. Burleigh of Augusta, Herbert M. Heath of Augusta and Judge F.

A. Powers of Houlton. The four representatives in congress were unopposed for renomination in their own parties. Complete results of the primary will probably be known late tomorrow.

Club Women Face Murder Charge.
CHICAGO, June 17.—Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, member of several of Chicago's most prominent women's clubs was arraigned in court today to stand trial for the alleged murder of her husband, Charles B. Morrow. Mr. Morrow who had attained considerable fame and wealth as an inventor, was found shot to death on the rear porch of his home on Michigan avenue, on the morning of December 28th last. At first it was thought to be a case of suicide, but relatives of the dead man began an investigation that resulted in Mrs. Morrow's arrest and indictment on the murder charge.

Pennsylvania Road Pension System

With 2,040 active employes who have been in service forty years or longer and with 1,572 men who served forty years or more now receiving pensions the Pennsylvania railroad has a payroll which is probably unique among those of the corporations of this country.

No less remarkable is the fact that the Pennsylvania's records show that today there are upon its payroll 489 men who have been in its service more than fifty years. One employe has been receiving pay from the Pennsylvania for sixty-six years.

The following table gives the number of employes in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad for fifty years or longer:

Years of service	Employes	Years of service	Employes
66	1	57	20
64	1	56	27
62	5	55	41
61	3	54	42
60	8	53	39
59	7	52	53
58	32	51	93
		50	124

In making public the above figures the Pennsylvania does not say its employes are blessed with longevity, but it indicates such by the following statistics which show that it has in active service 4,717 employes who are between the ages of sixty and seventy years—Pennsylvania employes retire at seventy. A striking comparison exists between the Pennsylvania records and the Carlisle table of mortality used by insurance companies. While the latter shows the expectancy of a man twenty-one years of age to be 40.75 years, the Pennsylvania has 4,015 employes who have exceeded this.

The following figures show the number of Pennsylvania Railroad employes between the ages of 60 and 70 years:

Age	Number of Employes	Age	Number of Employes
60	702	65	455
61	607	66	347
62	637	67	325
63	570	68	318
64	540	69	216

There are living today eight Pennsylvania railroad employes who are over ninety years of age. All of them are, of course, receiving their regular pension payments from the company.

The oldest employe is Andrew Abels who was born May 23, 1817 and is, therefore, ninety-five years of age. He lives in Philadelphia where, prior to retirement, he was employed by the railroad as a clerk.

Charles A. Jefferies, of Lancaster, Pa., enjoys the distinction of having been on the payroll of the Pennsylvania Railroad longer than any other employe. He was born October 8, 1822 and in July, 1846 was employed by the Columbia and Philadelphia Railroad as a fireman. He was made engineer in 1849 and in 1883 his occupation was changed to signal repairman.

The Pennsylvania Railroad trains its officers from the rank and file. Young men just out of school or college begin their work for the company by learning the very rudiments of railroading and there are many years of hard work before they even show their heads above their fellows, or their superiors learn whether they are fitted for promotion.

Health Notes From the State Bureau

Health Officers' Meeting at Hendersonville, June 17.

The second annual meeting of the North Carolina Health Officers' Association will take place in Hendersonville on Monday, June 17.

One of the evidences of progress of good government in North Carolina is the annual meeting of officials charged with similar responsibilities and duties in the various counties and towns of the state, to exchange ideas and to improve their respective service through the lessons that come from the combined experiences of all. Thus, in 1906, the County Superintendent of schools organized an annual conference; in 1908 the Carolina Municipal Officers Association was formed; in 1909 there was organized an annual conference of County Commissioners and in 1911 the North Carolina Health Officers Association was formed. These conferences are held for the public good and are of inestimable value as short, inexpensive, practical schools for the training of the administrative officers participating in them. Every county owes it to itself to have the proper delegate attend all these meetings and to bring back valuable ideas gleaned from the experience of others; and to the state to give the other delegate any valuable lesson which they have developed in their own work. The counties participating in these conferences probably spend no money so wisely as that for the expense of their delegates to these conventions.

We are gratified at the information coming to us from a number of counties to the effect that their health officers will attend the meeting at Hendersonville on June 17 as their county's representative and at the county's expense. This is only the second meeting of the health officers, but those who attended the first meeting last year in Charlotte had ample evidence of the great value of this annual conference and it is expected that the number attending the meeting this year will be much greater than the attendance last year.

The program includes, short, three to five minutes reports from the health officers of all the counties as to what work has been accomplished in their respective counties during the past year. Important papers will be read on the many health subjects.

Class Day at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 17.—The class day was celebrated at Yale today with exercises closely following the programme which custom has established as most fitting for the occasion. Holding the centre of the stage in the chief events of the day, the seniors and the two undergraduates departments sang and paraded, danced and smoked the long sashem pipe of peace and good fellowship and cheered and listened to the fine declamations of their members as students of the university, the class oration and poem. Tomorrow will be alumni day at the university and the next day the commencement exercises will be held. Hundreds of visitors are here for the festivities, which promises to be the most brilliant of recent years.

List Your Taxes—Last Call.

To the Taxpayers of Edgecombe County, whether residing in or out of the county, notice is hereby given that all property owned by them, either as principal or trustee, must be listed in the township where situated, on or before Saturday, June 15th, 1912. And thereafter all persons who have failed to list their taxes for any cause, are required to appear before the list taker at such times and places as he may designate in his notices and list their property. After the dates named in the notice posted by the list taker the tax lists will be closed.

Attention is also called to the fact that failure to list will result in your being double taxed and the taxpayer failing to list subjects himself to a misdemeanor.

The same penalty is provided for the citizens of the county liable for poll tax. The penalties prescribed by law will be enforced.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of Edgecombe County.

H. S. BUNN, Clerk of Board.
