BOTH MINERS AND MINE OPERATIVES EXPECT STRUGGLE

Labor Heads Anticipate Lengthy Struggle for Over Month's Duration.

GARFIELD IS IN CHARGE OF THE COAL SITUATION

Fuel Administrator Holds Several Conferences and Announces Prices.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Despite the spirit of hopefulness in official quarters that the end of the coal strike was near, spokesmen here for miners and operators declared tonight the country was in for a protracted industrial struggle in the bituminous fields.

Labor leaders a bit more specific than operators, estimated that all union mines would remain closed at least four weeks. Other estimates cut that time in half, but officials, although without word of direct efforts to bring the two sides together, still held firmly to the view that the strike would not run that long.

There were no confidential reports to the Department of Justice from its agents in the field, and reports to Washington headquarters of the operators merely announced that overnight conditions were unchanged.

Returning here from a trip to the west, Fuel Administrator Garfield took active control of the situation and made ready to fix a maximum price on anthracite at the first evidence of attempts to advance the selling price.

Dr. Garfield took part in a number of conferences during the day, but it was stated officially that he had not discussed settlement of the strike with operators. J. D. A. Morrow, vice president and executive secretary of the National Coal Association, and a former member of the Fuel Administration staff, was among those who saw Dr. Garfield. The meeting caused widespread reports that Dr. Garfield had been delegated to act as mediator. Several other members of the fuel administration staff besides Mr. Morrow saw Dr. Garfield.

Attorney General Palmer, in a letter today to a shipbuilders' council which protested against injunction proceedings sounded a new note of hope by declaring his belief that if the Federal court at Indianapolis Saturday held the strike illegal the miners, as law-abiding citizens, will discontinue it.

GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO VACATE LATE INJUNCTION

Washington, Nov. 5.—The government cannot accept a proposal of the organized labor end of the coal strike by vacating an injunction against the officials of the united mine workers of America. Assistant to Attorney-General Ames announced today that the government could not abandon its position because of the strike. In violation of the law Ames today issued the following statement: "The strike is the violation of the law as long as it continues and they are going to proceed with it in the courts. The dispute between mine owners and workers is an entirely different question, and they can settle it their own way. The government cannot tolerate a continued violation of the law such a strike constitutes. The refusal of the government to vacate an injunction means a long fight while the withdrawal would have opened a way for a settlement within 48 hours, according to Edgar Wallace, the legislative representative of the mine workers."

HOTLY CONTESTED COURT ACTION HAS BEEN DETERMINED

Jury Renders Verdict in Case of Cobbs vs. Norfolk Southern Railway.

SUIT FOR $2000 DAMAGE OF LAND NOT SUSTAINED

Both Sides Represented by Prominent Legal Firms of This Part of State.

Possibly one of the hardest fought legal battles occurring in the court room of this city for the past several months was brought to a final conclusion last night about 8:30 o'clock, when in the consolidated case of L. C. Cobb and L. A. Cobb vs. Norfolk Southern railroad, the jury after several hours in consideration, returned a verdict in the favor of the defendant, granting the plaintiff no absolute claim to the sum of $2000 sued for as a result of injuries to certain lands of the participating parties by the railroad company. The case was taken up for hearing by the court late Tuesday afternoon, and although all witnesses had been examined and all evidence had been marshaled in with the great array of facts by noon yesterday, argument was not completed by the defense until a late hour yesterday evening, the case being received by the jury about 5:30 o'clock, which after long consideration, returned the verdict which had been waited with expectancy throughout the entire day.

FRANCES ALLISON TO COME HERE IN THE LOVE HUNTER

Noted Actress Renders Service to Doughboy and Girl in Richmond.

Dainty Frances Allison who plays the delightful role of the French Maid in "The Love Hunter" had a very unique and interesting experience while playing in Richmond. During the first act she received an urgent note asking her help and signed by a Doughboy sergeant. Miss Allison always willing to aid sent her answer assuring the top kicker of her assistance.

The first act over scenery flying in every direction beautiful girls in marvelous gowns rushing to dressing rooms and before Miss Allison's door stood the sergeant with a pretty dark-eyed girl clinging to his arm and sobbing as though her heart would break. The fair damsel proved to be his French bride who had just lately arrived in this, her glorious new home. All went well until the middle of the show and what happened then was beyond the Doughboy's French and since he had learned to think quickly and act quickly, he saw his salvation in Miss Allison. Miss Allison and the Doughboy of Sunny France "parleyed" for ten minutes or so and then discovered the cause of the trouble. In the excitement of coming to her new home and husband she had lost her wooden shoes.

Johnny Lully the eccentric comedian of the Love Hunter suspects the Dashing Dancing Juvenile Jimmy Carny as he caught Jimmy practicing a wooden shoe clog dance at the theatre the other morning. Jimmy vows he never saw or had the French Cinderella's slippers and to prove that he never had them he promises to return them to her as a present on her wooden wedding anniversary. These cut-ups will be seen at White's Theatre Friday November 7th.

Waiters Are Told To Take Off Mustache

French Cafe Waiters Stirred to Angry Protest by Order From Bosses.

SEVERAL MEN RESIGN RATHER THAN TO OBEY

Waiters Consider Themselves Sufficiently Humiliated to Have to Earn Their Livings by Receiving Ridiculous Tips at Times.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Waiters in seven or eight of the largest cafes on the Paris boulevards have been stirred to angry protest by orders to shave their mustaches or quit.

One of the bitterest grievances the waiters had when they went on strike last April was the edict of the employers to the effect that waiters must sacrifice their mustaches. The waiters triumphed and the employers agreed they should be permitted to adorn their visages as they pleased. Now an attempt to revive the ban on mustaches has roused their indignation.

"The waiters are sufficiently humiliated to have to earn their living by extending their hands to receive what often proves to be a ridiculous tip, without being forced to forego one of the privileges of manhood," said the Secretary of the Union. "Really the ferocious employers know little about psychology. Should they maintain this iniquitous measure destined solely to give their staff a servile appearance toward the customer, they are picking (Continued on page eight.)

COFFEE CROP HAS BEEN BIG FAILURE IN RIO DE JANEIRO

Lack of Prosperity Noticeable in Many Sections, So It is Stated.

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 5.—Results of coffee crop failures are seen in the large number of high grade automobiles available for public hire in this city. Most of them were originally purchased for private use in times of prosperity but their owners were compelled to sell them when the crop failed and financial distress ensued.

The widespread use made of them for business, pleasure or social purposes is a striking feature of life in the Brazilian capital. They are not of the usual taxicab type but expensive cars.

The broad, smooth avenues and boulevards are admirably adapted to the use of automobiles, and as there is no speed law the one great object in life is to go at top speed whether in city or suburb. That there are not numerous daily accidents is due, perhaps, mainly to expert handling of the cars.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The number dead in the Simplon express wreck Monday night was 27, according to information received here by railroad officials.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT IS NOTED IN MARTIN ILLNESS

Charlottesville, Nov. 5.—Further improvement was evident today in Senator Martin's condition despite a slight change for worse late yesterday. He spent a quiet night, and took some nourishment this morning.

Horse Racing Receives Big Boom Lately

Other Kinds of Sport Receive Interest in London, Also Gambling.

RECORD CROWDS GREET SEASON'S AMUSEMENTS

In Poorer Districts Many Bets Are Recorded at Different Times, Especially Among Those Whose Dollars Are Limited.

London, Nov. 5.—Horse-racing like every other kind of sport here, has experienced a great boom since the war and consequently the gambling habit has increased.

Promoters of race-meetings all over the country announce that record crowds have attended the fixtures while the number of horses entered for the races are already up to pre-war proportions. Racing is carried on all the year round and scarcely does a day pass without a meeting of some kind being held in some part of the country. It is divided into two categories—flat racing, which commences in March and ends in November and steeplechasing which finishes out the year.

At the "classic" meetings held at Epsom, Goodwood and Ascot practically all the aristocrats of the turf congregate. Entertaining takes place on a large scale and the women vie with each other in displaying the latest fashions in dress.

EXPERIENCE WILL BE PRESENTED IN GREENVILLE SOON

Popular Attraction to Appear for One Night at White's Theatre.

Morris Gest, one of the youngest producing managers in America, and a member of the theatrical firm of Elliot, Comstock and Gest, producers of "Experience," arrived here yesterday in connection with the forthcoming production of his play at White's Theatre next Wednesday night. Mr. Gest is a Russian, and among his recent achievements was his importation three years ago, of the Imperial Russian Ballet which toured this country with Gertrude Hoffman, with such amazing success. Last season Mr. Gest struck it rich when he and his associates produced "Experience" which was one of the most phenomenal hits of many years in New York. Mr. Gest is on tour came to this city in order to make sure that everything was all right.

"I firmly believe that 'Experience' could be played in a tent and draw just as big crowds," said Mr. Gest yesterday. "I have managed many unusual attractions, but 'Experience' surprises even me. I have never known of a theatrical piece of property which has the drawing power of this play. It seems as though everyone in creation wants to see it. The only play within my memory which had a similar appeal was 'Ben Hur,' yet that was a religious play, and 'Experience' is not. 'Ben Hur' was made from a novel that had been read by five million people, yet 'Experience' has never been novelized, and is an original play. There is some undercurrent of sympathetic interest, however, which advertises itself and people rush to see 'Experience.' One reason is that ministers and clergymen have endorsed it so enthusiastically.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN TO ATTEND INITIAL LEGION MEETINGS

D. J. Whichard, Jr., to be State Delegate to Nation Convention.

FIVE OTHER DELEGATES ALSO ARE APPOINTED

State to be Well Represented at Convention in Minneapolis, Minn.

D. J. Whichard, Jr., of this city, has been selected as one of the five delegates from North Carolina to represent the state post in the first national convention of the American Legion which convenes in Minneapolis, Minn., the 10th of this month for the purpose of forming plans for extension of the activities of the organization throughout every part of the country in the next several months.

Delegates and alternates were appointed at the recent convention of the state post which held its first meeting in Raleigh last week, and although the appointment was not definite at the time shortly after that Mr. Whichard was notified that he would be ex-sent the state at the first official meeting of delegates from every section of the country. Delegates from this state, according to present plans, will meet in Greensboro the approaching Friday, and from that point form plans for participating in the national occurrence. They probably will leave for Minneapolis the same day, although as (Continued on page four.)

TWO LAND SALES ARE TO BE HELD IN SECTION SOON

Atlantic Coast Realty Co. to Sell Valuable Farm Land November 10th.

Two land sales of more than general interest to the people in this section of the state will be conducted by the Atlantic Coast Realty Company near this city Monday, November 10th, which will include some of the most prolific farming land in this immediate territory, in splendid localities, and in the vicinity of one of the most prosperous and thriving cities in the state.

The first sale will take place at 10:30 a. m., when the company will offer the Peebles place for sale. This farm is located on the Greenville to Falkland road, six miles from Greenville, in one of the best farming sections in the state. There are approximately 72 acres of land which have been subdivided into small farm tracts, each with a good water supply on easy terms. The soil is practically level and well watered by a good creek. There is some timber, suitable for farm purposes, and considerable cord wood. The buildings consist of three houses, one new six-room bungalow and two good tenant houses, one pack house and four tobacco barns. All buildings are situated on the public road which this farm faces for a good distance and each tract will have a road frontage.

At 2:00 P. M. the same day, the company will offer for sale the East End of James Brown farm. This property is located on the Grimesland road, one mile east of Greenville, in an excellent neighborhood, and in close proximity to the city of Greenville. Of a total acreage of 180 acres, about one-half is cleared and in a state of cultivation. The soil is of medium loam top soil with clay subsoil. An abundance of cord wood is available on the place. The buildings consist of one five room dwelling, three tobacco barns, one corn barn, two-story pack house and other necessary outbuildings, such as barn, stables pack houses, etc.

FINAL RED CROSS ACTIVITY TO TAKE PLACE IN SIBERIA

Last Scene of Great Relief Work in Europe by America to Occur Soon.

ANOTHER GREAT TASK IS BEFORE COMMITTEE

Helping Kill the Spirit of Bolshevism Will be Prospect for Future.

Bucharest, Rumania, Nov. 5.—The last scene of the great relief work done in Europe by America since the close of the war, and one that may prove the greatest yet undertaken by the American Red Cross, will probably be staged in Russia, said Colonel Robert E. Olds, European Commissioner of the Red Cross, during an address here to Red Cross personnel departing for America.

"The Red Cross has still another and final task before it," said Colonel Olds, "one which may prove greater than all that we have done before. The great Bolsheviki movement seems to be nearing its end and when the time comes when Russia shall have a firm, stable government then it will be the duty of the American Red Cross to bring Russia's starving and sick back to health and happiness. And we must continue in this until Russia can care for herself. That, probably, will be the last great afterwar campaign of the American Red Cross in Europe.

"We are there already. At the present moment, the Red Cross has units in that section bordering on the Gulf of Finland ready to enter Petrograd. In Siberia there is a unit with Kolchak's army and one in the Caucasus with the army of General Denikin. When the power of the Bolsheviki crumbles the hand of the Red Cross will be the first to help the struggling Russian nation to its feet."

OLD ORDER PASSES

Today is the Twilight of the Belted Earl.

British Aristocracy, for So Many Centuries Secure in its High Place, is Feeling the Ground Slip Under its Feet.

In one of the old Plantagenet houses of England the belted earl and her ladyship live in one corner of the castle. The rest of the fine old mansion is closed, William Allen White writes in Collier's. The servants needed to run the house are no longer available. Money will not hire them. Their men have been commissioned in the army because the earl's son—who had a right to sit at the foot of the throne and who had also the blessed privilege of hearing the king by ancient right address him as cousin—the earl's son lighted one cigarette too many on the parapet, and when he and his kind from Eton and Harrow went out, commissions in the army fell to the cook's son and the housekeeper's son and the parlormaid's brother and chambermaid's sweetheart, who, being commissioned, promptly took their women-kind out of service. They are feeling what they never felt before, these domestic servants of the nobility—the spur of ambition.

So they have left the castle, and such of the servants as stay have begun to assert their rights, to manifest their self-respect. "Whatever you do," said her ladyship to her guest, "don't ring a bell!" To the question in the visitor's face the hostess replied: "If you ring a bell the servants will leave. I have only three. They have announced that they will do their work, but they forbid interruptions by bells!" The hot water appeared on schedule; the service flowed into the guestroom in its regular channel, except that fires were so low that the visitors' feet were frostbitten; the meals were served on time and were well cooked. But the servants were efficient shop assistants, no longer feudal serfs. And the earl chopped the trees in his own forest with his own hands for his own fires. The meager household allowance of coal that the fuel controller gave to the earl from the mines under the earl's own lands was barely enough to heat the servants' rooms.

And as for the broad estate over which the earl ruled as an agricultural overlord six years ago—an agricultural overlord and industrial entrepreneur through his coal mines—the estate is all crumbling. The land is passing into the hands of small farmers; the old yeoman farmer, fairly well-to-do, of good old yeoman stock, going back to the Conqueror—he and his kind are taking the ownership of the land of the belted earl in 100-acre lots, and the nation, having taken charge of the earl's coal mines, may now relieve him of the burden of mine ownership as well. For the parliamentary committee by a large majority has reported in favor of the government ownership of all mines of every description.

And because the earl's son sleeps under the poppies of Flanders and his daughters are married and gone, the earl is a weary, confused old man, chopping wood in the forest to keep his old wife warm. He cannot fight the new order. No leadership is calling him. He knows that the end is coming for him and his kind. He realizes quite definitely that in a few years the castle of the Plantagenets, who were royal in the last Henry's days, probably will fall into the hands of a brewer or a draper or a stock broker, who will put in a central heating plant to defile it, debase the privacy of every bedroom with hot and cold water, and degrade the place with a wilderness of bathrooms, so that four servants can run the place on two eight-hour shifts where 100 retainers once served the baron under Elizabeth.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND.
Pursuant to a decree of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, N. C., duly made on the 17th of October, 1919, in a Special Proceeding entitled, M. L. Tripp, J. C. Tripp, Bronson Tripp, Sarah L. Rowe, N. C. Tripp, L. R. Tripp, Linton Tripp, Hinton Tripp, Charlie Tripp and Letha Baldree, by her next friend, Clifton Baldree, I shall on the 17th day of November, at 12 o'clock M. 1919, offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, at the Court House door in Greenville, N. C., the following tract of land:

Lying and being in Pitt County, N. C., Chicod Township, adjoining the lands of Thomas Adams, Eliza Oakley, James Adams and others, known as the old "Adams Plantation," containing 190 acres, more or less, and also known as the Sarah L. Tripp land, conveyed to Sarah L. Tripp by Harry Skinner.

CABINET WILL NOT HOLD REGULAR SESSION TODAY

Washington, Nov. 4.—With several members of the cabinet at home today to vote, the cabinet did not hold its regular sessions Tuesday morning. It is expected that it will assemble later in the week to discuss the coal strike and appoint a commission on industrial unrest. The house is not in session as it recessed so that members from states where elections are being held could return to their homes. The senate, however, continued discussion of the peace treaty.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 5, 1919.

Cross-eyed people won't bear cross-examinations, the subject at hand might be unexpectedly crossed.

News reports say that the second day of the coal strike finds miners optimistic. As if they had been otherwise.

"The Love Hunter" may find an end to his quest in Greenville, even as many other fellows seeking romance in realities.

Kaiser Bill was figuring for possession of a great part of the world, and now, poor fellow, he is only allotted a very small portion.

Many a young fellow gets the idea in his head that the whole world looks at things from his viewpoint until it is too late.

It may be easy for some fellow to profiteer, but it's not so comfortable when one of Uncle Sam's men comes around.

The way cotton continues to advance appears to indicate that soft things will be in constant demands in the future, as well as in the past.

Paris has taken the initiative in presenting new proposals in the interest of Fiume, as if there was not plenty of time for action.

Pitt county farmers would much rather have a long roll of green bills tucked away in the depths of their trousers than to know the barn is still chock full of bright yellow tobacco.

Tailors say clothing will continue to advance in the future, which suggests the probability of several real good women lagging behind Dame Fashion for a short period, at least.

Cotton associations in every part of the country appear to be awakening the farmer to the great possibilities in holding the crop on hand in order to obtain high prices. The idea has received widespread interest, but not very many of the planters are abiding by it.

Aerial mail service appears to be attracting some little attention over in England, as well as in America, and while we all know the usual mail service will not be abandoned, who knows what in the mischief the airmen are going to bring about next.

The memorial hospital question appears to be gaining no little interest in this locality, and while there are some who do not approve of the issue there are other who favor it. Everybody according to their ideas, of course.

It only takes a heart and a dollar to give anyone membership with the American Red Cross. Everyone would have been glad to have joined during the war, but remembrance of that period should make us equally as anxious now. There's no difference in the organization's mission.

The senate is still considering the peace treaty, according to reports, and although nothing definite has been issued concerning its latest accomplishments, naturally there will be something doing when the final reports are issued. The senate has a peculiar way of doing things confined to its own sphere, therefore, criticism would not be in season.

How the world must miss the cheerful ravings of Senator Lodge and followers, for it has been some little time since he has broken the tranquil atmosphere pervading the senate chamber. This silence cannot continue long, however, for every ready with a versatile tongue, the league opponents must come to the front and tell the world what has been learned during the short intermission.

Mr. Gompers says Bolshevism comes about as a natural result of prohibition, and while there is no one desirous of disputing the supposedly authoritative statement, nevertheless, there is much room to question it. If such should be the case, as is stated, there are very few people who are unwilling that it should be so, unless, perchance, it should be members of that party missing the liquor bottle to a little greater extent than others. It's easy to believe the labor leader in this event.

Judge Keir is proving as active in this term of court as previously, and while as yet no liquor cases have come up for consideration, it is an assured fact that adequate punishment will be meted out in every single instance. His activity in reducing the whiskey traffic in this section is very commendable, indeed, and there is not a person in the county who is not truly grateful for what has been done in this direction. There is still room for earnest endeavor, and it is to be hoped future efforts will be unremitting in discouraging such evil influences.

Some reports says that general belief exists in many circles that the government is only dickering with miners in the present serious crisis. The assertion evidently came from sources unacquainted with the situation in its true light, for even though government officials had any idea of prolonging the issue for some special purpose, it is not believed that they could be so insincere with the public. The coal strike must be brought to final and auspicious conclusion, and while delay is inevitable, there is little reason to believe that the matter is being deferred when the country is facing such a severe fuel shortage.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

The annual business meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial church was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, with large attendance. Reports were heard from all the officers showing the society to be in better condition than ever before.

Several items of business were attended to and then officers were elected for the ensuing year, as follows:

- Mrs. Walter Patten, president.
- Mrs. H. E. Austin, first vice president
- Mrs. L. A. Randolph, recording secretary.
- Mrs. Ernest Baker, assistant recording secretary.
- Mrs. J. S. Norman, corresponding secretary.
- Mrs. W. B. Tilghman, treasurer.
- Supt. of Mission Study, Miss Maria Graham.
- Supt. of Social Service to be decided later.
- Secretary of Social Service, Mrs. J. K. Brown.

Local Treasurer—Mrs. S. T. White. The retiring president, Mrs. W. E. Hooker, who has served the society devotedly for three years, made some ed for the ensuing year, as follows: cordial support and ready helpfulness, and urging them to even greater effort and consecration in the coming year.

Three days next week will be observed as the week of prayer, and meetings will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 11th at 3:30 with Mrs. H. E. Austin, Wednesday, Nov. 12th at 3:30 Mrs. W. E. Hooker; Thursday Nov. 13th, at 3:30 with Mrs. W. Barden.

The program of the day was in charge of Miss Maria Graham, subject the working woman. She spoke in general terms of the standing of the working woman in community, and her needs, especially the household servant, and then of the dependent girl who must be cared for in an institution, such as the Vasbit School for girls at Thomasville, Ga.

Mrs. N. F. Jeter spoke of the working girl and her needs. The Red Cross Roll Call was mentioned and those present were given an opportunity to join, in case they had missed the canvassers at home.

NOTLY CONTESTED COURT ACTION HAS BEEN DETERMINED

A result of heavy rains throughout many territories during the past few months, in which lands have been damaged to no little extent, and particularly those lying along the course of some railroad line where drainage at all times is not the best in the world. It was so in this case, and as there were two suits involved, both bearing a striking similarity, the court found it advisable to consolidate the cases in order to complete the work with little delay as possible.

The plaintiff, it seems, presented its claims for damage through losses occurring through crop shortage as a result of water being turned into their lands by the railroad embankment instead of being diverted in some direction where it could have found proper outlet. Witness were called to the stand to testify to certain conditions of the crops at the time the action was precipitated, and although argument was forceful and impressive and testimony at times almost convincing, the court did not find enough evidence against the railway company to justify it in rendering judgment sustaining the claims. The same lands claimed to have been injured lie in the neighborhood of the town of Arthur, and are owned by the Messrs. Cobb each having a separate and distinct farm.

The cases created no little interest in this part of the country as similar actions have started in other courts, with the railway lines being confronted almost daily with the extreme seriousness of the situation and the desire of plaintiffs in recovering losses claimed to have resulted from improper drainage along embankments. In some instances they are being upheld, but in others, officials of the railroads cannot be wholly blamed for the occurrences. The defense in yesterday's case was represented by F. G. James & Son, of this city, with the case of the plaintiff being presented through Attorneys Albion Dunn and D. M. Clark.

CHANGE IN UNIFORM GETS COMMENDATION FROM AFAR

London, Nov. 5.—The example set by the United States government in discontinuing several varieties of navy uniforms and dress is being cited as worthy of imitation by agitators who favor economy in state dress. Numerous requests made recently by court officials for increased salaries are attributed by these agitators to greatly heightened costs of the ceremonial attire with which they must outfit themselves before accepting office.

The cost of a court dress for anyone attending one of the King's levees can scarcely be less than $625. A lord lieutenant's ceremonial dress, with its royal red swallow-tail coat, silver buttons and lace embroidery brings a tailor's bill of at least $650. The robe of the Lord Chancellor is valued at $1,000—it is a gorgeous affair of ermine and silk. The most expensive of all is the official garb of the Earl Marshal. It contains 1,700 yards of gold embroidery and is worth approximately $1,150.

The Tarboro fair is on in full blast.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN TO ATTEND INITIAL

yet this has not been definitely determined.

Much interest is being centered upon the activities of the American Legion in this section of the country at this time, and recent meeting in Raleigh in which officer swere appointed a state constitution drafted, has increased this interest to a greater extent. The local post will be ready for activity following the return of the delegate from the national meeting, and it is expected that much good is going to result from co-operative influences of the organization.

The postmaster says mails are almost as heavy now as during the holidays.

PERSONAL.

Miss Bernice Taylor, of LaGrange, was in the city yesterday, visiting friends.

Mr. C. C. Cobb, of Norfolk, who has been visiting in the city for the past few days returned home last night.

Messrs. S. H. Spruill and D. R. Morgan, of Farmville, were in Greenville yesterday afternoon.

Mr. W. T. Ellsworth, of Rocky Mt. was here for a short time Tuesday evening.

Dr. G. G. Dixon, of Ayden, attended "What's the Idea" presented in this city yesterday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Beasley and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Owens, of Fountain, attended "What's the Idea" presented in White's theatre last night.

Messrs. Lee E. Hayes, J. H. Alexander and W. A. Crawford, of Raleigh, spent the day in Greenville yesterday, on business.

Messrs. R. P. Harrison, of New York, and E. G. Curran, of Richmond, officers of the Export Tobacco Co., spent yesterday on the local market.

Today Mr. A. B. Ellington received the remnant of a letter which he sent to the American Book Co., in New York October 13th. This letter with other mail was started from Baltimore to its destination by aeroplane, on the 14th and enroute the aeroplane caught on fire and was destroyed, the mail sacks also being consumed or badly damaged. The damaged mail was sent to the postoffice department in Washington City for salvaging, and where enough of any letter could be found for identification it was returned to the sender with explanation. In this way Mr. Ellington's letter came back, there being enough of the scratched fragments of his letter head and a check enclosed to obtain his address.

Mr. E. F. Richardson, of New Bern, visited Greenville for several hours yesterday.

Mr. H. C. Sugg left yesterday for Indiana and other places on an extended business trip.

Mr. T. H. Lacy, of Rocky Mount, spent several hours here Tuesday, on business.

Mrs. A. D. Dupree, of Little Rock, Ark., arrived in this city yesterday to visit her mother-in-law Mrs. R. Hyman and her sister, Miss Grace Whitaker.

MISS RUBELE FORBES ENTERTAINS.

Complimentary to the Carter-Cobb Bridal Party.

Last evening at her home on Fifth street, Miss Rubelle Forbes most delightfully entertained complimentary to the Carter-Cobb bridal party of which she is a member. The house was decorated with chrysanthemums and potted plants, and presented a lovely scene. Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by the hostess and served tea by Mrs. Alex Blow and Miss Arlene Joyner. They then passed from the hall to the parlor where Miss Joyner entertained them with several vocal selections. Perhaps the prettiest room of the house was the dining room. It was decorated with cut flowers, shaded lights and the bride's cake was arranged on a beautifully decorated table. The cutting of the cake caused much merriment. The ring was cut by Mrs. W. H. Moore, the thimble by Mrs. Albion Dunn, the button by Mr. W. T. Lipscomb, and the dime by Miss Arlene Joyner. The guests in passing from the dining room into the library passed through the hall and in so doing they passed under a large wedding bell which had a ribbon for each guest hanging from it. Upon pulling these ribbons a beautiful favor fell for each one. Before departing the loving cup was passed and the bride-elect toasted. Each guest then showered her with serpentine confetti. Refreshments consisting of an ice course were served. Those enjoying the hospitality of Miss Forbes were the bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Blow, Mrs. W. H. Moore, Mr. J. B. James, Miss Arlene Joyner, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Walker, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Woodward.

"WHAT'S THE IDEA" PLEASURES IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE.

"What's the Idea" played to a pleased audience in this city at White's theatre last night, and while there were several features pleasing in every way there were others of only ordinary interest. Rice and Cady, the well advertised funmakers practically played most important parts of the play, as each played his part to perfection, and had several roles both entertaining and amusing. The electrical scenic effect of a bubble, accompanied by the vocal and instrumental selection, was splendidly presented, while varied change in uniform enhanced the weak points to no little extent. The play might be termed as good, and with additional music and better voices, it undoubtedly would rank among the first attractions now playing this section of the country.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED SINCE REPORTS YESTERDAY.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by the register of deeds since the reports of yesterday afternoon:

Miss Ruth Cobb to Mr. Earl V. Carter, both of Greenville.

Miss Lennie Whitehurst, of Martin county to Mr. G. F. Roberson, of Bethel.

END OF THE CENTURY CLUB.

The End of the Century Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. W. I. Skinner on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. A. Bowen second vice president, presided over the meeting.

The program for the afternoon was "Shakespeare," Mrs. Harry Skinner read a sketch of the theatre at the time of Shakespeare, the stage, scenery and everything connected with it being very primitive.

Mrs. Lula Fleming gave an interesting synopsis of "The Twelfth Night" and read her favorite selections from same, then McCormack sang "Come Away Death." Miss Kate Lewis gave another interesting synopsis of "The Merchant of Venice" and read selections from same. A selection from Shylock as interpreted by Southern taken from the scene of Shylock making a loan to Bassanio was rendered on the Victrola. The invited guests were Mrs. Preston Cotten, of Boston, and Mrs. George Cooper, of London.

GOVERNMENT OPTIMISTIC CONCERNING COAL STRIKE.

Chicago, Nov. 5. — Confronted by statements of miners and operatives in the country for a long struggle in the coal strike, the government circles today are still apparently pervaded by an undercurrent of optimism regarding the early settlement of the walkout. The indications are that the two opposing forces are aspiring for opening that might lead to a settlement.

THE DEPENDABLE STORE

Your Corset Must be Fitted First.

The average woman "puts the cart before the horse" when it comes to dressing herself. She will spend patient hours to have a gown fitted, so that when completed it will be well-nigh perfect—but she will buy a corset over the counter without even trying it on. Consequence—at as well as it may, her gown is vaguely unsatisfactory. Our corset department has earned its enviable reputation and become well known because of the excellence of its exclusive models and because of the great variety of models to select from, and last—and probably the most important—because of the excellent corsetiere, who knew how to fit properly.

Each of the following lines of corsets featured in this department have distinctive characteristics. Frolaset, Nemo, Redfern, American Lady, Ferris, Thomson and Warners.

EAST END JAMES BROWN FARM, ON GRIMESLAND ROAD, ONE MILE FROM GREENVILLE, N. C., SUBDIVIDED

Monday, November 10th, 2:00 P. M.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY TO BE OFFERED

At 10:30 A. M., on Monday, November 10th, a part of the Peebles place will be offered at auction, subdivided into small farms. This property is located on road from Greenville to Falkland, six miles from Greenville, N. C. All conveniences, such as the best of stores, schools, churches, warehouses and banking facilities furnished by Greenville, N. C. Also convenient railroad connections to all points from this city. This property to be offered consists of about 152 acres, of which almost half is cleared and which produces very fine crops of tobacco, cotton, corn and all other crops adapted to this section. The entire farm is practically level and well drained, being watered by wells and branches. Some timber, sufficient for farm purposes, and considerable cord wood. The buildings consist of three houses, one new six room bungalow and two good tenant houses, one pack house, four tobacco barn. All of these buildings are situated on the public road which this farm faces for a good distance and each tract will have a road frontage.

Inspect these tracts today. This land will produce just as much per acre as any other land in the county. If you want a good small farm your chance is at hand. Easy terms place this property within your reach. Be on hand Monday, November 10th, at 10:30 A. M.

At 2:00 P. M. on Monday, November 10th, the "East End of James Brown Farm" will be offered. This property is located on Grimesland road, one mile east of Greenville, N. C. An excellent neighborhood, as good people live in this section as in any section of the state. This is indeed desirable property, due to its close proximity to the city of Greenville. Of a total acreage of 180 acres about half is cleared and in cultivation. The soil is of a medium loam top soil with a clay subsoil. An abundance of cord wood on the place. The buildings consist of one five room dwelling, three tobacco barns, one corn barn, two story pack house and other necessary outbuildings, such as barns, stables, pack houses, etc.

Collection of natural signs into the science of phenology probably was begun with a campaign against the Hessian fly. Experts were endeavoring to determine the best time for planting wheat so that the sowing would be late enough to prevent ruin by the pest and yet early enough for the grain to get a start before cold weather.

It was easy enough to work out the general rule that the season varies four days for each one degree of latitude, five degrees of longitude and 400 feet of altitude, but as no two seasons are just the same the rule could tell only approximately when the farmer should do his sowing.

In seeking for a more exact guide, Dr. A. D. Hopkins of the department forsook the cold realm of scientific formulae for "back-to-nature" information. As plants respond to climatic conditions and not to dates, it was decided that some natural indication would give the information desired.

It is now claimed that observation has proved that the best time for sowing wheat is that period between the full blooming of tall late goldenrod and the time when the white, common Japanese clematis flowers are nearly all gone or the leaves are distinctly colored on the dogwood and hickories.

What has been done for wheat will be done for other crops, but the working out of the signs will be a slow process. Meanwhile every farmer and even the city gardener have their own guides at hand, if they have eyes to see. Thus has the superstition and folklore of days called primitive been justified by the advanced science of the twentieth century.

Dangers of City Streets.

Apparently the time is not ripe for the solution of the problem created by excessive speed in driving motor cars, although the mortality is truly termed terrifying. The annual toll in the city of New York alone of dead and wounded far surpasses some of the casualty totals of the Civil war. In Cincinnati since January 1 there have been forty-eight fatalities. Satirical humorists have laughingly said that a city resident who succeeds in safely crossing a car crowded thoroughfare should not thereby become unduly exalted, because he has gained only a reprieve, and in the end surely will be run down. It is appalling to think that the mere journey from one side of a street to another in municipalities is really dangerous and that a risk of life and limb is taken by the pedestrian.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Puzzle Over Musk's Loss of Scent.

For many years now, the remark has gone the rounds among flower lovers that it is next to impossible to get a sweet-scented musk. More than one grumble at the nurserymen for raising the larger flowered and scentless variety, but now it turns out that the nurserymen are blameless in the matter. The musk has deliberately lost its scent; that is the plain fact, and nobody knows the wherefore of this strange occurrence. The Field calls attention to the fact, and says that no other case of the kind has been recorded. It adds that old colonies of the musk plant which were powerfully fragrant have now become quite odorless. Kew, it appears, is as puzzled as anyone over it.

He Knew Who Hired Him.

The jury was evidently getting on the judge's nerves, and at last he announced:

"I discharge the jury!"

A tall, lean member of the 12 then rose.

"Say, judge, you can't discharge me!"

"Can't discharge you? Why not?" thundered the judge.

"Was," replied the juryman, pointing to counsel for the defense. "I was hired by that guy over there!"

THE MORTGAGE THE OLD MAN received from the yeoman farmers for his land have been divided with the state in yearly income taxes; and now on the horizon he sees a parliamentary bill gradually approach which provides that capital as well as income shall be heavily taxed. So the old man in the forest sees even his capital unsafe, and he wonders curiously how the little gray man at Windsor feels about the prospects of succession for the genial young prince of Wales.

LAND SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage executed and delivered by S. C. Burney and wife, Martha Burney, to R. E. Garris, on the 21st day of December, 1906, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Pitt county, in Book Q-8, page 17, the undersigned will sell for cash before the court house in Greenville, North Carolina, on

NIGHT SHADOWS IN RUSSIA

Penetrating Light Makes Sleep Impossible Unless the Traveler Carries a Blue Curtain.

The particular journey herein recorded fell on a white night in June—one of those eerie white nights against which the Russian or Siberian traveler carries a canny blue curtain. Olive Glibreath writes in the Yale Review.

Without these blue guards sleep is out of the question and the senses, pursued by the penetrating light, are as ragged as the beggars staring out of the stations. Verst after verst, hour after hour, the plain unwinds endlessly, monotonously, like wool from a skein. A pale incandescence hangs over the earth, fringing objects ghostly. Trees blur in the half-light and grow phenomenally large; izbas and windmills scrape the sky. A tremor of primitive terror runs through one's limbs. One calls to the hills for deliverance—but there is not even a rise in the ground! With midnight springs up a delusive promise of respite from the light; a shadow creeps reassuringly over the earth, but it is dusk and not darkness. There is no reprieve. At 11 the sun dips below the horizon; at 2:30 it balances again like a replenished bag, spilling its orange and amethyst flood over the earth. The restless cycle has begun again, and still the plain unwinds endlessly, monotonously—brightly now. At seven one reaches Nizhnyovgorod. If it is June, the sun has been up five hours.

Fat Beauties.

Throughout the empire of Morocco and in Tunis there are villages where the elder members of the adult population follow professionally the pursuit of fattening young ladies for the matrimonial market of Barbary.

The Moors, like the Turks and most other Orientals, give a decided preference to "moon-faced" wives over lean ones, and are more solicitous as to the number of pounds which their brides weigh than about the stock of accomplishments they possess.

A girl is put under the process of fattening when she is about twelve years of age. Her hands are tied behind her and she is seated on a carpet during so many hours every day, while her "papa" stands over her with a stick, and her mother, at times, pops into her mouth a ball of stiff maize porridge, kneaded up with grease and just large enough to be swallowed without the patient choking.

If the unfortunate girl declines to be stuffed she is compelled by torture, and ends down the boluses, lest she should be beaten.

Edgecombe county schools were well represented here last week at the convention of high school principals, and the truck now used for conveying children to and from the public institutions of the county during rainy days, was one of the principal attractions.

People of Edgecombe are making great progress in education work, and the addition of the truck, we are sure, will prove a profitable acquisition in future development of school activities. It is to be hoped so anyway.

Why isn't an insane ball thrower a cracked pitcher.

American Cotton Association

Cotton, a human necessity, has blessed everybody who bought it, but has enslaved everybody who produced it. A Southern monopoly in production but a speculator's monopoly in profit.

The American Cotton Association will share the profit with the producer if it is backed by the South's brains and business interest.

This organization should have the support of every farmer, professional and business man, and we need it.

Cotton is selling for one dollar per pound in Italy, while the farmers of Pitt county get thirty-three cents. Cotton is short in Texas, and Fort Worth market is paying thirty-six cents for it. The textile industry and cotton factories of Poland, Bohemia, Germany, Belgium, France and Italy are idle for want of cotton to run on.

With money from other crops to pay our debts and not enough cotton to go around, let the men of the South stand together like our fathers under Washington, Lee and Jackson and our sons under Pershing and Sims, and get justice for our product.

The members of the American Cotton Association for Pitt County who guarantee a three year organization, showing its strength all over the South, are:

ber of the Derby amounting to $32,000.
There is more betting on horse-racing than on any other sport. The English law is peculiar on that point.
Betting on the race course is strictly legal, but the passing of betting slips in the streets is considered a serious offense. Yet one may legally place bets by calling up a bookmaker on any telephone, or by sending name of the horse fancied by telegram or through the post. This anomaly, therefore, occurs:

A betting slip with a horse's name and an amount of money mentioned if handed to a bookmaker in the street is an offense punishable by imprisonment. Yet a telegram to the same bookmaker and containing the same wording handed in at post-office is a perfectly legal undertaking, and, incidentally one which is largely followed.

In the poorer districts where there are thousands of "backers" who make bets varying from a dollar to twelve cents, the street bookmaker does a roaring trade, although he is liable to arrest and his business has perforce to be conducted very secretly as plain clothes police are always on the lookout or him.

WAITERS ARE TOLD TO TAKE OFF MUSTACHE

out a poor time for it. Whether through snobbishness or in the hope of appearing original, customers choose to make their faces as glabrous and depleted as that of the Americans or aim to copy the two commas on the upper lip of a well-known moving picture actor; that is their business. We must insist that the conventions enfered into at the time of the strike be respected that the mustache has always been in vogue in France and to suppress it is an indignity and diminishes the morale, value and patriotism of the personnel of the cafes.

NO REST - NO PEACE

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad back, and distressing urinary disorders.
Greenville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. Be guided by their experience.
W. P. Symonds, carpenter, 207 Washington St., Greenville, gave the following account of his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills July 7, 1914:
"About a year ago my kidneys were out of order and I had dull pains my back. I couldn't rest comfortably nights and had headaches and dizzy spells. My kidneys didn't act properly, either, and the secretions contained a brick-dust sediment and I was in misery. On a friend's advice, I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, getting my supply at the Warren Drug Co., and took them according to directions. They greatly relieved this complaint."
On May 31, 1918, Mr. Symonds said:
"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly now as when I gave my last endorsement. I take a few of Doan's occasionally and always get fine results."
