KITCHIN SPEAKS FOR DEMOCRACY

Declines to Discuss the Senatorial Campaign

GOV. MADE SPLENDID SPEECH

About Four Hundred Hear Him in Farmville. His Appeal For Democracy Was Masterful

Thursday afternoon Governor W. W. Kitchin spoke to an audience in Farmville that nearly filled the opera house. Many ladies and the graded school honored the governor with their presence at the speaking. Mayor Carl Turnage opened the meeting with a few remarks of welcome and called upon Dr. D. L. James of Greenville to introduce the governor. This the doctor did in his usual eloquent manner, presenting him in closing as "North Carolina's great governor and next United States senator".

In beginning his speech Governor Kitchin said he would like to follow the suggestion to himself as a senator in the introduction, but as this appointment had been made for him by the state Democratic executive committee, he felt that no reference should be made to the senatorial contest and would confine himself to a discussion of the principles and platforms of the parties now seeking the suffrages of the people. Some had gone expecting to hear his usual speech in advocacy of his candidacy and once after his speech had progressed about an hour he was interrupted by a man in the audience (from Greene county) who asked him to "say something about Senator Simmons' record". The governor declined to do this, again asserting that his coming was under the auspices of the executive committee and personal matters should not be referred to.

Governor Kitchin's speech was an excellent one and listened to with closest attention. He took up the platforms of the Republicans, the Bull Moose and the Democrats, dwelling at some length on the tariff feature and showed that both the former were for protection while the latter favored only a tariff sufficient to raise the revenue needed in administration of the affairs of the government. In clear and forceful illustrations he exposed the iniquities and inequalities of the Republican principle of protection, that it was in the interests of the trusts and not for the benefit of the farmers and laborers as the Republicans claim, but worked the greatest hardship on those classes because the tariff on every article is added to the selling price, hence is paid by the consumer and not by the trust. He also illustrated the fact that under this iniquitous protection articles of American manufacture are sold at a much higher price at home than abroad and that the difference in price goes into the pockets of the manufacturer and not to help support the government. Coming to state affairs he referred to the great development and progress under Democratic administration, particularly in the last four years and in comparison with the Russell administration said it even made Republicans sick to refer to those years as their record.

REPUBLICANS FROM GRANVILLE COUNTY ELECT FULL TICKET

OXFORD, Oct. 10.—In a well attended and harmonious convention of the Republican party of Graham county today a full county ticket was nominated and funds raised to defray the expenses of the campaign. In a resolution Hon. Thomas Settle was invited to address the voters of the county at an early date. Mr. Settle is a great favorite with a large number of Granville county people and doubtless will have an overflow meeting when he speaks here.

At Baptist Church Sunday
Rev. John R. Carroll, of Winterville, will preach in the Baptist church here Sunday morning and night, in place of the pastor, who is away holding a meeting.

TURKISH STUDENTS DON'T WANT INTERFERENCE

"FOR WAR AND NO SURRENDER"

AT MASS MEETING THEY BRAND-
ISH WEAPONS AND DENY EU-ROPE THE RIGHT TO MEDIATE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Tuesday, Oct. 8, (Delayed in transmission)—A violent storm of opposition has been aroused by the Turkish government's decision to grant reforms in Macedonia.

Some 5,000 students armed with revolvers today marched to the porte, clamoring for "war and no surrender". On the way they met the minister of war to whom they shouted, "we want war".

At the porte where the ministers were sitting in council, the students broke the windows of the grand vizierate, shouting "we will not have the treaty of Berlin".

The Grand Vizier Ghazi Ahmed Mukhtar Pasha, who assured them that the application of article 23 of the treaty of Berlin did not grant antonio independence for Macedonia, was received with hisses. Eventually he promised to receive a deputation of the students and the crowd dispersed.

It is believed the demonstration was organized by the party of union and progress and that the position of the cabinet will be compromised if it shows any weakness.

This is the first uncensored despatch from Constantinople since martial law was proclaimed. It was sent by an indirect route.

ELIZABETH CITY IS TO HAVE AGRICULTURAL FAIR OCT 22-24

ELIZABETH CITY, Oct. 10.—Everything is being put in readiness for the big agricultural fair to be held here October 22, 23 and 24. The racing events have all been arranged and the purses for the three day's racing will amount to more than $1,000. There will be nine races in all, three each day and some of the best racing stock in North Carolina and Virginia will take part in these events. Locke Craig will open the fair and from the minute it opens until it closes there will be something doing to interest and amuse the people.

ORTIE McMANIGAL IS IDENTIFIED AS DY- NAMITER BY CLERKS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 10.—For the first time since he confessed to dynamiting, Ortie E. McManigal, before a jury in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today was identified by hotel clerks as having visited various cities at times when explosions occurred.

H. E. Pearce, a Kansas City, Mo., in the pages of a hotel register traced "J. W. McGraw" as having registered at a Kansas City hotel August 20, 1910, three days before McManigal blew up a portion of a $1,500,000 bridge across the Missouri river which he says, was arranged for by W. Bert Brown, of Kansas City and James McNamara.

SIMMONS APPEARS BE- FORE ROCKY MT., AUDIENCE; DE- NIES CHARGES

ROCKY MOUNT, Oct. 10.—The Masonic Opera House was filled to capacity tonight to hear Senator Simmons and Hon. J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh, in advocacy of Senator Simmons' candidacy.

Senator Simmons was introduced by former State Senator L. Y. Bassett. He is suffering from an attack of tonsillitis and was painfully ill. He spoke only a few minutes, saying he was standing on his record and not running from it. He denied the charges brought against his record by Governor Kitchin.

Two Gray Pairs
Something not often observed was seen on the street today. It was a pair of gray mules and a pair of gray horses that stopped almost facing each other. The mules carried a wagon load of brick and the horses a wagon load of cotton.

MRS. CONE JOHNSON
One of the Vice-Presidents of the Woman's National Wilson and Marshall Organization.

Mrs. Cone Johnson of Tyler, Tex., one of the vice-presidents of the Woman's National Wilson and Marshall organization and president of the Wilson and Marshall Woman's organization in Texas, is in New York, where she will remain during the rest of the presidential campaign in connection with the work of the national organization at the headquarters in the Fifth Avenue building. Mrs. Johnson came east with her husband, who is one of the most prominent politicians, most successful lawyers and most brilliant orators in Texas, to attend the Baltimore convention. Mr. Johnson was chairman of the Texas delegation which, as is well known, was solid for Governor Wilson throughout the famous Baltimore sessions. He will actively participate in the campaign, delivering a number of speeches for the ticket. Mrs. Johnson has been spending the summer in the east and will remain here to do all in her power for the advancement of the Democratic cause and the election of Wilson and Marshall.

McGrawites Overcome Lead of Red Sox With Rube Marquard on the Box, Devore Was a Hero

Wonderful Catch, Made on the Run Snatches Seeming Victory
From Bean-Eaters on the Ninth, "Rube" Pitches
Consistent Ball

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 10.—The New York nationals overcame the Boston Americans today by the score of 4 to 1 in the third game of the world's baseball championship series.

Each club has now won one victory, the second game having ended in a tie.

Nearly 35,000 persons witnessed the pitchers' battle in which the Giant's left-hander, "Rube" Marquard opposed the Red Sox spit-ball mounds man "Buck" O'Brien and Marquard carried off the honors.

Little Josh Devore was the hero of the day. The midjet outfielder made a catch that snatched seeming victory from the Bostons and sent them down to defeat. The Red Sox made a desperate rally in the ninth and there were men on second and third and two out when Cady came to the bat.

The Boston catcher sent a terrific drive between right and center and Devore was off with the crack of the bat. The crowd cheered, for two Red Sox men were on the way home and victory seemed sure when Devore, speeding after the ball, speared it with his gloved hand on the dead run, ending the game.

GREAT CROWDS WELCOME WILSON TO ILLINOIS

MAKES REPLY TO TEDDY, DISTURBER

Democrats Get Together and Pay
High Tribute to the Democratic Nominee For President

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—All factions of Illinois Democracy marched side by side today and cheered Governor Woodrow Wilson, the standard bearer of the national ticket. From the moment of arrival until late tonight when the governor departed for Ohio, his reception was one of noisy demonstration and enthusiasm. As he rode through the densely crowded streets on his arrival he stood in an automobile and waved to thousands who dotted the windows of factories and offices and a moving mass of people who trailed along beside him. The governor recovered his voice sufficiently to make an extended speech at a theater at noon, but was unable to reach the crowd that gathered at the Seventh regiment armory tonight. The theater where the governor spoke at noon was jammed from gallery to pit. The cheering developed into a prolonged demonstration. A noisy element in the gallery continued to shout, "Put them out, put them out." "No, no, don't put anybody out," said the governor quickly and the crowd gradually quieted itself.

The National Bank

In a large advertisement today the National Bank of Greenville shows its close of business Sept. 30th. This gives total resources of $446,901.84 and considering the age of the bank is something remarkable. It began business six and a half years ago and in that time has paid the stockholders $19,000 in dividends and still has a good reserve on hand. Two years ago, because of growth of business the bank had to move to larger quarters. At a meeting of the directors on the 8th inst, a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent was ordered paid to the stockholders and checks have been mailed accordingly. The business of the bank grows on strongly.

MGR. FOXHALL KEEPS STAR TO THE FRONT

$11,716.14 paid for 50,566 pounds of tobacco for Thursday's and Friday's sale at the Star Warehouse, gives this popular center of congregation of planters the handsome average for the two days' sale of $23.26. And this includes all grades of tobacco. Some really fancy prices have been obtained at this warehouse during the last two days, several good sized piles going for over 60 cents a pound. If anything these prices would seem to point out that tobacco has reached its very best price this season and also that it is more than likely it will remain firm. Continued, two of the sales made on Thursday and Friday:

J. L. BEANER
Chocowinity, Beaufort County
158 pounds at 36c; 184 pounds at 49c; 10 pounds at 60c; 198 pounds at 50c; 18 pounds at 61c; 60 pounds at 34c. Total 642 pounds, average $46.63.

W. L. CLARK Black Jack

98 pounds at 15c; 132 pounds at 23 1-2c; 48 pounds at 22 1-2c; 44 pounds at 20 1-2c; 68 pounds at 29c; 58 pounds at 29c; 122 pounds at 28c; 78 pounds at 30c; 50 pounds at 35c; 68 pounds at 35c; 36 pounds at 36c; 68 pounds at 39c; 32 pounds at 55c; 44 pounds at 62c; 28 pounds at 59c. Total 974 pounds, average $30.97.

Mgr. Foxhall wishes to advise his friends to bring in as soon as they can all the tobacco they have, as he believes prices are now higher than they will ever be.

F. D. FOXHALL, Mgr.

The Master Horseshoer's Association at the closing session of its recent national convention which was held in Denver, Colo., selected Indianapolis as the place for the next national convention which is to be held in September, 1913.

SETTLE WANTS TO SETTLE QUESTION

Makes the Audience Roar With Laughter

FUNNY RATHER THAN EFFECTIVE

Republican Candidate For Governor
Makes a Lengthy Speech In Our New Court House

Proverbially speaking the G. O. P. elephant got into our Democratic china shop yesterday and moved about awkwardly. To be sure all the exhibits in the court house yesterday were not Democratic ware: there were Republicans aplenty to meet and listen to the picturesque statuesque and handsome Asheville politician. This gentleman of the "just out of the band-box" appearance is the "white hope" of the reps. in the Old North State, and as far as white hopes have been performing of late did not do so bad. Worse acts have come to Greenville since the opera house was devoured by the unquarable element.

Ye Gods, and how the Hon. Thomas Settle cut things loose in the court house! To begin with Mr. Settle has a young looking fellow going the rounds with him. He literally sicks this spectacled advance guard on the audience and quietly sits down to get up at the right moment and deliver the blow to the solar-plexus of Democracy. Mr. Blair, (the young looking man with the cheaters) can go some too. He is from Forsythe county, Mr. Blair is, and before he is done with the audience he lets it be known. He tells stories of incidents that happened in Forsythe; he talks about honest officials in Forsythe (Republicans, of course) and then says some more with Forsythe in it. Yet, we don't blame him for it. A man should be proud to belong somewhere, even if some of us have come in a round about way from there. Mr. Blair picks up the tariff, much in the same way as you or I would pick up a quarrel and goes to it head down. Half ways up his discussion of the tariff he gets warm and near the end he reaches white heat. In some way he gets through and its up to you to get down on your knees and pray for a continuance of the blonde haired skimo up in the White House. The candidate for attorney general does make a good speech and refrains from calling out prominent people by their names. Exit Blair, enter Settle.

When Mr. Settle squares up to his audience, he does it in full consciousness of his handsome appearance and latest style of attire. Mr. Settle chest his head as far back of his chest as the flexibility of his neck will permit of, buries his hands deep into his trousers' pockets, looks straight ahead and begins

He starts much as a domestic quarrel; quietly and with tolerable excuse Like a long haired piano professor executing Somebodyoffsky's simphony, he runs up the keyboard of eximent from moderate to allegro, and onward to furioso. And right in this last stage of the performance is where Mr. Settle shines.

As an appetizer he tells the audience how sorry he feels for the "pawty" that can't find itself; that can't define itself; that is fighting within itself. He, however, mentions not the Bull Moose, prowling molevolent in his own rep. backyard. Naturally, he forgets all this. The present senatorial contest is a vertiable gold mine in his skillful treatment. He makes enough of it and in such a way as to revive good humor in the gloomiest character. He exhibits scores of political ads. and articles in which gentlemen within the Democratic fold try to exclude each other from that fold. Mr. Settle in a very humorous way makes the best of this three cornered exhibition of catch-as-catch-can campaign. Mr. Settle alleges that under the present administration Tar Heels are wasting away a sum in the neighborhood of $27,000,000 annually. Freight overcharges, "boozie" money and pensions. He reiterates that this would not to be so were the G. O. P. to be put at the helm.

"THE CHICKEN WAS SICK OR THE FARMER WAS SICK"

That is What They Used to Say When The Farmer Ate a Chicken—Now The Farmer Eats Chickens That Are Not Sick—He Also Owns Automobiles.

(By ARTHUR BRISBANE)

Do not forget that the high cost of living, like the high cost of anything else means that somebody is getting more money than they used to get. The higher cost of living means, among other things, that the farmer who used to be on the verge of bankruptcy, loaded with mortgages and worries, is getting a great deal more than he used to get, and is happier than he used to be.

To emphasize the farmer's poverty, they used to say that when the farmer ate a chicken, "The chicken was sick or the farmer was sick."

They meant that the farmer would not eat a chicken unless he himself were ill, or unless "the chicken was sick" and had to be eaten to prevent its dying and becoming a total loss.

Conditions have changed for the farmer. He now eats chickens that are hardy and flourishing. He no longer lives on skimmed milk and salt pork.

Agricultural machinery and agricultural science taught in hundreds of admirable colleges, enable him to grow one hundred bushels where he used to grow fifty—and he gets more for each bushel.

Better roads—due largely to the bicycle and the automobile—make it easier for him to get his goods to market.

Farmers' unions, granges and other organizations have enabled the farmers to work together instead of being cheated separately—that has made better prices for the farmers and better profits.

The rural free delivery, carrying the news of the day to the farmers, including the latest ideas in agriculture and the latest prices of his product, have protected him against dishonest dealers.

The telephone, connecting the farms and the stores, has saved the farmers time—and with the farmer especially time is money.

The telephone and the rural free delivery, by the way, have also cut down by about one-half the amount of insanity among farmers' wives. The greatest wealth of the nation, incomparatively is the wealth that the farmer produces. This year, fortunately, is a year of wonderful crops. Thousands of millions have been given to the nation by the farmers in actual value. Thousands of millions of bushels of grain have been taken out of the fertile earth, to feed the people directly and to feed and fatten the animals that the people will eat.

The farmer's wife was once a poor, worn-out woman before she reached thirty. Eighteen hours a day was her days work in summer. And her husband was little better off. The only excitement in the old days was the camp meeting, or some highly beneficial, but slightly doleful, prayer meeting once a week.

Now the farmer's wife, when her husband is an able man, has her literary and social club. Her daughter is lightly touching a real piano with intelligent fingers. And her grown up son is working a mechanical instrument with his heavy feet.

There is a red automobile in the barn, "the folks" go into town to attend theatres, public meetings, and look around generally.

The life that once was the saddest, the hardest, the least remunerative of all, the life of a farmer, the life that was led in ignorance of the outside world, and of true farming itself, is rapidly becoming a life of independence, of happiness, a life guaranteed against want, a life that is really worth while and toward which the weary dwellers in the cities begin by the millions to turn longing eyes.

When you think of the high cost of living, remember that in part at least, the meaning of the higher prices is that the farmer is beginning to get something for his work.

No man grudges, or should grudge him that. When you read that pork "live weight," cattle "on the hoof," sells for prices higher than were ever known before, except in war time, you are reading that the men that actually produce the animals are getting something for their trouble. No one grudges that.

The duty of the citizen is to make sure the money spent on higher cost of living actually goes to the man who does the work. The problem is not to cut down the farmer, not to put potatoes back to 30 cents a bushel, or corn to 50 cents.

The problem is to make sure that the farmer gets well paid for what he does; that the middle man, the railroad, those that handle what other men produce and that create no values, do not get the largest part of it.

The high cost of living should make the thoughtful citizen do better than merely complain. It is the duty of citizens in the big cities to unite, as the farmers have united and by cheapening distribution of products and organizing sales on a big scale, to reduce the price without injuring the farmer's profits.

If the thoughtful citizen would, he could partly solve his own living problem, by getting away from the stone pavements, to a spot where his family might get fresh air and where he, on a small and profitable scale, could be a producer of food.

Of the men fairly prosperous, living in the big cities, paying heavy prices for all that they eat, at least half and probably three-quarters, might without greater expense, own a place of their own, instead of paying rent and on that place, though it were small, produce enough actual food to take away from the cost of living that 50 per cent, added by the "increased cost" so much talked about.

So far the Giants and Red Sox stand even in the championship series, there being one game to the credit of each and a tie.

Pitt county got some of both kinds Thursday. It was Republican day in Greenville and Democratic day in Farmville.

And right on the heels of the championship games, will come talk and delivery, by the way, have also cut down by about one-half the amount

The fellow who is trying to make cotton a perennial plant will win his pile if he succeeds.

Once Roosevelt's hat was in the ring. Now he is after getting coins to ring in the hat.

Greece is making war on Turkey now. American will do likewise on Thanksgiving day.

Settle Wants to settle

Mr. Settle is running practically on a wet platform and it is to be expected that an occasional skid may occur. Local opinion is his middle name, in fact. He has the peculiarity of presenting his cause mixed up with a series of anecdotes most amusing and admirably told. He keeps his audience in good humor all the time. People appreciate a good speaker when they have him before them, and our people are no exception. Mr. Settle was given a good hearing, but it is questionable if he accomplished much in Pitt county.

The Contentnea Primitive Baptist Association will meet tomorrow at Tyson's church, eight miles above Greenville.

The county teachers' association will hold its first meeting of the present school year tomorrow.

AS FAR AS WE CAN SEE
