GOV. BLEASE FACES DEFEAT

Early Returns Greatly Favor Judge Jones

2300 LEAD IN 3RD. PRECINCT

Former Chief Justice Jones Is Confident of Sweeping Victory Over Spectacular Governor Blease

COLUMBIA, S. C., August 27.—Incomplete returns from today's Democratic primary in South Carolina, show that Ira B. Jones, former chief justice of the state supreme court, is leading Cole L. Blease, the incumbent, in the race for gubernatorial nomination. Returns from only a fifth of the total precincts had been received at 8 o'clock tonight. Jones then had 1,600 more than Blease. J. T. Duncan, the third candidate, has polled a light vote.

United States Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, according to early returns, is leading both his opponents, W. J. Talbert and N. B. Dial.

According to the state primary law, a majority is necessary to secure the nomination. In the event that the leading candidates fails to get a majority a second primary will be held for the two leading candidates.

Returns are coming in slowly and indications are that the outcome of several of the contests will not be known until tomorrow.

At 9:45 with about 40,000 votes heard from—about 35 per cent of the probable total—Jones is about 2,300 votes ahead of Blease for governor.

Early returns indicate the reelection of Representatives Brynes in the second, Aiken in the third, Finley in the fifth. Representatives Elberbe and J. W. Ragsdale are running close in the sixth.

Early Night Bulletins

Charleston, Aug. 27.—At 9:30 partial returns from thirty-one counties give Jones 21,118; Blease 20,630.

Greenville, Aug. 27.—Twenty-five boxes out of fifty-five in Greenville county give Blease 1,933, Duncan 49, Jones 2,158, for governor; Dial 1,043, Talbert 744, Tillman 2,029, for United States senate.

Spartanburg, Aug. 27.—Forty-five precincts out of eighty-three in this county give for governor: Jones 2,806; Blease 2,765.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 27.—Fifty precincts out of 1,800 in all parts of South Carolina, give for governor: Jones 3,514; Blease 1,538.

CHANGE MADE IN MAIL LAW

Holders of Lock Boxes Will "Get Theirs"

MAIL DISTRIBUTED ON TRAINS

Matter Handled Thus Will Be Considered as Transit Mail and Will be Placed in Lock Boxes

WASHINGTON, August 27.—Plans were perfected by Postmaster Hitchcock today whereby the administration of the new law prohibiting the delivery of mail on Sundays will have no serious effect upon the handling of important mail matter.

Holders of lock boxes at first and second class postoffices will have access to them as usual although no mail deliveries will be made by carriers on the street or at postoffice windows. Mail for hotel guests and newspapers will be delivered to them through their lock boxes by a simple arrangement of having that mail sorted on the railway mail cars before it reaches its destination. Such mail will be regarded as transit matter and will be distributed immediately upon arrival at the offices of destination, thus practically insuring a speedier delivery to the addresses than heretofore has been the case.

This distribution will require a minimum of Sunday work and the distribution of other mail received Sunday will be made after midnight of Sunday so that it may be delivered by the carriers on their first tour on Monday.

After all day conferences with the experts of his department Postmaster General Hitchcock tonight issued a statement explanatory of his administration of the new law. His assurance is that there will be no embarrassment to the business public and that, through the arrangements he outlines, urgent mail matter will reach its destination promptly. Orders necessary to carry Mr. Hitchcock's plans into effect will be issued immediately. The postmaster general's statement follows:

"There appears to be some misapprehension as regards the provision in the postal bill relating to the delivery of mail on Sundays. This provision does not require the closing of post offices on Sundays, which would be quite impossible, owing to the fact that the transit mail has to be sorted and also the mail collected in cities for dispatch to other destinations. To stop the movement of this mail would mean a serious clogging of the whole system of mail transportation and consequent inconvenience to the public.

Wilson's Campaign is to be Economical

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, secretary of the national Democratic committee, today issued a statement in which he declared the Democrats purposed establishing a new record in campaign management this year and that Governor Wilson's campaign would be made with less expense than had attended the election of many a city mayor.

"We are running our headquarters in New York and Chicago in strict business principles," said Mr. Davies. "We have auditing departments in both offices and a continuous record is being kept of all receipts and disbursements, even petty office expenditures accounted for. Our books are open to investigation now and will be until November and also after election."

NO NEGROES IN ASSOCIATION

Three Already Members Will Retain Their Card

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 27.—The American Bar Association today adopted a resolution requiring that hereafter when negro attorneys apply for membership their race must be made known in the application. Attorney General George W. Wickersham, in a heated debate declared the resolution recognized the status as members of William H. Lewis, assistant to the attorney general and two other negro members who have been unseated by the executive committee. The action precipitated a fight which was abruptly ended by an appeal by former Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson, the further discussion would bring criticism of the association.

Immediately Mr. Wickersham jumped to his feet and said: "I hope this resolution will pass, for it recognizes the legality of these negro members. It was I who was chiefly responsible for bringing the subject up."

Scores of members protested against adoption of the resolution, saying it had always been the policy to exclude negro members. Others said while this resolution allowed the present negro members to remain, it would preclude the admission of more negro members, because the fact of their race would be made known to the executive committee. The resolution offered by Mr. Dickinson was:

Whereas, three persons of the colored race were elected to membership in this association without knowledge upon the part of those electing them that they were of that race and are now members of the association. "Resolved, That as it never has been contemplated that members of the colored race should become members of the association, the several local councils are directed, if at any time any of them shall recommend a person of the colored race for membership to accompany the recommendations with a statement of the fact that he is of such a race."

Fifty-four lawyers, with at least one from each state, today completed for presentation to the association a report denouncing as dangerous to the country, all movements for the recall of judges and judicial divisions. President of the United States.

Good Roads Movement to be Launched by Carolina Club

OPERA HOUSE FOR GREENVILLE IS CONSIDERED

After weeks of stifling heat, during which period activities in any direction seemed to be out of the question, the Carolina Club is to reassume its campaign for improvements for county and community.

It is the object of this institution to enthuse Pitt counties and Greenvillians toward better things and their energetic tackle of the hotel proposition last fall gives evidence of what the Carolina Club can accomplish when it starts.

Just now the members are anxious to see things accomplished. Good Roads and an Opera House. As to the matter of good roads the idea has been more or less, on the minds of the people for some time, but, somehow or other the necessary energy to go after them has been lacking. This time, however, we expect something will be accomplished.

As to the Opera House, it is understood that a merchant who has recently purchased a choice lot in town would as soon erect an Opera House on it, then any anything else. All he wants is the proper spirit from the people who later will participate.

At an early date the Carolina Club is to hold a meeting when these matters will be properly threshed out and it seems that a strong campaign will be started to get Good Roads and that Opera House.

Blow-Evans Debate at Bell's Cross Roads

As previously announced in the columns of The Reflector and in accordance with the schedule given at that time, Messrs. Blow and Evans candidates for the State Senate, met in debate yesterday afternoon at Bell's Cross Roads. But a scanty crowd gathered, there being approximately sixty people when speaking began. As is usually the result in encounters of this kind, at one time remarks of a rather personal nature were uttered, but buried in political phraseology, which once the debate over did not give a clear victory to either speaker.

MEXICANS ATTACK U. S. RANCH

Exchange Shots With Uncle Sam's Boys When Discovered

EL PASO, Tex., August 27.—Twenty-five Mexican rebel raiders and a troops of the Third United States Cavalry stationed below Hachita, N. M., exchanged shots last night after the invaders had raided the Culberon ranch, four miles from the border and thirty-five miles from Hachita and were making away with 100 head of horses.

This was the report received today by General E. Z. Steever from Lieutenant H. B. Johnson, commanding Toop F. Third Cavalry. General Steever announced additional troops would be rushed to the scene of the disturbance.

The report did not state whether any of the raiders or cavalry men were wounded.

First N. C. Cotton Reaches Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 27.—Three bales of new North Carolina cotton arrived in Norfolk yesterday, consigned to J. W. Perry and Company. It came from South Mills and was brought to this city through the Dismal Swamp canal.

The arrival of the three bales today is one day earlier than North Carolina cotton reached Norfolk last year and eight days earlier than in 1910.

The grade of three bales is middling.

THE SUNDAY MAILS.

Local Lock Box Patrons May Be Served as Before.

Since the notice was issued from Washington ordering the discontinuance of "working up" mail on Sunday in all first and second class postoffices (Greenville being among those affected,) Postmaster R. C. Flanagan has taken up the matter with the postoffice department with a view of permitting him to put important letters and newspapers in the lock boxes of patrons of this office on Sundays. In this effort of Postmaster Flanagan meets with approval, Greenville people who have lock boxes in the postoffice will continue to get their important mail on Sundays.

Picnic on the Cottendale Plantations

Editor Reflector: It was the writer's good fortune to be present at a plantation picnic given by the tenants on Cottendale and Southwood plantations last Friday. It was interesting and fully enjoyable to be with these working people, who, made every effort to give all a good time. I can say I never saw a better dinner served at any picnic. Best of barbecue, fresh fish and all other eatables that goes to make up a good dinner and plenty for all.

There were about 175 people present. It was part of the program for Senator Cotten, the landlord, to make them a short speech after dinner. This he did in his usual pleasing and graceful way to the perfect satisfaction and enjoyment of all. He complimented the crowd on their good management and good behavior and said much to encourage them that will long be remembered by all present. Mr. Cotten takes much interest in the health and welfare of his tenants.

Music and dancing was next on the program and was fully enjoyed by all.

Much credit is due Mr. J. C. Humphrey and Mr. S. H. Martin, managers of this picnic for their untiring energy in seeing all well fed and given a good time generally.

This community is well pleased with the work being done on the road by Mr. Alfred Forbes, the efficient manager of the convict force. With the assistance of a lot of heavy mules and big steel plows furnished by Senator Cotten, good progress is being made; the county commissioners made no mistake in sending Mr. Forbes and his convicts up here.

If the people all over the county could be induced to take the interest and lend a helping hand as Mr. Cotten is doing in the matter of good roads, we would soon see a great improvement all over the county without increasing the taxes or bond issue.

A WELL WISHER OF BOTH GOOD ROADS AND PICNICS.

INVESTIGATING R. E. HOLDINGS

Announcement That Names of Owners of Disorderly Houses Will be Given Causes a Run-away Paule

NEW YORK, August 27.—Members of the extraordinary grand jury that has been summoned to inquire into police blackmail will be investigated as to their real estate holdings by District Attorney Whitman, who has discovered that one of the grand jury panel of fifty business men is part owner of a hotel used for disorderly purposes.

The state's attorney insists that the extraordinary grand jury shall not have even a remote connection with the police graft system and is necessary he will challenge the prospective grand jurors in open court.

The news that Police Commissioner Waldo would publish a list of owners of gambling and disorderly houses has caused a panic among the owners who have deluged the police commissioner with frantic appeals not to make their names public.

In many instances the owners make the protest on the ground that they did not know that their property had been let to undesirable.

This district attorney's office has heard that counsel in the case of Police Lieutenant Becker, indicted for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, is preparing to ask for a change of venue on the ground that Becker could not get a fair trial here because of the inflamed state of public opinion.

John F. McIntyre, counsel for Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, indicted for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, today obtained a delay in the case until September 3, by serving a writ stating the proceedings.

The writ was served on Assistant District Attorney Rubin and Judge Mulqueen of the Court of General Sessions, before whom Becker was to have been arraigned today for pleading. Supreme Court Justice Amend issued the writ.

Becker was arraigned last Tuesday for pleading, but his counsel obtained an adjournment until today. Today, still professing to be not ready to go on, Mr. McIntyre obtained the writ on the ground that he needed more time to make any motions he might deem necessary.

Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, is preparing to bring suit against Lieutenant Becker for $100,000 damages for the death of her husband. Her lawyer bases his hopes of success in this suit on a technicality which he believes will make it possible for him to win even if Becker escapes conviction in the criminal prosecution.

The point is the requirement in a criminal case that the testimony of accomplices must be corroborated. It is this point which Lieutenant Becker hopes may enable him to win freedom despite the confessions of Rose, Webber and Vallon.

In a civil suit, however, only a preponderance of evidence is necessary to win a verdict and the fact that the testimony is that of accomplices would not invalidate it.

Bridg Webber's poker rooms, on the second floor of the northwest corner of Forty-second street and Sixth avenue, where the slayers of Herman Rosenthal gathered a few minutes before they drove to the Hotel Metropole on the morning of the murder, July 16, were raided and closed last night by Inspector Dwyer and a squad of detectives.

Since Webber's arrest an confinement in the West Side prison on the charge of complicity in the murder of Rosenthal, the poker rooms which have netted him a large part of a fortune estimated by his friends at $250,000, have not been closed. The games have been conducted by a manager who gives his name as Kirk Brown and who has made daily reports of the profits to the proprietors in his cell.

THE WAY WE LOSE MONEY

Money is not a commodity, it is a medium for the exchange of commodities. (And commodities means either goods or labor). Under proper conditions, a man who pays out money does not part with anything; he merely gives up something that he has received for value in some previous transaction and receives value back again. In other words, all through his life he gives up commodity for money and money for commodity in endless chain. The money itself is nothing more in the transaction than the wagon that delivers the goods.

So long as this circle is unbroken—goods for money and money for goods—the balance of trade, so far as this man is concerned, is maintained. He has not only a place in which to buy but also a place in which to sell, for the money is at hand to serve as the medium either way.

But suppose he buys a commodity and pays money therefor. And suppose a little later he has a commodity of his own to sell in order that he may have his money returned to him. And now suppose the money has disappeared. Then, if the money has left the community, the community can not buy his goods.

It may be the man himself is to blame. It may be that he has fallen into the habit of sending his money away to some distant community when he desired to buy commodities and has been unreasonable enough to expect it to be close at hand to serve as the medium of exchange when he desires to sell. In other words, he has furnished some other community with the medium of exchange instead of keeping the medium of exchange in his own community where it will be available when he requires its services.

That seems very foolish. What makes the man do it? Maybe he thinks he can get goods for less money that way. But, if his sending away of the medium of exchange makes it scarce in the community and arrests the development of the community, can't he see that when he again wishes to exchange his goods for other people's money he will receive less money for his goods?—That he may even have to send the goods where he sent the money in order to get the money back again?

PENALTY FOR UNFAIR ADVERTISING

People of this country would do well to work toward having enacted by Congress a law similar to one which is now on the statute books of Germany and which embraces stringent provisions against all forms of unfair advertising and false assertions concerning merchandise. Germany was the first nation to legislate against this source of public injury and unfortunately its course has been followed by very few countries. If a similar law were in force in the United States it would be one of the most effective weapons possible in fighting mail order institutions which frequently sell merchandise that does not measure up to representation.

Placing extravagant value on goods that undoubtedly are misrepresented is something that does not occur so frequently as formerly in Germany, due to this law which provides punishment for unfair competition.

The Imperial German statutes provide that any one making trade representations intending to mislead liable to imprisonment up to one year and to a money penalty up to 5,000 marks ($1,190) or to one of these punishments. In Germany during the years 1905-1909 there were more than one thousand convictions under this law.

This law was first enacted in Germany in 1896 but was amended in 1909. As amended the law deals with false assertions as to one's own goods; false weights, measures and quantities of goods privileged communications; trade names; business or trade secrets, and procedure.

The esteem of the people of Pitt county for Judge E. B. Cline, who held court here last week, is both appreciated and reciprocated by His Honor. We take the liberty of using a paragraph from a personal letter to the editor, which says: "Never have I found a people anywhere who received me more cordially than your in Pitt and I shall never forget them. I come back to you in just three weeks when I hope we shall greatly enlarge our short but delightful acquaintance".

Ex-Private Secretary Loeb may try to prove Roosevelt innocent in the campaign contribution matter, but they are two of a kind.

There may be something brewing out of which will come an opera house for Greenville. Here is hoping it will reach the boiling point soon.

The larger towns are coming forward with protests against being deprived of Sunday mails.

OLDEST ADVERTISEMENT

Been Running in Greenville Reflector for 34 Years.

We believe we have found the oldest living advertisement in North Carolina in the First issue of the Greenville Reflector in 1878 a local merchant took a modest space in which was set forth the wares carried in stock. Weeks, months, years went by with no change. Along in the fall of 1892 Cleveland was elected president and in the excitement of making up the paper that week the foreman "pied" that particular advertisement. The type was worn out anyway so it was reset in new type. But it kept right on. Then just a year or so ago the paper in stalled a type setting machine and this advertisement was set on the machine and the old type again worn out, was thrown in the junk pile. Still no change has been made in either the wording of the advertisement or the style in which it was displayed. Thirty four years without a change we believe it a record for the country certainly for the state. But we were about to forget there was one change made. Five or six years ago a telephone system was installed in the town, whereupon the merchant in question had added to his advertisement "telephone number 55."—Statesville Sentinel.

And what's more the advertisement suits the merchant in question and he says he does not want to change it, for it has made the store and his name as familiar to the people of Pitt County as the advertisement itself. He does some other advertising in the "Bargain Column" for mentioning specials, but his regular advertisement suits him and is just what he wants. And he always uses the same type letter head and bill head in his business. His name is so near a household word to any reader of this paper that it is not necessary to call it here for the readers to know who is referred to.
