THREE CORNERED POLITICAL DEBATE

Tom Settle, Locke Craig and V. Walsler

SETTLE MAY DEMAND IT

The Probability of a Three Cornered Contest Between the Governatorial Candidates Spoken Of GREENSBORO, Sept. 9.—That a three cornered campaign and debate between the candidates for the governorship of North Carolina is in the realm of probability, was indicated Sunday when Zeb Vance Walsler, of Lexington, Progressive nominee for governor, wired the Greensboro Daily News: "Could not say whether I would ask to join with Craig and Settle in a joint campaign until I advise with the state committee". Mr. Walsler's telegram was in reply to an inquiry as to whether it was probable that he would ask to meet either Mr. Settle or Mr. Craig or both on the stump. Republican State Chairman John M. Morehead, in an interview in the Daily News Sunday indicated that it had been determined by Mr. Settle to challenge Locke Craig, the Democratic nominee, for a joint canvass of the state. Mr. Craig has made no public statement regarding his probable action in the event challenge is issued by Mr. Settle or Mr. Walsler, but his friends here have expressed the belief that in the event such was made it would be marked by a prompt acceptance.

Mr. Craig and Charles A. Webb, chairman of the Democratic committee, were wired yesterday in regards to their position, but neither made reply. The telegram directed to Mr. Craig and Mr. Webb, was: "Chairman Morehead in interview favors joint canvass between Craig and Settle. Please wire immediately position you will take, including any statement you may desire to make." To this, however, neither made reply. Mr. Walsler was also asked regarding rumors heard here that he might issue a challenge for a division of time in the proposed joint debate, thus making it a triple affair. Mr. Walsler's reply, while non-committal, indicates that he has given consideration to the proposals and that certainly he is not positive that he will not make an effort to get into the debate.

No Let-Up in Frenzy of the Tobacco Market

With Factories Chock Full and Warehousemen Worked to Death Tobacco Keeps Coming In

It was noticeable last night in going the rounds of the warehouses that today would be another record breaker in the market. First and second sales warehouses had a most handsome load of tobacco last night; yet when sales opened this morning all expectations had not only evaporated, but the most sanguine hopes for a mammoth break, were gone beyond.

Something was witnessed this morning in the neighborhood of one of the warehouses, that no one remembers having seen. In order to provide all available floor space for the sale of the leaf, some wagons had to unload in the street. Approximately 450,000 pounds were for sale in four warehouses, the fifth one, having the last sale, not even attempting to unload, well knowing that today would see the second blocked sale of the season. As soon as the market opened this morning, several people were of the opinion that it would be the end of big prices and that something would happen. Nothing like that took place and although for a very short moment

BIRD MEN TO BATTLE FOR AIR SUPREMACY

BEST NOTED FLIERS OF AMERICA AND EUROPE WILL TRY FOR GORDON BENNETT CUP

AEROPLANE CONTESTS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The world's aviation championship carrying with it the James Gordon Bennett 1,200 franc trophy donated in 1908 is to be settled in Chicago today.

With the American defender built by a syndicate for the purpose of competing in this race, withdrawn on the eve of the race, the big prize was practically conceded to France. The French team has three monoplanes each with a speed of 100 miles an hour.

The distance of 124.8 miles, or about thirty laps around a 4.14 miles course. The French aviators are Jules Vedrines, Maurice Prevost and Andre Frey.

The Americans who will participate are Delloyd Thompson, Paul Peck and Howard Gill.

Vedrine Made Over 100 Miles Hour.

Vedrine's speed was about 105.5 miles an hour, not quite equal to his previous record. Vedrines completed his flight before noon, spinning thirty times over the 4.14 miles course as smoothly as a swallow veers around a church spire.

Hopes that America still may have a chance of retaining for another year the Gordon trophy, which was won by Chas. T. Weymann at the Isle of Sheppy, England, meet last year and which is the symbol of the world supremacy, are centered in Delloyd Thompson.

"Bugs" Raymond, Erratic New York Pitcher is Beaten to Death

CHICAGO, September 9.—City detectives and attaches of the coroner's office today reported that a post-mortem examination showed that Arthur L. Raymond, former pitcher of the New York National League baseball team, died Saturday as the result of a fractured skull and not from the heart disease as was first supposed.

"Bugs Raymond died as the result of an assault and his assailant will be under arrest by tonight," said one of the detectives. "Raymond was given a terrific beating at the Elsdon, Ill., baseball grounds a short time before his death and his skull was fractured then."

Saturday it was announced Raymond had died of heart disease aggravated by excessive heat. His body was found in a small downtown hotel.

SPEED MANIACS ARE CRUSHED TO DEATH

MOTORCYCLES GOING AT 92 MILE PER HOUR CLIP JUMP THE TRACK AND SLAY FOUR SPECTATORS

BOTH RIDERS INSTANTLY KILLED

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 9.—Fate staged a tragic spectacle with cruel art in the great bowl of the Vailsburg Motordome Sunday when thru the midst of cheering thousands she sent six to death in the space of a deep drawn breath.

It was in the middle of the thirteenth race, the free for all, when, riding at the blinding speed of ninety two miles an hour, Eddie Hasha's motorcycle went wrong, climbed the twenty-eight foot incline of the track hurling its rider to instant death, and, as if thrown from a catapult crashed into the packed grandstand.

Before the whirling mass of steel was halted by a deep set iron pillar, four young men lay dead beneath it, and twenty-two others rolled, unconscious and severely injured, from its path. When the twisted engine of death, rebounding from the post rolled down the saucer rim of the track.

Down the circular path, his speed scarcely less than that of the ill-fated Hasha, came Johnny Albright, the Denver rider, knowing nothing of the tragedy above him, hearing naught of the screams and the curses of warning, blind to the panic rush of the crowd. Slowly, yet so fast that none had time to halt it, the wreck of Hasha's machine rolled down in Albright's path. The whole unnerved and frightened throng saw the coming of the second tragedy. Mrs. Hasha, wife of the first rider, lay in a dead faint on the grandstand floor. With a scream, Mrs. Albright fell beside her.

But no one saw them; no one heard them scream. The sound that came from the crowd was the sighing impotent prayer of the thousands for mercy that could not come. The front wheel of Albright's motorcycle struck the wreck, leaped into the air and the body of the rider shot thirteen feet over the handlebars and fell at the bottom of the track unconscious.

Two hours later, Albright was dead. The death list was increased to seven today by the death in the City Hospital of William Barnett, of this city.

Three other victims of the crash, two of them boys, under 14 years of age, are unconscious at the hospital and are not expected to live.

A dozen or more eye witnesses to the accident including Paul J. Durkin, manager of the motordrome, were questioned today by the police, and prosecutor. There will be no coroner's inquest.

Artist is Arrested, Charged With Painting Money

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Louis Paymore, also known as Gagamore, an artist, was arrested by Captain Thos. I. Porter, of the federal secret service bureau today, charged with having circulated hand painted $10 notes.

Gagamore is said by attaches of the secret service bureau to have confessed.

Captain Porter said he considered the arrest one of the most important made in a year.

The bogus notes have been circulated in a score of larger cities. They were not easy of detection because of the deftness of the man who made them.

Paymore has a wife and daughter who believed his income was obtained by painting portraits of wealthy persons.

Master Car Painters in Session
DENVER, Col., Sept. 10.—The forty-third annual convention of the Master Car and Locomotive Painters' Association of the United States and Canada was opened in Denver today with an attendance of members representing the leading railroads of America. The convention will continue three days and will be devoted almost entirely to the discussion of technical subjects.

BODY OF GIBSON'S CLIENT EXHUMED

Autopsy May Be Performed on Mrs. Szabo

DIFFICULT TO LOCATE BODY

Lawyer Gibson Continues to Exhibit No Nervousness Although He Faces Serious Charges

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—To determine if possible whether death was due to any agency other than drowning, District Attorney Rogers, of Orange county, N. Y., will cause to be exhumed the body of Mrs. Rosa Szabo an Austrian woman who met death in Greenwood Lake while in a row boat with Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer, now executor of her $10,000 estate.

The proposed autopsy will embrace not only an examination for wounds, but a chemical analysis of the contents of the stomach.

Gibson had the body buried under the name of Mrs. Ritter in a cemetery near Jersey City, but he has expressed his entire willingness to have it exhumed.

According to the Austro-Hungarian consulate detectives have found the woman who posed as Mrs. Rose Menschik, mother of Mrs. Szabo and beneficiary under the will.

The contention of the consulate is that the victims mother was dead at the time the will was drawn and that therefore, the wavier of citation purported to have been signed by Mrs. Menschik, is a forgery.

This phase of the case will be threshed out before the Surrogate on September 17, when the brother of Mrs. Szabo, now on his way from Austria, will testify as to his mother's death.

Without religious ceremony of any kind, the body of Mrs. Rosa Szabo on the afternoon of June 19, last under the name of Rosala Ritter, was lowered into a grave in an obscure section of Bay View cemetery, Greenville, N. J. This information was obtained from employees of the cemetery.

The funeral was said to have been the strangest which ever passed through the gates of the little burying ground which overlooks New York Bay. None of the hardened grave-diggers could remember ever having witnessed a funeral of the woman whose death is under investigation by the authorities of Orange county.

Some unfortunate who died in poverty, they whispered as the body of the drowned woman who, when she died, had more than $10,000 in the savings banks, was lowered into the ground.

According to the officials in charge of the cemetery, the body was accompanied by two men. One was Burton W. Gibson and the other was a short, thickset man with a black moustache. The coffin was in an undertaker's wagon. No other vehicle of any description followed.

Gibson took charge of the formalities at the cemetery and then the black wagon went slowly to the Cedar Lawn section of the graveyard, where in a few minutes it was lowered into grave No. 48, Row 50.

After the box had been covered with dirt the two male mourners left. The covering of the grave is the same today as it was when the last spadeful of dirt was thrown over it. No flowers of any description were placed over it, nor was a slab of stone, which might identify the dead person, erected.

"I never pay much attention to the funerals which come daily into the place," Frederick Tiden, the superintendent of the cemetery declared, "but this one I remember distinctly. A man who said his name was Burton W. Gibson made the arrangements. He said the woman's name was Rosala Ritter and that she was 23 years old. The records here show that the woman was born in Austria and that her last residence was No. 46 West Sixty-first street, Manhattan. The cause of death is given as accidental drowning. The undertaker was E. S. Boylston, of Harlem."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The tenacity of the situation along the Mexican border was reflected here today by the continuation of preparations for any emergency, principally the possibility of President Taft calling a special session of Congress to pass upon the question of intervention. With the border patrols strengthened by additional cavalry and other troops practically upon their arms at posts at an hour's notice to supplement the forces on the Arizona and New Mexico frontier, War Department officials felt they had the situation well in hand for the present, but were apprehensive of the next move of the rebel general, Salazar, encamped within sight of the United States troops protesting he meant no harm, but believed to be planning another raid into American territory.

Reports of another revolt in Southern Mexico did not command much interest. It was pointed out that the situation in which the United States is concerned is that along the border. Armed cow punchers acting as volunteer scouts are patrolling the boundary while regular troops are concentrated at points where marauders might cross to steal cattle or pillage ranches.

Arms and ammunition which President Taft authorized exported to Mexico for use of Americans in danger from rebels in Cananea have been ordered held up at Douglas, Ariz., until there are assurances that they will not fall into the hands of the rebels.

The arms will be held at Douglas until the railway south as far as Nacozari is clear of rebels, or until the Mexican government is able to furnish a guard to insure the safety of the arms.

It is expected here that the immediate effect of rebel interference with the railroad will be to hasten the extra session of the Mexican senate to authorize the sending of troops out of Mexico and across New Mexico and Arizona to Chihuahua and Sonora.

General Steever, in command of the forces now sufficient to repel any American border patrol, reports his raiders.

In anticipation of a raid by Salazar, Major Rice with three troops of cavalry is encamped near the rebel leader. Outposts have been established by both sides. Major Rice is concentrating his command but the border is being patrolled by armed cowboys, acting as scouts.

General Steever reported that Lieutenants Johnson, Boone, and Wagner in charge of patrolling parties had talked with Salazar near Lang's ranch and that Salazar protested he meant no harm to Americans and was not with his men on the raid on Culbertson's ranch. General Steever's dispatch added that Johnson does not believe the statement.

Brigadier General Murphy, commanding the Western division, has instructed Brigadier General Schuyler to utilize all the troops at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., and had dispatched two troops of cavalry to Apache, to strengthen the patrol. General Murphy reports more troops are needed and suggests that part of the Ninth Cavalry, on the way from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, be assigned to his command.

The rebels are reported threatening the city of Torreon. The reported victory of the federal troops at Nacozari is discredited in a dispatch to the War Department from General Schuyler, who telegraphed it was generally accepted that the rebels had been paid by the Nacozari Railroad Company to leave the vicinity.

It was added that a number of Americans still remain in the Mormon colony at that place, but refuse to leave until ordered by their bishop.

Mr. W. F. Evans is in Raleigh attending supreme court.

THE NATIONAL TICKET

Wilson Marshall

INVESTIGATING COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

In order to learn what government by commission had effected in the way of program, method and accomplishment, the Metz Fund upon its donor's initiative selected ten typical cities where the commission plan had been in effect for several years. These cities were Kansas City, Topeka, Wichita, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Huntington, Galveston, Fort Worth, Houston and Dallas. The general form and functional organization of these cities was learned from published charters and ordinances. To expedite and facilitate the field study, 1300 searching questions were applied to test on as many phases of administrative methods as were suggested by the experience of New York and other cities where the efficiency movement had taken root. The questions related to the origin and history of the commission plan, the administration practices indicative of efficient administration and the relation of citizens to the government and included an individual set of questions for each department, which had to be answered by work done, not by theory. The field work was directed by Mr. Henry Buere, Director of the Bureau of Municipal Research (one of whose colleagues, by the way, Frederick A. Cleveland, is making a similar field study of departments of the federal government as chairman of the Commission on Economy and Efficiency). Mr. Buere, with a staff of three bureau investigators, is now making the same kind of a study of ten German cities, beginning with Frankfurt, whose mayor ejaculated, as did so many American commissioners, "This is a new kind of study. Most people want only theory".

The investigators upon their arrival in one of the cities to be investigated first made a rapid survey of physical conditions of the city, such as streets, parks, homes, factories, railroads, etc. Then each took a department and, armed with a copy of the questionnaire, requested from the commissioner in charge or from his subordinate a few minutes' time to obtain certain information. Usually this was readily granted and the official was then asked as to organization, personnel, records and work methods, definite questions following in logical order. These proved as interesting to the man interrogated as to the questioner, for often new lines of work or different methods were suggested. Sometimes the answers as noted verbatim by the investigators were very frank—e. g., when an official of the fire department was asked what preventive measures were taken after the Asch and Newark factory fires, he replied, "Just talked about it." Several officials apparently disliked to acknowledge that their departments lacked certain modern improvements and so uniformly answered instead of a negative: "About to be installed," or, "We are considering such a plan". The third step in the study, after all departments had been covered, consisted in conferences with representative citizens to learn the non-official point of view toward commission government. The entire survey of a city usually occupied three days.

STATE WIDE STOCK LAW

That largely attended meeting of farmers in Raleigh two weeks ago, with representatives from all sections of the state, adopted a resolution memorializing the next legislature to pass a state wide stock law. The Progressive Farmer, that is read by more farmers in the state and in the south than any other paper, has declared in favor of this resolution and will use its influence in getting such a law passed by the legislature. Sentiment for such a law is growing rapidly and its early enactment can be looked for.

In speaking Monday against the present primary system for nominating candidates, the omission of the word "not" made one sentence say just the opposite of what was intended. We meant to say that by this method it frequently happens that the best men are not put in office. The people should return to the method of the office seeking the man, instead of the man seeking the office.

We note with regret that the plant of the Rocky Mount Telegram was badly damaged by fire Sunday night. While the damage, $8,000, is practically covered by insurance, this does not compensate for loss and inconvenience to the paper.

People sometimes do a thing one day and regret it the next. There are not a few Pitt countians wearing just that kind of a feeling, that is if they feel like they talk.

You have heard the old saying that "the cow will need her tail when fly time comes again". Some folks we have in mind can draw a lesson from this.

According to the government report, issued Monday, there have already been ginned about three quarters of a million bales of cotton this season.

You thought Pitt county politics were in right much of a muddle, but just wait and see what the senatorial contest in the state produces.

A primary produces ten fold discord and bitterness as was ever caused by a delegated nominating convention.

If you are any good and a hustler, Greenville would like to have you, but kickers and pull backs are not desired.

"Don't cry over spilled milk." Get you another bucket and try again.

This is My Birthday

William A. Peffer

William A. Peffer, who was a prominent figure in the United States senate from 1891 to 1897, was born in Cumberland county, Pennsylvania, Sept. 10, 1831. In his youth he was engaged in teaching school in winter and worked on a farm in the summer. Soon after reaching his majority he decided to go west to try farming on his own account. He settled first in Indiana, removing a few years later to Missouri and from that state to Illinois. During the civil war he served as a private in an Illinois regiment. After the war he began the practice of law in Clarksville, Tenn., from which place he removed to Kansas, where he was destined to attain much political prominence. His public career began with his election to the Kansas senate in 1874. Later he joined the People's Party, which had become a dominant factor in Kansas politics and was elected by that party to the United States senate in 1891. He retired from the senate in 1897 and the next year was an unsuccessful candidate for governor of Kansas on the Prohibition ticket. Of late years ex-Senator Peffer has devoted himself to literary work.

FORMER MAYOR FACES PRISON.

Former Physician and Mayor to be Sentenced for Arson
 BEMIDJI, Minn., Sept. 10.—Dr. D. F. Dumas, the former mayor of Cass Lake who is under conviction on a charge of arson, will be arraigned for sentence at the term of court which convened here today. It is expected the attorney for Dr. Dumas will argue for a new trial. Should this plea fail, sentence will be pronounced and the former mayor will be taken to the Stillwater penitentiary.

The sentence of Dumas will end one of the most noted criminal cases with which the courts of Minnesota have had to deal in years. At the time of his arrest a year ago last June Dumas was mayor of Cass Lake and was respected both as a physician and public official. His arrest followed the alleged confession of two yeggmen who had been shot and captured while cracking a safe in the town of Puposki. According to the stories told by the yeggmen the physician-mayor was one of the ring leaders of a band of criminals that had carried on a state-wide campaign in arson and safe breaking. Dumas was tried and convicted on a charge of arson.

When The Show Comes to Town
 Amusement seekers and show goers of Pitt County will have the treat of their lives Oct 1st when the famous Sun Brothers' World's Progressive Shows appear here. Nothing better has ever been seen in this section.

Every dream of boyhood day will be realized. The peanuts, the caramels, pink lemonade, the clowns and the smell of the fresh shavings, the whole good atmosphere of the tented show will be there. Every act with the show this season is entirely new, novel and of an ultra-meritorious character. A noteworthy engagement this year is the positive appearance at each performance of the famous Electric De Kamos, a quintette of high air equilibrium artists. Did you ever see a whirling Dervish? This act is doubly discounted by the Electric De Kamos.

They float through the air like winged seraphs, and whirl through the empyrean like whirling dervishes, and all that sustains them is wires gripped in their teeth. It is indeed one of the most amazing and superbly ornate dizzy height performances ever conceived.

Nearly one hundred performers take part in the big programme and are all artists of extraordinary ability. In the wild beast department will be seen many unique, strange and distinctively novel specimens of the animal kingdom and zoologic creation, and all are exhibited in a classified manner and explained by competent keepers and lecturers. Seats are provided for all patrons and the tents are well ventilated and commodious. Courteous ushers are in attendance to show visitors to eligible seats. Courtesy being a red

Cotton Men Organize

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 10.—Representatives of the cotton industry in Arkansas met here today to organize a state association for the protection of their mutual interests. One of the principal aims of the association will be to bring about the repeal of the anti-future dealing law which is declared to be seriously interfering with the cotton business in Arkansas and subjecting the planters and buyers to an unnecessary loss of both time and money.
