GOVERNOR-ELECT HON. LOCKE CRAIG MAKES OPENING SPEECH AT LAURINBURG

Will Continue Policies of Governor Aycock
GREAT CROWD HEAR HIM

G. H. Russell in introducing Craig to audience refers to other campaign which also opened in Laurinburg
LAURINBURG, Aug. 23.—One of the largest crowds that ever assembled in the courthouse here, today heard Hon. Locke Craig make the opening speech of the campaign for this year in North Carolina. People from all sections of the country and from adjoining counties thronged the town during the middle of the day. Mr. Craig reached Laurinburg this morning and until noon spent the time in shaking hands with his friends. Mr. Craig and Congressman R. N. Page, together with a number of their friends were entertained at dinner by Judge Walter H. Neal at his home on Church Street.

At 3 o'clock the hour for the speaking, all available space in the courthouse was taken and a large crowd remained on the outside. The music was furnished by the Rockingham band. E. H. Gibson chairman of the county democratic executive committee presided.

G. H. Russell, of the local bar, introduced Mr. Craig and referred to the fact that the notable campaign of 1898 was opened in Laurinburg and that one of the speakers was Hon. Locke Craig, the other being Governor Aycock. "These two sons have each been signally honored by the people of the state," he said. "In 1900 the nomination for governor was given to Governor Aycock and in 1912 Mr. Craig had received the nomination unanimously."

Mr. Craig spoke for nearly two hours and despite the crowded house and warm weather, he had the closest attention of his audience during the entire time. He was frequently interrupted by applause during his discussion. He reviewed the progress of North Carolina and compared its achievements since the campaign of 1898 with its previous Republican record.

He fully discussed the tariff and attitude of the various parties toward it and declared that the policy of the Democratic party is the only one that will restore to the people their inalienable right of equal justice.

He declared that if Roosevelt should suddenly die there would be no third party and that the Progressive party cannot have a very long life because Teddy is now 55 years old. He expressed surprise that Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt should go over the country abusing and villifying each other and declared that each told the truth on the other.

He declared that the state of North Carolina ought to continue to allow the policy of the beloved Aycock by giving the less fortunate man a better chance. Good roads and agriculture were dealt upon at length.

TRIO OF OLD BOYS

Meet and Have Some Good Laughs Over the Past

There were just three of them—Roy Flanagan, Claude Monteiro, of Richmond and Louis Arnheim, of everywhere—carrolled together in front of the post office. The reporter leaned his ear toward the bunch and, having a dim recollection of that same trio in the past, wanted to know what's up. "Just talking over old times when we were boys." There was something to talk about, too, when they were boys together in Greenville back in the last century, and it is no wonder they joined in a hearty laugh as this or that instance was recalled. They were boys right, that trio, and there wasn't a melon patch, a fruit orchard, a rabbit hollow, nor a swimming hole anywhere near that they could not tell you all about.

WINSTON-SALEM FANNED BY FIRE

Fire Extinguished With Great Difficulty
LOSS ESTIMATED OVER $100,000

Factory District in Great Danger of Total Destruction at One Time But Brave Work Defeats the Fire

WINSTON-SALEM, Aug. 23.—Enveloping the business district of the city in smoke and carrying destruction in its train, the most dangerous, although not the most destructive fire in the history of the city occurred here about 12.30 o'clock today in a congested section of the city, entailing a loss of about $100,000 said to be practically covered by insurance. The fire originated in the basement of the red factory, formerly owned by the Lipfer-Scales Tobacco Company, but recently purchased by R. W., and P. A. Gorrell. The fire originated in the basement, but just how it started is not known. It was seen by two girls when it could have been put out with a bucket of water, but the delay in securing a man to turn in the alarm gave the fire time to spread all over the building, it being built of pine timber.

A large amount of leaf tobacco was spread in the building belonging to the J. G. Flynt Tobacco company and to R. W., and P. A. Gorrell.

The fire spread to the large main manufacturing building of the Ogburn-Hill Tobacco company corner of West Sixth and North Cherry streets and caused a total loss. The loss on building and machinery is estimated at about $75,000.

C. J. Ogburn when asked stated he did not know just how much insurance he carried, but the opinion prevails that the property is pretty well protected.

The warehouses of the company on the north were saved, but fear is expressed that some of the tobacco is injured by the smoke. The large building belonging to the company on the south side of Sixth street was damaged by the fire, the roof and window sashes catching fire. It was saved by the tireless work of the firemen.

A dwelling house across the street from the red factory, owned by C. J. Ogburn and occupied by the family of S. J. Campbell, was burned together with the furniture.

There was a high wind from the west during the progress of the fire and it fanned the flames until it looked as though all the water in creation could not stop the progress of the great destroyer. The firemen worked ceaselessly the perspiration streaming from their faces and it looked as though they were putting up a losing fight as buildings caught every once in a while, thus preventing their concentrating all their energy on the factory building.

Lines of hose were run out from every available hydrant, some of the lines of hose being attached to hydrant two streets away. The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and other factories ran their hose up to the scene of the fire and aided in the work. The hose were burned by the flames in many places.

Graft Prosecutor Receives a Loaded Package

NEW YORK, August 23.—When District Attorney Whitman returned from Manchester, Vt., he found in his mail awaiting him at his home in the Madison apartments, 37 Madison avenue, a small parcel addressed "District Attorney C. S. Whitman, 37 Madison avenue."

Mr. Whitman tore off the wrapper and exposed about enough of whitish coarse grained powder to fill a teaspoon. With the powder was a slip of paper marked "cyanide of potassium."

Mr. Whitman sniffed at the powder, which gave off an odor like peachstones, an odor characteristic of cyanide. He said nothing about the matter until a friend showed him a letter that a newspaper had received and asked him if he had heard from the writer. The letter read:

"Whitman will never lie to see the day when any of his prisoners is indicted. Where it would be foolishness to pull the trigger of a revolver or swing a dagger there the poison will lurk unseen. A sample of what he is going to die from was mailed to him Sunday. He will go the way Rosenthal went."

Slain American Was An Adventurer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 23.—Harvey Dodd, one of the two Americans reported to have been killed in the massacre of Federal troops by the rebels at Leon, had served with the rank of colonel in the revolutionary army which overthrew President Zelaya in 1909, according to Alvin Durning, a newspaper man here, who was a close friend of Dodd and who served with him under Madero in the Mexican revolution.

Durning said yesterday that Dodd was given 2,000 acres of land in Nicaragua as a remuneration for his services in the revolutionary army, but that shortly after the unseating of Zelaya, he left the republic coming to this country. When the Mexican revolution broke out, says Durning, he and Dodd joined the forces under Madero, but Dodd soon tired of the fighting and returned to Nicaragua.

He has several relatives here who have known nothing of his whereabouts until the accounts of his death appeared in the press.

NEGRO ARRESTED

Charged With Threatening to Kill Mayor

Some weeks ago Sheriff Dudley received notice from the mayor of Vanceboro to look out for a colored man named Clayton Streeter and arrest him if found. The charge against Streeter is writing a letter to the mayor of Vanceboro threatening to kill him if prosecutions against blind tigers was not stopped. Streeter showed his face in Greenville Friday and no soon did he do so than he was nabbed and locked in jail. Officers of Vanceboro were notified of Streeter's arrest.

ROBBER HELD AT TOPEKA
Had Held Up Mail Clerks and Rifled Car
WAS CAUGHT IN PULLMAN BED

Train Jumper Was Seriously Wounded in Attempts to Effect His Capture. At Point of Death in Hospital

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 23.—The daring robber who was shot and seriously wounded while resisting capture after he had robbed the mail car on Union Pacific Train No. 101, which left Kansas City for Denver at 10:30 o'clock last night, was still alive at a hospital here this morning, but the police had not yet learned his identity.

Hospital attendants said he was able to talk and the railroad officials hoped soon to induce him to divulge his name and other information regarding himself. A stranger robbery never has been recorded in the history of the Union Pacific Railroad, which has been the victim of many hold-ups, local officials of the company said. The train known as the Denver Express, carrying heavy mail, was just leaving Kansas City, when a man about forty years old ran across the depot platform and leaped into the mail car through the open door. J. D. Withers the clerk in charge, turned and faced the man, who levelled a revolver at him. Withers was commanded to bind and gag his five associates. Withers obeyed. His fellow workers were E. D. Smalley, Joseph Gaines, H. Stewart, F. R. Oldham, and Robert Hartsfall.

The robber then went through all the registered pouches, stuffing the packages into his pockets. After securing the lot he commanded Withers to untie his comrades. At Bonner Springs, where the train made a brief stop, the robber ordered the men to continue their work so as not to attract the attention of persons at the station. When Lawrence was reached the robber dropped from the car and ran toward the rear of the train. The negro porter said he saw a man with bulging pockets enter a sleeping car. Conductor M. E. Smith summoned two Lawrence policemen and all three followed into the car.

Washington, August 23.—John D. Bliss that the contribution was acceptable to Colonel Roosevelt and that further contribution would be acceptable.

Booth's Funeral Occures in London

LONDON, August 23.—The body of the late General William oBooth lay in state today and the occasion produced such a display of respect from all classes as has probably never been equalled.

All nations and all creeds were represented among the many thousands who paid their last tribute to the great evangelist.

Even before dawn and despite a pelting cold rain thousands were waiting in front of Congress Hall, Clapton, where the body had been taken from the late general's residence. Before the general public was admitted, however, a large number of personal friends, public officials and high officials of the Salvation Army came to pay their last respects.

Archbold Further Tells That Other Contributions Were Asked But Turned Down in Spite of Prosecution Threats

Washington, August 23.—John D. Archbold today told the Senate committee investigating campaign funds that the Standard Oil Company's contribution to the Republican war chest of 1904 was made upon assurances from Cornelius N. Bliss that the contribution was acceptable to Colonel Roosevelt and that further contribution would be acceptable.

"I told Mr. Bliss we did not want to make the contribution unless it was to be gratefully received," he said. "Mr. Bliss told us of Mr. Roosevelt's attitude toward business and said he believed Mr. Roosevelt would be a fair and conservative man when it came to the test. Mr. Bliss urged that the policies of the Republican party were the safest for business. We decided that our interests as a business organization lay on the Republican side and we decided to make this contribution."

Mr. Archbold explained that $100,000 went to the Republican National Committee and that $25,000 was given to Senator Penrose for the Republican state committee. The $25,000 given to Mr. Penrose, he said, was a political contribution and not a payment for services in public or private life. Later, when the late Mr. Bliss came and asked the Standard Oil Company for more money—about $150,000—Mr. Archbold said the board of directors refused to contribute further. He quoted Mr. Bliss as saying: "I speak to you personally; I think you had better make this contribution. If you don't, somebody else will."

Later, Mr. Archbold said, when the bureau of corporations began making adverse reports on the Standard Oil Company, Mr. Bliss admitted that the government attacks were unjust, but said he had no influence with President Roosevelt.

LA FOLLETTE AGAINST ROOSEVELT

Robert M. La Follette, U. S. Senator from Wisconsin, foremost Republican progressive in the upper House of Congress, is against Theodore Roosevelt for a third term, because, he says, Roosevelt, while president, co-operated with the trusts, instead of co-operating with him in the fight against the trusts.

"On the day that Theodore Roosevelt was made president," declares La Follette, "there were 149 trusts and combinations in the United States. When he turned the government over to Taft there were 10,020 trusts.

"When Roosevelt entered the White House the trusts and combinations were capitalized at $3,784,000,000. On the day that he turned the administration over to Taft this capitalization had grown to $31,672,000,000, more than seventy per cent of which was water.

"I do not believe that the man who was president for more than seven years, while the greatest trust growth in the history of the country took place, at the very time of all times in the history of the Sherman law when enforcement of that law would have destroyed trust organization—I do not believe that the man who was president during that time is the man to find the way out now."

NO CHEAPER SUGAR

The price of sugar is not to be reduced two cents a pound—not, at least, as long as the present Republican president and Senate remain in business at Washington.

The Democratic House of Representatives, it will be recalled, passed a bill placing sugar on the free list. It was estimated this would reduce the price approximately two cents a pound. Another bill was passed placing a tax on incomes above $5,000. This would have meant, in a few words, the transfer of a portion of the burden of taxation from the breakfast table to wealth. But the Republican Senate objected to any such transfer, with the result that the people will have to go on paying an artificial price for sugar, while wealth remains untaxed by Uncle Sam.

Perhaps some day it will be different. But it will not be until a Democratic Senate and president are elected to co-operate with a House of Representatives that is really trying to represent the will of the people of this country.

HAVE YOU SENT FOR CAMPAIGN BOOK?

Every Democrat who is working for the success of the ticket this fall, should send some money to Hon. James T. Lloyd, Chairman, National Congression Committee, Washington, D. C., for a copy of the new Democratic campaign book. Whatever amount is sent for the book will be used toward carrying on the work of the campaign, without the aid of trust or special privilege. The committee is in need of funds.

The paying out of thousands of dollars every week between now and Christmas for tobacco and cotton sold in Greenville and over a hundred thousand to be spent on new buildings in the same time and something like fifty thousand in matured building and loan shares, to which will be added salaries, wages and what the candidates will spend, looks like there is a mighty good prospect for business here this fall. The merchants ought to open their eyes to this and do some effective advertising. If they let much of this money go to mail order houses through failure to tell the buyers what they have, it is their own fault.

The challenge has been made and accepted for a joint debate in the county senatorial contest and the fray is expected to wax warm until it comes to an end in the second primary to be held on September seventh.

People grow and towns are built. All the same every time a new building goes up in Greenville we say the town is growing. There is room to build some more and we want to see building going on all the time.

Don't raise so much fuss about automobiles. Some of these days you will be dodging street cars in Greenville and gazing up at flying machines passing over you.

It is getting almost time for Carolina Club to be waking up and going after something else for Greenville. There are more things the town needs.

The man who does not know how to regulate the trusts, nor how to run a newspaper, is a back number in this day and time.

If any other tobacco market is approaching Greenville's class, it has something to brag about.

Congress is about to quit for a summer vacation.

This is My Birthday

Edward Carpenter
Edward Carpenter, known to readers on both sides of the Atlantic as an author and sociologist, was born in Brighton, England, Aug. 24, 1912. For some years he was a lecturer at Trinity Hall, Cambridge, but in 1874 he declined his fellowship and left Cambridge. He lectured on science, music, etc., in connection with the university extension movement until 1881. Two years later he settled on a small farm near Sheffield where he engaged in literary work, market gardening and sandal making. He also took part in the Socialist movement and street corner propaganda. In 1884 he visited the United States as the guest of Walt Whitman. Mr. Carpenter is the author of a number of well known books on sociology.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rann.

APPENDICITIS

APPENDICITIS is an expensive and apprehensive ailment which seldom attacks anybody but members of the Upper or people who are able to write a check in four figures. It is caused by the veriform appendix swallowing a grape seed the wrong way and refusing to let go. Whenever this happens to one of the common people it is called the stomach ache and the afflicted part is irrigated with alcoholic bitters, but the minute one of the Four Hundred feels a shooting pain in the vicinity of his watch pocket he is operated upon before he can see if there are any holes in his stockings. The richer a man is the harder he has appendicitis. Some people are not satisfied with the first attack and insist upon having it three or four times, until they can tell by the feeling that they have not only lost the appendix, but the glossary and concordance as well.

Appendicitis is always preceded by a deep feeling of melancholy, as if the patient had eaten something which refused to sit down. When it first comes on, people begin to criticize the menu and change rapidly from one boarding house to another, in the hope of securing relief. Sometimes the disease is scared away by these tactics and the family surgeon becomes discouraged.

The appendix was discovered about twenty years ago by a near-sighted doctor who stumbled onto it while he was hunting for a set of instruments which he had mislaid. From that day to this the medical profession hasn't done much of anything else except hunt the appendix to its liar and decapitate it at heavy expense to the abutting property owner.

A Big Help

It may be conservatively figured that the visitors are spending $15,000 a day in Asheville—these figures allowing for the prevalence of economy and the existence of reasonable rates for everything. This would give the circulation an increase of $105,000 per week—which will help some.—Asheville Gazette-News.

The Noise Makers

So ex-Governor Montague, of Virginia, in his congressional race, carried half of those spots thought to be overwhelmingly for his opponent, Representative Lamb. To be sure, and which goes to show that while one man may make more noise than forty others his voting strength isn't but one-fortieth as much.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Kitchen is Confident

Governor Kitchen spent a few hours in Greensboro yesterday returning to Raleigh from a speaking tour in Rockingham. He is taking nothing for granted and is putting in strong licks all the time. He has the least idea of being defeated he surely does not betray it. On the contrary he is sure of his footing and he has been in politics long enough to know what he is doing.—Greensboro Record.

It Should Be Satisfied

Big business ought to quit viewing with alarm questions simply involving the public good, including that of big business. It strikes us that the business interests of the country ought to be satisfied with what conserves the public interest. This is 1912, and it is time to let up on making a fight for special interests. No interest ought to expect favors that place other interests at a disadvantage.—Wilmington Star.

Our customers keep the books, but they spend no time and have no trouble in doing so. Every customer has the same record of his account as we have and in the same handwriting.

This we accomplish by the use of

The McCaskey SYSTEM

The One Writing Method of handling credit accounts.

With each purchase, we furnish a sale slip which shows the goods purchased, the price charged for each item and the last previous balance all footed up.

There can be no error in handling your accounts as

You Always Know What You Owe

We furnish a holder for the sale slips. We prefer that you file every slip in this holder—a glance at the last one will tell you what you owe. These slips become an expense account, without effort on your part.

Will you let us explain our McCaskey System to you?

Well Deserved

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Greenville People

One kidney remedy has known merit.

Greenville people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Greenville testimony proves it reliable.

Mrs. Joseph Fornes, 111 S. Washington street, Greenville, N. C., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with the most satisfactory results and I know that they are a good kidney medicine. About a year ago I was troubled by symptoms of kidney complaint. I suffered from dull, nagging backaches and I also had headache and pains through my kidneys. Dizzy spells annoyed me and I noticed that the kidney secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills, procurer from the John L. Wooten Drug Co. brought me prompt relief and a short time ago when I again used them, they acted as effectively as before. I know that this preparation lives up to the claims made for it."

Mrs. Joe Person Has Unique Collection
One of the oddest and most unique collections ever gathered by any North Carolinian is to be seen in a window of the John S. Blake Drug Company. The collection is one of every kind of common and uncommon lead pencils imaginable. They have been gathered by Mrs. Joe Person in her travels over the entire United States. The collection consists of over 300 different kinds and there are no two in the entire collection that are alike. The idea of making a collection of the ordinary lead pencil is a novel one, and one that seems to have never occurred to any one before. To make the collection as complete as Mrs. Person has done has required ten years and it is thought that the collection contains every kind, variety, class and make of pencil known.—Charlotte Chronicle.

What happens when you put the dollar before the man? bawled the candidate.
The man goes after it, answered an old farmer in the crowd.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

On Their Jobs
We are in receipt of a card from Mr. Jesse Speight, written in Washington City, who says he attended the senate and house sessions of Congress and found Senator Simmons and Congressman Small answering roll call while many others were absent.
About one time out of a billion a man can lose all his money without losing most of his friends.
