

ENGLISH LIQUOR IS ATTENTION LATELY

Britain Must Choose Government Control of Either Prohibition, Said.

TWO POLICES ARE GOING TO BE GIVEN ATTENTION

London, Sept. Britain must choose between strict government control of the liquor traffic or absolute prohibition, in the opinion of Lord D'Abernon, chairman of the Liquor Control Board.

"If the question is considered broadly there are only two policies, control or prohibition," said Lord D'Abernon. "Reversion to the old pre-war conditions would mean drunkenness, inefficiency, ill health, disease and the misery which has notoriously resulted from drunken habits in the past."

"I believe that control is possible. The experience of the war shows that temperance and efficiency can be obtained by regulation. I believe the liquor trade is susceptible to reform. Recent declarations by leaders in the trade, appear to me to warrant the belief that the new school in the brewing trade is gaining a hearing, and that they have realized that the old methods of the anti-reform whole-hog indulgence advocates are no longer suitable to modern conditions. The same change is in evidence among licensed victuallers. I get many letters from them urging that there be no return to the old hours, during which their work lasted 17 hours instead of six daily and when the conditions for public house servants were a scandal."

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM AND BAILEY Mammoth Shows Are Now Combined and Announce Exhibitions at Early Date.

The world's biggest amusement institution, Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Shows combined, is to exhibit afternoon and night at Rocky Mount, Friday, October 31.

The consolidation of the "World's Greatest Shows" and the "Greatest show on Earth" in one circus of colossal size, constitutes the amusement surprise of the country. Nothing to approach this gigantic, new circus has ever before toured America. It has been formed by merging the pick and the cream of all that was biggest and best in the two famous shows. It would be folly to attempt to enumerate its many wonders. Some idea of the enormous scale upon which features are presented may be had when it is stated that a quarter of a million pounds of elephants take part in a single act; in other words—six times as many of the big-eared giants than have ever before been seen in one main-tent exhibition. All else to be seen is in proportion. The arena stars embrace all the world's foremost circus performers. There are three hours of novelties and big sensational acts. The menagerie is far and away the most colossal ever traveled. For instance—a herd of eight giraffes are exhibited in place of the two or three shown in the past. The great tournament which opens the main tent program, is the most magnificent thing in pageantry yet produced in America. Hundreds upon hundreds of gorgeously costumed characters and beautiful horses take part in it. The morning street parade is the longest and most brilliant ever given anywhere. It is a stupendous super-circus that baffles description.

Delegates from thirty-one nations were present to attend the sessions of the World Cotton Conference which formally opens tomorrow.

The conference is regarded as the first serious attempt to gather the cotton interests of the world into council. Through a frank interchange of views leaders have expressed a hope to reach unanimous agreements upon better methods and results to benefit the entire industry.

FIVE YEAR AVERAGE IS GUIDE FOR WHEAT

U. S. Department of Agriculture Makes Fall Farming Suggestions Based on Foreign Conditions.

Washington, D. C., 13.—More wheat should be sown this fall than was the average in pre-war years, but not so much should be sown as was sown last year. This is the outstanding fall farming recommendation of the United States department of agriculture, which is watching the changes of world supply and demand while European countries are getting back to normal in food production and thus affecting the market for American products. The department's suggestions are based on the observations of specialists who were sent were sent abroad to report on foreign conditions and probable needs, and on the most extensive reports it has been possible to obtain from other sources in this country and other countries.

As to winter wheat, the department suggests that 42,000,000 acres be sown this fall to this crop, and that 20,000,000 acres be sown in 1920 to spring wheat, making a probable aggregate production in 1920 of 830,000 bushels, of which 200,000,000 bushels would be available for export after home needs are met. This production would approximately equal the average yield of wheat in the United States for the five years 1915 to 1919 inclusive. The five-year average is thought to be a safe guide for American farmers.

The suggested acreage for fall-sown wheat is approximately 85 per cent of the area sown in the fall of 1918 and is about the same as was sown in the fall of 1917. The suggested area for spring wheat is approximately 88 per cent of the area sown in each of the last two years.

COAST TO COAST U. S. FOR LEAGUE

MILLIONS ACCLAIM WILSON AS HE SPEEDS ACROSS THE LAND.

FEW ASK FOR CHANGES

Majority Feel That President's Guidance Should Be Held—He Regards Pact As Sure to Come Soon.

(By Mt. Clemens News Bureau)

Aboard President Wilson's Special Train—From the Capital at Washington to the far Pacific coast the President of the United States has journeyed on the most unusual expedition ever undertaken by a chief executive of the nation.

To discuss national questions, many presidents have toured the land; but Mr. Wilson is laying before America a question which affects the whole world—the question of whether or not we are to join in the League of Nations; whether we are to forget our former isolation and share with the other peoples of the earth the responsibilities of maintaining civilization and preventing, as he says we can do, future warfare.

Between the capital and the coast the president made fifteen speeches and half a dozen brief talks. All of 100,000 fellow citizens listened to him. Several millions had the chance to see him, and apparently everyone wanted to see him, from those who thronged the streets of the cities and towns where he stopped, to those who came to the railroads or stood at little flag stations in remote places, knowing their only reward could be a fleeting glimpse and a wave of the hand.

He has met and talked to all types of citizens—to men big in the business, financial and professional worlds, to farmers and mechanical workers, to Indians and cowboys and foreign-born herdsmen and rangers, to soldiers and to mothers who lost soldier-sons in the late war.

What do they all tell him? Unanimously they say they want peace definitely settled, they want no more wars, they want the League of Nations, and most of the American people, it may be fairly said, tell the President they want the League just as it is, without the reservations or amendments which certain senators have insisted upon. The majority of citizens say to those who interview them on this tour:

"Woodrow Wilson guided us right before and during the war with many. We entered that war, even one agrees, to end all wars. He said the league can do that. We want to do that, so let us keep on trusting him and get the league into operation as soon as possible. Forget politics."

Most Americans encountered on the tour have forgotten politics. Republican Governors and Mayors have introduced the President to his audience; the Major part of the local committees which have met him have been Republicans. They have all said: "We are nothing but Americans, Mr. President."

Mr. Wilson's arguments for the league, briefly summarized, are those:

There can be no peace, either now or in the future, without it. There can only be a regrouping of nations and a new "Balance of Power," which is certain to lead to war. There can be no war in the future, with the league in existence, because no single nation would defy the united rest of mankind, and if it did, it could be brought to terms by an economic boycott, and without the use of arms.

There can be no reduction in the cost of living until the league is established, for nations will not go ahead with peace time production until they know that peace is definitely assured and that production of war material is no longer necessary.

There can be wonderful prosperity, with the league in existence, for relations of labor and capital all over the world will be made closer and more friendly, and the worker will receive a fairer share of what he produces.

These declaration of the president, logically and eloquently put, have left his hearers thinking and thinking deeply. And then Mr. Wilson has pointed out, the people themselves, as differentiated from senators and politicians, seem to want just what the president wants, which is America for leadership.

Quite as unusual as the purpose of the cross country tour is the manner in which it is being carried out and the completeness of the arrangements on the nine car train which is bearing the party.

At the rear is the private car Mayflower, occupied by the President and Mrs. Wilson. Next is a compartment car for the secretary Tumulty, Admiral Grayson, Mr. Wilson's Physician, four stenographers, the chief executive clerk and seven secret service men. Beyond are three compartment cars which house twenty-one correspondents, five movie men, and a telegraphic and a railroad expert. Then there is a dinner, a club car, and two baggage cars, one of them converted into a business office. The train stops briefly on time at every station, from Washington and the

ROMANCE WEAVED IN CATTLE BRANDS

Cause of Many Battles Between Rival Ranchers and With Outlaws.

MORE THAN 8,000 IN TEXAS

"Cow" Thieves Use Ingenious Methods to Change Marks on Stolen Animals—Many Strange Devices Are Used.

Austin, Tex.—Romance, not unmingled with tragedy, might be written about the cattle brands of Texas and the Southwest. Around them have centered many thrilling deeds. They have been the means of bringing swift retribution to a host of outlaws; they have served as the basis for transactions involving the sale of many millions of head of cattle.

The records of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association show that there are more than 8,000 registered brands in this state. No two brands are alike. Usually each brand represents a separate ranch. It is often the case that a ranch is much better known by the brand of its cattle than by the name of the owner. Owners may change, but the brand never.

When Hernando Cortez conquered Mexico in the early part of the sixteenth century he established a ranch upon the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. The cattle bore his brand. Although that was nearly 400 years ago the cattle upon that ranch today bear the original Cortez brand.

Origin Lost in History.

The origin of the cattle brand dates back to the dim dawn of history. In the days of free grass and open range the brand was an absolute necessity in order that the owners might identify their cattle in the annual round-ups. With the coming of wire fences this necessity was largely obviated, but the brand served still to place guilt upon cattle thieves. This purpose is still served and this fact accounts largely for the retention of the brands by all of the ranchmen.

Ingenious methods are sometimes used by cattle thieves to change existing brands upon stolen stocks. Most of the members of the Texas Ranger force are experts in the matter of detecting the disguising or changing of brands.

The cattle brands of some ranches are an intangible asset of great value. These brands have come to stand for honesty in breeding, honesty in weight and honesty in dealing, just as the heraldry of knighthood stood for honor, for bravery and for noble deeds and accomplishment. Announcement that cattle of a certain brand are offered for sale is often sufficient guarantee that no precautions against fraud of any kind are taken.

Every Letter is Used.

In the record of brands, every letter of the alphabet is represented, and most letters are found in three or four positions. An exception is "O," which has but one shape, in any position, and therefore can be used only once. True, there is the "O" flattened at the sides, but it is then called a "mashed O," a link or goose egg.

"N" is another letter that is not susceptible of many positions, for horizontally it is "Z." "P" is another letter with a limited use. It is seldom seen except in combination with other characters, and is usually called a bar.

"C" and "K" are examples of letters that are used in four positions. For example, an ordinary "K" makes one position. Turn it to an angle of 45 degrees and you have the "tumbling K"; on its back, horizontally, the "lazy K"; and reversed, a fourth position. There are lazy and tumbling brands in all letters except "O" and "I."

But when the cattle business becomes general and instead of 100 ranches there are thousands, new brands must be devised. The seeker for a brand naturally gets an insignia different from that of other ranchmen else the brand would fall of its purpose. So in the latter days the letters were finally all taken up and the necessity for individual and unique brands has led to many a strange device.

Many Novel Designs.

For example, there is the "Spur" ranch, the "Turk Track" ranch, the "Tumbling K" of the "Lazy X." Every ranch has its principal brand, and some have many others. Ranch owners, who trade extensively, and are constantly acquiring cattle with different brands, have a number of insignias on record. Often the ranchmen's sons and daughters have their special brands and the dedication of a new brand is not an unusual form of celebrating a birth on the range.

Among the peculiar brands is a pigpen, which means a square with its sides extending to form the exterior angles. Crescents are common. Only one ranchman has a hatchet for a brand.

A bow and arrow gives a name to one big Texas ranch. L. J. Kimberlin's ranch had a crutch on the hip and a coffee pot on the side. The coffee pot design is not so intricate as one might imagine, consisting of only eight lines.

Wine glasses are not uncommon as a brand and the J. W. Friend Cattle company in Crockett county had a gourd. A rocking chair is the brand

SPASMODIC ADVERTISING WORTH LITTLE.

The Roanoke News of Weldon, North Carolina, carries an excellent editorial this week on the question of spasmodic advertising. There are a number of business men in the state to which this editorial applies, as these men seem to think that if they insert a small ad. once a season they have done everything that should be done by way of local advertising. Other business men realize the importance of constantly keeping their goods before the readers and consistently advertise throughout the year, of course, making their displays appropriate and seasonable. These business men recognize the true value of their local paper, and use its columns because it keeps them before the public in the most efficient way possible.

The editorial in the Roanoke News is as follows: "It's just as easy for you to eat enough in one day to last you a week, as it is for the business man to advertise enough in one week to last him a year. The business man who thinks he is like a camel and can make a long journey across the desert of business on one spurt of advertising, will find himself very dry long before he has reached the first oasis."

In Olde Virginia

Where Cigarette Tobacco was born.

"One evening, when the planters had gathered at the White Turkey to smoke and jest after the rigors of the day, a hot dispute arose between one Ashley and the Rev. Peter Faircloth, as to the merits of the tobacco leaf grown on their respective plantations. The worthy doctor so far forgot himself as to throw his pipe at Ashley."
—Life in Early Virginia.

From long clay pipes to cigarettes

In the days of old Jamestown, men gathered in the taverns to smoke their long clay pipes brimful of golden Virginia-Carolina tobacco.

This same fragrant Virginia-Carolina—improved by three centuries of cultivation—is smoked today in three-fourths of the world's cigarettes.

Any cigarette is made better by adding Virginia-Carolina tobacco—but men who want all of its keen zest and savory relish smoke it straight in an all-Virginia-Carolina cigarette.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING
GAINING GREAT INTEREST IN MANY PARTS IN LONDON

London, Oct. 12.—Educational training in the British army, which was begun among the forces occupying the Rhine not only is to be continued in the new army but it will be virtually compulsory. It is an army order states, "to be regarded as an essential element in the making of a soldier and an army." Steps have been taken to continue educational training for all soldiers going over seas.

An official told The Associated Press correspondent it was understood that the three cardinal divisions of higher commercial and technical education, which were taught on the Rhine, will be retained and developed.

According to President H. A. L. Fisher of the board of education, "The mere recognition of the fact that education is hence forward to be an essential part of army training is one of those great steps forward in the social progress of the world for which the war has been responsible."

"Inevitably," the correspondent's informant pointed out, "the spread of education in the army will ensure an increase of efficiency which will be a great gain for the army itself. A military movement must in the future depend even more than at present upon the intelligent initiative of the private.

"Life in the army for the common soldier will be far more pleasant. Educated young men will give to barrack life a good tone. They will maintain a high standard of decency and cleanliness, and they will bring about an increase in that esprit de corps and social spirit which make life at schools and universities so attractive. In fact, there is no reason why the army should not come to be regarded as the people's university course. The influences of this military university upon national character will be of incalculable value."

Any one can say that their Furs are made of "carefully selected skins, skillfully fashioned, and smartly designed" yet few assertions of this sort carry any assurance of credence from the reader. PROPOSED CHANGES ARE VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED

Opponents Claim That Book
Has Been Rewritten and Not Revised.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14.—Possibility of a breach among the dioceses making up the Protestant Episcopal church in America because of the prayer book revision controversy in the triennial general convention here seemed lessened at the close of today's sessions, when it became known that it is unlikely the issue will be reached during the present convention. Not because of the strong objections to the proposed changes made by Southern deputies under the leadership of those from the three Virginia dioceses, but because of press of other business, delegates believe the main points in the controversy will not be reached before the next convention in 1922. By that time it is hoped an agreement will be arrived at.

Dr. Charles Lewis Slatery, of New York, and Bishop Conductor-Elect Edward L. Parsons, of California, members of the Prayer Book revision commission, today declared that the commission finds no radical demand for alterations at this time in the communion office, about which the controversy centers, particularly the proposed reservations of the sacrament and the changes in the prayers of consecration. The commission believes that the present convention will reach the proposed amending of the service of burial and the penitential office, to which there is some opposition.

Dr. Randolph McKim, of Washington, D. C., one of the leaders of the anti-revisionists among the Northern delegates, holds that the commission has re-written, not revised, the prayer book and that in its new form the "Protestant character" of the service is "compromised." He has prepared a commentary on the proposed changes in which he says they savor of the mediaeval and that a church which stands for "compulsory prayers for the dead, for auricular confession, for penance, for reservation of the sacrament and eucharistic adoration, a church which turns its face to the Middle Ages, will not win the heart of the American people."

KING SENDS MESSAGE IN BEHALF OF LEAGUE

States That Civilization Can

the Time.

London, Oct. 14.—A nation-wide campaign in favor of the League of Nations opened this afternoon, under the Presidency of Sir Horace B. Marshall, Lord Mayor of London, at the Mansion House. For the occasion the League of Nations union called together many of the leading British statesmen including Herbert H. Asquith, Lord Robert Cecil; John R. Clynes, former food controller; Earl Curzon, of Kedleston, president of the council; Andrew Bonar Law, Lord Privy, seal and Lord Robert Cecil, National Liberal member of Parliament.

In addition all the foreign ambassadors and diplomats and men prominent in various walks of civil life—churchmen, laborers, industrialists, scientists and lawyers—were present. Premier Venizelos, of Greece, Mr. Asquith, Sir John Clynes and Lord Robert Cecil were among the principal speakers.

Premier Lloyd George sent a message to the meeting, saying "Civilization cannot longer afford to squander its (Continued on page eight.)"

GERMANY SUFFERS FOR NEED OF FUEL AND RAW MATERIAL

Robert S. Schmidt States that Germany Needs the World Market.

Leipzig, Oct. 14.—Robert S. Schmidt, Germany's Food and Economic Minister, in a speech at the Leipzig Fair said Germany was "sick with two diseases, lack of raw materials and fuel."

"During my visit to the Fair buildings," he said, "I heard constant complaints about the lack of coal. We have the workers and we have the orders in plenty, we can easily get millions, even billions of orders. But when I asked each individual exhibitor why he did not accept orders he replied invariably that he lacked raw material and fuel. It is true that every effort is being made to force Germany back into an inferior place, not in the usual way of competition but through political methods. German trade however, will build its way in world trade for no power can prevent the hunger for goods where it can be advantageously satisfied."

"People are accusing us of again having recourse to the 'dumping system.' We do not merit this accusation, and I must deny it most energetically. I have the hope that in spite of all hindrances we will soon climb up to prosperity if work and constructive power, raw materials and coal are placed at our disposal in sufficient quantities."

"We need the world market. The pressure will be removed from Germany, and we will get credit abroad. We must be convinced that we are again to climb. This people is not to be destroyed economically. If all energies revive I hope that we are at the end of our rope, but that the German people will overcome these sad days and that the joyful times will come again. I am building on the never failing creative power of our industry, our technique, art and science."

PRINCE LEOPOLD ALLOWED TO BESTOW HONOR UPON MEN

On Board the George Washington
He Bestowed Favors
Upon Americans.

HEIR TO BELGIAN THRONE NOT OUT OF HIS TEENS

Carried Out the Ceremonies
In a Most Dignified Manner.

New York, Oct. 14.—Prince Leopold, heir apparent to the Belgian throne, was given his first lesson while crossing the ocean on the steamer George Washington in what is likely to become an important duty when he is called to power—the presentation of honors. The men upon whom he bestowed the marks of his favor were American soldiers and sailors who were victors in the games held on board in the Prince's honor. The Prince is visiting America with his parents, the King and Queen of the Belgians.

The scene was staged at the foot of the circular staircase, leading from the deck on which are the Prince's apartments, the soldiers and sailors forming a line across the ship. The Prince was accompanied by Admiral A. T. Long, United States naval aide to the king while he is in the United States, Major W. W. Hoffmann, military aide, Captain McCawley commanding the George Washington, Count d'Outremont, adjutant of the Belgian court, and a number of other Belgian dignitaries.

JOE JOHN DIXON'S FARM TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION 17TH

Valuable Farm Will be Sold by the Atlantic Coast Realty Company

The farm belonging to Joe John Dixon, has been sub-divided and will be sold at auction Friday, October 17th at 10:30 A. M., by the Atlantic Coast Realty Company.

This farm is located on the Dixon road four miles from Grimesland, and about fifteen miles from Greenville. It is in one of the best neighborhoods in this county. A good school is near, also a church, and a splendid railroad connection only four miles from the farm.

The property contains 549 acres of which a considerable part is cleared and in an excellent state of cultivation, the other part has an unlimited supply of cord wood on it. The soil is well adapted to all kinds of crops and is some of the best tobacco land in Pitt county.

The Atlantic Coast Realty Company realizing that all people are not able to own a big farm has subdivided this farm and made several small farms out of it, so that every one can own a farm.

This valuable farm will be sold on easy terms, and every one is invited to attend the sale.

Mr. K. W. Cobb is putting on the advertising campaign, and he states that he expects it to be one of the best sales which his company will put on in this section.

UNLIMITED NEEDS FOR COTTON GOODS NOW INDICATED

Demands Are Being Made that Consumers Pay Enough
Make It Profitable

TWO ADDRESSES MADE AT COTTON CONFERENCE

One Planter Calls It a Curse to South Under Existing Conditions.

"The world's requirements," said Mr. Todd, "are practically unlimited. Europe and Asia are bare of cotton goods. The position today is the same as before the war, only worse. The world wants more cotton than it is getting and must have it. The more financially embarrassed the people of the world are the more cotton they will use. In America, an increased acreage is improbable, the boll weevil and scarcity of labor are serious handicaps. The only solution here is an increased yield per acre. The average cotton yield in the south, to say the least, is discreditable. More cotton is wasted annually in America than it has been possible to raise in Africa outside of Egypt."

"Further restriction of cotton acreage in America would be nothing short of a calamity. There now is and always will be a demand for all the cotton that can be raised anywhere. There is no need to restrict the supply, but rather it should be increased."

BETTER COTTON IS PROMISED THROUGH SEED SELECTION

Mr. Ewing Declares the Best Results Obtained From Express Variety

New Orleans, Oct. 14.—Better cotton through careful seed selection was promised to growers by E. C. Ewing in a paper delivered today before the World Cotton Conference.

Tracing the growth of cotton experiments by the department of agriculture for the last ten years Mr. Ewing showed that staple cotton developed by selection has evidenced marked improvement in grade and has withstood more easily the attacks of the boll weevil. The best results he declared had been obtained from seed of the Express variety which fruits early and has a high lint percentage.

Hybrid strains of cotton produced by crossing seeds with the Express variety have shown excellent results and it is by this means that the continued improvement of cotton is expected. State and government institutions are looked to carry on the systematic improvement of cotton as the average farmer is not considered equipped to produce dependable seed.

But through the work of seed farms and experimental stations in the care of the standard varieties and the development of new seeds, Mr. Ewing predicts that substantial benefits to the industry will be continuously forthcoming.

"Of course, the first necessity is to ensure the planter a reasonably remunerative price. Despite the great increase in the cost of cotton today, it is still one of the cheapest products, has not increased in proportion to other commodities."

It is well to get a line on the many big real estate sales to take place this week.

NO INTERVENTION IN STEEL STRIKE SEEMS LIKELY NOW

Labor's Resolution Goes to Industrial Conference Will

COMMITTEE REFUSES TO TAKE ANY ACTION

Same Thing Is Expected to Happen When It Reaches
Main Body.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Labor's resolution proposing intervention in the steel strike will come before the National Industrial Conference, without recommendation from the central committee as the first order of business tomorrow, it was learned tonight.

The committee devoted only a small portion of an all day session to consideration of the arbitration resolution. Owing to the opposition of a majority of the five members of the employers' group in the committee a favorable report could not be obtained, and the resolution will follow the only other possible course back to the main body of the conference.

Members of the conference expressed the opinion tonight that the proposal will meet the same fate at the hands of the conference tomorrow. A strong majority of the employers' group is known to oppose intervention in the strike, and action can be taken only with the approval of each of the three groups, voting separately. Daily

N. E. ASSOCIATION BUYS PROPERTY IN WASHINGTON CITY

Purchases the Guggenheim Property for Large Sum of $98,000.

PROPERTY ONLY FIVE BLOCKS FROM CAPITOL

Has a Beautiful Four Story
Structure Well Adapted
For All Needs.

The National Education Association now owns the Guggenheim property on 16th and "M" streets, which after July 1, 1920, will be used as the national headquarters of the Association. This valuable property was purchased for the sum of $98,000. It is now occupied by the National Research Council which will retain possession until July 1 at a rental of $541 a month. The location is one of the most desirable in Washington being on 16th street only five blocks from the White House and diagonally across the street from the home of the National Geographic Society.

Sixteenth Street, or President Avenue as it is sometimes called, extending from the White House north to the district line, passing by the embassies of foreign countries and the most beautiful and expensive dwellings in the city, is not only considered to be the finest street in Washington but one of the finest in the world.

The building is well adapted to the needs of the Association. It is a beautiful four-story structure, 86 x 42 feet. The heavy walls are of reinforced concrete and a fine quality of brick. The columns and finish are of heavy oak. The rooms are large and well lighted. The building is of colonial design and holds its own in a good degree with the beautiful and substantial buildings of the National Geographic Society.

The board of trustees was authorized by unanimous vote of the active members at the Milwaukee meeting to invest a portion of the Association's permanent fund in Washington property to be used for rental purposes and as a home for the Association. A committee, consisting of Josephine Corliss Preston, W. R. Siders and J. Y. Joyner, visited Washington in July for the purpose of investigating available property. The committee accepted for consideration propositions from real estate men and from owners and after selecting eight of the most desirable employed an expert on values to make a careful investigation of these properties and to report to the committee. After receiving this report a meeting of the board of trustees was held at the national headquarters of the Association September 13, when after further inspection and investigation the Guggenheim property which had been submitted by The F. H. Smith Company for the National Savings and Trust Company, and valued at $120,000 was decided upon as the most desirable. The Association's first offer of $95,000 was not accepted. A later offer of $98,000 was accepted and the contract signed October 5.

The true asset valuation of this property as shown by the assessor's records is $103,000, which may properly mean that $120,000 would not have been an exorbitant price, and hence that the Association purchased it as a bargain for $98,000. The Association will occupy the new location after July first, using one-half of the space of the building itself and leasing the other half to the National Research Council or to some other reputable association.

Vernon G. Owen, of Washington, who investigated the various properties for the board of trustees, said: "In my opinion this property is worth $100,000. I am also of the opinion that this is the best property for your purposes yet offered you."

DIAMONDS GO UP ON EUROPE MART

Antwerp Clubs Reveal Efforts of Germans to Control Gem Trade.

MONEY DEPRECIATION HELPS

Men of Wealth, Nervous as to Financial Outlook, Buy Diamonds Instead of Securities Because the Safest Investment.

Antwerp.—Antwerp is in the throes of a "diamond fever" such as has never been known anywhere before. Not less than six "diamond clubs" have been opened in the last three months.

These are "clubs" only in name, for they have nothing of the usual comfortable accommodation generally associated in our minds with such institutions. Their main feature is a large room filled with rows of small card tables. The room looks for all the world like a card playing establishment.

It is the guests, however, who present the strangest appearance. There are smart young men dressed in the latest styles, and important looking men bearing the unmistakable mark of the stock exchange habitue and peculiar old men with long beards and soiled linen and ancient Prince Albert suits all mingled together and driving bargains among themselves at figures that would rejoice any banker even in America.

Handling Diamonds.
Two by two they sit, opposite each other at the little green tables, carefully fingering handfuls of uncut diamonds as if they were common poker chips.

The conversations are pretty much the same all over the room:

"How much did you pay for this lot?"

"Two hundred thousand crowns."

"All right; I'll buy it with 8 per cent profit for you."

"Done."

And the money is handed over at once in cash. Then the seller looks around and having nothing better to do, leans over the shoulder of an acquaintance at another table, driving another bargain. And the gambler fever gets him again and he feels sorry he has sold. So he buys another lot and sometimes he buys back the very one he has sold.

Thus the prices are pushed up in this extraordinary "diamond exchange" of the world.

One of the oldest firms has given the following figures concerning diamond prices:

Before the war the uncut stone cost $23 a karat and $82 after cutting. Immediately after the declaration of war the price slumped to $23 and remained that low as long as 1915, when the Germans, beginning to get nervous about the value of paper money, started buying all the diamonds they could find on the market.

France, Switzerland, Italy and England followed suit, and the price went up by leaps and bounds. On the eve of the armistice the karat was worth $70 and fell again to $34 within a few weeks of the cessation of hostilities.

Since the beginning of the year the diamond market has boomed, owing to the general depreciation of European money, the difficulty of exchange and the embargo on export of currencies from one to another European country.

Demand Is Heavy.

Today a karat of uncut stone finds an easy market at $150. Merchants need no longer seek customers. Credit is no longer given. As soon as a new consignment arrives from London the diamond clubs are filled to overflowing and the bidding starts with unheard of zest. Many accounts are settled in America, and even there merchants prefer to be paid in kind rather than in money.

It seems certain that the price of diamonds will continue to rise until the economic condition of the world is better balanced than at present. In every country there is an astonishing number of rich men who are still very nervous as to the financial outlook, especially in relation to possible labor troubles. These men do not buy securities and do not keep large bank balances. They buy diamonds because they know they are the safest investment and the easiest to transport.

The fact that Germans have been the heaviest purchasers of cut and uncut stones since 1915 is beginning to worry the allies who find in it the explanation of the apparent optimism shown in Germany as to the economic future of the country. It is said that the greatest supply of diamonds in the world is now safely stored by Germans who, when they choose, are in a position to command the market.

Young Joyrider.

Sharon, Pa.—"Billy" Burns, three years of age, can lay claim to being one of the country's youngest joyriders. A machine drove up in front of the Burns home recently and little Billy got aboard the running board and hung on to the extra tire. When the driver started away he failed to notice the child and carried him five miles. Meanwhile the Burns family had the police hunting for a supposed kidnaper.

FASHION GOSSIP

By the Fashionable Woman's Clothier

To the Woman who wants the most in style, most in value, most in workmanship, we commend our charming dresses—Winsome Suits, Handsome Coats, Saucy Coatees, Snappy Skirts Bewitching Gowns, Bewildering Blouses, Luxurious Furs, Smart Smocks.

Coats

There's a terrible scandal in Coatland this fall. Some of the smartest modes refuse to have pockets! And after we've become so accustomed to them, too.

But they are gorgeous enough to be forgiven. One exquisite mode of the season, for instance, falls straight and graceful, with a huge beaver collar and a wide belt that wraps round and round before it fastens. But never a sign of a pocket.

And those coats that wouldn't give up their pockets are flaunting them in diverse shapes and sizes—right in the face of their rivals.

Let us show you.

Suits

"To be or not to be"—that was the question that confronted several yards of exquisite tricotine. Whether 'twas smarter to be a dress and with the dresses bide, or whether a Fall suit stood more chance of winning favor.

The suit finally answered the question, and you'll find it's keeping company with dozens of other stunning Fall models of kordovan cloth, weaves akin to duvetyne, and our old comrade serge.

The many new shades add delightful zest to the entrancing modes.

Spend a leisure hour in their company, the many smart style themes will keep you interested. Let us show you.

Furs

If you're inclined "forward" these days, have a look at the newest caprices that we are showing.

Exquisite Scarfs of Fox, Wolf, Lynx and Coney and all the rest that have been "passed by the censor"—Dane Fashion.

Saucy coatees: perfect loves of shoulder capes and stoles—quaint collars to snuggle one's chin into.

Let me whisper it—prices are wonderfully moderate.

Let us show you.

Dresses

Right into the heart of Femininity flutter the new Fall dresses, and between me, you and the gatepost, we think they're going to prove most popular.

Stunning serges and tricotines; lavishly embroidered satins and exquisitely simple tricolettes. Girdles and sashes that play hide-and-seek; stopping in the back when you look for them on the side, fastening on the side when you have about made up your mind they should be in front.

"Individuality"—that is the dominant note of the charming Fall dresses.

Let us show you.

Gowns

"All's well that ends well"—so when a shimmering, glimmering satin dinner frock ends in a demurely short train, one finds it very well, indeed. Apricot satin it was—with a hint of rainbow blue at the girdle, and a youthful drapery of silken net to the side.

Dainty dance frocks of frail colors rubbed shoulders with creations in black satins and charmeuse, aglimmer with silver. Will 'o the wisp models, recklessly youthful and sedate ones of quiet elegance—one finds them all in the concourse of new evening frocks for Autumn "doings."

Let us show you.

Don't forget when you come to see us, to ask to see our Gingham House Dresses, Bungalow Aprons, Kiddy Dresses and Rompers, Serge Middy Suits and Twill Middy Blouses, and the thrifty minded will do well to see our Coat Suits and Coats specially priced $19.95, $24.95 and $29.95—all wool and real values.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Roumania.

Soon after the entrance of the United States in the war the successes of the Central Powers in Roumania had reduced that country to a most tragic condition and in the summer of 1917, the American Red Cross despatched its first Roumanian relief contingent. Two hospitals were at once taken over and operated by the Red Cross, a canteen for the starving refugees established and food and clothing distributed over a large area. Transportation was one of the toughest problems with which the Red Cross workers in Roumania had to deal. Here is seen an oxcart used by the Red Cross to carry its relief supplies up into the mountains.

It may be interesting to strikers to see the fellows who are on their jobs drawing their checks on pay day.

What else can you expect North Carolina to do but take the end whenever she starts out?

When a man reaches the point of having nothing that he wants to say, he must be pretty well satisfied with his surroundings.

Cutting up the large farms in to small ones and then farming on a more extensive scale is a sure road to prosperity.

The way that the schools and colleges are all running over shows that the people are reaching out for better things.

Just think how much good could be done to the roads by dragging after this rain. But they are likely to dry off without any effort being made to smooth the rough places.

The towns that haven't got any street cars are not having to fret over conductor's and motormen's strikes. Something to appreciate in not where it is too far to walk.

Don't let any other town up and get jealous of Kinston because it captured a visit from the vice president. When the king of Belgium wants to see the best tobacco market in the country he will be looking for Greenville.

Bishop Cheshire wants to have the patriotic songs cut out of the church hymnals. As it is quite noticeable that the congregations sing these songs with more spirit than they do most of the hymns, it is best to let them have their way. The bishop had better let well enough alone.

The report of the various tobacco markets of sales for the month of September puts Greenville in second place as to quantity, Wilson leading by only a few hundred thousand pounds. It was noticeable, too, that Greenville was credited with the highest average price of any market in the state. Being such a small margin behind in pounds at the end of September, we expect Greenville to take first place in that also, before the season closes. Just watch us.

Some towns are trying to draw a little notoriety because one of the physicians in consultation at the bedside of the president had been in or had relatives in those respective burghs. Bless your boosting souls, boys, once upon a time George Washington on his way somewhere stopped over in Greenville, and it is noted in his diary, according to history, that he referred to it as "a dirty little village on Tar river." That was nearly a century and a half ago, and if it were possible for George to return to earth and pay us another visit he would say that the little village of his day had done some stunts in the way of growing, even if it had not made much progress in the way of cleanliness. None of you have got a thing on Greenville. See?

Several delegates and visitors from the two Baptist churches here went to Wilson this afternoon to attend the Roanoke Association which convenes tonight.

TO BUY PURE BRED ANIMALS

West Raleigh, Oct. 14.—Mr. George Evans, Sheep Extension Worker of the Agricultural Extension Service, has just returned from a trip to the farms of pure bred sheep breeders in different sections of the country where he purchased 140 grade ewes and 40 pure bred rams and ewes at prices ranging from $50 to $100 per head.

This is one of the largest orders for sheep that has ever been placed by North Carolina farmers at any one time. Mr. Evans had orders for several more, but, because of the great demand for better sheep by farmers all over the country, he was unable to secure the animals desired at the prices which he was commissioned to pay.

This purchase demonstrates the growing popularity of pure bred sheep in the state, says Mr. R. S. Curtis, and is an indication of the growth of North Carolina as a better livestock state.

Mr. J. W. Sloss, Beef Cattle Field Agent, is also away on a trip at this time, trying to buy a carload of pure bred milking Shorthorn cattle for farmers in the western section of the state. Most of the orders have been given by men of Ashe and Buncombe counties.

MISS LUCY ROWE ENTERTAINS

Complimentary to Miss Ruth Cobb Who Will Wed in November.

Last evening at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Griffin on Eighth street, Miss Lucy Rowe entertained the Philathea class, of the Memorial Baptist church, complimentary to Miss Ruth Cobb, a member of the class, and who will on November 5th be married to Mr. Earl Carter of this city.

The house was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants.

After the regular business meeting of the class the hostess assisted by little Miss Mary Wall Bost collected the "nickels," which each guest had been asked to bring, and which had caused a great deal of guess work on the part of each one. After all the "nickels" had been collected an interesting contest entitled "The bride's trousseau" was engaged in. It was quite an interesting contest and caused a great deal of merriment. Mrs. J. P. Moss being the successful contestant was awarded a large box of stationery which she presented to the bride-elect. The hostess then presented Miss Cobb with a beautiful piece of negligee.

At the conclusion of the contest an ice course was served by Misses Elizabeth Bost, Annie Mae Edwards, and Janie Jackson.

Just before departing and still wondering what had become of the "nickels" little Miss Mary Wall Bost entered with a large pink basket filled with a shower of flower bulbs, and presented it to the bride-elect, as a present from each member of the class reciting the following verse as she presented it:

Put us in water and sunshine,
Or out in the garden square;
And we'll brighten the gloomy, cloudy day,
And bring to you good cheer.

The basket was made of pink crepe paper and each bulb was wrapped in the paper, making a beautiful shower.

Victrola music was furnished by Miss Hazel Jackson, and Mrs. Lina Baker delighted the guests with several piano selections.

Miss Cobb has always been one of the most loyal members of the Philathea class, and by her efforts the class has accomplished many undertakings. Miss Rowe proved a most charming hostess.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Lizzie Griffin tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Following the announcement of the third Red Cross Roll Call, to be held November 2 to 11, when the American people will be asked to renew their membership for 1920 and contribute $15,000,000 for the future work of the organization, an outline of the peace-time program of the American Red Cross was given today.

Foremost will be nation-wide activity for the promotion of public health and hand-in-hand with this crusade will go a vigorous campaign for the extension of the country's nursing resources, the broadening of Red Cross Home Service, that in the war proved so helpful through the assistance it was to give the families of soldiers and sailors, to be of general usefulness where other social agencies are lacking; greatly increased Junior Red Cross activities, extension of Red Cross facilities for emergency disaster relief, completion of relief measures for the victims of the war in this country and overseas, and preparation to fulfill whatever duties may be laid upon it as the official volunteer relief society authorized to assist the army and navy.

The plan of the Red Cross public health campaign calls for co-operation with other existing health promotion and disease prevention organizations throughout the United States, acting by itself where no health agency now exists, in an effort to reduce the high mortality due to preventable disease and to improve general health conditions.

Public health nursing will be one of the important features of this campaign. Red Cross public health nurses will be assigned to as many small communities as possible, thus extending to the rural population the bedside nursing, school inspection, classes in hygiene and home nursing and search for tuberculosis and other preventable disease that has been so effective in the cities and larger towns.

In this connection it is planned to offer to every woman in America instruction in home sanitation, hygiene, care of the sick and dietetics, thus providing first hand knowledge of how to keep the family well and what to do where illness or accident cannot be avoided. These courses are now being introduced in the public schools and colleges and are offered department store employees, factory operatives, girl scouts, nurse-maids and others, fitting them to help combat infant and child mortality, malnutrition, unsanitary living conditions, preventable disease and even epidemics in their own homes.

The seven thousand public health nurses in the United States are far too few to meet the ever-increasing demands for their services and funds are needed for the establishment of scholarships for the post-graduate training of nurse returning from Europe for this specialized public health

In the midst of its multifarious war duties the American Red Cross did not neglect its obligations to the civilian population at home. Throughout the conflict it maintained its Bureau of Public Health Nursing, instruction in first aid, home nursing and sanitation, and disaster relief. MISSIONS NEEDED ALSO IN HOMELAND

SECRETARY GRAY OF HOME BOARD SETS OUT SITUATION CONFRONTING SOUTHERN BAPTISTS THERE.

$12,000,000 IS GOAL SOUGHT

This Sum Will Be Laid Aside From Baptist 75 Million Campaign For Work Among Negroes, Foreigners and Other Projects.

While $20,000,000 of the $75,000,000 to be raised in cash and five-year pledges by the Southern Baptists between now and December 7th will go to foreign missions, $12,000,000 will be devoted to missions at home, it has been officially announced. Home missions is regarded by the Baptists as quite as essential as foreign missions, the larger sum being set aside for the latter cause by reason of the larger field to be covered—practically the entire world.

DR. B. D. GRAY, Of Atlanta, Ga., Secretary of Home Missions for the Southern Baptist Convention.

"Twelve million dollars is a large figure when compared with what we have been doing heretofore," Dr. B. D. Gray, corresponding secretary of the Home Mission Board at Atlanta, declares, "but it is very reasonable in comparison with our ability and small in comparison with the needs of the Home Mission fields."

Setting forth the particular obligation which confronts America since the war has transferred the center of education from Europe to this country, Dr. Gray says: "This brings a new day of opportunity and responsibility to our people. Our schools and colleges must be strengthened and endowed. They must be made thoroughly christian in fact as well as in theory. In this way we are to counteract the vicious ideals of Germany and her allies in the world war. Our youth must be trained on proper lines as to religion and ethics. This can be done best in our denominational schools."

Some of the educational institutions fostered by the Home Mission Board are the forty mountain schools, serving 3,000,000 residents of the South living in mountainous territory where public high schools are lacking. Fully $10,000,000 could be used to advantage in strengthening the equipment and teaching force of these schools, it is estimated, so great is the need.

Another demand of the home field is the 4,000 church organizations in the South which need assistance in the erection of suitable houses of worship, while more pressing still is the problem created by the presence in the South of 10,000,000 negroes. Speaking of the negro problem, Dr. Gray says: "They are of more vital concern to us than any hundred millions of people anywhere else in the world. Socially, politically, economically and religiously they constitute our greatest task and we neglect them at our own peril as well as their infinite loss. Racial relations are tense and the situation calls upon Southern Baptists for a worthy program in behalf of the religious uplift of our brothers in black. We must lead them in sane missionary and evangelistic work and likewise in the development of their religious life on sane and helpful lines. We need a large company of the best, wisest and strongest negro evangelists and teachers who shall help us to lift up their race and make them worthy and worth while as Christian citizens."

That work among the foreigners in the homeland offers the best and most economical opportunity for missionary labors among them anywhere, is the declaration of the Home Mission leaders. These foreigners are in the fields, mines and factories and are a vital part of our civilization. This work among the foreigners not only gives them the christian religion, but makes them more contented and better American citizens, it is pointed out.

Great hopes for the future of the churches in the South are held out in the enlarged program of evangelism and enlistment which the Baptist 75 Million Campaign will make possible. The Home Board hopes to win from 300,000 to 500,000 people in the South who are not christians during the period of the campaign.
