TAR HEEL PAYS VISIT TO TAFT

National Committeeman Duncan Goes To White House

WILL CONSIDER APPOINTMENTS

In Consideration for His Firm Stand By the President at Chicago, Taft Will Change His Mind as to Different Appointments in Question.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—National Committeeman E. C. Duncan, spent a few hours in Washington today, on his way home from the Republican convention at Chicago and incidentally called at the White House today to pay his respects to Mr. Taft.

Mr. Duncan is not worried about the third party which Roosevelt has brought to life. Mr. Taft will triumph at the polls in November regardless of whom the Democrats nominate or what the Colonel may do. While Mr. Duncan refused to be quoted, it is understood that the withdrawal of North Carolina appointments was discussed with the President and hence it is expected that Mr. Taft will send in a batch of North Carolina nominations Thursday when the senate meets again. That these nominations will be Duncan appointments, no one here doubts.

Mr. Duncan has stood firmly by the President in the bitter fight which has been waged against him, and naturally Mr. Duncans friends say the President will respect his nominations.

Sen. Simmons returned to Washington today after spending a week with his family in the state. The senator says he enjoyed his visit home and apparently is much pleased with the outcome for his renomination to the Senate.

EVELYN THAW AGAINST HIM

Declares She is Afraid Harry Will Shoot Her

This is Reason Given by Young Woman for Testifying Against the Slayer of Stanford White

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 24.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, chief witness against her husband, Harry K. Thaw, who is seeking to prove his sanity and thereby gain his freedom from the Matteawan Asylum, was called to the stand again this morning, the first day of the second week of the hearing. Pressed by counsel for Thaw she admitted that at Thaw's first trial in 1907 she testified that he was sane.

Mrs. Thaw denied that she had said that Thaw would never get out of Matteawan until he settled with her.

Did Dr. Austin Flint tell you to testify in a hesitating and uncertain manner in the 1909 hearing, so that it would not hurt you with the public? asked Mr. Shearn, Thaw's lawyer.

No, Dr. Flint, nor any one else has to tell me how to act on the witness stand, said the young wife.

Did you ever discuss the Thaw case with Dr. Flint?

Yes, my end of it!

What is your end of it?

Do you really want to know?

I asked you!

Well then, we discussed Thaw's threat to shoot me. I don't intend to have Thaw come out and shoot me next.

Single Handed Stops and Robs Mail Car

Long View, Tex. June 24.—A bandit made his way into the mail car of a train on the International and Great Northern Railroad today, covered three clerks with his guns, carefully selected one mail pouch out of a pile of several, kicked it from the car, then alighted while the train continued at full speed.

The hold-up occurred near Port Bolivar. What was in the pouch is not known, apparently, except to the robber. A posse is after him.

NEW PARTY LEADERS WILL PROCEED WITHOUT HADLEY

CHICAGO, June 24.—Gov. Hadley of Missouri—one of the original seven little governors and the Colonel's floor leader in the Republican convention—has deserted the Roosevelt third-term movement.

Gov. Hadley left town without waiting to declare himself, but it was learned in a dispatch from St. Louis that he intended to stick to the Regular Republican organization.

Notwithstanding this defection, conceded to be an important one, preliminary plans were laid for the organization of the progressive party born last night. In the presence of perhaps 500 men, some of them recognized leaders, others merely onlookers, the first formal steps were taken. Gov. Johnson of California was empowered to appoint a committee of seven to confer with Col. Roosevelt and formulate plans of action.

BRYAN WILL HAVE TO CARRY FIGHT TO CONVENTION PROPER TO DEFEAT PARKER

New York Jurist Receives 31 Votes Out of Total of 53—Ex-Senator From Kentucky Ollie James Polls 23 and Judge O'Gorman, of New York in An "Also Ran" With 2

Bryan's Name Will Be Submitted For Temporary Chairman --- Supporters of Judge Parker Fear Commoner's Opposition to Their Candidate---Parker Considered As Too Much of A Reactionary

CONVENTION HALL, Baltimore, June 25.—12:15 Chairman Mack rapped order. Cardinal Gibbons concluded prayer at 12:30. Bryan took platform and presented John W. Kern of Indiana as temporary chairman opposing Judge Parker.

BALTIMORE, June 24.—Former Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, was chosen, as the candidate for temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention by the national committee tonight. Parker received 31 votes, Senator-elect Ollie James, of Kentucky 20 and Senator O'Gorman, of New York 2.

The vote of the temporary chairmanship was announced as follows. For Parker—James Weatherly, Alabama; A. J. Michelson, Arizona; Guy B. Tucker, Arkansas; Nathan Cole, Jr., California; Homer S. Cummings, Connecticut; T. Albert Jennings, Florida; Clark Howell, Georgia; Simon P. Donnelly, Idaho; Roger C. Sullivan, Illinois; Thomas Taggart, Indiana; Martin J. Newman, District of Columbia; Gilbert J. Waller, Hawaii; D. M. Field, Porto Rico; member from the Philippines, Total 31.

Hall, Nebraska; John Sunderland, Nevada; Robert S. Hudspeth, New Jersey; Josephus Daniel, North Carolina; William S. Collins, North Dakota; A. A. Jones, New Mexico; Harvey C. Garber, Ohio; W. A. Miller, Oregon; B. R. Tillman, South Carolina; (by proxy); E. S. Johnson, South Dakota; Frank K. Nebeker, Utah; W. Dunphy, Washington; J.

E. Davis, Wisconsin; J. E. Osborne, Wyoming. Total 20.

James Not a Candidate. When Urey Woodson, committeeman of Kentucky, voted for Parker against James he explained that Kentucky did not want to put James' name before the committee. He asserted that he had talked with Senator James and had been assured that he was not a candidate. In addition he said that the Kentucky delegation had instructed him that James' name would not be placed before the committee.

Robert Ewing, a committeeman from Louisiana, and a Wilson supporter, placed James' name before the committee. E. G. Goitra, of Missouri, a Clark man, explained that he had voted for James because he was supporting Clark. This was taken by many to mean that the Bryan forces in the convention would receive some assistance from the Clark supporters when the fight against Parker is taken to the floor tomorrow.

Chairman Mack called the adjourned session of the democratic national committee to order a few minutes after 7 o'clock, the first order of business being further discussion of the subcommittee's recommendation of Parker for temporary chairman. The committee had adjourned early in the afternoon after Committeeman D. L. Hall of Nebraska, declared the name of W. J. Bryan would be submitted to the convention as a candidate for temporary chairman if the committee ratified the selection of Judge Parker.

MEET BUT DO NOT AGREE

Bryan and Parker Hold A Useless Conference

Under Pressure of Harmony Committee Bryan Sees Judge and Has Pleasant Chat with Him, But...

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.—A conference held this afternoon between W. J. Bryan, Judge Parker and National Chairman Mack and vice-Chairman Hall to effect a compromise on the question of the temporary chairmanship of the Democratic national convention failed.

Mr. Bryan announced that he had not changed his mind. Vice-Chairman Hall indicated that Judge Parker would be named and that the fight against him would be carried on from the floor by Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan said:

I had a very pleasant meeting, but beyond that I don't care to say anything. I will say, however, that I think a progressive will be named.

When National chairman Mack emerged from the conference room he was excited.

There has been no agreement, he exclaimed hurriedly. The program, as originally planned still stands. The conference was without result.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN NIAGARA RIVER

Pier Holding Over Two Hundred Travellers Collapses

OVER TWENTY BODIES FOUND

Crowd of Sightseers Awaiting Steamer on Flimsy Structure are Precipitated to River Below as Steamship Pier Gives Way to Weight.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 23.—An excursion dock at Eagle Park, Grand Island, Niagara River, collapsed under the weight of a crowd tonight and more than 200 persons were thrown into the Niagara River. It is reported that 8 bodies have been recovered.

The excursionists were preparing to return to Buffalo after an outing at the park, and between 350 and 400 persons were on the dock to take the steamer when the underpinning gave way and hurled those nearest the boat into the river.

The outing was under the auspices of Court Amherst Lodge No. 232, I. O. O. F., of Black Rock, and was for the benefit of sick brothers.

The party left Buffalo this morning on the steamer Enry Koerber and the barge Lottie Koerber in tow. The first news of the accident reached this city when Mrs. Miller, wife of the proprietor of the hotel at Eagle Park, telephoned. The telephone system failed shortly after and the place, on the Canadian branch of the river, has been out of communication since.

Fix Bros., owners of the excursion steamship line to which the Enry Koerber and the Lottie Koerber belong, said late tonight that the boats had carried one load back to Buffalo and were at the dock taking on the remainder when the accident occurred. All they knew of the accident was that 8 bodies had been recovered.

The prominent speakers during the three days session will be Dr. Ellis of Brooklyn and Dr. Clayton, U. S. Commissioner of education. Dr. Thwing, president of Western Reserve University, and Dr. Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr., university.

Advertising

Is the connecting link between the merchant and customer—it is the merchant's salesman.

Goods snugly resting on a shelf are very much like a miser's gold—all right, but in need of circulating...

A Secret has better chance to travel than the goods of a merchant who will not talk about them all the time. The up-to-date merchant looks to advertising like the announcer to his megaphone. Advertising enlarges the circle of merchant's business, the megaphone strengthens the volume of the voice. Both multiply the chances of a hearing. In grand father's time advertising was not thought of. But in grandfather's time competition was slight. Today it is so keen that a merchant must look out else the edge of competition may separate him from his business.

Be sure to tell the people what you have, why you have it, and what they can have it for. This is vital to your business. Also when telling the people use a medium that will reach them with your message of intelligence.

SPECIAL LETTER FROM THE NATIONS CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, June 25.—There is a vast difference in appearance between the newspaper man of these days and the "old boy" of the halcyon times when the chief occupation of statesmen was whipping the editor. Today the men of the Capitol, even the veterans are universally smooth-shaven. Occasionally there is a moustache—but not often. The result is that all men look young.

With this factor in mind, imagine the feelings of the young reporter, who, having met the latter-day type of correspondent, strolls casually into the press galley for the first time and views the pictures of former newspaper stars that line the walls. In front of him, behind him, and staring streenly from behind telephone booths and sofas are row upon row of whiskers. Not casual moustaches or imperials; not even ordinary sideburns, but whiskers and pronounced. In fact, nine out of ten of the "old boys" one sees in etching, painting or photograph, are the proud possessors of whiskers that are worn only nowadays by Mormon church officials. Beginning high behind the ears the whiskers gradually work their way down over the face until they reach the chin and there is enough material for a mattress.

Offhand, most prominent newspaper men one recalls as well blessed in the hirsut line are Joseph Pulitzer and Charles A. Dana. But these men were "mere pickers" in front of whiskers. For instance there is one man whom Col. Charles Mann, Superintendent of the galley refers to lovingly "old Mathias." His picture looks as if his entire life had been spent in cultivating the beard which flows in all its majesty down past the second of his coat. It stops there only because the photograph ends.

of National committeeman Harry Then there is John C. New, father New of Indiana, who was a prominent figure in the recent Chicago Convention. John C. had a side view taken of himself. This is unfortunate. After seeing half of his whiskers one longs for full measurement and specifications. One wishes the muse picture could speak that the subject might explain what he did with them when heading up Capitol Hill on a windy day.

No star of long ago, however, has anything on Elliot F. Shepard unless it be James E. Scripps. Elliot wins on the landscape effect, his whiskers being thoroughly and evenly distributed below the eyes. But Scripps is victor when it comes to an actual longitudinal measurement. His whiskers don't get well started until they reach the chin. Then they drop, drop, drop, like the weeping willow. The last seen of them is as they slide past the vest apparently headed for his knees.

Then there is the Joneses, two of them. There is C. H. and John Henry and not a man in the world would dare attempt to say which had the better beard. John Henry shone because most of his beard stood on end. His whiskers even in the pictures have a distinctly frightened appearance.

A new correspondent wandered through the galey the other day.

"Did they have extra sessions in those days?" he asked.

"Of course," replied the friend. "Why ask that?"

"I was wondering," said the new man reflectively, "what they did with those whiskers when the temperature began to flirt with the 100 mark."

Always there is the same comment when the new man wanders in. Around are middle-aged men with smooth-shaven faces, while on the walls are yards and yards of wild untrammelled beards.

Two men desiring the honorable mention in the hall of the bewhiskered immortals are W. W. Armstrong and William Henry Smith.

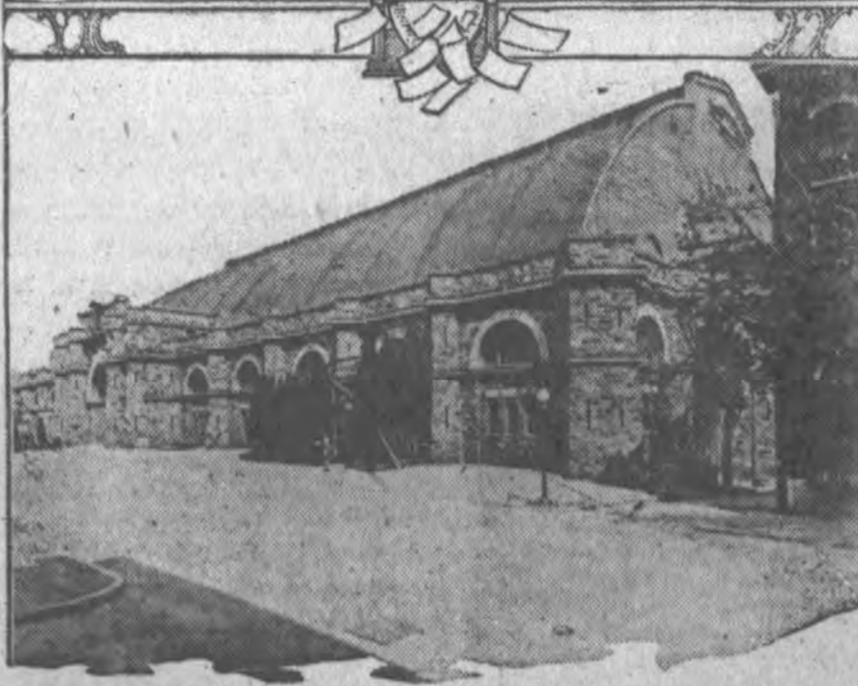

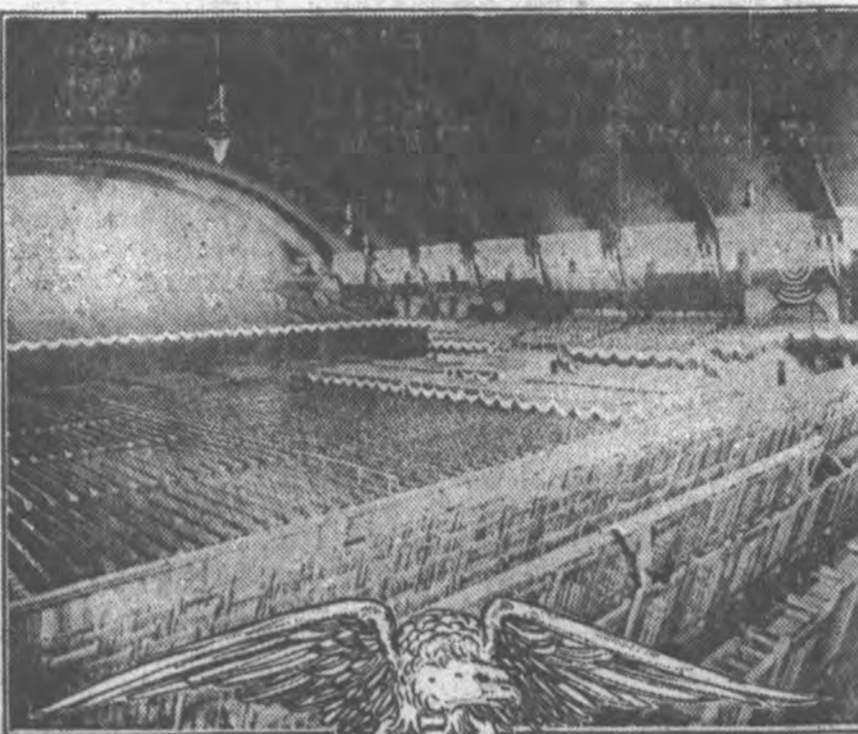

Supintendent Mann always points them out to strangers with the explanatory remark that they had strong faces. Now he knows that nobody can guess. About all of the faces the average person can discern is a point of the nose and two eyes. The rest is hair.

Amid this luxury of beard there stand out two startlingly smooth shaven faces. One is W. W. Grady of Georgia, author of the famous "reconciliation" speech. The other is William Randolph Hearst. Both of these faces, as they gaze from their oaken frames, are sad. The smooth shaven twain seem always to be wishing they could climb off the wall of bewhiskered heroes and join in the latter day workers who are hurrying hither and thither in front of them.

The Stay-at-Home Crowd.

There are two million German Republicans in the United States who will absolutely refuse to support any man for a third term and who will either vote the Democratic ticket of stay at home. Besides these there are a million business men who will do the same thing. If Roosevelt should be nominated by the regular Republican convention, he will be the worst licked man for President next November since Horace Greeley in 1872.—Concord Tribune.

Where Democrats Will Choose Their Presidential Candidate

ANYTHING that the Democratic national convention may do at Baltimore will seem tame after the proceedings at Chicago. Nevertheless the eyes of the nation will be upon the deliberations in the Fifth regiment armory in the Monumental City during the week beginning June 25. The convention hall (of which the photographs show the exterior and interior) is one of the largest in the country. Its huge drill hall measures 200 by 300 feet, and its normal seating capacity of 10,000 has been increased so that 15,000 people may be accommodated while the convention is in session. To house the delegates and other visitors Baltimore has hotels which can accommodate upward of 8,000 persons, not to mention the 10,000 or more private houses which will receive convention guests.

THE GAINS OF THIS POLITICAL YEAR.

Candidates will come and go and parties will rise and fall with the centuries but the political life of the people must go on and their government must live and serve the ends of common justice and the general welfare. This struggle of 1912 is chiefly significant because of its relation to the great perennial movement for the betterment of human conditions through the improvement of the organs and instruments of the government. Whatever may have become the outcome of the Chicago and Baltimore national conventions there will be permanent gains to the people of the United States by reason of the struggles of 1912. In some of the states the new primary laws have been drafted imperfectly. They can be greatly improved. It costs a great deal of money to operate the primary systems and there are still some people who prefer to have our political arrangements made for us quietly by little groups of interested gentlemen, conspiring in secret. But the people of the country will not be induced to return to any such methods. The president of the U. S. is no longer a modest executive official, obeying the constitution and seeing that the laws are enforced. He has become an arrogant ruler, exercising power in personal way and with more profound effects than any other ruler on earth whether czar, emperor, sultan, king, president or prime minister. The people will no longer be content merely to choose in November between two candidates one called Republican and the other called Democratic—selected for them by hidden forces having interests of their own to be served. The people will insist upon having a part in the earlier selection of the candidates, as well as in the later and final election of the president himself. We have gradually come under a personal government; and since this means much to the people, they will insist upon selecting their ruler.

THE MAIL ORDER HOUSE.

On all sides walls go up from local dealers as they contemplate what they term the nefarious way of the mail order houses. These mammoth stores not only have the audacity to sell cheaply, but they absolutely advertise the fact. They send their pound and half catalogues into every home on a simple request and the lady of the house can read all about the cut prices from adhesives to zinc. What is worse she attempts to apply these fascinating quotations to her purchases from the local merchant. His only resource is as a rule an explanation that somehow does not explain.

Mail order houses advertise bargains and the average woman always has a kindly feeling toward the fellow who will sell her for nine cents what she has to pay 15 for locally, although the quality may not be quite the same or the freight charges make it more expensive than the same product, yet she is only exercising the same right the merchant claims for himself, the right to buy in what she believes is the cheapest market. She makes mistakes and so does he. Perhaps the largest mistake that the latter makes is that he does not advertise as thoroughly, as carefully and as persistently as his metropolitan competitor. It is no use to say, in effect, that I am Jones, I have a store, I may have just what you want, if not, I have something just as good or better, that you ought to buy. That sort of mandatory announcement may have commanded trade when the ships of Ponce de Leon rocked in the outer bay, but everybody knows that it is obsolete today, except perhaps the comatose merchant and he never did believe in advertising for his store—has always given a fair profit until these mail order houses broke out, they ought to be against the law.

It is shrewdly expected that the sleeping sickness is not confined entirely to Africa.

Le Baron B. Colt.

Judge Le Baron B. Colt, who is prominently mentioned to succeed United States Senator George P. Wetmore of Rhode Island when the latter's term expires next month, was born in Dedham, Mass., June 25, 1846. He graduated from Yale in 1868 and from the law school of Columbia College two years later. For several years he practised law in Chicago. In 1875 he removed to Bristol, N. Y., which place has been his home since. He was elected to the Rhode Island legislature in 1879 and two years later became a judge in the United States district court. Since 1884 he has been on the United States circuit bench. Judge Colt contested the last senatorial election in Rhode Island with Henry F. Lippett, who was elected to succeed Senator Aldrich and his friends expressed confidence that he will be the Republican candidate for Senator Wetmore's seat in the legislative session next winter.

Editorial of Human Interest

Part II.

The editor of the local newspaper—as many an editor has testified in his own editorial column—regrets bitterly that he is compelled to publish in his newspaper without charge the misleading statements about Canada and Canadian opportunities that he'll not accept at any price if offered as paid advertising.

These ready-print advertisements circulated through the efforts of the local editors, and carried free within the county by the United States government, are the distributors of lying, exaggerated, dishonest Canadian land schemers. They are the distributors of advertising matter put out by the Canadian government and paid for at very high price by the Canadian government, intended to take farmers and farm-workers away from America.

It should be illegal and Mr. Hitchcock or some other government official interested in the public welfare interested in the farmers, interested in the local editors, should make it illegal to carry through the mails of the United States any advertising matter for which the owner of the newspaper is not paid.

The regulation of the postoffice which permits the country newspaper to circulate without charge within the county of publication was never intended to enable the Canadian government and the Canada land schemers and dishonest publishers of readyprint to distribute disguised lying and harmful advertising free.

We invite Mr. Hitchcock to investigate this matter. We call the attention of Congress, which has recently inquired as to the cause of emigration from the United States, to enquire into it.

The entire thing is a swindle upon the American farmer, first of all, and a shameful swindle upon the country editor, who is at the mercy of the dishonest ready-print publishers.

Mr. Hitchcock can render a service to the local editors of this country—more than 20,000 of them in all—and he can render a service to the farmers and the consumers and the business men—and he can compel the ready-print publishers, by the way, to conduct their business honestly, instead of dishonestly—if he will issue regulations forbidding the carrying by the United States mails without charge of advertising matter for which the publisher of a newspaper receives no pay.

It is not necessary, we hope, to state that this was written for the sake of the farmers and for the sake of the country printers. It ought to be necessary to say that it does not affect the newspaper organization to which this particular newspaper belongs.

We don't own, and never expect to own, any country newspapers. And there isn't any publisher of ready-print ingenious cunning enough to get unpatriotic, dishonest and disguised Canadian land scheme advertising into this newspaper.

We make this statement and urge Mr. Hitchcock to take action for the sake of the farmer first, and for the sake of the local newspaper editors, who are the promoters and guardians of this country who are badly paid and badly treated as it is, and who ought not to be swindled by a combination of the Canadian government, the Canadian land swindlers, and the other swindlers that issue ready-prints with fraudulent, disguised advertising unpaid for in them.

By Howara L. Rann.

CHARITY.

Charity is a form of benevolence that nites man in one common brotherhood and softens the sting of poverty with soft coal and hannel ice. There're several kinds of charity. One kind begins at the home and leaves off in about the same locality, while others cross the ocean and deposit money in Korea that ought to be matched with the laundry bill. Some charity workers steal out at night, laden with kind deeds and pure food products, which they place on the door step of an ailing brother and then vanish with such rapidity that their legs twinkle in the gloaming like the farewell salute of a pinwheel. Then there is the kind that dispenses charity with the aid of a cornet band and a megaphone, thereby making it easy for the left hand to know what the right hand is up to. As it is usually up to the elbows in coupon bonds and 30 percent dividends, this kind of charity seldom make a bit with the recording angel. Charity also consists in refusing to believe the worst about your neighbor when the best doesn't hang any medals on him. One of the finest forms of charity is the kind which begins to talk about papering the front hall when somebody is about to be subjected to a microscopic examination and declared guilty before the evidence is all in. Charity doesn't pass any premature judgments to condemn a man for showing courtesy to a woman whom it is perfectly safe to gossip about because she hasn't any two-listed relatives in the immediate vicinity.

The man who is devoid of charity is about as useful to society as a one-armed carpenter at a bruising. The charity which endows hospitals and builds libraries is all right, but the kind which stands by a man or woman falsely accused makes it look as cheap as a Waterbury wch in chmois skin envelope. What this country needs is not more free clinics but less free speech about people who are not present.

The Rest Cure

Old Aunt Sally Heywood was one of Dr. Brown's regular patients—that is she sent for him with clock-like regularity and also with clock-like regularity she failed to pay him. Aunt Sally was one of the "fussy" sort of housewives, who do lots of unnecessary worrying and useless work. She was nearly always 'ailing' in one way or another, and imagined that she was nearly sick. One day she called on Dr. Brown and said: "Doctor, I'm sick and want you to give me some medicine." "What seems to be your trouble?" the old man quietly asked. "I don't know, sir; that's what I came to you to find out." Feeling of her pulse, the man of medicine remarked that it was normal, and the patient needed rest. "Take my temperature, Doctor. I know I am sick," she requested, or rather demanded, in a fierce tone. After reading the temperature, Dr. Brown insisted that all the old lady needed was rest. The patient, however, was equally insistent that she knew better and needed medicine, adding: "Now, look at my tongue and tell me what's the matter."

After a glance at that over-worked organ the old man said: "That needs rest, too, madam."—Farm and Home

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

"The Most Available Democrat."

(By Saroyord)

I am a Kentuckian, native of Barren county. All my life I have been a citizen of the old commonwealth, and I would be an inhabitant thereof if surely circumstances would allow. Not a day passes that I do not fondly muse of Kentucky and the friends of other days, and I visit Kentucky and commune with these friends in my dreams by night. There are hosts of better men that I ever pretended to be sons of the old State, but never one who loved her more devotedly, never one who had a livelier, and, I dare say, a more disinterested solicitude for her fame, a more earnest wish for her welfare.

Without fee or hope of material reward, I write this, though I do it with a vivid consciousness of the fact that it may cost me much for not unlikely it will strain, perhaps forever sever, some personal friendship very dear and sweet to me. In the past I never calculated such cost, and I am too old to begin it now. And I have no election. I am a Democrat and will not be false to my convictions to any friend or injure an enemy. In a small way, and I hope in a duly modest way, I am a journalist—that is to say, a writer for such newspapers as chose to employ my pen without dictation as to what it shall write. And I may here relate that by my course in this campaign I have lost three papers, and another is wobbling. My public is small, but none will say I ever betrayed it, that I ever wrote what I did not believe. Had I done in my own esteem I would be one of the vilest of mankind, unworthy the pity of those who love me and beneath the contempt of those who hate me.

I am for Woodrow Wilson for the Democratic nomination at Baltimore. He is by far the amplest and most accomplished man now before the American public. As an individual he is a pure man; as a statement he is a Democrat without flaw or blemish. His character is above envy, impregnable against malice and immune to slander. Had he stooped to employ the agencies restored to by his adversaries; this good day, more than 80 per cent of the delegates so far shosen would be instructed for him. He is the only candidate for the nomination in all the states. He is the victim of the foulest conspiracy—backed by unlimited boodle—ever concocted in the United States to overwhelm an individual or betray a cause.

I say conspiracy. Why don't they run Underwood in Kentucky? He was born there, of Southern blood, while Champ Clark, also a native of Kentucky, is of Northern extraction. Underwood can carry the third, Kentucky Congressional district, but that didn't they run Underwood in Massachusetts, in Wisconsin, in Maryland, in Illinois, in Kansas, in Oregon, in Washington, in Texas. Why, the combine would not let him run in those states. Why didn't they run Clark in Mississippi, in Georgia, in Florida? The conspirators forbid it. Now, what is behind this combine? It is a $1,000,000 "jackpot" in Wall street, the coffers of the Whiskey Trust and the millions of W. R. Hearst. That is what they have at hand to beat Woodrow Wilson, and if it is not enough, that "jackpot," if necessary, will grow to $10,000,000.

Press Comment

Not a Cause Of Blindness!

The Charlotte Observer moves for a public subscription of funds with which to buy a pair of eyeglasses for William Jennings Bryan in order that he may be enabled to see the difference between Wilson and Clark as presidential potentialities.

We would willingly contribute if we thought that clearer vision would help Mr. Bryan to a properly discriminating estimate of the two men who seem to share equally his favor. But there are none to blind as those who will not see, and we fear that is the trouble with "impartial William." He wishes to be solid with either of these aspirants who shall win the prize and therefore professes to hold both in equal esteem; and if neither should win, he cherishes the secret hope of inheriting the good will of both when the call of dark horse is made.—Virginian-Pilot.

Let Good Work Go On

Let the good work go on in Granville as good roads are certainly one of the best advertisements for the county. They are an evidence of prosperity and a sign of progressiveness. It should never be a question of ability to build good roads, but rather can Granville county afford not to continue to build them? We say not, and we are glad to see the county commissioners are making arrangements to continue to build good roads in our grand old county—Oxford Ledger.

Reluctant Doc.

Sheriff C. A. Dickson and J. W. Neal went down on Buffalo to arrest Dock Sheapherd Monday. They made the arrest after a nice chase, but Dock did not care about coming to town, so he made a high dive into a mill dam and succeeded in making his escape.—The Elk Park Vim.

Strong For Wilson.

As the News and Observer would say, "Where North Carolina sits is the head of the table," and North Carolina is strong for Woodrow Wilson—the next president of the United States.—Charlotte News.

Spirit and Organism.

A party whose organization represents its spirit is alive. When the spirit and the organism separates, it is dead. This Chicago Convention is going to determine that question, for the historic republican party.—Fresno Republican.

Jones Life-Size

"Judge Ira P. Jones needn't think he can sit down and rest the remainder of the summer. He has a man's size job."—Anderson Mail.—Savannah Press.

They may nominate a candidate or two in Chicago, but in Baltimore they will nominate a president.

Awaiting Orders.

"Go"—The clarion call of duty, clear; No thought of doubt or hesitance, Of course obstacles of recompense, Nor hint of any carven fear, But action, meant for me— I wait the Captain's orders, whatever they may be.

Work—No idle service then is planned.

His task was set; he did not spare Of time or strength to do his share, And rightfully doth he command Like readiness in me; Best always are his orders, whatever they may be,

Today. Need then is great, and thou dost know

Of place that I alone can fill, To carry out thy wise true bill; Now quick to meet a suitable foe, Both eye and hand must be; Strong they, for any action whose orders come from thee.

"Art sure of that? Think well! Can thy quick will Bend low at need? go anywhere? Nor murmur at hard march, hard fare,

Or irksome duty lone and still?" Thou govest this to me—

Grace to endure, love to fulfil, whatever thine order be. —Hanna Coddington, in Sunday School Times.

Resolutions.

It has pleased the Lord in the Dispensation of His all wise providence to take unto Himself our friend and brother, J. B. Little. Therefore, be it resolved,

First, that we deeply feel our loss of a wise and faithful leader and Counsellor, that as President of our Bible Class he was always faithful, and loving, inspiring faith and loyalty in the Lord whom he served.

Second, that as a church member he was ever ready to serve in every way possible.

Third, as a citizen our town and county sustains a great loss, he having served them with honor and distinction.

Therefore, in this our hour of grief and sadness we would look to the Lord, who is able to comfort all who trust in Him. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, also be published in the Daily Reflector and Pitt County Independent.

To Discuss Policy of Empire.

MONTREAL, June 25.—Much interest is manifested in the mission of Premier Borden and his colleagues who are sailing for England tomorrow on the Steamship Royal George. Among those accompanying the premier are on. John D. azen, minister of marine and naval service; Hon. Charles J. Dpherty, minister of Justice, on. L. P. Pelletier, postmaster general, Admiral Kingmill and A. E. Blount. It is the general belief that the chief purpose of the Premiers visit to England at this time is to consult the imperial authorities concerning the naval policy to be determined by the Canadian government. The belief that the naval policy is to be the principal subject of discussion is strengthened by the fact that Messrs. hazen and Doughty are particularly well-versed on that subject. Mr. Pelletier, it is understood, is going over to consult with the British authorities on postal and cable rates.

From Woman's View-Point

Food for Babies.

Until a baby is a year old it should live almost entirely upon good, pure milk. It also requires a moderate amount of water every day. The only addition to the diet should be a teaspoonful of orange juice once a day, after it is six months old. The habit practised by some mothers, of taking the baby to the table during the regular meal time and giving it a taste of the various articles of food is reprehensible. After the baby is a year old a little prune juice or pulp of a baked apple may be given once a day. Gradually other articles of food may be added, but these must be such as are easily digested. Meat broths, soft boiled eggs, cereal and baked potatoes moistened with milk should be the chief thing given. At first these should be given only at the noonday meal, but gradually they may be added to meals. Oat meal is a good winter food for children. It should not be given in summer, as it is too heating. The child should be urged to drink plenty of water between meals, but never should be given ice water. No drugs should ever be given except on the advice of a physician. Especially should mothers shun soothing syrups as they would poison, for these have caused the death of numerous babes. Letter-Writing. The courtesy of letter writing is something which the summer either develops or kills. So many new acquaintances are made, so many courtesies shown that those desirous of being really polite can best show their spirit by acknowledging in a few lines the kindness that some hostess has shown or some travelling companion accorded the trips which are a part of the summer days. This letter writing habit need not mean more than a line or two. But if worded in the real spirit of gratitude, a friendly note will mean as much to the recipient as a gift, which may seem to deem the material and best evidence of gratitude for hospital ity or courtesy. Young girls often grow careless and remiss in this particular. Therefore they show a lack of breeding for it takes only a few minutes to write the little note of appreciation. It is an evidence of remembrance as well as good manners. The sustained correspondence that is the outcome of new friendships is sometimes as difficult as it is pleasant to keep up, but there is really no excuse for neglecting the note of appreciation. I believe all mothers in their curriculum of good manners should en-throne this habit among those graces physical, mental and moral which makes their daughters shine in society. While a little thing to do, it is a big thing to leave undone. If neglected judgment is accordingly severe, while in the observance the writer shows good form and achieves a higher place in the estimation of all who value courtesy and breeding. THE HOSTESS.

"HOME OF THE BEST PRINTING"

WE take this means of thanking all of our friends who have been thoughtful enough to compliment us on our "LARGER AND BETTER" DAILY REFLECTOR. The Raleigh Daily Times comments in part: "A paper which shows improvement reflects the development of the country over which it circulates. Every word of which is true. The Greenville Tobacco market will probably sell 14,000,000 pounds of tobacco this year, or 5,000,000 pounds more than last year. This meant a strenuous planting campaign by our farmers. Mr. Merchant, why not begin your selling campaign now? Join THE REFLECTOR'S advertisers. Know that your ad will be read by 4,500 people, with this number increasing daily.

Three Real Americans Who Will Compete at Stockholm

THREE of the athletes who sailed from New York with the team representing the United States in the Olympic games at Stockholm have a clearer title than any of their companions to the name "American." They are the Indians, Tewanima, Thorpe and Sockalexis, and they are expected to win many points in the competitions. Louis Tewanima, who is a Hopi from the southwest, is looked upon as a winner in the 10,000 meter race; Jim Thorpe of the Sac and Fox tribe of the northwest is regarded by many experts as the greatest all around athlete of his time, while Alex Sockalexis is expected to run first in the Marathon race. The men sailed from New York in the pink of condition.

SAID SHE WOULD FAINT

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand on Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Pendergrass, Ga.—Mrs. Della Long, of this place, in a recent letter, says: "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles. Often, I couldn't sit up more than a few minutes at a time, and if I stood on my feet long, I would faint. I took Cardui, and it helped me immediately. Now, I can do my work all the time, and don't suffer like I did." "Take Cardui when you feel ill in any way—weak, tired, miserable, or under the weather. Cardui is a strength-building tonic medicine for women. It has been found to relieve pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times. Cardui acts on the womanly constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up the nerves, and regulating the womanly organs. Its half century of success is due to merit. It has done good to thousands. Will you try it? It may be just what you need. Ask your druggist about Cardui. He will recommend it."
