Roosevelt and Johnson Are At Once Notified That They Are The Party's Choice. Lots of Money to be Had

CHICAGO, August 8.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, presidential nominee of the new Progressive National party and the active managers of the Progressive campaign remained in Chicago today, although most of the delegates to the third party's first national convention had started for their homes. Members of the notification committee appointed by the various state delegations also remained in the city together with the members of the Progressive national committee.

The notification committee members met Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California, the Progressive vice presidential nominee, at a reception arranged in their honor. The notification ceremonies informally took place last evening at the Coliseum when the two heads of the ticket appeared before the cheering throngs at the national convention to accept the recently made nominations.

The members of the national committee planned to hold an important meeting, although they had been in conference last night when United States Senator Jos. M. Dixon, was selected as chairman and O. K. Davis of Washington, D. C., was named secretary who was in charge of the progressive publicity bureau during the pre-convention campaign, was general secretary of the national convention. Colonel Roosevelt, who repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the enthusiastic outcome of the convention, left for New York at 2:30 o'clock. He will rest at his Oyster Bay home until the beginning of the campaign when he will tour all of the western states and make speeches for the cause while Governor Johnson of California is doing the same thing in the eastern states.

The Progressives launched into their active campaign plans with a vim. Some of the state delegations to the convention did not wait until they had returned to their homes to begin the work of organizing their states. The Wisconsin delegation and others met immediately after adjournment of the convention and selected a state executive committee. In several instances state leaders telegraphed orders before departing from Chicago for the beginning of active campaign work.

The national leaders today went in to all the details of organization for the national campaign including the location of headquarters, the mapping out of speaking tours by well known Progressives and the subject of finances. Geo. W. Perkins of New York and others declared that there would be no trouble in arranging for adequate financial support.

The spirit and enthusiasm generated during the last three days at the convention hall were dominant in the meetings and conferences today and everywhere were heard expressions of confidence in the outlook for the new party.

Miss Jane Addams of Chicago and other suffrage leaders were among those who expressed more than hope for the Progressives, in the fall elections. Many predicted that the aid of the suffragates would be one of the biggest factors in the final determination of the presidential election.

If in the tumult and shouting yesterday Colonel Roosevelt had any doubt that he was effectively nominated for the presidency he was assured today when a committee of notification met him early this morning at his hotel.

Though the Colonel had been informally notified yesterday when he went to the convention and delivered his speech of acceptance, the delegates who had been selected from the states and territories as a formal committee of notification wished to carry out their part of the program today. Mr. Roosevelt was the center of a lively group in the main lobby of the hotel when the committee arrived. With Governor Hiram Johnson of

RULER OF HAYTI

BURNED TO DEATH

PALACE CAUGHT FIRE FROM EXPLOSION OF POWDER MAGAZINE NEAR BY

400 SUBJECTS DIE WITH HIM

PORT au PRINCE, HAYTI, AUGUST 8.—GENERAL CINCINNATUS LECONTE, PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF HAYTI, PERISHED IN A FIRE WHICH DESTROYED THE NATIONAL PALACE.

IT WAS CAUSED BY AN EXPLOSION OF THE POWDER MAGAZINE ATTACHED TO THE PALACE.

The shock of the explosion shattered the palace. Fire followed quickly on the explosion and the palace, which was a wooden structure, was consumed within half an hour. During the fire there was a great number of explosions of munitions of war which had been stored in the cellars below the palace.

All the houses around the palace were greatly damaged by the explosion. The members of the family of the president all of whom were in the palace at the time, were saved but President Leconte himself perished in the flames.

Consternation reigns among the population, but no disorders have occurred.

The military authorities are maintaining order in the town. Both the Chamber and the Senate have been called together in national assembly, and probably will nominate a successor to President Leconte.

General Tancrede Auguste, who is a Senator and was formerly minister of public works and Senator Duxenburg Cauvin, formerly minister of the interior are candidates for the office. The cause of the explosion of the powder magazine has not been ascertained.

Henderson Jail Birds Take French Leave

HENDERSON, Aug. 8.—A bold jail delivery was effected here at noon today when the Vance county jailer entered the prison to carry dinner to prisoners, who was overpowered and one white man held for murder and five negroes walked out. The prisoners sawed their way through small cells and were massed in the corridor, surprising the jailer and easily putting him out of commission. One white man and a negro refused to leave, though every avenue to freedom was open. The single white man who made a get away was Frank Singleton, held for the murder of a man named Ellington near Dabney a few weeks ago.

A sheriff and citizens pose was quickly organized, but up to night the search instituted had been futile. With the closing of the net which has been laid, however, it is believed the majority of the jail birds will be retaken.

Crops are badly needing rain. It looked this afternoon that some would come, but there was only a shower.

Tobacco Crop Devoured By Flames

A report reaches us that the entire tobacco crop of Mr. L. C. Mills, a prominent farmer of the Black Jack section was consumed by flames early this week. Housing the tobacco had been finished and a leaf escaped the voracious element. According to information gathered the crop was not insured. We deplore the misfortune and tender Mr. Mills our heartfelt sorrow in his misfortune.

Report That Murderer of Belverdire Boy Has Confessed

Angry Tar Heel Mob Threatens Lynching

NAVAL RESERVES CALLED OUT

Identification of Murdered Boy Led to by Bicycle Which He Left Near Spot Where Body of Youth Was Found

BELVIDERE, N. C., Aug. 8.—Menaced by a crowd of angry Carolinians, Ben F. Vann, who is said to have confessed that he shot and killed Oliver Layden who has been missing from his home in this city since July 11, was placed in an automobile and rushed to the state prison in Raleigh for safe keeping.

The mysterious disappearance of young Layden cleared up when Vann is said to have confessed has aroused all Eastern North Carolina and for a while threats of lynching were heard.

The boy, a son of a farmer of Belvidere, Perquimans county, was found dead in the woods two miles from Belvidere. His body was unrecognizable but Sunday school books, pictures and letters on his person betrayed his identity. Three bullet holes were found in his body and near him were two bicycles. The horrible discovery was made near noon and the officer's suspected Vann. Upon what the suspicion rests, likewise the motive for the crime, nobody knows. The officers have not been able to furnish the cause for the killing.

The boy left Sunday school three weeks ago Sunday. He had recited in the class and had been given the lessons for future Sundays. He never returned to dinner. His father, at first thought nothing strange of it, but later decided that the young fellow had decided to see something of the world.

For several succeeding days, though worried, he thought of no such thing as murder. Things began to happen this week that indicated kidnapping, and the community was put to work on it. Yesterday morning near the Norfolk Southern track, in the woods, two miles from Belvidere and about 15 miles from Hertford, the decomposed, almost skeleton body of young Layden was found.

The clothes and bones were all that were left to identify the murdered boy but in his pocket were found a Sunday school quarterly with his name in it, his picture and several other things which make identification possible.

In his coat were found two bullet holes, one apparently just above the other in the right side. One of the

Senator Lorimer is Some (Expensive Senator

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—An allowance of $35,000 or $40,000 may be made by the Senate to help William Lorimer defray the expenses of his three year fight to retain his seat. Mr. Lorimer has turned in bills amounting to $100,000 or $125,000. They have been referred to the investigating committee which will make a statement to the Senate probably tomorrow that certain items amounting from $35,000 to $40,000 would be fair allowance if an be made.

Six Hundred Miners Caught in Germany

BOCHUM, Germany, Aug. 8.—The bodies of seven dead miners had, by two o'clock this afternoon been brought up from the Lorraine pit of the coal field near the village of Gerthe, where a fire damp explosion imprisoned a large number of men early this morning.

Sixteen miners also have been brought out to the surface suffering from serious injuries.

The extent of the disaster could not be estimated by the officials in charge of the rescue work who expressed the opinion that most of the men were caged in the various levels but were unhurt.

Six hundred and fifty miners were imprisoned today in the Lorraine pit of the coal field of which the center is the village of Gerthe, about four miles from this city.

The day shift of 650 men had just descended into the workings and were distributing themselves along the various levels when a serious fire damp explosion occurred.

The detonation was heard at the surface and the officials on duty immediately former rescue parties of the men belonging to the night shift who rushed back to the pit mouth together with the villagers.

Draught of District Attorney's Investigation Closing About The Men Higher Up in the Police System

NEW YORK, August 8.—Cumulative evidence piling up before the grand jury investigating police blackmail is said to involve four or five police officials and that indictments soon will be drawn.

Witnesses examined by District Attorney Whitman have furnished much corroboration to the confession of Jack Rose who gave a list of names of gamblers upon whom he charged Police Lieutenant Becker levied blackmail.

Several gamblers were before the public prosecutor and unwillingly admitted that they had paid blackmail to certain inspectors. One of the witnesses told Mr. Whitman that he had been threatened with death if he went before the grand jury and gave information about the police.

These witnesses said that these inspectors dealt directly with the big gambling houses, leaving Lieutenant Becker to attend to the small places.

District Attorney Whitman said today that evidence would be presented to the grand jury against several police inspectors. One of these inspectors is said to have kept such close watch on the gambling houses that he even examined the books and made them pay blackmail according to their profits.

Bridgie Webber now admits that he also collected toll from certain uptown gambling houses for a police inspector. Webber's life has been threatened and District Attorney Whitman has provided him with a special guard.

Rose has sent word to the public prosecutor that he is prepared to identify the four murderers of Herman Rosenthal. Until now Rose was not ready to say that he could positively identify the gunmen.

Chief Inspector Hughes
Chief Inspector Edward P. Hughes, head of the detective bureau, has broken down under the strain of the Rosenthal case and is seriously ill at his home in Brooklyn of pluro-pneumonia.

He caught cold on a hurried trip to the Catskill with a squad of detectives made in the hope of rounding up the last of the murderers. His condition was weakened at the same time by lack of sleep and while in the mountains he was thinly clad.

Alderman Curran, chairman of the special committee of the Board of Aldermen, appointed to investigate police conditions, said today that the committee would call before it not only gamblers, but the owners of places where gambling went on.

$1700 IN CASH IS MISSING

Make Raid in Old Woman's Hut and "Clean Up". Mrs. Hicks Not Entirely Broke as She Still Has $20,000 in the Bank

DURHAM, Aug. 8.—A robbery of $1,700 in cash from Mrs. Hawkins Hicks was reported to the county officers this morning. According to the reports given the sheriff and his deputies some one entered the home of the old woman, who lives in Hicks town, west of this city, and took a trunk containing her money from one of the rooms early this morning. The robbers took the trunk into a nearby field and rifled it of the valuables and the money. Mrs. Hicks is a very old woman and of a miserly nature. She was known to have a lot of money. Her husband, who died many years ago, left a farm near the city which has become a very valuable lot of land with the growth of the city.

She has recently sold off a part of her land receiving $15,000 for it. Her bank book, which was in the trunk and it showed a balance of about $20,000 in the bank. The robbers did not attempt to bother this.

The old lady lives with her son, Jim Hicks, in a ramshackable hut, which is very old and easily entered by robbers. The son reported the robbery to the officers this morning several hours after it occurred. He said he heard a noise in the house and went out to make an investigation. He went into the room in which he heard the noise and as he entered the door the robbers knocked him senseless and then carried out their plans. The old lady says she did not know anything of the robbery until she got up this morning. They have a number of pretty bad dogs about the house and people as a rule are afraid to go there in the day time much less at night. No one can be found who heard the dogs raising any commotion. The officers have been working on the case, but have no clue as to the identity of the men who took the old woman's money.

REFLECTOR READERS PLEASED

(By J. F. Stokes)

Editor Reflector.

Wednesday's paper was a decided improvement over what the paper had been for the several issues preceding in news, accuracy and make-up. The reduction in size is meeting with the approval of your readers.

If I size the situation up correctly and I think I do—your readers expect The Reflector to be the newest, brightest, snappiest paper for its size and appointment printed in the State. I tell them that this is what we expect to make of it.

Your declaration in Wednesday's paper not to show any favoritism in our triangular Senatorial contest has been favorably commented upon. It was feared—owing to an editorial clipping from Kinston Free Press, published in The Reflector Monday—that you were about to take a decided stand for Senator Simmons and against Governor Kitchin. But now the friends of Governor Kitchin are heartened that you have given assurance that there will be no partiality shown.

It is reported that it was stated by Will Evans at Pictou a few days ago that two petitions were sent to the last Legislature. One of 200 names was for the stock law, and one of 600 names against the stock law. Now if Evans said that he evidently thought that his audience was the most ignorant bunch that ever assembled anywhere, for such is as far from the truth that the Devil himself could not have thought of it. Our information is that not only was there no petition sent up against the stock law during that legislature session, but that not a dissenting voice even reached either of our representatives against the enactment of the law. I expect Billy was thinking about that road petition. Whether running for office or published in The Reflector Monday—not, it is better to plumb the track or that you were about to take a decided stand for Senator Simmons and against Governor Kitchin. THE NATIONAL TICKET

SWITCH ON THE LIGHT

In this issue of The Reflector we publish a notice to the Democratic candidates of Pitt county. This notice is perfectly timely and bears reproduction in this part of the paper.

It reads:

Notice to Candidates

To the Democratic Candidates of Pitt County that have announced themselves for County Commissioners, Legislators and Senators:

Dear Sirs: As the primary is drawing near we ask and insist that you let us know your position as to the stock law, bond issue and whatever your platform may contain and same be published in the Daily Reflector from now until the primary.

This the 7th day of August, 1912.

Your truly,

MANY VOTERS.

The curiosity of these Many Voters is most natural. They evidently want to cast their vote for that or those candidates whose views on the principal issues of Pitt county are in accordance with theirs. They have a perfect right to demand enlightenment on the situation. At the same time they are doing the candidates justice and in a measure they are trying to help them win votes that without the enlightenment requested of them they might miss.

It is all very well for a prominent citizen of the county to affix his name to a notice and in this manner appraise the voters of the county that the signer is in line for one of the positions in the state's capital. To judge from above notice the voters do not think that this formality fills the bill. And what is more, the voters are perfectly right.

It is not simply necessary to express a wish to fill any of the positions in question. The candidate owes the voters who are to elect him the enlightenment that will bring candidate and voters into a closer acquaintanceship. The candidates' views on questions of interest to the county where the voter resides is necessary. Furthermore the candidate must fearlessly tell the voters what he intends to do, granted that he is elected to the office he seeks. He must come out of his present office and without a useless preliminary beat about the bush tell the voters how he intends to behave from the elevated position he is trying to scale.

A candidate's honesty of purpose may be beyond impeachment. He may mean the best in the world. His heart may be filled with well wishes for the people he wants to represent. But, how is the voter going to know all these good things about the candidate if he (the candidate) remains at home and emulates a dummy?

On the other hand we can say that we don't recommend the Bull Moose methods employed in present day campaigning. Let the candidate simply reach the voters, through word of mouth and in composed terms, or through statements in the local press just what he stands for.

Light of this nature is bound to rebound in the favor of those that switch it on the present campaign.

There is an outlook for a good corn crop this year, and the opportunity is before the farmers to save an abundance of hay. With such a condition as this, Pitt county should not have to put money in Western corn and hay. Enough for use and to spare can be raised at home.

Don't let politics or anything else make you forget that farmers' meeting net Thursday. How to improve the farm and make better crops, is or should be of more importance to the farmer than who is to be senator or governor or any other officer.

As the colonel had his own convention called for the purpose, wonder if it will be necessary to set another date to notify him that he was nominated by the moozers.

It does not speak well for Charlotte, the best city in the state, that there is yet $10,000 of last year's taxes due in the town and township.

Deliver us from the suggestion that rubbing the nose on the forehead be substituted for kissing.

The man who is careful of what he says need not stand in much fear of the dictograph.

T. R.'s convention was a noisy affair. Of course Bull Mooses were expected to bellow.

When that hotel is completed you are going to see many things coming Greenville's way.

If everybody wanting an office could get it, then perhaps all would be satisfied.

Charlotte gets the Republican state convention and will take care of it all right.

Wonder why they will call the suffragette members of the Bull Moose party.

If Greenville's young set are not having a good time, appearances are deceitful.

It is time somebody was talking about an opera house for Greenville.

Moosey, moosey, who's moosey.

Catch the clean up spirit and push it along.

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

"The Most Available Democrat."

Gov. Wilson's Decision.

Considerable comment has been caused by the recent decision of Democratic Nominee Woodrow Wilson not to interfere in any part of the state fights. The Democratic press as well as some of the papers of other political parties, which says that the One of the most outspoken is the decision of Governor Wilson not to take sides or mix in the local contests of his party in various State is wisely made an ad should be producer of party unity. Old and experienced politicians know that it is best to move along the lines of least resistance, but the Governor of New Jersey, as a recent figure in politics, seems to have grasped this point without being urged.

different from that of his two leading rivals, for Mr. Taft even now is refusing to countenance a Republican factional fusion on the State ticket in Ohio, while Mr. Roosevelt appears to be suggesting candidates for local offices to those who come from afar to consult him.

The Democratic candidate is quite right in deciding to mind his own affairs and let the local contests be decided as they may. The old-fashioned Democratic doctrine of States' rights can be broadly construed to extend to political interference by a Presidential candidate, and so the Governor is doubtly right in announcing that he will keep his hands off. His decision ought to be significant sign that he does not aspire to be a dominating political boss.—Ledger Dispatch.

Baseball is Expensive

Baseball seems to be a most expensive "luxury" in the Carolina Association this year. Just as soon as it is mentioned that Anderson had gotten in shape to hold out the remainder of the season here comes Greenville with the announcement that they are "broke" and over a thousand in the "hole" and if somebody doesn't come to the rescue they will turn over the franchise to the association. Gas at High Point.

If the machinery men adjust the machinery at the gas plant, as they are under contract to do, this month as it now appears, then we will see the new gas plant in operation by September 1. In putting in the gas main, the W. N. The work of cutting up the streets and replacing them is very costly.—High Point Enterprise.

Speaking about the figure thirteen, here is a true story. An engineer on the Southern was called on the 13th of the month and at 5:13; at 6:13 he reported for duty and signed order No. 13; had a wreck at the 13th mile post, near High Point at 9:13 when 13 cars jumped the track, but no one was killed. THE VALUE OF SOLITUDE.

Part 2.

Don't be a sheep or a deer. Don't devote your hours to the company and conversation of those who know as little as you do. Don't think hard only when you are trying to remember a popular song or to decide on the color of your winter overcoat or necktie. Remember that you are an individual, not a grain of dust or a blade of grass. Don't be a sheep; be a man.

It has taken nature a hundred million years to produce you. Don't make her sorry she took the time.

Get out in the park and walk and think. Get up in your hall bedroom and read, study, write what you think. Talk more to yourself and less to others. Avoid magazines, avoid excessive newspaper reading.

There is not a man of average ability who could make a striking career if he could but WILL to do the best that is in him.

Proofs of growth due to solitude are endless. Milton's greatest work was done when blindness, old age and the death of the Puritan government forced him into complete seclusion. Beethoven did his best work in the solitude of deafness.

Bacon would never have been the great leader that he was of scientific thought had not his trial and disgrace forced him from the company of a grand retinue and stupid court to the solitude of his own brain.

"Multum in sola fuit mea." (My spirit hath been much alone.) This he said often, and lucky it was for him. Loneliness of spirit was him.

Get a little of it yourself.

Drop your club, your street corner, your gossipy boarding-house table. Drop your sheep life and try being a man.

It may improve you.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Houqara L. Rann.

THE COMEDIAN.

The comedian is a high strung actor who retails jokes which do not have to be accompanied by explanatory foot notes or an outline map. His business is to extract unpremeditated teehes from people who do not care to have their humor draped in thought.

Every comedian has a different system. Some are able to convulse an audience, by merely sitting down heavily on the floor to the accompaniment of the bass drum, while others have to break up the dishes and get kicked through the right upper exit in order to produce the same effect.

A comedian's life is full of joy and sunshine. All he has to do is to coin jokes which none of those present have heard for several years and then wait for somebody who has come in on a pass to laugh right out loud.

The saddest day in a comedian's life is when he tries to impale a cold and austere audience to the point of a joke which threw the population of the last town into a fit of pink jealousy.

There is nothing more painful in this life than the sight of a kind, well-meaning comedian trying to wring extempore laughter from an audience which recognizes every joke before it turns the corner.

Every once in a while some comedian conceives the idea of relying upon the mental agility of his audience and gets stung in a very positive and unequivocal manner, after which he resorts to falling through a cane-bottomed chair and recovers his standing in the profession.

There are two kinds of comedy—high and low. The higher comedy gets the more it costs and the less it hurts. Some varieties of high comedy can be watched for hours without straining a vest button.

Low comedy goes down to quite a depth and consists mainly of brittle repartee and language which violates the pure food laws. The best low comedians are those who have a double back handspring in their repertoire.

ing such a result by establishing a state highway commission. A bill with this end in view is now before the Legislature. In the interest of the state as a whole and each of the counties, this measure should be passed.—Atlanta Journal.

From Woman's View-Point

ONE WOMAN TO ANOTHER.

Being a Successful Wife—Beauty Soons Fails—Conversation Grows tiresome.

In choosing a wife the average man has no rule for selection.

After perhaps a year or two he will say to himself if not to anyone else, that he would have been happier had he chosen a wife as he would have chosen a man friend with whom he was to be associated in close companionship.

The very pretty woman will appeal to the eye. She is a pleasing picture, but unless there is more to her than beautiful hair, alluring eyes, and peach-like complexion, she will not be able to hold her husband's affection as will the woman who is his pal in every sense of the word.

Of course a man does not want to have his wife become dowdy simply because her fortune is made by securing a husband. On the other hand a man will very soon tire of the woman who apparently thinks more of a becoming bow in her hair than the well browned side of his dinner chop.

The really successful wife is the one who can combine housewifely traits with a medium of feminine beauty. The latter, in sufficient quantity to forbid her appearing at the breakfast table in a loose untidy wrapper and with a slovenly coiffure.

Then also the really successful wife knows when to be still as well as when to talk. A man perhaps will be attracted by a brilliant conversationalist whose talk will be as tiresome after marriage as it was pleasing before, unless those conversational stunts are adapted to his varying mood. It is a wise woman who knows when to keep still, and in this way she can be more infinitely her husband's chum than if she insists upon chattering when he wants to be quiet.

To revert to the first statement the wife who is most esteemed is the one who conforms to her husband's mood.

The real chum, whether masculine or feminine, is the person who can conform to moods, grave or gay. One does not have to be very smart to win out successfully in the matrimonial game. Tact is the watchword. This means very largely that husbands have to be humored, and though it may come hard is is not half as bad as the rows and rumpuses that ensue when a woman is determined to have her own way at all hazards.

The two bears of matrimony—bear and forbear—are the controlling factor. It is not very hard to make a man think he has married the real thing if a woman wisely concludes at the very outset to let him think he is having his own way, even if at the time she is having hers right along.

NOTES FROM THE LABOR WORLD

The next convention of the western federation of miners will be held in Hancock, Mich.

The shops act, passed by parliament in London, secures to the clerk weekly half-holidays.

A law has been passed in Denmark under which the government makes loans to farm laborers who desire to become small farmers.

The International Miners Congress, just closed in Amsterdam, adopted a resolution in favor of the principle that 5 days work is sufficient for a week's work of miners.

Philadelphia has 85 cigar factories, employing 6,411 persons. 1583 of these

There is to be opened in Cincinnati a cooperative club for working girls. They are to be given rooms at the cost of $1 a week, while their meals will cost 35 cents a day. It is to be a real home and no profits.

A new profession has been taken up by women in the South American cities. On the trolley cars, even in the busy streets, the female conductor has long been an important factor in the rapid transit situation of those cities.

There are 1,000,000 children under the age of 16 years employed in industries in the U. S., in addition to another million in agriculture, only a part of whom are working on the farm to help their parents.

The telephone girls of Springfield, Mass., have organized a union with 250 members. They will affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. Officials of the telephone company say they are not opposed to the move, but will treat union and non-union operators alike.

American women employed in facories are far more generously paid for their work than their sisters employed in similar vocations in European cities, according to reports made to the Department of Commerce and Labor by U. S. Consuls stationed in various European cities.

Kitchen Craft

Comport of Rice With Fruit

Wash 1-3 cup of rice, add one half cup of boiling water, and steam in a double boiled until rice has absorbed water. Then add two third cup hot milk, 1-2 tsp. salt and 1-8 cup sugar. Cook until rice is soft. Turn into a slightly buttered mold. When shaped remove to serving and arrange on top sections of coked fruit drained from their syrup and dripped in macaroon dust. Garnish between sections with candied cherries. The fruit syrup may be colored red and poured around the mould or the rice may be served with whipped cream.

Delicate Pudding

Boil fruit juice and 6 tablespoonfuls cornstarch and add enough sugar to taste; cook till free from starchy taste, add 1-8 teaspoonful salt and more sugar if needed. Beat whites of 3 eggs very stiff. Color and turn off into a wet mold. Serve with custard sauce made from the yolk and flavored with bitted almond.

A Song For August.

Here's the year on the wane,
There are signs in the sky,
In the woods, on the plain,
That its noon has gone by.
But the harvest is to gain,
And the cold nights are nigh,
When the year's on the wane.

Here's the year on the wane.
There's a hawk in the blue;
In the wheat a red stain
Where the poppy peeps through.
But there's bread in the grain
And there's warmth o' love, too,
When the year's on the wane.

Here's the year on the wane.
From the night-shrouded mill,
Comes the katydid's strain
And the wind's whistle shrill,
But two hearts may contain
All the spring music still
When the year's on the wane.
—T. A. Daily.

Mad Dog Killed

Just before noon today a mad dog was killed on the porch of Mr. C. B. Whichard's residence on Third street. Mr. Louis Johnson, who lives next door, saw the dog come running up the street and go on the porch, where after trying to get in a door and finding it closed the animal fell down and had a fit. Mr. Johnson got a pistol and went over and killed the dog. It is fortunate that the dog did not get inside of the house as some member of the family might have been bitten. The dog wore a tax badge, No. 14.

TEST FARM WORK.

Good Results Arising From Chop and Sall Testing.
This morning Mr. W. E. Patrick took the editor and some others in an automobile spin out to the two test farms that are being operated in this county under the direction of the state experiment station of the agricultural department. One of the test farms is located on the lands of Mr. J. G. Moye, two miles from town, and the other on the lands of Mr. W. W. Whitehurst, five miles from town, and are supervised by Mr. W. M. Lunn. On each of these small farms, comprising some six or seven acres, various experiments are carried on, especial attention being given to rotation in ascertaining which crops best follow others. Different degrees of fertilization are also tested, every little plant being labeled so that the visitor can see just what kinds of and the quantity of fertilizers are used and the estimated cost per acre. Various crops are used in these experiments and the result is highly satisfactory as well as instructive to all farmers who visit them.

Mrs. J. G. Moye and children returned Thursday evening from Virginia Beach.

Report That Murderer Of

bullets was found among the bones of the child.
If further evidence was needed to identify the body it could be easily gotten from the boys teeth as he had been suffering severely from toothache, and had cotton packed in the teeth of the lower jaw.
The bicycle of B. F. Vann was found twenty-five yards from the body while he rode the boys wheel on to Elizabeth City and left it in a bicycle shop here. Vann had been entrusted by a Belvidere merchant with a sum of money to be deposited in a Hertford bank, but instead of stopping there he came on to this place, and from here to Norfolk, where he was finally captured and brought back to Hertford on a charge of theft.
When the finding of the body was made known in Hertford the feeling ran so high that the Naval Reserves of that place were called out to stay around the jail.
A crowd of ominous proportions gathered. They clamored for him.
Late in the afternoon it was deemed the only safe thing to do to move Vann to Elizabeth City. This was a distance of 25 miles and with an escort, he was taken over to Pasquotank's capital.
Last night, fearing the necessity of making an armed resistance, the officers concluded to send Vann to the state penitentiary and between ten o'clock and midnight the prisoner was started on the long drive.
But little is known of the prisoner charged with the crime.

BEAVER DAM Township Aug 7.—

Editor Eastern Reflector:
As a Democrat of forty two years standing, I think I am entitled to some consideration in the selection of officers for the ensuing two years, and as a life long farmer I naturally want to see good Od Pitt County represented in the General assembly by men in sympathy with the masses of this county.

I wish to nominate a distinguished Gentleman from Greenville for the lower House of the next General assembly who I am sure will work for the best interest of the farmers as well as all other respective callings of Pitt county. We should nominate him for the following among other reasons:

- 1st. He is fully qualified and will make an able representative.
 - 2nd. He believes in the fundamental principles of Democracy as enacted by Thomas Jefferson.
 - 3rd. He has the brains and backbone to defend right, and defeat wrong even if it should come from high places.
- Brother Farmers do your duty and nominate D. M. Clark and the best of Pitt county will be properly safeguarded.

Progressive Ticket Has

California, nominee for vice president, and Albert J. Beveridge, the Progressive candidate for governor of Indiana, and permanent chairman of the convention had just come from a photograph gallery where his picture was taken to be used in the campaign. One picture of the presidential nominee posed with a group of cowboys.

While in the lobby of the hotel Colonel Roosevelt espied an old friend in the crowd and he added to his political menagerie by designating his friend an old wolf.

Come here, you big wolf, the Colonel added, as he grasped his friend, Albert Burton of Wyoming, by the hand.

Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Johnson were then escorted to the Florentine room, where members of two notification committees, there being one for the vice president, filed in and shook hands.

The ceremony was soon over and then the nominees gathered with the members of the national committee which had assembled to complete its organization and make campaign plans.

purposes, said Mr. Curran. This may hit some whose names are writ high in what we call social circles. But if they know to what purposes their premises are being used they should be made to testify and if they do not they should be glad to get the information upon the subject.

No date has been set for the first meeting of the committee. Detective William J. Burns admitted today that his men have been taking part in the graft investigation. Agents of his, he said, had been working to secure evidence that protection money was being collected from keepers of disorderly houses and gambling establishments while others of his agents had secured positions as waiters in the Hotel Metropole, in front of which Rosenthal met death. I have, Mr. Burns said, uncovered a lot of evidence that will startle the public when it comes out.

The International Miners Congress, just closed in Amsterdam, adopted a resolution in favor of the principle that 5 days work is sufficient for a week's work of miners.
