SENATORS ENGAGE IN MORE ORATORY ON PEACE TREATY

Six Hours of Speech-Making Included in One Single Day's Activity.

LaFOLLETTE TALKS FOR OVER TWO SOLID HOURS

Senator Reed Comes in for His Share of Work by Branding Reservation.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Plans to wind up the fight over the peace treaty amendments miscarried again today, the Senate adjourning after six hours of speech-making with three proposed amendments confronting it, while there had been only two in the morning.

The only vote taken was on the proposal of Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, to strike out the treaty's labor provisions and, after it had been rejected 47 to 34, two new amendments dealing with the League of Nations covenant were prepared by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. On these and on the amendment of Senator Gore, Democrat, Oklahoma to prohibit war without an advisory vote of the people, the leaders hope to get final action tomorrow.

The prospect for a final roll call on the treaty still is complicated, however, by uncertainty as to what course may be adopted by the group which is standing out irreconcilably against any sort of ratification.

It had been the expectation of the leaders on both sides to wipe the slate clean of amendments by voting on the Gore proposal immediately after the defeat of the labor amendment today. Instead Senator LaFollette got the floor and to the surprise of both sides launched into an extended address criticising President Wilson for the method in which the treaty was negotiated. When he had been speaking for two hours he let it be known that he was only about half through, and a recess was taken until tomorrow.

Later notice was given of the two new Borah amendments, which propose to exempt the United States from the provisions of article ten and eleven, and which are expected to develop considerable debate. Earlier in the day another of the treaty's bitter foes, Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, had made a speech of more than two hours in which he opposed hasty action, and said he would present a proposal for an advisory popular vote on the question of ratification.

Much bitterness was in evidence during the day's debate, and at one point Vice-President Marshall interrupted Senator Reed to warn him that he was violating Senate rules by comparing reservation Senators to "bound dogs." Later when President, pro tem, Cummins was in the chair Senator LaFollette enlarged upon the figure by declaring legislators had "laid down like spaniel dogs at the crack of the executive whip."

Albania Pleas For Attention Of Americans

Continued Appeals Are Being Made for United States as Mandatory Power.

ITALIAN PROTECTORATE ACTIVE IN ITS INTEREST

Natives of Albania Profess Extreme Dislike for Italians, and Would Gladly Accept
United States as Mandatory Power in Future.

Tirana, Albania, Nov. 6.—Continued appeals are being made by the Albanians for the United States to assume a mandate for Albania. The Albanian has an amazing confidence in America. Scarcely a week goes by in which some local Albanian society or group of patriots does not present a petition addressed to the Americans appealing to President Wilson to intercede on behalf of their country.

When The Associated Press correspondent was passing through a small town south of here on horseback, he was stopped by the mayor and local officials who presented to him an appeal seeking the protection of the United States because the Greeks were reported to have taken possession of the city of Korca.

The Italian protectorate is in operation but most Albanians profess a distinct dislike for the Italians, saying their desire is merely to exploit the country and to retain a strategic foothold in the Balkans. Some of them say they fared better and the country

URGENT ISSUES TO BE DISCUSSED FOR CHRISTIAN UNIONS

Convention of Young Men's Christian Association of Great Interest.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6.—Many urgent issues are to be discussed in the forth-tenth convention of the International Young Men's Christian association which is to be held here November 19 to 21, according to the general officers of the organization. The gathering is expected to bring to Detroit upwards of 5,000 delegates, representing a membership of more than 1,000,000 men and the 30,000 war welfare workers of the association who served during the war in 42 countries. There will be delegates from Canada, all of the United States and the insular possessions.

Co-operation of the Young Men's Christian association in assimilating back into civil life the 4,800,000 men who served in the American armed services during the war and the 500,000 who served in the Canadian armies will be one of the big subjects for consideration. Stabilization of labor, curbing discontent and unrest, extension of the Y. M. C. A. work, through the war organization including the use of the "X" war hut, and plans for world-wide expansion of the American Y. M. C. A. will also be discussed.

Official requests for extension of the association to many lands, including France, Italy, Siberia, Greece, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Armenia and elsewhere have been received, it is stated.

IMPORTANT ACTION DISPOSED OF HERE DURING YESTERDAY

Superior Court Last Night Completed Hearing of Eord vs. Coast Line.

PLAINTIFF AWARDED $300 OF $2500 DAMAGE SUIT

Action Has Been Pending in This Court Since Late in Year of 1916.

After practically an entire day had been consumed in the examination of witnesses and subsequent presentation of argument by legal representatives in the case of Ford vs. Atlantic Coast Line railroad, the jury in this term of Pitt county superior court at a late hour last night returned its verdict awarding the plaintiff the sum of $300 out of the $2,500 damage suit instituted during the early part of 1916 and which has been pending for action since that date. The case was turned over to the jury yesterday evening about five o'clock, and after several hours spent in rendering its decision, the verdict was returned about 11:00 o'clock, bringing to a conclusion one of the longest drawn out controversies since the opening of the court here Monday morning.

The action has been pending for hearing for several months, in fact it has occupied the attention of legal representatives every since it was begun during the winter of 1916, although before this time it had been deferred from calendar to calendar without any single session reaching it before Tuesday afternoon. The

SPLENDID FARM IS TO BE OFFERED IN SALES NEAR TOWN

Atlantic Coast Realty Company to Sell Splendid Farms
November 10th.

Two land sales of more than general interest to the people in this section of the state will be conducted by the Atlantic Coast Realty Company near this city Monday, November 10th, which will include some of the most prolific farming land in this immediate territory, in splendid localities, and in the vicinity of one of the most prosperous and thriving cities in the state.

The first sale will take place at 10:30 a. m. when the company will offer the Peebles place for sale. This farm is located on the Greenville to Falkland road, six miles from Greenville, in one of the best farming sections in the state. There are approximately 152 acres of land which have been subdivided into small farm tracts, to be sold at auction on easy terms.

The entire farm is practically level and well drained, being watered by wells and branches. There is some timber, sufficient for farm purposes, and considerable cord wood. The buildings consist of three houses, one new six-room bungalow and two good tenant houses, one pack house and four tobacco barns. All buildings are situated on the public road which this farm faces for a good distance and each tract will have a road frontage.

At 2:00 P. M. the same day, the company will offer for sale the East End of James Brown farm. This property is located on the Grimesland road, one mile east of Greenville, in an excellent neighborhood, and in close proximity to the city of Greenville. Of a total acreage of 180 acres, about one-half is cleared and in a state of cultivation. The soil is of medium loam top soil with clay subsoil. An abundance of cord wood is available on the place. The buildings consist of one five room dwelling, three tobacco barns, one corn barn, two-story pack house and other necessary outbuildings, such as barns, stables pack houses, etc.

ment Being Distributed Among Industries.

MOVEMENT EXPEDITED BY RAILROAD HELP

Domestic Supply of Coal Reported Improved in Pittsburgh Centers.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 6.—The distribution of coal confiscated by the government among essential industries in the Pittsburgh district began today. The movement was expedited by the preparations of the railroads for the past two days in anticipation of the government's approval of applications for coal.

The domestic supply of coal was reported somewhat improved. Retail coal dealers attributed this to higher river stages which permitted the shipping of coal held at the mines.

Contradicting coal operator's reports that more than 70,000 miners were working over time in the Fayette and Westmoreland county districts, Phillip Murray, president of district No. 5 United Mine Workers of America, declared there were not that many union miners in the Pittsburgh district. He said that 20,000 non-union miners are employed in Fayette county and not more than 15,000 in Westmoreland. The general situation was reported unchanged in the Pittsburgh district by both the operators and mine union officials.

Sixty-six coal mines were reported

London, Nov. 6.—Vice-Admiral Kato, Japanese Minister of Navy, has arrived here at the head of an official mission which is to visit all of the principal Allied Countries, to convey the friendly greetings of Japan and congratulations on the winning of the war. The Japanese Admiral has been received by the first lord of the Admiralty to whom he delivered the mess from his country.

The mission will go to the Continent to visit France, Belgium and Italy. It will return home by way of America. In a statement published under his name, Admiral Kato says:

"My mission is to give to all of the Allies the friendly greetings of Japan and congratulations on the winning of the war. But we are hoping to see something of what is being done by each country in the way of reconstruction after the war.

"The great problem for all of the nations now is to economize, and in Japan we would like to see a general agreement for disarmament.

LABOR IS FIGHTING TO GET EIGHT HOUR IN, GOMPERS SAYS

American Labor Leader Presents Plea Before International Labor Body.

PLANS WOULD SHORTEN EIGHT HOUR DAY LATER

Convention, However, Defeats Motion and Leaves Mater
for Consideration

Washington, Nov. 6.—Making his first address before the International Labor Conference, in which he sits as an unofficial representative of American labor, Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, declared today for the straight eight-hour day as a maximum as compared with the forty-eight hour week, and incidentally served notice that in the United States even the eight-hour day would be shortened if labor accomplish its purpose.

Mr. Gompers spoke in reply to a majority report on the part of employer delegates favoring the principle of reducing hours but stating that it could not be put in force generally at this time owing to the need for increased production as a result of the war.

The report submitted by D. S. Majorbanks, of Great Britain, pointed out the need for special effort "to make good the shortage of food supplies, the reconstruction of devastated areas and the replacement of machinery," and declared that the progressive increase in the cost of living "would lead to disaster unless the needs of the present situation were considered in conjunction with the aims of the labor movement."

Teddy Wilde the agent by the very name of a vice-man non-commissioned agent of the 2nd division was wounded in the war. Consequently most of his advertising matter is written across them in red ink. ## SOME PEOPLE SAY IT FROSTED WHILE INNOCENT SNOOZED

Difference of Opinion Prevails Concerning Advent of Frost Today.

Old weather prognosticators of the section who have been watching with no little amazement the unusually fine offerings of the weather men for the past several days were this morning unanimous in declaring that the long contemplated appearance of frost was a reality at an early hour this morning, and while, of course, there were many related risers who appeared to discredit the statement because Jack didn't wait until they could see him before vanishing, there were others, however, who left the bed early enough to get a view of the earth while covered with its glistening mantle of white, the first prelude to wintertime.

Some have thought the weather man has been camouflaging his offerings for the past several weeks, in fact, the extension of the pleasant weather which people have been enjoying in this part of the state, has caused no little comment and fear that when winter comes in the weather man would not be quite so lenient. The frost this morning, while light, was considered a splendid warning of the first approach of the cold season, and although there were many who failed to see it, the slight drop in temperature evidently produced the conviction that something out of the ordinary occurred, leaving little room for argument.

The weather man may have been dicker with different climates to appease his own inordinate desires, but according to local observers, and there are many, the sudden change in weather may keep the thermometer register near the bottom in a short time, if not within the next few days. Anyhow, it is advised that thin garments be abandoned for something more substantial and comfortable.

The leaves have held on to the trees quite tenaciously, waiting for a killing frost to bring them down. They will soon be covering the earth.

OLD ORDER PASSES

Today is the Twilight of the Belted Earl.

British Aristocracy, for So Many Centuries Secure in its High Place, is Feeling the Ground Slip Under its Feet.

In one of the old Plantagenet houses of England the belted earl and her ladyship live in one corner of the castle. The rest of the fine old mansion is closed, William Allen White writes in Collier's. The servants needed to run the house are no longer available. Money will not hire them. Their men have been commissioned in the army because the earl's son—who had a right to sit at the foot of the throne and who had also the blessed privilege of hearing the king by ancient right address him as cousin—the earl's son lighted one cigarette too many on the parapet, and when he and his kind from Eton and Harrow went out, commissions in the army fell to the cook's son and the housekeeper's son and the parlormaid's brother and chambermaid's sweetheart, who, being commissioned, promptly took their women-kind out of service. They are feeling what they never felt before, these domestic servants of the nobility—the spur of ambition.

So they have left the castle, and such of the servants as stay have begun to assert their rights, to manifest their self-respect. "Whatever you do," said her ladyship to her guest, "don't ring a bell!" To the question in the visitor's face the hostess replied: "If you ring a bell the servants will leave. I have only three. They have announced that they will do their work, but they forbid interruptions by bells!" The hot water appeared on schedule; the service flowed into the guestroom in its regular channel, except that fires were so low that the visitors' feet were frostbitten; the meals were served on time and were well cooked. But the servants were efficient shop assistants, no longer feudal serfs. And the earl chopped the trees in his own forest with his own hands for his own fires. The meager household allowance of coal that the fuel controller gave to the earl from the mines under the earl's own lands was barely enough to heat the servants' rooms.

And as for the broad estate over which the earl ruled as an agricultural overlord six years ago—an agricultural overlord and industrial entrepreneur through his coal mines—the estate is all crumbling. The land is passing into the hands of small farmers; the old yeoman farmer, fairly well-to-do, of good old yeoman stock, going back to the Conqueror—he and his kind are taking the ownership of the land of the belted earl in 100-acre lots, and the nation, having taken charge of the earl's coal mines, may now relieve him of the burden of mine ownership as well. For the parliamentary committee by a large majority has reported in favor of the government ownership of all mines of every description.

And because the earl's son sleeps under the popples of Flanders and his daughters are married and gone, the earl is a weary, confused old man, chopping wood in the forest to keep his old wife warm. He cannot fight the new order. No leadership is calling him. He knows that the end is coming for him and his kind. He realizes quite definitely that in a few years the castle of the Plantagenets, who were royal in the last Henry's days, probably will fall into the hands of a brewer or a draper or a stock broker, who will put in a central heating plant to defile it, debase the privacy of every bedroom with hot and cold water, and degrade the place with a wilderness of bathrooms, so that four servants can run the place on two eight-hour shifts where 100 retainers once served the earl under Elizabeth.

SHOW WAR'S APPALLING COST

Figures Reveal Price World Paid to Prevent Hunnish Hordes Extinguishing Light of Liberty.

Some comparative figures which force a realization of the magnitude of the world war are given in Henry Ford's Drarborn Independent, from which is quoted:

"There were 19 major wars fought in the world in the 117 years from 1793 to 1910. The late war cost 50 per cent more in lives and cost 700 per cent more in money spent than the whole 19 other wars put together.

"The most costly in lives of the previous wars was that between England and France, 1793-1815, a total of 1,000,000 men having perished.

"Next came the war of 1854-'56, in which England, France, Sardinia, Turkey, Austria and Russia fought; 609,797 men were killed.

The more recent war between Russia and Japan came third, claiming the lives of 555,900 men.

"In our own Civil war both sides together lost 494,400 men, ranking fourth in loss of life in the great wars previous to the late one.

"In the struggle between France and Germany, so disastrous to France and which played a very important part in the recent peace settlement, 311,000 lives were lost.

"We Americans who remember or have read of the Civil war, of Gettysburg, of Pickett's charge, of Sherman's march to the sea, of Andersonville, have been wont to look on it as one of terrible slaughter—and it was.

"But Russia alone lost more than three times as many men in the late war as were lost by both the North and the South in the Civil war.

Germany lost more than three times as many.

"France lost nearly three times as many.

"Great Britain lost nearly twice as many.

"Austria lost nearly twice as many. "So great has been the development in the engines of death that it is almost impossible to conceive the increase of fatalities in the late war as compared with previous wars.

"There were 60 years of war among the various nations in the 117 years prior to 1910.

"As nearly as can be learned, 5,098,097 men lost their lives in those wars.

"That would mean 73,885 lives lost a year, or about 200 a day.

"In the late war there were 200 men killed an hour, about 4,800 for every day of the war; a total of 7,450,200, according to the best available figures. That would be about 1,750,000 a year.

"In money cost of previous wars the French-English war, 1793-1815, comes first with its tax of $6,250,000,000."

Origin of a Postal Custom.

The steamship Oregon was lost off Fire Island on March 14, 1896, states the New York Sun. She was rammed by a coastwise schooner, remaining afloat for half an hour, a time which made it possible to save every person aboard. When her mail was fished up and delivered the pieces were stamped with a statement that they had been in the wreck, the first instance of a practice which is now employed by direction of the International Postal union. The credit for this simple device is believed to be due to Edward M. Morgan, at that time in a subordinate position in the New York post office, who foresaw that a few minutes' work with a rubber stamp would forestall an infinite of complaint.

To Stop the Hurt.

We cannot prevent the little unkindnesses and selfishnesses of others from hurting, but by promptly applying the antiseptic of common sense, we can prevent them from rankling and poisoning. Because my neighbor has treated me in a manner of which he has reason to be ashamed, why should I double the injury by irritation and brooding? Let it end where it began—with the doer.—Exchange.

Polite Burglars.

Occasionally the operation of burglary is performed by a gentle and thoughtful thief, says London Tit-Bits. A boarding house was some years ago robbed of a handbag and some £20 belonging to the landlady, a wallet, containing important documents, the property of a gentleman guest, and a few valuables, including a miniature of the gentleman's wife. The thief had taken out the landlady's eyeglasses from the bag and left them on the table, and a few days later a parcel arrived at the boarding house, marked "To be paid," containing the missing documents and the miniature stripped of its frame.

A lady teacher, awakened by a noise in the night, went on the landing and saw a man on the stairs. "Kindly let me out," said the man. He put on his boots, shook hands with the school-mistress, and, as he went added: "Not a word! Go to bed like a good girl!" She did not. She went to the police, and the polite burglar was finally tracked and captured.

Introduced the Spider.

The solicitor had been away in the country calling upon a client, but on his return there were signs of loafing and laziness on the part of the junior clerk.

"Thomas, that typewriter has not been touched today!" snapped the man of law.

"Oh, sir!" ejaculated the junior. "Why, I was using it only an hour ago!"

"Then," thundered the employer, "how comes it that there's a spider on the machine, and that he's woven a web over the keyboard?"

"Sir," remarked the lad, "I'll tell the truth. There was a fly in the works of that machine. Rather than waste my time in entrapping the insect, sir, I—er—introduced the spider, sir!"—London Tit-Bits.

COFFEE CROP HAS BEEN BIG FAILURE IN RIO DE JANEIRO

Lack of Prosperity Noticeable in Many Sections, So It is Stated.

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 5.—Results of coffee crop failures are seen in the large number of high grade automobiles available for public hire in this city. Most of them were originally purchased for private use in times of prosperity but their owners were compelled to sell them when the crop failed and financial distress ensued.

The widespread use made of them for business, pleasure or social purposes is a striking feature of life in the Brazilian capital. They are not of the usual taxicab type but expensive cars.

The broad, smooth avenues and boulevards are admirably adapted to the use of automobiles, and as there is no speed law the one great object in life—the native chauffeur apparently is to go at top speed whether in city or suburb. That there are not numerous daily accidents is due, perhaps, mainly to expert handling of the cars.

THURSDAY, NOV. 6TH, 1919

The farmer with great visions of the future need not have the slightest fear of coming in contact with nightmares.

Jack Frost may be successfully camouflaging the weather man's offerings, but, nevertheless, he will be here soon just the same.

Whenever an ordinary man begins singing, you had better look out—he's going to bring sorrow in some fellow's home.

It's much better for lovers to use mental telepathy than the telegraph wire, for then everything is kept strictly on the inside.

When women start the conversational ball to rolling man, poor insignificant being, had just as well abandon hope of getting in a word edgeways.

There are thousands of women who had rather go to the polls to cast their vote than to see that the cook doesn't carry everything home with her.

School teachers who abandon the schoolroom for individual teaching generally have a small school of their own, just the same.

When airplanes become familiar with the vicinity of Mars many of our adventurous young men will be ready for a boat ride into another territory.

Some people have the habit of attributing every piece of good fortune to the hand of Providence, when, in fact, they are so far removed from such faith that it might have been the paws of the devil.

The future holds no terrors for the farmer in this part of the country whose barns are full of pumpkins, corn, meat, fodder and real old Pitt county "chawing terbacker" to make dark nights bright.

Ireland has accepted proposals for the creation of two separate and distinct Irish parliaments, which causes us to believe that the people are anticipating something out of the ordinary along the lines of legislation. Two will prove better than one, by all means so there's little harm done.

If styles continue to decrease the length and width of women's wearing apparel in the future as it has in the past there are many young men who place an inestimable value upon their future.

These fellows who have been holding their cotton for advancing prices are now waiting until prices have reached the forty cent mark. Some have sold already to their regret, but, even then somebody had to give the bears proper encouragement to get things rolling.

Strike leaders may feel that they have been deprived of certain liberties by injunction on the part of the government, but just the same, it is a sure bet they will be glad of being deprived of participation in the strike after it is all over.

There are thousands of people through this section of the country responding to the Red Cross roll call with a heart and a dollar, and while there are some who are still holding back, all of the old conservatives will be rounded up before the campaign comes to a conclusion.

The government's refusal to vacate injunction against strike officials appears to have met with disapproval in some sections, but even with this, there is very little doubt that the officials are not fully aware of the situation in its true light and are working with best interest in view. Things may turn out that way, anyhow.

The continued increase in valuation of land suggests the possibility more intensive cultivation of the thousands of splendid farms throughout this section of the state, and a more through interest on the part of heretofore disinterested planters in the great possibilities in diversified farming. Those who have confined their efforts to growing two or three products eventually will find themselves engaging in more extensive planting along all lines, and when this comes about, there is going to be greater prosperity in every community where experiments are given due attention.

Divorce suits are becoming of such ordinary significance in every part of the world at this time that they have really taken on the form of a vogue instead of a serious, alarming reality. Courts are far too lenient along this line, in fact, if there were just a little greater thought in removing the dissension instead of such general desire in nullifying the bonds of matrimony, probably reconciliation would be possible in hundreds of cases and the participants made happy and contented. The day eventually must come for divorce laws to become more rigid, then and then alone, will differences be settled at home instead of being aired in the court room to the disgrace of all parties concerned.

City authorities are urging that every business house and residence throughout the city give all attention possible towards making the town a more decent place in which to live. They advise that all trash and rubbish be called to the attention of the city scavenger, or that it be carefully dumped in garbage cans lining the streets in front of business houses in every part of the city. In leading their co-operation, citizens are removing one of the principal sources of sickness, and at the same time, are directly leaving an impression of sanitary security to the hundreds of visitors coming here throughout the year. See to it that you keep step with progress. Clean up your premises.

GEORGE CHODS

Presents
HIS IRRESISTABLE
MUSICAL COMEDY

BOOK & LYRICS BY DARL MAC BOYLE. MUSIC BY WALTER L. ROSEMONT

A BIG
NEW YORK SUCCESS

WITH THE ORIGINAL
EXCELLENT CAST AND STUNNING GIRLS

"The Love Hunter," the musical farce which opened a two-night engagement at the Strand last night, comes as near living up to press notices as a producer of laughter as may be possible. Those who witnessed the opening performance were rewarded with a series of rapid-fire fun, good music, and snappy dancing, combined with settings above the average.

Eddie Vogt, as Billy Cope, newspaperman, et cetera, is the principal fun-maker. Tall and thin, with the ability to handle even the oldest of jokes in modern fashion, Vogt succeeds in erasing the slightest trace of stiffness in his audience with his comedy. Second to Vogt is John Sully as Jack as Jack Stokes, whose songs, unique dancing and natural faculty for being funny make him a favorite. There is much of a commendable nature to say of the other members of the cast.

Naturally there is but a light plot, this hanging about Angelina Stokes, played by Miss Ma C. Mitchell, a winning person, whose chief ambition is to have a real man for a husband, but her mother, Miss Marion Benson as Mrs. E. M. Stokes, has different ideas and seeks to wed Angelina to the Earl of Warwickshire, played by Jack C. Claire. Vogt as Billy Cope appears on the scene, falls in love with Angelina and is abetted by her brother, Jack.

After various complications, the fortune-seeking earl is disclosed in his true light, but is wedded by the mother. Cope finally wins Angelina and Jack Stokes is accepted by Yvonne, the maid, played by Miss Frances Milson.

There is not a lax moment during the entire production, and "The Love Hunter" is certainly worth while as a chaser of blues, providing an evening of more than rare entertainment. The final performance here will be given tonight.

IMPORTANT ACTION DISPOSED OF HERE DURING YESTERDAY

Suit was precipitated as the result of injuries received by the plaintiff when run over by one of the Atlantic Coast Line freight trains in Bethel during the mentioned year. He had started across the railroad track at the depot crossing with a wheelbarrow filled with oysters, but seeing the train shifting nearby, stopped and asked the agent if it would be safe to make the crossing at the moment. Receiving assurance there was no danger he started across, when on the further side of the track, the wheelbarrow wheel became caught between the track and plank siding adjoining the track.

Mr. Ford, according to witnesses, saw the train approaching in his direction and vainly struggled to disengage the wheel before the train reached him, but seeing this could not be done he jumped out on the edge of the track, still holding to the handle of the wheelbarrow. When the train struck the cart the compact threw the owner to the ground, breaking one rib and causing other injuries of minor importance. Eye witnesses to the accident were examined, and the facts appeared to be practically the same hills and mountains regarding the occurrence.

The case was possibly one of the crops to support its inhabitants. The hardest fought throughout this population is upward of two million. A number divided about evenly between Christians and Mohammedans. Only about and several witnesses examined whose 5 per cent of this number is able to testify had unusual weight with read or write. The women do all the work. They are veritable beasts of burden. Indeed they compete with the ponies and donkeys as pack carriers, but are not considered by the men as valuable because they cannot bear up under such heavy loads. In the frequent sale of young women for wives, the price paid often is not as high as that given for a good horse. This severe life among the women shows itself in premature old age and in many forms of serious physical disability. Fifteen percent of the mothers die in childbirth. The men sit around coffee houses, discussing politics, or attend to the business of repelling by gun or sword the frequent Serbian or Montenegrin invaders. The hostility to the Serb and Montenegrin never ceases. Feuds, pistol duels and vendettas are of daily occurrence. The Albanian, once he believes himself or relatives wronged, never rests until complete and fierce vengeance is secured.

ALBANIA PLEAS FOR PROTECTION AMERICANS

progressed more under the Austrians. American observers say the Italians have brought great material and moral good to the country and have stabilized things in an effective way.

The country is extremely primitive and there are continual internal disorders. Railroads or telegraphs do not exist; many of the most ordinary conveniences of life are wanting, sanitation is almost unknown, schools and churches are few in number, and altogether the country seems extremely backward. Except for the southern part which is fairly fertile, it is a barren waste of rocks and woodless

When a man disputes with a fool, the fool is doing the same thing.

CARTER-COBB.

Beautiful Wedding Takes Place in the Memorial Baptist Church.

Last evening the Memorial Baptist church of this city was the scene of a beautiful wedding when Miss Ruth Cobb became the bride of Mr. Earle Carter. The church was beautifully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums potted plants, maline streamers and burning tapers. The electric lights all shaded with yellow crepe paper chrysanthemums, cast a beautiful light on the scene. Mrs. Lina Baker presided at the organ, playing Mendelssohn's as the processional, "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony and Lohengrins as the recessional. Prior to the entrance of the bridal party, Mr. Charlie James sang, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," while Mrs. J. B. James played his accompaniment.

The bridal party entered in the following order: First came the ushers Messrs. Cecil Cobb, brother of the bride, Percy Forbes and W. T. Lipscomb, who took their places on either side of the pulpit. They were followed by the maids of honor, Misses Ward Moore and Rubelle Forbes. Miss Moore wore a gown of white satin with trimmings of ostrich tips and Miss Forbes wore a gown of blue satin and maline. They both carried baskets of chrysanthemums. The next to enter was Mrs. Albion Dunn, as matron of honor, and a sister of the bride. She was beautifully gowned in blue brocaded satin, and carried a large basket of yellow chrysanthemums. The bride, never more beautiful, entered on the arm of her father, Mr. R. J. Cobb, who gave her in marriage. She wore a handsome gown of Duchess Satin, with court train. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and orchids. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. S. D. Hooker. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Moore, the bride's pastor.

Miss Cobb is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cobb, of this city. She is one of Greenville's most attractive and charming young ladies, and is loved by all who know her. Mr. Carter is a native of Maxton, but has been in this city for several years. He possesses a winning personality and has made many friends during his stay here. He holds a prominent position with Hines Motor Co. After a tour of northern cities Mr. and Mrs. Carter will be at home in this city.

Following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Fifth street a beautiful and brilliant reception was held. Cut flowers, chrysanthemums, potted plants and shaded lights made rooms lovely. Upon arrival the guests passed from the hall into the parlor where they were introduced to the receiving line in which were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Carter, Mrs. Albion Dunn, Rev and Mrs. W. H. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodward, Mrs. Ola Forbes, and Mr. C. D. Rountree, the bride's grand-father. After leaving the receiving line the guests passed into the hall where they were served punch, by members of the bridal party. The dining room was especially beautiful. The decorations in this room being yellow chrysanthemums, and ferns. The table was beautiful, with its covers of real lace. Delicious refreshments consisting of an ice course, salted nuts, and mints were served. From the dining room the guests passed into the gift room. Here perhaps was arrayed one of the largest collection of bridal presents ever received in this city. They were all beautiful and useful and bespoke the popularity of both the bride and groom. After seeing the presents the guests passed from the gift room back into the hall, and were shown out. It was one of the most enjoyable receptions of the season, and over two hundred guests attended.

FOURTH QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of Jarvis Memorial church will be held Friday, Nov. 7th, 7:30 P. M. The presiding elder, Rev. N. H. D. Wilson will make a brief address after which the reports for the year will be made and the important business of the conference will be transacted. Every official member is urgently requested to be present, and members and friends of the church are cordially invited to come.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

The store of Noah Lee in Grimesland was broken into and robbed and a quantity of his stock taken. The Nansmond Truck & Package Co., of Suffolk, Va., purchased a site in Bethel to locate a branch factory there. The sheriff of Edgecombe county loaned a gallows to Sheriff Mooring of Pitt on which to execute Elijah Joyner. A scarecrow of coal was noted. His tory repeats itself as the same condition prevails now.

Smoke "Virginia-Carolina" Straight

England agrees with America that Virginia-Carolina is the best tobacco

In the United States alone, 30 billion out 40 billion cigarettes smoked last year contained Virginia-Carolina tobacco.

And in England - where Virginia-Carolina costs as much as Turkish tobacco - Virginia-Carolina is preferred.

Virginia-Carolina tobacco has a zest and relish that give a cigarette character of taste.

To enjoy it best, smoke it straight in a Piedmont.

Telephone subscribers are urged to call by number and not by name. In a community of this size the operators cannot possibly remember the names all subscribers; when you call by name you delay your service and hamper its efficiency.

All telephones are known to the operators by numbers which are on the switchboard directly in front of them. The directory is your index to the switchboard and should be consulted before making a call.

FLOEBERG NOT AN ICEBERG

Former Yellow and Dirty in Color; Latter Ordinarily Brilliant White With Streaks.

While floebergs often are of great size, they are much different from icebergs, Rene Bache writes in the Philadelphia Public Ledger. They are yellow and dirty-looking in color, while icebergs are ordinarily a brilliant white, with ultramarine streaks. The streaks are pure ice, while the white parts are largely solidified snow.

Floebergs are formed in the bays along the coast of Labrador, where ice is blown shoreward and piled up, sheet on sheet, during the winter. When summer comes the masses thus formed are liable to float out to sea. An iceberg is composed of fresh water, frozen. A floeberg is frozen salt water.

The crew of the steamer Androscoggin, of the United States coast guard, experimented in blowing up icebergs with shells and mines, but both attempts failed. The shells merely made white spots, and were shattered, while there was nothing that the mines could be attached to to do damage. In addition ships could not come close enough to the bergs without danger from the floating mountains to make careful investigation for the placing of the mines.

SOLDIERS SEE GIANT CLOCK

Massive Timepiece in House of Commons Tower, Regarded as One of World's Best Timekeepers.

Fifty disabled soldiers, many of whom had lost a leg in the war and wore an artificial one in its place, climbed the 360 steps of the House of Commons tower in London to study the mechanism of "Big Ben," the giant timepiece. The soldiers are being trained by the ministry of labor in watch and clock repairing.

A guide told the party that the clock was designed by Lord Grimthorpe, and was placed in the tower in 1855. It has been working ever since, and is still regarded as one of the best timekeepers in the world. The minute hand is 14 feet long and weighs 224 pounds, and the pendulum, which requires two seconds to complete each swing, weighs 700 pounds. The bell which sounds the hours has a diameter of nine feet, and weighs 14 tons, the weight of the striking hammer being 768 pounds. An electric motor now winds the clock in 20 minutes. Formerly it took two men working three afternoons a week to complete the task.

It Was His Only Complaint.
Two weary tramps met after a lengthy separation and sat down to compare experiences.

"Have yer been to the front?" asked one. "Ain't seen yer about lately."

"I've had influenza."

"Influenza? What's that?"

"Well I don't know how I can exactly explain it, but it takes all the fight out of yer. Yer feels sort of tired like. Don't seem to want to do anything only lie down and sleep."

"Why I've had that disease for the last 20 years!" exclaimed the first speaker; "but this is the first time I've heard its name."—London Tit-Bits.

FISH, FROG, TOAD SHOWERS

Infrequency of Such Events More to Be Wondered At Than Fact That They Occur.

Probably the most remarkable thing about the many reported showers of such objects as fish, frogs, toads and the like is the skepticism with which the accounts of these occurrences are greeted. The wonder is, observes a writer, not that they occur, but that they are so infrequent. Everybody has seen the wind carry away, to be deposited in parts unknown, such light objects as leaves and scraps of paper. Everybody has also heard, at least, of the astonishing feats performed by tornadoes and hurricanes in transporting much heavier articles.

For example, at Beauregard, Miss., April 22, 1883, the solid iron screw of a cotton press, weighing 675 pounds, was carried 900 feet. On another occasion a hencoop weighing 76 pounds was transported four miles. In a tornado at Mount Carmel, Ill., a piece of tin roof was carried 15 miles and a church spire 17 miles. What goes up must come down. We know, from the facts first cited, that the fall of so light and common an object as a frog, for example, must happen rather frequently in any part of the world subject to high winds.

Ashanti Cocoa Growing.
Cocoa growing is rapidly becoming a prominent industry in Ashanti, which has hitherto been associated with nameless horrors perpetrated by King Prempeh, which necessitated repeated punitive expeditions down to 1900, the most famous being Lord Wolseley's campaign through the trackless jungle in 1894. Now the Gold Coast is the largest exporter of cocoa in the world, and Ashanti supplies a very large proportion. Archdeacon Morrison writes from Kumassi: "In the last five years Ashanti has made great strides in commercial prosperity. This is owing to cocoa. When the rubber boom came to an end there was stagnation for a short time, but cocoa has more than taken its place. Ashanti makes an ideal cocoa-growing country, and the industry is very suitable for the West African, as it requires no great outlay of labor."

JAP MINISTER WILL VISIT IN ALLIED CENTER

yet for a reduction of the navy or army, waiting to see what is done in that way by the other great powers. That seem to me to be the position of all of the nations. They are willing to disarm, but are waiting for a general agreement for that purpose.
"The Japanese people are fervently hoping for the success of the League of Nations, in which they see the prospect of the establishment of a permanent peace. All the nations have had enough of war, and the world must now give all its energies to securing lasting peace.

"This being so I rather regret that the Allies are retiring from Russia before the complete pacification of the country has been obtained. While Russia is in such a disturbed state there is always the probability of another great war breaking out, and I would have been glad to see the Allies energetically take in hand the establishment of a sound, permanent government for that country.

"However, Japan will loyally assist her friends in keeping the peace of the world, and will especially give her aid in this direction to her Ally, Great Britain.

today to be in operation in the organized district of Northern West Virginia. Eighteen of the mines are located in the Fairmont-Clarksburg district, four in the Wheeling district and four in the Upper Potomatic field in Mineral county. The aggregate output of the mines is small, however, Twelve of the mines in the Fairmont district produced fifteen cars of coal yesterday, it was reported.

Although production in the non-union Guayn coal field in Logan county, southern West Virginia is curtailed to some extent by high water, operators reported that the mines are working steadily. Miners from other fields up by the strike, they say, continue to come
