

STILL TO HAVE ANOTHER PARTY

Prohibitionists About to Change Name

THEY ARE TRUE PROGRESSIVES

At National Convention to Open in Atlantic City Next Wednesday Leaders Will Make an Effort to Change Party Name

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 8.—Maintaining that the prohibition party is the original progressive party, a determined effort will be made by its leaders to change the party name at the national convention which opens here Wednesday.

With the prospect of a new party under the Roosevelt leadership now practically assured, prohibition leaders here in advance of the convention insist that if any party is entitled to be named progressive it is their party which ever has stood for advanced political principles.

Though the party to be formed next month in Chicago is being referred to as the progressive party, the prohibitionists point to the fact that the organization as yet unborn has not been christened and that they are entitled to the new name if any choose to take it.

The movement to re-christen the party has been considered for some time and at this convention delegates from all states are coming prepared to take a determined stand. The New York, Pennsylvania and Nebraska delegations are reported to be practically solid in favor of a change of name.

"The name of 'prohibition party' is an unfortunate one for us," said Charles R. ones, chairman of the national committee. "It is not a progressive name and does not truly reflect the party's character. We are progressive in all things. Of course our basic principle is the suppression of the liquor traffic, but even 'prohibition' does not fully express that."

"Our party is the original progressive party, and at this convention we expect to deal carefully and progressively with all the big political issues of the time."

Chairman Jones does not view the formation of a new party with alarm. "We do not believe that a third party headed by Mr. Roosevelt will have any effect upon our cause in the next campaign," he said. "Our people know that Mr. Roosevelt is not at all in sympathy with our movement."

Dr. Few Addresses Students At the Training School

Monday evening the students and friends of the TarioCE friends of the Training school enjoyed an excellent address by Pres. W. P. Few of Trinity College. His subject was: "The Moral Element in Education."

Dr. Few emphasized the importance of having more teachers who possess real building power. He said that the teacher has the greatest of all tasks and that is to deal with human personality but without a proper attitude toward her work no teacher can hope to be successful. With Brownings' poem, "A Death in the Desert," as a basis, the speaker discussed in detail what Browning calls the three souls of man—the physical, mental and spiritual; or as he expressed it, the man that acts; the man that thinks and the man that is. Of these the last is most important and must evolve from the other two. The man that is, he said, is character and it is this character that education is called upon to develop. The will of man should be so educated as to enable him to choose between right and wrong at all times. A careful study of religious principles, biography, art and literature were suggested as valuable aids toward developing the right moral element in our education.

The students of the school gave two delightful songs before the address.

JUDGE ARCHBALD IS IMPEACHED

His Removal From the Bench is Urged

HIS CONDUCT REPREHENSIBLE

Federal Jurist Ninth to be Impeached Since the Foundation of the U. S. Senator Simmons Wants Case to Proceed at Once

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Chairman Henry S. Clayton, of the committee on Judiciary of the House of Representatives, today presented to the House thirteen articles of impeachment against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States Court of Commerce. Mr. Clayton's report was unanimous for his committee.

It constitutes the ninth impeachment of the judicial or civil official of the United States since the foundation of the government and is the first since the impeachment trial of Judge Chas. Swayne of the Northern District of Florida, who was acquitted on February 27, 1905.

"The conduct of this judge has been exceedingly reprehensible and in marked contrast with the high sense of judicial ethics and probity that generally characterize the federal judiciary," the committee said in summing up its findings of misbehavior in office against Judge Archbald.

is business transactions while a judge on the bench were held to unfit him for further service on the bench and a resolution was presented impeaching him and haling him for trial before the United States senate.

"Your committee is of the opinion that Judge Archbald's sense of moral responsibility has become deadened," says the report. "He has prostituted his high office for personal profit. He has attempted by various potentialities as judge. He has shown an overwhelming desire to make gainful bargains with parties having cases before him or likely to have cases before him. To accomplish this purpose he has not hesitated to use his official power and influence. He has degraded his high office and has destroyed the confidence of the public in his judicial integrity. He has forfeited the condition upon which he holds his commission and should be removed from office by impeachment."

"A judge should be the personification of integrity, of honor and of uprightiness in his daily walk and conversation. He should hold his exalted office and the administration of justice above the cordid desire to accumulate wealth by trading or trafficking with actual or probable litigants in his court. He should be free and unaffected by any bias born of avarice."

With Chairman Clayton's report was a resolution providing for the management of the trial before the senate. The full committee designated Chairman Clayton, Representative Floyd of Arkansas; Davis of West Virginia; and Webb of North Carolina Democrats and Representatives Norris, Nebraska; Sterling of Illinois; and Howland, of Ohio, Republicans, managers to prosecute the Archbald trial before the Senate.

REPUBLICAN OFFICE HOLDERS DREAD WOODROW WILSON

ORGANIZE NATION WIDE MOVEMENT TO INDUCE PRESIDENT TAFT TO WITHDRAW FROM RACE. IF SUCCESSFUL TEDDY WILL BE ASKED TO FOLLOW SUIT AND DARK HORSE WILL BE MADE TO HEAD PARTY SPLIT BY TAFT-ROOSEVELT FIGHT. REPUBLICANS FEAR SUCCESS OF DEMOCRATS NEXT NOVEMBER.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A nation wide movement to petition President Taft to withdraw at the Republican presidential candidate is being backed by a large number of Republican office holders who feel that they face defeat in November unless the breach in the party can be healed.

These men include members of Congress, members of state legislatures which will elect senators, state and county officeholders and party candidates. If the movement to petition Mr. Taft to withdraw succeeds in gaining any volume, it is said these same men in the interest of party harmony may ask Colonel Roosevelt to withdraw as a prospective candidate for an independent nomination and permit a compromise selection of some man agreeable to both factions of the party. It is the desire of the promoters of the scheme that a decision shall be reached before August 5, when the Roosevelt faction plans to hold a convention in Chicago.

The circulation of petition, it was declared today, would start within a week. It was said the movement would begin spontaneously in every state. The organizers are now circulating blank forms of petitions and appointing supervisors, who in turn will engage canvassers to solicit the signatures of Republican voter. The authors of the plan expect to offer to practically every Republican voter in the United States a chance to express his opinion of Mr. Taft's candidacy either by signing the petition or ejecting it.

The movement is in the hands of several well known members of Congress. They are being aided by many of the extreme Roosevelt Republicans. The enlistment of the national progressive organization in the movement has been sought and it was stated today that Senator Dixon's organization was willing to co-operate.

Information that the petitions were to be put before the voters leaked out today. No particular person is authority for the statement and members of Congress concerned were unwilling to stand sponsors for it until the movement was underway.

The sponsors of the plan say one of its first results would be to let Mr. Taft know if there are any considerable number of regular Republicans who believe he should step aside in the interest of harmony.

Agree That There is No Fire in Hell

WASHINGTON, July 8.—By unanimous action today the International Bible Students Association adopted a resolution unreservedly repudiating as thoroughly unscriptural the teaching of a place, state or condition of "hell, fire and brimstone" for the torment of the wicked.

At the same time the four thousand delegates in the convention resolved that the vast majority of ministers of all Protestant denominations of the United States have privately repudiated the "hell fire" theory, but for supposedly good reasons had hesitated fully to inform their congregations. It was the sense of the convention that on this account thousands, and perhaps tens of thousands, were being driven into skepticism or infidelity.

The convention appealed to every minister in the United States to publish in his local newspaper over his signature a statement declaring whether he believed the Bible taught the doctrine of a literal "hell fire" and every newspaper editor was requested to invite the ministers of his locality to avail themselves of his newspaper columns for that purpose.

The Camping Trip of the Scouts.

We are making all arrangements for the 16th of July to leave here on that date by six in the morning to be able to reach Ramley-Hammock that night for supper if possible. Ramley-Hammock is an Island in Core Sound about 30 miles from Beaufort and three or four from Atlantic. All the boys can get their mail from Atlantic every day if need be. The island is a beautiful place with trees a plenty and a good well of water. There is one house on the island not occupied—we have the privilege of using it if we desire. I have the use of the island as long as we wish it for this summer and no one will be there but those taken from here. There is splendid fishing around there and about as little danger as any place I could find on the sound.

Capt. Salter, with his boat will be at the pier on the 16th of July to take us all there and to bring us back. The boat is large, safe, and the men are careful. The stay will not be less than ten days and maybe more. The cost will be somewhere about six or seven dollars for everything for each person, it may be a little less or a little more, however, it will be a very cheap trip. All the scouts who intend to go must have two dollars in the hands of the Scout-Master by the last of this week—this is for the boat fare round-trip. All others who go with us will have $3.50 for fare for round trip. We have allowed a few young men to go with us to be in a separate camp but on the island. All who desire to go must speak to us at

Busy Selecting Leader For Pres. Taft

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The subcommittee of nine members of the Republican national committee met early today prior to a conference with President Taft to select a national chairman and campaign manager.

The first meeting of the subcommittee at 10 a. m. was followed by a luncheon at the White ouse shortly after noon.

Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio whom the president is said to favor for the place very strongly, arrived this morning. So did Arthur I. Vorys and Al Morrill, both also of Ohio, Frank L. Smith of Springfield, Ill., Dan Campbell, postmaster of Chicago and John Wesley Hill of New York, were among other arrivals.

William Barnes, Jr., New York, state chairman, was still being considered for the place.

once as we cannot take very many outsiders. We want none but genuine gentlemen to go with us, such as we have already agreed to take. Card-playing and drinking will not be allowed, swearing and obscene language forbidden by anyone at all.

Every Scout will and must obey the Scout oath and keep the Scout laws, must obey the Scout-Master to the letter and any officer whom he may see fit to appoint. Every rule must be kept in order to insure safety. I will do my best to take care of all who go and give them a good time. We will have some one with us who understands something of medicine and have also the first-aid outfit. Will have a colored man to do the cooking and help keep camp. Let each scout carry some covering and what personal things he thinks he will need, but he must have a towel and comb and brush and a tooth brush and bathing suit or an old suit for that purpose. We would like to say to the parents that we are expecting a pleasant, nice time with the boys and no trouble at all and we will do our best to take care of your boys and if any boy does not do right you may expect to see him before the time is out to come back. The following have already signified their desire to be at the Scout's camp:

Arthur Fiekin, Lewis Arthur, Fred Outerbridge, Jack Hunter, Bruce Warren, Louis Evans, Garland Brown, Ferrell Burch, Jack Brown, H. Sheppard, D. J. Whichard, Jr., Frank Brinkley, Sherwood Ragsdale, Jennings Ragsdale, Luther Evans, Richard King, William Dupree, Jack Foley, Chandler Zahnizer, Graham and John Flanagan. Others who will take advantage of the opportunity of the trip are:

Messrs. M. Phillips, Tom Iupree, Bascom Wilson Albert Schultz, E. B. Thomas and D. J. Whichard.

THREE PAY DEATH PENALTY

Electric Chair At Ossining Does Work

ALL CONVICTED OF MURDER

Two Italians and a Negro Quickly Put to Death Same Morning in New York State Prison. All Meet Death Easily

OSSINING, N. Y., July 8.—Three men, Guiseppe Cirolli, George Williams, a negro and Sanza, were put to death in the electric chair in quick succession this morning, in the order named. All were convicted murderers.

Cirolli walked to the chair with head erect and knelt in prayer just before he was executed for his doom.

The other two men showed less composure and Sanza had to be carried and assisted to the chair.

Sanza was one of a band of six Italians convicted of the murder of Mrs. Mary Hall, wife of Henry Hall, a superintendent of construction on the Croton Aqueduct in a lonely farm house at Griffiths Corners, West Chester county in November, 1911. His companions in crime are to be executed during the week of August 12. In a letter to Governor Dix, Sanza confessed the actual murder of Mrs. Hall, but claimed he was forced to kill her by Angelo Guisto, who had accompanied him to Mrs. Hall's room and who threatened to shoot him unless he obeyed. George Williams, the negro, was convicted on circumstantial evidence of the murder of Charles Conklin, station agent of the New York Central Railroad at Croton Lake, on the night of April 8, 1911.

Cirolli stabbed Nicholas Paulo on February 4, 1911, in a shack on the Hillview reservoir at Yonkers.

Paulo died two weeks later. Four Italians were in the party and trouble arose over the cooking of macaroni.

Cirolli threatened to kill them all and stabbed one of the party. Paulo attempted to interfere and was killed.

Wilson Will Pass Up Chicago Convention

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 8.—Governor Wilson amended his declaration of last night that he "probably would not go" to Chicago to attend the meeting of the Democratic national committee with a positive statement today that he would not make the trip.

"I shan't go," he said. "I find that it is not customary and I shall remain away. Judge Hedgepeth will be my representative at the meeting."

Judge Hedgepeth is the national committeeman from New Jersey.

The governor had appointments today with William F. McComb, his campaign manager and Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, who led the Wilson fight at Baltimore. The nominee said that he intended to consult with as many party leaders as he could before deciding upon a man for the national chairmanship. Mr. McComb and Senator Gore were expected during the afternoon.

The afternoon was set aside for a luncheon and reception to the New Jersey delegates to Baltimore all of whom the governor hoped would attend.

Word reached the governor during the forenoon that former Senator Smith would not come to Sea Girt with the other New Jersey delegates. The governor was told that Mr. Smith had said he had not received an invitation and that he knew nothing more of the matter than he had read in the newspapers. To this the governor replied that he had asked E. E. Crosscup, chairman of the delegation, to invite every delegate and he was under the impression that Mr. Crosscup had told him he had done so.

Our Special Washington Letter COMMENT ON CURRENT EVENTS

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Prospects for an appropriation from Congress for the annual army maneuvers this summer have of late improved in the opinion of army officers here. The general staff already is preparing the problems for the militia and regular army contingents to work out and the War College has been instructed to draw up plans for regular sham battles at all of the regular camps.

appropriation already made providing that the maneuvers be held for the militia, but there is no appropriation to pay the expenses of transporting the regular troops. As it is impossible in the law to hold military maneuvers without the presence of the regular troops, the appropriations already made would be nullified if the appropriation for the regulars were not made. So until congress reconsiders its action and makes provisions for both the regulars and the militia, no military maneuvers can be held.

From the offices of General Wood in the War Department, it is ascertained on good authority that the appropriations will be made by Congress, but from the Capitol comes the alarming news that the Democrats in the House of Representatives are not favorable to the expenditure of over $1,350,000 to pay the expenses of the annual military camp maneuvers.

The president vetoed the army appropriation bill as it passed congress because of the clause it contained legislating General Leonard Wood, Chief of the military maneuvers, was contained in the bill, minus the clause providing for the maintenance of the regular troops. At present there is no appropriation whatever, either for the upkeep of the army, or for the payment of any branch of the military service.

Demands, however, are being made from all sections of the United States upon representatives and senators that Congress pass the necessary legislation to provide funds for these joint summer camps. Adjutant Generals of various states and governors of practically every state in the union, as well as railroad interests, have petitioned congress to make the appropriations. The influence thus exerted by army officers predict, will compel congress to desist in its efforts to cut the appropriations out annually made for these maneuvers. The efficiency of the militia as well as the interests that is engendered among the members of the various state military organizations, it is pointed out, will be set back if congress refuses to provide for the expenses of the summer outings of the various militia troops.

Nearly 100,000 militiamen are personally interested in the maneuvers some of which are due to begin soon. They are not inclined to view with complacency the upsetting of all their plans through the failure of Congress to provide the necessary revenue. Consequently army officers expect that a howl of protest will be heard and that many congressmen will be importuned to vote for a new army appropriation bill before congress adjourned.

According to the law recently passed by Congress, it is necessary that regular troops be sent with the militia to their summer camps. There is an

SCHOOL MUST BE ENLARGED

East Carolina Teachers Training school is not only a great blessing to teachers desiring to equip themselves for more efficient work in the school room, but is also helpful to all people accessible to it through its lecture courses.

Congress is going to institute impeachment proceedings against Judge R. W. Archibald, of the United States commerce court.

The Raleigh Times says "people in a live town never boast of its cemetery". At the same time live people prefer a town that pays proper respect to its cemetery and has a decent place to plant its citizens after it is through with them.

Greenville should have no stand still periods in the march of progress, but keep going forward. One way to do this is for Carolina Club to take on more of the business spirit again and go after something.

With the Democratic party, the Republican party, Roosevelt's new party, the Prohibition party, the Socialist party and perhaps two or three other kinds of parties, all having national tickets in the field, their ought to be enough candidates to bring all the rotters out at the coming election.

Governor Wilson, (we will call him president after the fourth of March) knows where the shoe pinches the average man. He says the high cost of living is the burning issue of the hour and that at its heart lies the high protective tariff.

One of the planks in the Democratic national platform, adopted at Baltimore, pledges the party to one presidential term, not allowing an incumbent in office to succeed himself.

It is just two weeks to the meeting of the State Press Association at Morehead and a good program has been arranged for it.

The colonel has had a call issued for a convention to be held in Chicago, August 5th, to organize a new party and ultimately to nominate him as its candidate for president.

Colonel Roosevelt puts North Carolina down as one of the states he thinks he will carry, but he has another think coming to him.

Now that the convention season is over, the Viterbo, Italy, date line with the Camorra trial has come back into prominence.

Sea Girl, Beverly and Oyster Bay are the three date lines that instantly attract attention.

Flies and mosquitoes are both shining marks against which to wage warfare.

Editorial of Human Interest

By Arthur Brisbane

THE TOO LITTLE AND THE TOO MUCH Part II

The wise Politicians, Democrats and Republicans, have met and discussed and fought about their candidates. The high cost of living and the high tariff, the power of organized money, and the tyranny of organized industry—These are some of the topics dealt with.

You see parched fields beside the great river—because the water is not put upon them. And you see parched and sad human souls on the edge of a great river of unlimited wealth—suffering because it is not distributed.

One single state in this union could provide for the needs of all the people in the country—and for many more—if the state were cultivated properly and the products properly distributed.

The manufactured products of another great state in America have increased in a short period fourteen hundred per cent; the production of wealth of valuable needed manufactured articles of that state has increased ten times as rapidly as the population.

That is the state of New York. Yet, while the production of wealth has been ten times more rapid than the production of human beings, the happiness of the people has not increased.

Wealth multiplied by a per centage ten times greater than the increase of population should mean the multiplication of ten by of well being and general happiness. But that does not happen.

The added wealth goes to the accumulation of wealth, goes constantly to increase the store of those who have too much and little, of any, of it goes to make happier the lives of those those that carry the burden of too little.

This is the real problem of the world, the distribution of wealth and the increase of happiness. And it is the problem about which, although they may talk of it and think that they claim that they plan to remedy it, the so called big politicians and states men feel not at all.

Their plans are for those who have enough. They try to protect the man fairly well to do against the man very well to do. They are deeply interested in the mechanic who has five dollars a day and in the manufacturer who needs five millions to increase his business.

But not one of them thinks or plans sufficiently for the man who has a dollar or a dollar and a half a day, for the children whose playground is the gutter, whose only knowledge of government is the policeman with his club telling them that they must not be happy.

We have a nation in which men are kept down because women compete with them in their labor, glad to work for starvation wages. And, each competing with the other, the men are kept too poor to marry and the women are kept too poor for happiness and health.

And nobody plans seriously to change that condition.

What shall be the tariff on steel and on lumber?

How shall we punish those who combine to charge five millions of profits into fifty millions by freezing out competitors?

What shall we do to the railroads that give better rates to one company than another?

These are the questions that our conventions and our statesmen deal with.

But they do not deal with these other questions.

What shall we do to prevent forty thousand children in one year, in one single city, being infected with the taint of tuberculosis?

What shall we do to protect the health of children and of mothers that see the children dies unnecessarily?

What shall we do to arrange the distribution of the earth's products so that a fair day's work by those willing to work will give a descent living to a wife and her children?

What shall we do to protect those that are herded in tenement houses, living without light or air—and dying unnecessarily?

What shall we do to make life worth while to the vast number of human beings to whom it is only a worry, a curse, a sorrow and a discomfort?

The few have too much, the many have too little—yet there is plenty for both, if it were only distributed.

What party, what convention, what gathering of wise men will work earnestly to solve this problem—the increased distribution of the wealth of the world, now that the problem of production has been solved absolutely?

Slowly the problem will be solved, and the dreadful contrast in this picture become a thing of the past.

But the change will come very slowly. For it will come only as men are lifted up as a whole, not lifted in classes, as one might lift the roof of a building and leave the foundation low.

Education, intelligent voting from below, unselfish action from above, the use of machinery as the slave of the people and not merely as the profit earner of few, will settle the question in time—a long time.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rann.

THE SUMMER RESORT

THE summer resort is a species of delirium which is bounded on the north by a and on the west by a $3 table d'hotel. It is the first place people go to when sand beach, on the east by a bowery dance, on the south by a love at first sight they want to shed a little carking care and rest up. There is nothing to do at a summer resort except rest and pay. Some people buy so much rest at one of these resorts that they are soiled for work for all eternity and most of the suburbs. It requires a god deal of preparation to rig up for a summer resort so that old timers won't think you have just broken out of the hay field. A man has to have a change ig pique shirts for every hour in the day, a willing baritone voice, an appetite for George Barr McCrutecheon and an ability to fall in love with everybody on the grounds who is over fourteen and under ninety. All the lady summer resorts needs is a languishing look and a large storage capacity for platonic piffle. A good looking man with natural hair and expens clothing doesn't have much chance to recuperate at a summer resort, as he is chased from bathing beach to the golf links by a bevy of unfettered and determined females, who outnumber him in the ratio of 16 to 1 and seek his views on matrimony. Every summer resort has a large majority of fetching young women and slowly fading splinters and a great many men of light mind and giddy manner attend every year in order to see how many times they can become engaged without putting up any diamonds as collateral. Once in a while somebody takes a summer resort proposal seriously and starts something in the district court, offering as exhibits considerable mental anguish and a bleeding heart but this does not happen often enough to cause any falling off in the attendance. Summer resorts are increasing and so are the hotel rates, but both put good money into circulation that other wise would be stagnating at 4 per cent.

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

"The Most Available Democrat."

A New Birth of Freedom

The nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President means a new Democracy. It means a new epoch in American self-government.

The Democratic party at last has broken its shackles. It has emancipated itself. It has rehabilitated itself in power in principle. It has turned its face to the rising sun, to re-establish the faith of the American people in their own institutions.

Woodrow Wilson will be the next President of the United States. But he will be more than that. He will be the first President of the United States in a generation to go into office owing favor to nobody except the American people and under obligations to nothing except the general welfare.

No political boss brought about his nomination. No political machine carried his candidacy to victory. No coterie of Wall street financiers provided the money to finance his campaign. He has no dept to pay to corrupt business. He was nominated by the irresistible force of public opinion, and by that alone. He stands before the country a free man.

The American people have set out to regain possession of their government, and Woodrow Wilson was nominated for President because he embodies that issue. The bosses and the plutocrats who tried to prevent his nomination were beaten by the power of a nated aim is the power that will elect the people, and the power that nomin-

With Woodrow Wilson as the Democratic candidate for President it makes no difference what Mr. Roosevelt does. It makes no difference how many third parties he organizes. Progressive Democrats and progressive Republicans now have a candidate of their own. The contest between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft is now a contest for the control of the Republican organization, and nothing more.

The menace of a third term no longer hangs the country. The menace of personal government no longer threatens American institutions. The United States is not to be Mexicanized. It is to be re-Americanized.

It is because Gov. Wilson represents this vital principle that The World so persistently urged his nomination. It is because Gov. Wilson represents this principle that the opposition with-

Sharp Fight in Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, July 9.—This most famous of the worlds seaside resorts has experienced another sensation, and it is safe to say that nothing has ever aroused its inhabitants to such a high pitch of excitement as today's municipal election—the first to be held under the commission form of government.

The commission form was adopted about a month ago following the exposure of alleged grafters in municipal affairs that would have put to shame the political ringsters in some of the large cities of the country. The exposure was largely brought about by Detective Wm. Burns and his dictatorship.

When all the evidence of alleged graft had been made public the better element among the citizens decided that they had had enough of the old order of things and turned to the commission form as the best remedy of the fight.

On June 11 a primary was held for the nomination of ten candidates for members of the board of Commissioners, and today's election was held for the selection of five of the ten. The five will comprise the board.

in the party was forced to surrender. It is because Gov. Wilson represents this principle that he will be triumphantly elected in November. Such a man is imperatively needed, and the American people, true to their traditions in every crisis, have again found him.

Gov. Wilson's nomination means that the rule of the boss is over. It means that the partnership between corrupt politics and corrupt business in national politics is forcibly dissolved. It means that the old regime of protection to Privilege and Plutocracy is on the scaffold. It means that the old gods are dead.

The United States is back to the benediction pronounced by Abraham Lincoln on the battlefield of Gettysburg—"That this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Press Comment

The Way It Looks

If Governor Kitchin subscribes to what the state platform says about Senator Simms why there would be no need in his running for the job, and if the members of the senate convention would adopt such labored under the impression that the people should accept their action as final, its queer why they called a senatorial primary.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Knocking in the Head

For a long time Statesville has enjoyed the distinction of being the only real dry town in the state, but company is coming for it. Regardless of the fact that the rattlesnake season is at hand, Charlotte has decided to knock in the head of the antidote barrel. Statesville is to be robbed of its distinction on July 1.—Charlotte Observer.

Where He Is Dependable

One thing about Colonel Roosevelt—you can always depend upon him to start something every little while. It is safe to bet he meant something by what woman's suffrage declaration yesterday. We have no doubt mature conviction lies behind it, but it is a good gamble he saw some excellent reason for launching it at that particular moment.—Asheville Gazette-News.

It is a Dog Fight

All indications now point to a regular dog fight in the Chicago convention. It Taft intends to take the nomination, whether entitled to it or not, the progressive crowd is going to raise shindy. A solution would be to kick both candidates out of the ring and nominate another but Taft will not submit to it, neither will Roosevelt at least he says so, but what he says and what he does are different matters. He would be delighted to keep Taft out.—Greensboro Revord.

Social and Personal

Would You
If someone else should say to you
That somewhere else the crops that grew
Was each of them as big as two
That you have ever grown
If someone else should come and yell
Some other town up-state a spell
Is twice as good looks twice as well,
As this you're living at;
Some other town the man repeats,
Has better people on its streets,
While yours at home are sharks and cheast,
How would you answer that?
If someone knocked the friends you had,
Now wouldn't you be pretty mad?
If some folks some other day
Should sometimes write to you and say
Their goods they almost give away,
And are all No. 1;
That's there are better than the brands
Right here in your own merchant's hands,
That he a robber's price demands,
While they sell goods for fun—
If someone wrote like that to you,
Would you believe such stuff is true?

Advertising

Is the connecting link between the merchant and customer—it is the merchant's salesman.

Goods snugly resting on a shelf are very need of circulating.

A Secret has better chance to travel than the goods of a merchant who will not talk about them all the time. The up-to-gold—all right, but in much like a miser's date merchant looks to advertising like the aphone. Advertising enlarges the circle of merchant's business, announcer to his megaphone strengthens the volume of the voice. Both multiply the chances of a hearing. In grand father's time advertising was not thought of. But in grandfather's time competition was slight. Today it is so keen that a merchant must look out else the edge of competition may separate him from his business. Be sure to tell the people what you have, why you have it, and what they can have it for. This is vital to your business. Also when telling the people use a medium that will reach them with your message of intelligence.

From Woman's View-Point

The blouse waist permits a woman to go corsetless into the waves. But the bathing corset is most generally used, not only for the support it affords, but no woman feels really comfortable minus her stays—unless she has been built on the lines of the Venus de Milo or is so thin that she cannot accurately determine whether she has indigestion or a backache when assailed by pain.

The neat trim little figure never shows to better advantage than in bathing attire. A black silk skirt and waist with white trimmings, low neck and short sleeves, a jaunty cap or kerchief makes any woman look fetching, but the fit is important.

No self-respecting woman will grace down the beach in a hired blue flannel suit. A Goddess couldn't overcome the baggy time-worn effect and even one's stockings, a gay kerchief and a special belt will not cover the pronounced hired stamp.

If you are going into the water only once a season, it pays to have the suit made. A pretty combination is blue mohair with collar, cuffs and cravat of red plaid with cap to match. The all red bathing suit is too conspicuous but a touch of red here and there is dashing and effective.

I do not advocate any stockings other than black ones. Red or white, while much seen, are not in good taste, and unless they are silk, and held up unusually taut, they do not come out of the water in as good shape (?) as the black ones.

Sandals with braid crossed over the instep are ugly. A low pump held in place by elastic over the instep has supplanted the Greek idea, which rarely remained Greek after the first plunge.

Some daring ones essay bare feet, but few care to thus challenge attention and the well fitting stocking and bathing shoe are far more desirable.

A frilly cap is allowable, or the piquant bonnet that has appeared on some of the beaches.

A good plan in the water and out of it, is to bear in mind what is most personally becoming and adhere to it, remembering that modesty as well as modishness is a desideratum.

Girls Bathing Suit

The design illustrated shows a most becoming and stylish surf suit for a young girl. The full blouse waist has a fancy sailor collar and the open neck is filled in by a shield which may be omitted if desired. The skirt is full and the bloomers worn underneath are gathered at the knee by an elastic. The materials most in use for these garments are silk, cravenette, mohair, flannel and sergo. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 4, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 6 1-2 yards of 30 inch material for the 10 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

the necessity of selling such products when they are fresh at a season when the market is glutted and prices way down. Many housewives, with the aid of members of the family, can sell fruits and vegetables at a nice profit.

The other side is thus explained by a Kansas housewife: Does it pay? Is it worth while to cook and can all the hot summer, so that we may feast during the winter? The time was when much of the canned goods offer for sale was of a poor quality, but since we have the pure food law we can tell much better what we are buying. Last year late blackberries, peaches and roasting ears all needed to be cared for at the same time. The fruit I left that I must take care of, but the roasting ears were sent to market and exchanged for canned corn. No one made any objection when it was brought to the table, so probably I will follow the same practice again this year. One year I did the same with tomatoes. When they ripened other work was on hand, and as the tomatoes would not keep I sent them to the store and was sent canned ones instead. When buying, it is wise to buy a good grade of anything—the cheapest is often the dearest.

Danger of Farm Exodus

By THEODORE P. SHONTS,

Unnatural Life of City People

President of Interborough Rapid Transit Co. of New York

WITHOUT attempting to analyze at too great length all of the new conditions which have led to the disruption in some degree of family influence it may be sufficient to advert to a dominating factor—that is to say, the GENERAL EXODUS FROM RURAL SURROUNDINGS, where home life is naturally effective, to populous communities, where the social environment is necessarily less intimate and its influence at once DIFFUSE AND HARMFUL.

This condition has brought with it a spirit of uneasiness. The cost of living has raised in consequence, and mutterings of restlessness are heard on all sides.

THE SPIRIT OF UNREST IS ABROAD ALSO. IT IS A UNIVERSAL SIGN OF THE TIMES. IT IS NOT CONFINED TO THIS LAND ALONE. IT IS WORLDWIDE.

Kitchen Craft

Velvet Cream

Two tablespoonfuls of gelatine dissolved in half a tumbler of water, one pint of rich cream, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, flavor with vanilla or extract of rose water. Put in molds and set on ice. It may be served with or without cream.

Frozen Peaches

One quart soft peaches; one lemon; one pound sugar; one quart water. Mix well and freeze. Freeze cherries in same way.

Cherry Ice

One and one-half quarts of fine or morello cherries; one pound of sugar. Stone cherries and mash them. Crack one dozen stones, take out the kernels; bruise them and mash them to a paste, then add them to the cherries; let them stand for an hour and strain through a bay under pressure. Sift the sugar and water together for five minutes then stand aside to coll. When cold mix with cherry juice and freeze. This will serve six persons.

A Perplexing Problem

To can or not to can—that is the question. Whether 'tis wiser in the mind of the housewife to pickle, to preserve, to can, or to spend her time upon the piazza, magazine in hand and buy canned goods from the nearest grocery? The question is ably discussed in a recent issue of Farm and Home. A new England housekeeper writes:

I greatly deplore the tendency of the modern housewife to feed her family on boughten "canned stuff." Instead of doing her own canning, preserving and pickling as her mother and grandmother used to do. It seems to me not only an unthrifty way, but one actually deleterious to the health of the family, for in spite of the pure food laws we know that much stuff that is not good or healthful finds its way into cans, and for which we must pay a high price.

The farmer should, whether possible, produce what he consumes, and sell the surplus to best advantage. The stuff from garden and orchard, canned at home, generally finds a ready nearby market, and obviates

The Greenville Tobacco market will probably sell 14,000,000 pounds of tobacco this year, or 5,000,000 pounds more than last year. This meant a strenuous planting campaign by our farmers.
