Greenville Market Disposes of 1,673,469 Lbs. in Twelve Sales Days

GENERAL AVERAGE SINCE OPENING DAY IS $12.90

Figures never lie and in the above heading you have a truthful account in brief of what the Greenville Tobacco Market has done since it opened up on the 15th. of the past month. In other words in exactly twelve days the market has sold nearly a million and three quarter pounds and has had a steady average of almost 13 cents a pound. During the twelve available days in August the average days sale was 139,448 lbs., which is a fair average considering that the opening of the season. If that is a sample of what is to come in the way of big sales, something big will surely come up towards the end of the month and through October. Although the beginning of the week yesterday the market sold over 220,000 lbs., whilst today well over 350,000 lbs., were taking up floor space early this morning.

AMERICAN RANCHER SLAIN BY REBELS

JOSH STEVENS DIES DEFENDING LIVES OF HIS TWO DAUGHTERS ON A MEXICAN RANCH

FIFTH AMERICAN KILLED BY INSURGENTS

EL PASO, Texas, September 2.—Murdered by a rebel soldier while protecting his two daughters was the fate of Joshua Stephens, an American settler of Colona, Pachoco, according to a report received by O. P. Brown business agent here of the Mormon colonies in Mexico.

It was at first reported that Stephens, who was killed last week, had met death at the hands of an American, but this report was sent, it is said to avoid trouble with the rebels, who still infest the American settlements to the southwest of Jaurez. Two rebels visited the Stephens home with apparent intention on the two young women of the household. Stephens met the intruders with a shot gun and escorted them to the limits of his property.

According to the story told by his daughters, one of the Mexicans drew a sword bayonet from his belt and thrust it into the American's body. Stephens fired and fell dead over the man whom he had slain. The other Mexican fled.

The case has been investigated by Junius Romney, president of the colonies. It is said to make the fifth murder of American settlers by rebels in the district.

President Romney has issued a warning that no families return to the colonies until quiet is restored. It is declared that the Federal soldiers strung out between Jaurez and Chihuahua have not left the railway and that the American colonies are absolutely protected.

Melon Day at Rocky Ford

ROCKY FORD, Colo., Sept. 3.—Rocky Ford kept open house today and her visitors, to judge from the crowded streets, include nearly every man, woman and child in the entire Arkansas Valley. The visitors were royally entertained and each and every one was given his or her fill of the juicy watermelon and luscious cantaloupe for which Rocky Ford is famed the country over. This has been a feature for nearly 25 years and each succeeding year the carnival has assumed larger proportions and the attendance has been greatly increased.

GOV. WILSON AND THE BULL MOOSE

Next President Points Out Party Flaws

MAKES THOROUGH ANALYSIS

No Federal Commission to Regulate Monopoly—Against the Minimum Wage Idea, as Undermining Mens' Associations.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Governor Wilson today analyzed the third party platform in its relation to the laboring man.

The occasion of his speech was a labor day celebration under the auspices of the United Trade and Labor Council. It was the first expression from the democratic candidate on the merits of the Progressive platform. The governor said that while on the one hand was to be found there "warm sympathy with practically all projects of social betterment," that part was merely "a proclamation of sympathy," whilst the real program lay elsewhere "where the tariff and trusts are spoken of."

The governor assailed the minimum wage idea, declaring that employers would take occasion to bring their wage scale as nearly as they could down to the level of the minimum permitted by law.

With the idea of a federal commission to regulate monopoly, the governor took emphatic issue. He declared that the plan suggested not only would legalize monopoly, but give the chief employers of the country a "tremendous authority behind them."

What the employers do will have the license of the Federal government, including the right to pay wages approved by the government, declared Governor Wilson. He pointed out that it always had been the policy of the masters of the consolidated industries to undermine labor in a great many ways and that a plan of Federal control as advocated by the new party systematically subordinates working men to monopolize.

Revival Services

According to notices previously given out, Rev. E. M. Hoyle preached the third sermon in a series of meetings last evening at the Methodist church, the two sermons on Sunday preceding.

The subject last night was "Free Moral Agency," taken from the same Scripture of Sunday night, the "Fall of Man", and followed closely the line of thought developed from this text. It is a subject of such vast and vital importance that it is a pity there was not a packed house to hear it.

Of all God's creatures, man is the only He saw fit to endow with this gift. Nature has no choice but to obey divine authority; neither is there any responsibility attached to animal life. But with the gift of free moral agency, man becomes akin to God. With this gift there goes the greatest dignity that God could bestow on his creature man, also the most fearful responsibility. And right here is where humanity errs, in thinking too little of power to choose and confounding the moral and physical choice. We think lightly or not at all of the results of the little choices we are called on to make daily.

We are enjoying the blessings of Christianity today because our forefathers chose wisely and well in their day and time.

The forcefulness and earnestness of the speaker cannot fail to make itself felt and there will go out from the meetings an influence that will broaden and widen as the days go by.

There are not enough singers and as this is not a denominational meeting, but is intended for all the churches, a call is now made for volunteers from any and all churches to help in the singing.

Mayor and Mrs. F. M. Wooten and Mrs. Julia Wooten have returned from Seven Springs.

PENN STORM KILLS MANY

Over Twenty Drowned and Many More Missing

WEST VIRGINIA ALSO SUFFERS

Houses and Railroad Tracks Swept Away by Surging Torrents as Down Pour Continues For Hours

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 2.—Twenty persons are known to have been drowned and many others are missing following a series of storms which swept over Western Pennsylvania and the panhandle of West Virginia early today.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Panhandle Railroad were badly washed out, and it is stated that days will pass before traffic can be resumed.

Through trains were marooned during the night in the flooded districts. Many manufacturing plants are under water and the property damage will be heavy.

Reports from colliers in the panhandle of West Virginia are that nine persons have been drowned there and many more are missing, but the exact loss of life cannot be ascertained until the searching parties along the valley of Hannon's Creek have completed their work.

The storms came after a day of unusual heat and burst with little warning. Rain fell in torrents, small streams soon became raging torrents. Houses were swept away and lives lost before the people were aware the flood was upon them.

Cherry Valley, a mining town on the creek, was flooded within half an hour after the rain began to fall. Foundation of houses were undermined and they toppled over in the flooded streets. The Gillespie family were asleep and did not hear the shouts of warning. They were drowned in the house and the bodies of the children were found on the little bed in room, the mattress floating in four or five feet of water.

Elh Hancock, a farmer in the outskirts of Burgettstown, when he heard the sound of flood, rushed to the stable to save his horse, he was drowned and a son who went to his rescue was swept away, but catching the branches of an overhanging tree drew himself to safety.

Cannonsburg, Pa., also suffered from the storm, hardly recovered from a like experience last week. Charles Creek, overflowed its banks and swept through the town, flooding the railroad and trolley tracks, and many of the streets. A number of houses were filled with water, but the residents received ample warning and hastened to places of safety.

Hancock, who lost his life, had turned back to recover some valuable papers. He was seen to enter the front door as the house collapsed. He body has not been recovered.

An unknown boy fell into the flood when the porch of a house where he had taken refuge went down and although scores of persons attempted to save him he was swept away. The body had not been recovered this morning and his identity had not been established. A number of children in the community are among the missing.

The foreigner who had taken refuge on the roof of a house on the stream on the edge of Cannonsburg slipped on the shingles and disappeared in the flood.

At Avella, Washington county, 3 children of Henry Crow were drowned. The house was located near a little stream which rose so rapidly that it undermined the building and when it collapsed Mrs. Crow was badly injured. Crow hastened to her rescue and saved her, but before he could return for the children they were swept away. They were Amelia, aged 15; John, aged 12, and Grace, aged 4. Two other children were tossed about for a time on the surface of the flood and then thrown on the bank of the stream, where they were later found by the distracted father. After spending its force south and west of Pittsburgh the storms swung north to Butler county, where great damage was done, but so far as known no lives were lost.

Coroner's Jury Closes Report On Death of Allen Harrington

"DECEASED CAME TO HIS DEATH BY BEING RUN OVER BY TRAIN ON NORFOLK SOUTHERN RAILROAD ON FRIDAY, AUG. 30, 1912, AFTER ONE O'CLOCK."—Coroner's Jury Report.

ENGINEER AND TRAIN CAPTAIN TESTIFY THAT TRAIN WAS STOPPED TO LET HARRINGTON DOWN

Black Jack Tobacco at The Star Warehouse

ACRE OF TOBACCO BRINGS $214.00

Quite one of the notable sales so far in the tobacco market, was that of an acre of tobacco from the Black Jack district, which brought $214.00, at an average of over 20 cents a pound. People who have been around tobacco warehouses for some time pronounced this tobacco as some of the finest they had ever seen and the record price it brought, certainly did "second the motion". The proud and lucky seller of the tobacco was Mrs. Jessie B. Hardy, of Black Jack. Mgr. Foxhall says he is making some of the best sales in the market and the above certainly substantiates what he says.

"WHOLESALE GAMBLERS" ARREST

Fayetteville Club Members Caught by the Police

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 2.—Five additional indictments have been returned against members of the Fayetteville Industrial Club, the most fashionable social organization of this city, charging them with gambling in the club rooms, while seven of the eight club members who were indicted appeared before Judge Bragaw and submitted to the gambling charges.

The indictments returned were against C. C. McAlister and T. G. McAlister, prominent in the lumber trade; W. F. Clayton, of a cigar company; H. M. Pemberton, a piano dealer and J. Sprunt Newton, a well known member of the bar. The counts against Messrs. Pemberton and Newton were not pressed by Solicitor Sinclair when the cases were brought up in court.

The defendants submitting on whom Judge Bragaw suspended sentence on payment of the costs of the cases, were C. N. Dunn, wholesale grocer; E. E. Gorham, of a book and music company; E. J. Lilly, an insurance man; A. H. Slocumb, Jr., a naval store manufacturer; Joseph B. Underwood, a broker, and Mayor John Underwood and A. L. Williamson, secretary of the Holt-Morgan Cotton Manufacturing Company.

The remaining defendant, L. B. Hale, who is clerk to the House of Representatives' Committee on Reform in the Civil Service, is in Washington. C. C. McAlister, W. F. Clayton and T. G. McAlister are also out of the city and their cases together with that against Mr. Hale were continued to the next ensuing court.

Oil derricks were blown down, small streams flooded and scores of persons spent the night in interurban cars while repairs were being made to lines and tracks.

The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 at the home of Mrs. D. S. Spain.

The coroner's jury conducting an investigation into the cause of Allen Harrington's death had by yesterday gathered all the information within their means and had their report closed.

The verdict as set forth in that report fails to place the blame on any one particular individual or set of individuals. It does not find through whose fault Harrington came to his death.

As previously announced in this paper, the coroner summoned the engineer and captain of the 1 o'clock train, into which Harrington was helped that morning. Captain James Geraw told the jury that on the morning in question there were quite a few men boarded the train at Greenville, but that so far as he could remember nobody was helped into the train, although that might well have happened without his noticing it, immediately upon passing the Y Captain Geraw says, on going through the train, he came upon a little man dozing off in the first seat front of the car. He tapped him on the shoulder and asked him where he was going. "Wendell", answered the man, who was no other than Harrington. "Then my friend," rejoined Capt. Geraw, "you are on the wrong train." With this Harrington got up and started towards the platform, which he reached without my help. I reached over for the signal cord and had the train stopped. The man alighted and that was all to it.

Engineer J. R. Hunter, of No. 6 train, testified that a little after passing the Y and as he had slowed down to pick up the brakeman, he heard the signal to stop and did stop for a period of from half to a full minute.

In the meantime, Harrington's family, represented by Mr. Albion Dunn, is about to institute a suit against the railroad company.

STREET PEDDLERS

Of all dirty, disgusting, dangerous places to buy foods, fruits and confections, the street stands and pushcart peddlers take the first place. Did you ever stop for even a few minutes to watch the various ways in which these foods are continually exposed to dirt and disease? Who has not seen some more or less unkempt, filthy looking foreigner hovering around an old push cart loaded with the cheapest grades of sticky candies, stale nuts and overripe fruits? In many cases his entire stock of wares is exposed to flies and dirt. Some of the more progressive vendors now have their candies and fruits protected from flies by means of mosquito netting. But this affords little protection against the clouds of dust that are stirred up by street sweepers, gusts of wind, and passing vehicles. The idea of having to inhale such dust is revolting enough, yet in this case it is eaten—only in a disguised and more palatable form. All thoughtful persons recall at once the possibility of eating dangerous germs in dried tuberculosis sputa as well as unesthetic material from the street sweepings.

To minimize this dust nuisance, peddlers can frequently be seen blowing the dust off their candies and in the case of fruits the original lustre is restored by rubbing in the hands, with the coat sleeve, or worse still with a badly soiled pocket handkerchief. It is unnecessary to even speculate on the possibilities contained in these handkerchiefs.

The unsanitary methods and conditions under which much of this candy, ice cream, etc., is made is another item. Not only are these candies, fruits, etc., made and stored in filthy cellars, kitchens, etc., but these same rooms are frequently used for bedrooms and living rooms for the peddler and his family. Nor is this all. In competing with each other and with other stores, an effort is made to sell the greatest quantity possible for a penny or a nickel. This leads at once to using inferior materials and great quantities of various adulterants, coloring matter and flavors.

Last of all, let us not forget that it is the small boy and girl, with their pennies and nickels, that are the greatest victims of these peddlers of confections and diseases. Growing children must have sweets, but there is no reason for our permitting them to patronize such places. Give the boys and girls good, pure candies and clean fruits. It will reduce doctor bills and increase the child's prospect for a good stomach.

The editor of the Fayetteville Index stated in his paper that gambling was going on in that town. The mayor took exception at what the editor said and summoned him to tell what he knew. As a result several prominent people were indicted, the mayor being among them. It is some times dangerous to try to make an editor tell everything he knows.

The one thing that is in constant demand is service. But the demand is for the best. Not the hew cheap, but how good. There is no question about it, quality counts. Skill and efficiency are the winning cards in the workman's hands, and these rest on health.

Robbing one's self of sleep is putting a mortgage on future health and happiness. Nature will surely foreclose. Try to get your eight hours out of the twenty-four. They are yours.

Unless some action is taken to challenge and prevent it, there are a lot of Republicans who are going to vote in the Democratic primary next Saturday.

It is a brave oyster that will show its head in this torrid weather, even if the month does have an "r" in it.

The salary of rural mail carriers has been increased to make preparation for putting in effect the parcels post.

There are numerous ways to advertise, but hereabouts The Reflector beats all of them for hitting the spot.

Others may blow of what they are doing, but the Greenville tobacco market gets there with the goods.

Greenville is too good a town to keep her opportunities hid.

Cheap candy—expensive funeral. Why take chances?

This is My Birthday

George E Foster

George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Dominion Government, was born in Carleton county, New Brunswick, September 3, 1847. He received an excellent education at Edinburgh and Heidelberg and was at one time a professor in the University of New Brunswick. He was first elected to the House of Commons in 1882 as an Independent Conservative. The election was afterwards declared null on a petition, but he was re-elected by a larger majority. He entered the government of Sir John A. Macdonald in 1885 as Minister of Marine and Fisheries. He succeeded Sir Charles Tupper as Minister of Finance in 1888 and continued as such throughout the Abbott, Thompson, Bowell and Tupper administration, until the defeat of the Conservative party in 1896. With the ment on the reciprocity issue last year Mr. Foster entered the Borden ministry.

To The Democratic Voters of Pitt County.

In an unsigned circular which M. W. F. Evans says he is responsible for, and in his speeches, says, "A few years ago Mr. Blow put a stock law over a section of Belvoir township just as Mr. Cotten did in 1911 over the new stock law territory, and he did not give the people a vote." There is not one word of truth in this statement and to satisfy all men that there is not I am publishing below the affidavits of six respectable citizens of Belvoir township who know all about the facts.

Copy of Affidavits of J. E. Warren, J. B. Bell, Richard Harris, R. H. Coggins, C. L. Parker and R. W. Faithful: STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA)

County of Pitt
J. E. Warren, J. B. Bell, Richard Harris, R. H. Coggins, C. L. Parker and R. W. Faithful, being duly sworn, each for himself, deposes and says, that he has personal knowledge of the manner in which the stock law fence was established and located in Belvoir township, and that the simple facts are these: There was a controversy among the citizens of a portion of Belvoir township as to whether any portion of the township should be put in the stock law territory, and if so, where the fence of said territory should be located. Committees representing the conflicting views, visited Raleigh and had a personal interview with A. L. Blow, then Senator from Pitt, and J. B. Little and H. T. King, the representatives in the House from Pitt. These Committees after talking the matter over with Senator Blow and the representatives in the House from Pitt, came to an agreement as to what part of the township should be put in the stock law territory, and as to where the stock law fence should be located. A law was passed fixing the boundaries of the stock law territory as agreed upon by these committees, and the location gave satisfaction. It is not true that Senator Blow and our representative put the stock law upon us, on the contrary it is true that we fixed the boundaries ourselves, and that from that time until now, has anyone residing in said territory complained at the action of our said Senator and representatives, but on the contrary those who reside within and without said boundaries have approved and commended their action.

After reading these affidavits can any man have the slightest doubt about the reckless manner in which Mr. Evans makes his charges? Can the people of Pitt be longer fooled and misled by these reckless charges? We will see on the 7th of September.

Alex. S. Blow

To the Democratic Voters of Pitt County:

As the second primary approaches, a great many rumors are current as to what will be done. I am informed that in the last primary in many instances the poll holders were very partisan and did all that they could against my candidacy; in other places I was accorded fair treatment. I thing it nothing but right that the poll-holders should contain friends of all the candidates, but in many places this is not so. I call upon the Democratic organization to see that this is done.

Another thing that I desire to inform my friends of is that according to Sec. 32 of the plan of organization any Democratic Candidate who is voted for in said primary election may attend the same in person or by representatives and be present during the conduct of said election and counting the vote.

Section 33 says, "at the close of the voting it shall be the duty of the poll-holders, in the presence of such candidates or their representatives and any Democrat who wishes to attend, to proceed at once to count the ballots—

There has also been some talk of a challenging board. This is a new thing and not permissible under the plan or organization. The same rules apply this year that have been applied in the past and they should be adhered to.

I would be glad to have my friends in the different precincts communicate with me and I will appoint representatives to see that the primary shall be fair to myself. Let us have a primary above suspicion, and no counting of votes behind closed doors.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Primaries in California

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 3.—Primary elections were held through out California today by all political parties for the nomination of candidates for Congress, State senate and State house of representatives. Successors to 22 superior judges were voted up in these contests as the new State law on, but party politics did not figure provides that judicial positions shall be nonpartisan.

Interest in the primaries contested chiefly in the fight of Taft and Roosevelt factions to secure the nomination of their candidates for the State senate and assembly, as these candidates will comprise the delegates to the State convention to be held three weeks hence. In addition to the drafting of a platform, the State convention will choose the slate of presidential election. Since both the Taft and Roosevelt factioing made their fight in the primaries under the designation of the Republican party the importance of the contest is apparent. The faction which fails to control the State convention will be put to the necessity, according to the State law, of circulating individual petitions for a ticket of thirteen electors.

THE HAPPENINGS IN WINTERVILLE

AYDEN, Sept. 3.—Last Thursday morning John Braxton, who had been a long sufferer with an ulcerated leg, grew tired of living and in his humble cottage where he lived all alone, he fastened his doors securely, unshot in his breast a death was inured his bosom and fired a load of instantaneous. His brother, Mr. Jesse Braxton, heard the gun, but paid no attention to it and later in the day sent his little daughter over to look after her uncle's domestic affairs; found the doors locked and peeping through a crack saw a pool of blood, the alarm was given and neighbors went to the scene and found him dead in his blood. Kind friends donated, bought a coffin and gave him a decent sepulcher. Despondency was no doubt the cause of the rash act. He was about 60 years old.

Mr. D. D. Haskett, of Greenville, was here Saturday selling Bulbs and taking subscriptions for the Progressive Farmer.

Mr. Isaac Gardner, of Rosemary, spent Sunday here with his brother, Walter, who has taken a relapse with typhoid fever.

See our line of belting, mill fillings of all kinds. Lime and cement J. R. Smith and Bro.

Mr. L. L. Kittrell tells us that he sold five of his nice buggies Saturday. They sure make some neat auto buggies.

Our Ridge Spring neighbors are making a sand clay road from the creek to the Hilldale farm, across the sand desert.

Our tobacco market is making things lively and the farmers are tickled over their good fortune.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Warren Smith, of Winterville, spent Sunday in town visiting Mr. T. Eugene Cannon.

Mrs. John Crow, of Goldsboro, is visiting relatives in town.

Prof. Natt Wright held service in the Christian church Sunday night in the absence of the pastor.

Mr. C. K. Johnson is moving into his new residence on Lee street.

Mr. L. L. Kittrell has remodeled his system gin, enlarged his house and added another gin making three, this shows he has confidence in the future.

The army worms are making their appearance in this vicinity. We learn they have struck Mr. Clarence Hart's pea field and devoured all the grass. Mr. Eddie Smith, near Hanrahan's, tells us they had invaded his farm, and fortunately a gang of crows came to his rescue and devoured the worms, so don't despair, there is some good in most everything.

We want your eggs, chickens, bacon and bees wax. J. R. Smith and Bro.

Rev. C. W. Howard filled the pulpit at the Christian church Sunday.

morning. After service the church unanimously called Rev. John L. Le Grand, of Spray, N. C., for his full time. He will enter upon his duties at the close of the conventional year.

Miss May Holton is visiting Miss Sudie Proctor, of Grimesland.

We were glad to see Dr. Charlie Ross, of Mt. Olive, in town last week. Charlie is an Ayden product and we all feel proud of her distinguished son. He is now proprietor of the Ross Drug Company in Mt. Olive and doing a thriving business.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist church, that was to begin last night, has been postponed. Rev. Mr. Davis who was to do the preaching was not physically able to do the work.

School opens at the F. W. B. Seminary this morning. Prof. Sawyer tells us the prospects are good for a large attendance.

Remember our graded school opens on Sept. 9th. The teachers and pupils are expected to meet at the school building Wednesday to get acquainted with each other and to be assigned to their respective grades.

School books, tablets, ink, at J. R. Smith and Bro., who request you to pay cash for your books, as 10 per cent will be added to books charged.
