

INADEQUATE LAWS ARE DIRECT CAUSE OF RADICAL FIGHT

Attorney General Palmer Asks for Legislation to Enforce Espionage.

THOUSANDS ARE PLACED UNDER SURVEILLANCE

Foreign Press Furnishes Splendid Ground for Radical Agitation.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The growth of radicalism throughout the country was to be attributed to inadequacy of Federal laws against preaching violent overthrow of the government, Attorney General Palmer declared tonight in replying to the Senate's recent inquiry as to what action had been taken by the department of justice to curb efforts to establish a dictatorship of the proletariat. Mr. Palmer disclosed that the department has more than 60,000 persons under surveillance as radicals with whom it is unable to cope because of weakness of present statutes.

The Attorney General urged the passage of a law to supplement the espionage act and to take its place when the war-time measure ceases to be effective. He described the proposed act as being the most effective method of dealing with sedition, anarchy and radicalism generally which members of his staff has been able to draft. Mr. Palmer said the bill was broad enough to stop effectually all attempts to overturn the existing order and yet safeguarded free speech and the press.

Activities of the foreign language press present another problem, which the department has been unable to meet successfully, Mr. Palmer said. Investigations have uncovered 222 foreign language newspapers which have openly advocated changes in the governmental system by violence, and peached sedition. English newspapers branded as anarchistic and menacing by the department's agents number 105, Mr. Palmer said. He explained that these were much more easily dealt with as loyal citizens were aiding the government in reporting them.

In addition, Mr. Palmer said, 144 radical newspapers published in foreign countries, are received and distributed in the United States. Most of them, he said, were not sent through the mails but were shipped in bulk and distributed by hand to the foreign population.

Mr. Palmer listed the foreign language newspapers engaged in radical activities, printed in this country, as follows:

Armenian, 1; Bohemian, 9; Bulgarian, 3; Croatian, 4; Danish, 4; Estonian, 1; Finnish, 11; French, 1; German, 21; Greek, 2; Hungarian, 23; Italian, 27; Jewish, 20; Lettish, 11; Portuguese, 1; Rumanian, 16; Slovenian, 8; Spanish, 8; Lithuanian, 15; Polish, 7; Swedish, 6; Ukrainian, 8, and Yiddish, 15. The Department has kept a corps of forty translators busy and is attempting to gather evidence of their activities from other sources as well, Mr. Palmer said. Articles advocating violence always are supported, he explained, by being followed up with pamphlets and other propaganda.

NOAH FORBES FARM TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

The Noah Forbes farm, will be subdivided and sold at auction by the Atlantic Coast Realty Company, Saturday, Nov. 22nd at 10:30 A. M. This farm is located on the Greenville to Ayden road. It is three miles of Greenville, and 3 1/2 miles of Winterville. The soil is some of the most productive in this section of the country. It produces splendid crops of tobacco and cotton, and is well adapted to all other crops grown in this section. Several buildings are already on the farm. It is located near good schools, churches and stores.

Ask Mr. Cobb.

KETTLES ESCAPES FROM COUNTY JAIL DURING SATURDAY

Wife Murderer, With 30 Years Sentence, Makes Good Escape Up to Now.

ESCAPE EFFECTED FROM SOME OUTSIDE SOURCES

Police and County Officials Are Baffled at Mysterious Disappearance.

W. B. Kettles who was last Thursday evening sentenced to 30 years in the state penitentiary at hard labor for the murder of his wife at their home in Farmville several months ago, mysteriously made his escape from the county jail in this city during a late hour Saturday night, and regardless of every effort forwarded by city and county officials to apprehend him before getting out of the state, he still remains at liberty without a single word having been received regarding his whereabouts.

The sudden disappearance of the murderer has created no little interest in every part of the county where details of his escape have been received, for the conspicuous place which he has occupied in public thought during confinement here probably caused by several unsuccessful attempts to take his own life has brought about a certain fixed sentiment in the cases which has been unusual and steadfast until the sentence to penitentiary Thursday afternoon. The manner in which the escape was accomplished so far has baffled both city and county officials. The jail was found closed and locked Sunday morning when visited by the jailor, and later investigations showed that doors nor windows had been interfered with in any way, and that his freedom was gained from some outside source.

MISS BLUE EYES IS TO APPEAR IN CITY ON MONDAY NIGHT

Peter Darby Takes Splendid Part in Coming Play "I Love You," Tuesday.

"Miss Blue Eyes" sparkling and bright, elegantly costumed and as capricious as an April day, twinkled into town last evening to open a two day's engagement at the Academy. She brought with her a dozen other pairs of eyes of assorted colors, adorning faces of attractiveness and charm, their possessors in turn elegantly costumed. Their eyes, or their owners, at any rate, sang and danced, posed and paraded, in a manner to quife win our approbation. So much for the "eyes"

In speaking of the play itself, purely musical comedy, we must speak with restraint lest we be not believed. If a cleverer comedy has visited this town of ours in recent months we have forgotten its name. If we had only seen the court scene in the last of the three acts we should have gone away satisfied, as George Hobart has invested it with more humor than we can describe in a short review. "The Butterfly on the Wheel" had a courtroom scene that thrilled; "Blue Eyes" has one than convulses.

"Miss Blue Eyes" comes to White's theatre next Monday evening, Nov. 24. Seats on sale at White's Piano Store.

MILLION DOLLARS APPROPRIATED FOR AMERICAN SOLDIER

National War Work Council Presents Y. M. C. A. With 46,000 Scholarships.

EDUCATION OF SERVICE MEN TO BE CONSIDERED

Great Amount of Money Will be Expended Towards Education for Men.

New York, Nov. 17.—Appropriation of $1,000,000 by the National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association for 46,200 free scholarship for honorably discharged American soldiers, sailors or marines was announced here today by William Sloane, chairman. The scholarships will include 10,000 in Y. M. C. A. or other accredited schools, 30,000 in co-Anderson is sending to White's universities, colleges and technical schools.

The plan is intended to be a continuation of the "Y" educational system established with the American Expeditionary Forces abroad and details of the curriculum will be completed tomorrow by official "Y" representatives from every state who will meet in Battle Creek, Mich., for that purpose. Americans who served with any of the Allies, or sons of Americans who died in service during the war, will also be eligible for certain of the scholarships. Applications, it was said, would be received starting tomorrow, at every Y. M. C. A. in the United States.

"In April, 1919," said Mr. Sloane, "The so-called 'khaki college' organized under General Pershing's order by the American Y. M. C. A. at a cost of $3,000,000 in France, Belgium, Germany and Great Britain, was turned over to the war department, together

TWO BOYS APPEAR BEFORE JUVENILE COURT OF COUNTY

Officials Create Splendid Im- pression with Disposition of Cases.

A visitor to the session of the juvenile court Saturday morning would have gotten a good idea of the worth of this new welfare agency. Two boys apparently about eleven or twelve years of age were before the juvenile judge on a charge of larceny and truancy. Their tender years made it possible to save them from a life of crime that the ordinary processes of the law would almost inevitably have doomed them to. The case was handled by Mr. J. Frank Harrington, judge of the juvenile court, and Mr. Marvin K. Blount, county superintendent of public welfare. After a searching but sympathetic hearing, the boys were remanded to the custody of their parents, under the supervision of the superintendent of public welfare, to whom they are to report from time to time.

Judge Harrington gave the boys some good and wholesome advice. In fact, he showed a remarkable grasp of the situation, and a commendable understanding of the case. The juvenile court work is in good hands, Mr. Blount as superintendent of public welfare has worked up several cases already, and has a number of boys on probation. He is also looking after the enforcement of the compulsory attendance law. With it all his hands full. These two men have very responsible duties to perform, and it augurs well for the future of the county that they are genuinely interested.

PLATOON OF FIFTH ARTILLERY MEN IN GREENVILLE TODAY

Several Members of Famous Fied Artillery Will be Here Until Thursday.

TENT IS PITCHED ON 3RD AND COTANCH STS.

Several Guns Used in Recent War on Display With Much Literature.

The platoon from the Fifth Field Artillery arrived in Greenville this morning and will be stationed on the vacant lot at the corner of Third and Cotanch until Thursday. Literature for the ex-soldier will be given away by the men while here and guns used in the recent war will be on display. The following officers are in charge of the platoon: Capt. A. P. Rheit, First-Lieut. R. C. Kelly, Second-Lieut. Jack Miller and Second-Lieut. I. Lux.

The Artillery units which are, at the present time, touring the state North Carolina, belong to the Fifth Field Artillery Brigade, an organization which has played a most prominent part in the present war. To it belongs the 10th, 20th and 21st Field Artillery regiments which were formed in the summer of 1917, at Camp Wilson, Texas, from old Regular Army organizations.

The Brigade embarked for overseas service the latter part of May 1918, arrived in England in June, and proceeded at once across the Channel and went into training for a month at Camp Valdebon, where it did not take long for the experienced Regular gunners to master the details of the new French material with which they were to be equipped for the war on the western front. They first appeared in action in the Vosges, the so-called quiet front. Die Sector, where they arrived in

BIG AUCTION SALE TO BE CONDUCTED NEAR GREENVILLE

The Manning Farm Will be Sold by A. C. R. Co., November 20th.

The McG. Manning farm will be sold at auction by the Atlantic Coast Realty Company Thursday, Nov. 20th, at 10:30 A. M. This valuable farm is located on the Greenville and Bethel Highway, five miles from Bethel, N. C., ten miles from Greenville, N. C., and is owned by Mr. W. J. Manning. The land is some of the best and most prolific farming land in Pitt county. It has been subdivided into small acreage tracts, and will be sold on easy terms. The farm consists of about 700 acres, with about 300 acres cleared and in a high state of cultivation. The soil is adapted to all crops grown in this section such as corn, cotton, tobacco and potatoes. It is also a very fine stock raising section, and has sufficient timber on the property for the erection of other buildings if the purchaser so desires. This sale is receiving much attention and for more particulars ask Mr. Cobb.

FOUR MEN ARE KILLED AND SEVERAL INJURED IN WRECK

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Four Hog Island shipyard workers were killed and seven injured today when motor truck which they were riding in was struck by a train during a heavy fog. The fog was the heaviest in many years. On the Delaware river two ferryboats collided and a third ferryboat crashed into a steamship. No serious damage was reported.

GERMAN ACCORDED GOOD TREATMENT BY THIS COUNTRY

DIRECTED ORCHESTRA IN BOSTON MUSIC CENTER

Tells Paper He Has Not Lost Any of Old Friends in This Country.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—Dr. Karl Muck, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, says he was accorded "altogether worthy" treatment during his sixteen months internment as an enemy alien in the United States. The noted musician has just returned to Berlin from Copenhagen where he landed several months ago after leaving the internment camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

"I was directing the Boston Symphony Orchestra when the war broke out," Dr. Muck said to a reporter of the Berlin Tageblatt. "For sometime I was unmolested, even after America entered the conflict. In March 1918, however, I was interned, my wife remained in our house in Boston, and I was sent to the prison camp, where I was confined with 4,500 other persons. The treatment and shelter were altogether worthy. The food was not to be complained of especially as 120 people, including myself, had their own mess and their own cook. My wife was permitted to visit me once a week, and spend two hours with me, naturally talking in English and in the presence of an officer."

Dr. Muck said he had not lost many of his friends in America and that his musicians had stood by him loyally. He attributed his imprisonment to "hysteria" which, he said, was due to "British propaganda."

GOOD COMEDY HAS BEEN PROMISED IN APPROACHING PLAY

Popular Attraction Will Play for One Night Only in White's Theatre.

One of the most interesting and amusing character sketches of the current season is that of Peter Darby, a Bolshevik electrician who tampers with both the lighting system and the plot in "I Love You," the drowsy, pliant farce comedy which G. M. Anderson is sending to White's theatre Tuesday night. So wrapped up is the good Peter in the art of bawling out denunciations of the vice rich that he cannot restrain himself from the subject for a longer period than ten minutes. Even in his dynamic lovmaking he must have an interval in which to flay the plutocrats their ilk. That Peter's fondness for loud and continued conversation is overflowing with laugh-producing qualities will be at once discovered by those who see the play, "I Love You" established new laughing records in both New York and Chicago last winter, and let it be said that none of these laughs were accompanied or followed by a blush.

GREAT BRITAIN IS WAGING EFFECTIVE BATTLE ON PRICES

Stupendous Effort Against Pro- fitteering Has Just Been Given Publicity.

OVER 7000 OFFENDERS HAVE BEEN PROSECUTED

Prices Are Receiving Thorough Investigation in Every Part of Nation.

London, Nov. 17.—Great Britain's stupendous effort to grapple with profiteering is just disclosed by the work of 1,000 tribunals which have prosecuted 7,350 offenders and secured 1,320 convictions, with fines aggregating $35,000.

Besides setting up these local tribunals to which complaints against dealers are submitted, appeal tribunals have been established in specified areas of England, Scotland and Wales. In addition Central Committees also have been formed to investigate supposed trusts or monopolies which may be manipulating wholesale prices. This has been done under the profiteering act.

Apart from the prosecution of complaints, the board of trade, which is charged with the administration of the anti-profiteering law, is inadvertently investigating prices, costs and profits of a large number of articles in common use. It has formed a costing committee, composed of distinguished accountants, which is assisting the Central committee in its task. A sub-committee on trusts has been empowered to obtain whatever technical and expert assistance may be required.

In scope, the act applies to "any article or class of articles which is one of a kind in common use by the public" or to any "material, machinery or accessories used in the production of such articles." The act does not apply to "controlled" articles, such as butter, sugar, beer, flour, liquors—commodities for which maximum prices were fixed by war-time legislation.

A clear-cut definition of the term "profiteering" has been a point which has given local tribunals much difficulty in the prosecution of their tasks. So far, the definition laid down by Sir Auckland Geddes, president of the board of trade, has been accepted as a basis for prosecution. It follows: "The making of an unreasonably large profit, all the circumstances being known, by the sale to one's fellow citizens of an article which is one, or one of a kind, in common use."

On the most question of what constitutes an "unreasonable profit." C. A. McCurdy, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Food, recently declared, "One of the causes of profiteering is the fact that the public seems to have lost all sense of what is a reasonable profit. A good principle for tribunals to work upon is not to ask themselves whether the profit is higher than someone else is charging, but is the profit arrived at on any reasonable business principles or is it merely dictated by avarice and greed?"

TREATY MAYBE SIGNED ON ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORTS

Washington, Nov. 17.—With final oil call on ratification of the peace treaty imminent, outcome is it will be signed today upon eleventh hour efforts to bring about compromise between the administration forces and reservationists on the Republican side of the senate, unless such compromise is reached. It is predicted today in all quarters that treaty would be rejected. Democratic leader Hitchcock arranged call at the White House today before the senate met to lay before the president the senate situation and inquire what reservations president would be willing to accept as part of the ratification.

There will be a meeting of the Chants Association Tuesday night at 7:30 P. M. in the Chamber of Commerce room. Every member is expected to be present and to bring with them letters of great importance to be considered and a large number of the

CONTROL OF BOLL WEEVIL IS NOW BEING PLANNED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—Control of the cotton boll weevil by poisoning has been received so enthusiastically by farmers that, with present facilities for dusting-machinery production, the demand can not be met, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture under whose direction the poisoning system has been developed. Every effort should be made, they say, toward having as satisfactory as possible all machines that are put out.

Many concerns that are considering manufacturing dusting machinery are not informed as to the requirements, and farmers are not so well informed as they should be on what constitutes a good dusting machine. To meet these two needs, Farmers' Bulletin No. 1098, is shortly to be published. It will give in detail the experiences of the department, extending through several years, with the various types of machinery. It will point out the particulars in which special care must be taken, both in manufacture and operation, and generally speaking, will enable the farmer to detect the difficulties in advance of purchase and to protect himself from loss and possible failure of the poisoning operation. If there are questions not covered by the bulletin, interested persons are invited to correspond with the Delta Laboratory, Tallulah, La., where most of the experimental work has been done. The specialists in charge there will give the best advice possible to meet individual conditions.

There are three types of machinery now in use in cotton boll weevil poisoning. One is the hand dust gun, another is a large machine mounted on a four wheel truck and operated by an engine, and the third is an intermediate type on two wheels and operated by wheel traction. The hand gun, the specialists say, is not practicable except for very small areas or in conjunction with power machinery. The large machine has been found to be too complicated for the class of labor that must do most of the work. Being heavy, breakage is frequent, moving from field to field is difficult and serious delays are hardly to be avoided. The wheel traction type of machine obviates many of the difficulties of both the other types and appears to be much the most promising machine for future use.

Where Cigarette Tobacco was born

"There was one young woman, Grace Sherwood by name, who was accused by the Council of using tobacco to practise witchcraft and the black arts. Having been tried by a jury of aged hags, she was found guilty of said charges and condemned to be cast from Nansmond Bluff into the turbulent waters of the James, from which she miraculously escaped by swimming." —Life in Early Virginia.

Virginia-Carolina tobacco is mellowed by sunshine

That homely Southern phrase — "ripened on the hill" — tells how golden Virginia-Carolina tobacco gets its rich mellowness.

It means that Virginia-Carolina tobacco is allowed to ripen thoroughly before cutting.

If you want ALL of that rich mellowness — that sun-ripened Virginia-Carolina flavor — don't smoke it mixed with other tobaccos. Smoke it straight.

NOTE—In England, where Virginia-Carolina tobacco has the preference, a smoker pays as much for it as for the best Turkish tobacco. Because over there both kinds of tobacco pay the same Import duty. But in this country Virginia-Carolina tobacco costs you less than Turkish tobacco because it is grown in this country and, unlike foreign-grown tobaccos, carries no Import duty.

"SOME" AS AN ADJECTIVE

Popular American Slang Has Attached a Wealth of Meaning to the Word.

The American habit of coining new meanings for words already known is closely allied to that of coining words, writes C. Jefferson Weber in the North American Review. Take, for example, the current slang use of that much used word "some." What a wealth of meaning and insinuation the American has invented for the word!

"Some" as an adverb may be heard in many places. For instance, in the Teign valley district of Devon, the natives may say, "It did rain sum yesterday." But the American would use the word as an adjective and say, "That was some rain yesterday." This use is hard to define. In the middle of the last century "some," meaning considerable, or notable, was called "a modern slang word." Today "some" is almost limitless in its capacity for application. It implies approval, enthusiasm, sarcasm, wonder, admiration, disgust—or amusement.

The seeds may have been sown in Cornwall, in Devon or in Lancashire, but I seriously doubt if a native of any of these counties would ever say enthusiastically, "We had some fun last night," or sarcastically, "This is some book!" Another word to which Americans have given a new meaning is the verb "raise." In England, men raise crops; in America, they also raise children.

CHINA LOSING TRADE IN TEA

General Opinion That Scientific Cultivation of the Plant Has Been Begun Too Late.

China's tea trade is not keeping pace with the world's consumption of tea. Scientific cultivation instead of old-time methods and the use of machinery are being used in the effort to regain the lost commercial ground. The ministry of agriculture has established a model farm, and the first tea grown on it was sent to market this year. It is said to have been of good quality, but no details are yet available of the equipment and methods employed. Foreign tea men seem to have little faith in the results of this attempted reform and consider it unlikely that Chinese teas will ever regain the leading place in the markets of the world. It is said that Chinese teas have less tannin than other teas, and that the finer grades are unsurpassed in delicacy of flavor; but the average tea drinker seems to find the teas of India and Ceylon satisfactory.

How Toasts Originated.

The custom of drinking the health of the most popular man at the table has its foundation in the ancient practice originated by the Greeks and adopted by the Romans of drinking to the gods and the dead, observes an exchange.

The Greeks and Romans later began the practice of drinking to each other, and from this arose the custom of toasting living men. But health drinking in its modern form, originating in England in the roystering days of Charles II, begins with the custom of drinking to the ladies or to any woman who happened to be the reigning belle of the court.

Many and various were the quaint customs associated with the toasts of those days. For example, in certain companies of military officers etiquette demanded that the cup should be passed from hand to hand.

In many midnight gatherings of Alsatia gallants stabbed themselves in order to drink with their blood the health of the woman on whom their hearts were set.—Kansas City Journal.

When to Shut Your Eyes.

In an article about Thomas Edison in the American Magazine, William Maxwell, the vice president of the Edison company, said:

"One bit of executive strategy that I learned from Edison has stood me in good stead a dozen times. He had the wise habit of knowing when to shut his eyes. There are times in every organization when controversies arise between even the most loyal and best intentioned subordinates. Sometimes it is the wisest thing for the man at the top to know nothing whatever about them, to let them work themselves out. 'I learned a great many years ago,' said Lincoln, 'that in a fight between man and wife, a third party should never get between the woman's skillet and the man's ax-helve.'"

Tact and Charm.

Dinner conversation offers the opportunity to eliminate all disagreeable topics. To lay aside one's worries and keep one's troubles from obtruding. The same should be said of all occasions and good form particularly denotes that dinners, and formal dinners at that, should be freed of personal burdens retailed.

At all times give interest as well as try to inspire it and one of the emphatic ways is to let the person who happens to be speaking have your undivided attention. Attention and concentration amount to about the same thing and should apply to what one is oneself saying as well as hearing.

In Prehistoric Times.

Bonechisel—Say, you! Whaddye mean by sneakin' into my cave an' beatin' up my daughter?

Stonehammer—Yes. I did tall on your daughter and beat her up some. But I assure you, sir, my intentions were honorable.

HOW GOLD AFFECTS SOUNDS

Numerous Examples Can Be Given, but Exact Reason is Hard to Explain.

A close observer describes two phenomena of nature not easily explained: First, that natural sounds are very different in the colder than in the warmer months of the year; and, second, that waters have different tints during the colder and warmer months.

A number of examples occur to prove the first phenomenon. Who has not noticed the contrast in the noise of the wind in different seasons when it blows around the corner of the house—in summer what a soft, mellow tone it has and in winter what a harsh, rough whistle?

Then, again, let us stroll along the banks of a stream in May, June or July, and we will observe that the water will then make a gentle, babbling sound, while in November or winter it will, with not great volume, make a hoarse, gurgling noise.

Still again, if we ramble in the woods during late spring or early summer, we cannot but notice with what a softness and mildness the wind has been blowing through the tops of the trees; on the other hand, what a roaring it makes in cold weather.

Perhaps the trees being with or without foliage may cause some difference, but it will be observed in May, before the leaves are out to any extent, there is even then a marked difference between that time and December. Often we have heard it along telegraph wires during the summer and winter, and have noted the contrast.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

DISEASE SPREAD BY ANIMALS

Scientists and Physicians Prepared a Strong Report Against the Practice.

Although animals are often the cause of disease in man, yet for a long time, for a good reason, the medical profession has declared that it is oftentimes fatal to traceable to the animal source.

The hospital authorities have long declared that diseases of man, such as typhoid and cholera, are caused by the animal source.

The chief list of diseases is headed "diseases of man," and we would not wonder if the list were longer.

Rats, and other animals, are believed to be the cause of yellow fever, and all the year around.

MONDAY, NOV. 17, 1919.

That three million dollar wage increase for railway trainmen is expected to wreck even the best of the season.

If cotton continues to drop in price there's many who will be glad to have a soft job.

Glass is generally expected to be higher.

A slight increase in the price of county for the past several months is evidence that decisions from lower courts should receive more direct attention from higher sources of jurisdiction. When this comes about, a decrease will be noticeable almost immediately, it is believed.

News reports indicate that French burglars are very active in many parts of their country, and while it is easy to believe judging from the price of everything, we are wondering if they have anything on America. The war is over but a new one has begun in which another kind of science is going to be necessary before victory is achieved.

It was mighty easy for W. B. Kettles to submit placidly to a thirty year sentence in the state penitentiary at hard labor when undoubtedly he knew that he would be enabled to make his escape from the jail here before beginning the long term. Revocation of the sentence might be advisable when he is apprehended, for more severe prosecution has a certain distinct mission for such men when they are determined to be at lodge.

The work of the Greenville chamber of commerce for the past several months has been deserving of no little commendation, for in a very short while, it has brought certain changes in the city that are going to mean much in development along every line. There is always something under consideration by officers, therefore, it is only natural for the public to always be on the lookout for something new to occur of vital interest to the community.

MR. J. C. WALDROP TO BRING FINE COWS TO OUR CITY

Mr. J. C. Waldrop, of Hendersonville, N. C., and an expert dairyman, will arrive in this city next Saturday, Nov. 22nd, and will at 11:30 o'clock, at R. Wingate and Son's stables, offer at auction twenty fine Jersey and Guernsey cows. These cows were all raised in the western part of North Carolina, and are as fine cows as have ever been seen in this section of the state. Mr. Waldrop has been in the dairy business for quite a while, and he personally guarantees every cow which he offers for sale. Persons who are interested in owning a cow should not miss the opportunity of seeing and buying one of these cows.

the latter part of July. By the first of August they had completed the taking over of the sector from the French, and from that time till the signing of the armistice, were never off the front, save for a short space of time required in changing fronts, and this activity was carried on along a line roughly paralleling the trench system, and within easy reach of long range guns and aerial bombing squadrons.

At the time this Brigade arrived in the St. Die Sector, warfare in those parts had simmered down to minor infantry raids and occasional desultory artillery fire, but it was not long before the aspect of things began to change. The village of Frappelle lay on the northern edge of the valley below St. Die, and formed a re-entrant into the allied lines, making a most convenient jumping off place for the raids which the Germans made from time to time. On the 17th of August an operation was begun, which had for its object the reduction of this troublesome salient, which had been held by the Boche without change for something over three years. The movement went forward according to the carefully prearranged plans, the infantry moving forward in the face of strong enemy fire, preceded by a rolling barrage laid down by the artillery. This operation gained for the Fifth Division, of which this Brigade forms a part, no little publicity, for it was the first American unit to capture a German town. Even the German High Command was shaken from its usually complacent attitude, and was forced to admit the loss of this town in their official communique. There was talk of awarding the division some distinguishing mark for this maneuver, and it was after this affair that the members of the Division began to wear the Red Diamond on their uniforms.

Late in August the Brigade relinquished the Sector to the 32nd Division, with the idea that they were going back to Rest Billets for a little well earned recreation; but such was not to be the case. For scarcely had they headed in a definitely southern direction, when the line of march turned abruptly northward. Then began a series of forced marches that those who participated in will never forget. All along the route from Epinal, says a writer, who himself had experienced those trying days, the Brigade had roughly paralleled the front. All the time they had heard the booming of artillery and had seen and heard enemy aeroplanes. Their columns had even been swept, while on the march, by machine gun fire from hostile planes. All the marching had to be done by night, and before day break guns and carriages had to be pulled from the roads and hidden. Practically half the horses were dead or unserviceable; officers and men had gone 48 to 72 hours without sleep and all were exhausted. It had been an ordeal of endurance. But the Brigade had arrived in time to take part in the first all-American drive of the war. The guns were in position for St. Mihiel.

So much has been written and told about this now famous operation, that it is scarcely necessary to go into detail in describing the work which the artillery did in this sector. Suffice it to say that they established a record for the entire war for the amount of metal thrown toward Germany for a limited period of time. The guns were advanced close behind the advance of the Infantry over No-man's Land, in itself a stupendous task, mine fields and tank traps were encountered and overcome, and at last, the salient having been reduced, the Brigade found itself holding the sector with the enemy thrown back on his last and most powerful line of defenses.

At this point, the exhausted doughboys of the Fifth Division were relieved by the arrival of the 78th Division, fresh from the training areas, but for the weary artillerymen, there was no such relief. The 78th had come to the front minus artillery, and the Fifth Brigade was called upon to support them. In time the 28th Division on our left and the 90th on our right, extended these sectors so as to relieve the 78th Division for a new mission which it was to perform in the Meuse Argonne Offensive, and units from this Brigade supported the 90th Division while a portion of them were dispatched to take part in the bloody Meuse-Argonne drive. As that drive developed the 90th was also thrown in over toward Verdun, being relieved by the 7th Division, which had also arrived at the front, minus artillery, and the gunners of the Fighting Fifth were called upon to co-operate with them.

This sector was the pivotal point around which the Meuse-Argonne movement was to swing, and too much credit can never be given to those who stuck on the old sector and kept the front from e-enforcing his shattered divisions further to the north and west, while all the world knows what was accomplished by those units which took part in the big drive itself.

In a citation of the work done by this Division published in General Orders from the American Headquarters, General Pershing said, in part: "The feat of arms, however, which marks especially the Division's ability as a fighting unit, was the crossing of the Meuse river, and the establishment of a bridgehead on the Eastern Bank. This operation was one of the most brilliant military feats in the history of the American Army in France." (Signed) JOHN J. PERSHING.

In Honor of Mrs. George Burwell Cooper of London

On Saturday afternoon at her lovely new home, on Ninth Street, Mrs. Ernest Eutsler entertained a number of her friends in honor of Mrs. George Cooper, of London.

The door was opened to the guests by Miss Bertha Eutsler, with her charming little manner showed them into the hall, where Mrs. Eutsler, wearing a becoming gown of pink Georgette, greeted them, and introduced them to Mrs. Cooper who wore a gown of black charmeuse and lace.

The room was filled with yellow chrysanthemums and potted plants. The shaded yellow candles and the large open fires gave a look of cheer on the frosty afternoon.

The drawing room and dining room were thrown into one, and tables with attractive covers were arranged for forty people to play Rook. The place cards were in the shape of pink roses. At the close of the game it was found that Mrs. Brown, of Greenville, Tennessee, had made the highest score, and was presented with a hand painted leather menu pad. Mrs. Albion Dunn passed around the cards to be cut for the consolation and Mrs. Luther Bowling was the lucky one. She received a dainty lingerie set.

The guest of honor was given a charming box from the surprise shop, containing a miniature Christmas tree, made in the black and white beaded pins of various design and size.

Little Miss Bertha Eutsler then passed around dainty pink baskets filled with pink and white mints, while Mesdames A. M. Moseley, E. B. Ferguson, C. L. Porter, S. T. White, Ralph Garrett and Miss Winnie Skinner assisted Mrs. Eutsler in serving her delicious salad course.

The out of town guests present were: Mrs. Brown of Greenville, Tenn., and Mrs. Minugh, of New York. The guests very reluctantly left Mrs. Eutsler's.

SUCH A SMART BROTHER

But it is Entirely Probable Sister Did Not Appreciate His Peculiar Form of Wit.

A young lady in Lakewood is of the opinion that she is grown up—in which opinion she is not encouraged either by her parents or her older brother. She is fifteen, brother is sixteen. She thinks that young men should be allowed to call on her in the evening; brother jeers, parents shake their heads.

Finally the girl's mother consented to her having a certain approved boy call, provided he came on a Friday evening. And the excited damsel called the favored youth up on the phone and imparted the glad news. It is presumed that the young man (he was all of eighteen years old) spent a good deal of time at his toilet that evening—certainly the young lady took great care of hers. She was still primping when the swain rang the doorbell.

Brother answered.
"Ah," began the caller, clearing his throat. "Is Miss Jones at home?"
"Come in," answered Brother, equivocally. Then he went to the foot of the stairs and called—
"Molly! Quit cuttin' paper dolls an' come downstairs. One of your playmates wants to see you!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

First Irish Coaching Company.

In 1815, an Italian, named Bianconi started the first coaching company in Ireland, running long cars over various regular routes. Long cars soon became the safest and most reliable means of traveling over Ireland, and Bianconi turned rich and prosperous. Writing in or about 1842, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, who have written much of Ireland, tell us that "persons of the highest respectability" used the long cars for traveling. At this time, although these cars passed through 128 towns they had not made their way into the north of Ireland. The cars varied considerably in size, requiring from one to four horses. The fare, even over the rockiest roads in the West, was two pence farthing a mile. The Halls carefully explain that passengers were provided with "dry and comfortable horse hair cushions and aprons" and that, in wet weather, the long cars never journeyed more than two stages without changing the cushions.

Eucalyptus Valuable Tree.

Eucalyptus will grow under many adverse conditions, so long as they are protected from frost. The young trees cannot stand frost, and this fact has restricted the growth of the species to certain favorable sections of California and the Southwest. On the other hand, the trees will thrive on very poor soil and they do not require very much attention. Some of the largest commercial plantations, maintained by railroad companies for the making purposes, are located along the shores of the Pacific ocean near San Diego, where their principal moisture comes from the heavy fogs that roll in from the sea, and which are absorbed by the leaves.

Peculiar Pronunciation.

The pronunciation of English proper names is established arbitrarily and independent of ordinary rules. In England they pronounce the name of the poet Cowper, Cooper; that of Lord Cockburn, a former chief justice, Coburn; that of Earl Cholmondeley, an English general and poet, Chumly Marjoribanks is pronounced March banks, and Bollingbroke is Bulling brook. The name of Hawarden castle where Gladstone died, is pronounced Harden, and that of Colonel St. Leger, who served in the revolutionary war, is pronounced Silljer.

When Letters Were a Luxury.

In our modern speed of railroad travel, and the consequent facilities in the transmission of mail matter all over the civilized world, it is well enough to look back to the time when letter writing was a luxury indulged in only by a few, and communication between friends at a distance well nigh an impossibility. In its first application the word "post" meant a courier or carrier of messages.

GERMANS CHANGE VERY LITTLE IN PAST YEAR

The German Generallissimo has changed little in appearance since the war and apparently is not worrying greatly over what fate he may suffer at the hands of the allies. The general impression is that he will be interned here until the allies are ready to try him. It is felt the most serious charge against him is his wanton destruction of the railroads and other property in Rumania after the signing of the armistice.

None of the allied officers of troops now salute him as he walks along the streets of Saloniki. He still retains all his pride in his achievements on the field, for he wears an Iron Cross and a number of other decorations. These and the gaudy red-trimmed uniform he wears excite no small curiosity among the pedestrians of Saloniki.

Mackensen and his aides suffered a double humiliation while en route through Serbia. They were guarded by a company of Senegalese soldiers and were forced to go through the very tunnel which the former German Emperor ordered constructed in 1916 so that his troops might pass through Serbia. This tunnel is about 45 miles from Skoplje. There are two inscriptions over it, one in German and the other in French. The first inscription reads:
"The German Kaiser ordered this tunnel built so that his troops could pass through Serbia."

NOTICE

By virtue of authority vested in me by an order of the clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, N. C., in the Special Proceeding now pending in the Superior Court of Pitt County entitled, "Arden L. Tucker, Guardian for Susan E. Taylor, Arden L. Tucker, Jr., Bruce W. Tucker and Helen Tucker, minors, Ex Parte," which said order was approved by Hon. John H. Kerr, Judge holding the courts of the Fifth Judicial District, in term; I shall on the 15th day of December, 1919, offer for sale at the court house door in Greenville, N. C., at 12 o'clock M. to the highest bidder for cash, the following tract of land:

"Lying and being in Chiced Township, Pitt County, N. C., adjoining the lands of Isaac Taylor, the lands of Major Gaskins, the land formerly known as the Jesse Sutton land, the lands of L. A. Taylor and others, containing 100 acres, more or less and being the tract of land known as the John A. Riddick place and purchased by Susan E. Tucker from F. C. Harding and wife by deed of record in the register of deeds' office of Pitt county in Book 1-10 at page 274."
This November 14th, 1919.

NOTHING but sustained quality and unflinching effectiveness can arouse such enthusiasm. Nothing but sure relief from stubborn old colds and onrushing new ones, grippe, throat-tearing coughs, and croup could have made Dr. King's New Discovery the nationally popular and standard remedy it is today. Fifty years old and always reliable. Good for the whole family. A bottle in the medicine cabinet means a short-lived cold or cough. 60c. and $1.20. All druggists.

Regular Bowels Is Health

Bowels that move spasmodically—free one day and stubborn the next—should be healthfully regulated by Dr. King's New Life Pills. In this way you keep the impurities of waste matter from circulating through the system by cleansing the bowels thoroughly and promoting the proper flow of bile.
Mild, comfortable, yet always reliable. Dr. King's New Life Pills work with precision without the constipation results of violent purgatives. 25c. as usual at all druggists.

KETTLES ESCAPES FROM COUNTY JAIL DURING SATURDAY

While officials have been unable to definitely ascertain at what time the prisoner made his escape, it is believed, from information of colored prisoners on the lower floor that he was released between the hours of 11 and 12 Saturday night, and while this cannot be considered accurate, it is the only bit of information connected with the occurrence now in the hands of officials. One of the colored prisoners who has been confined in the jail for some time, and is accustomed to all noises and disturbances around the place at night, stated that he heard the door to the main entrance open and close between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock Saturday night, and could distinctly hear the scraping of large doors as the bolts were let down and then replaced. Such an occurrence was not out of the ordinary, therefore, the matter was forgotten until Sunday morning when the incident was recalled upon learning of Kettle's escape. Henry Peel, colored janitor of the jail, was the first person to learn of the prisoner's disappearance when he entered the jail room to give Kettle's morning meal. Everything looked all right to Henry. In fact, he entered the passage and peeped into Kettle's cell before discovering what had happened. Then it was several minutes before he really found there was no Kettle in bed. The covering was neatly stretched over a chair placed in the center of the bed, indicating that the prisoner was enjoying a comfortable position with entire body covered up. Henry called, but there was no response. Fearing that the long sough suicide had at last taken place, he slipped a broom handle through the bars and gently touched the covering but still there was no answer. Then Henry lifted the covering, and to his profound astonishment, saw that his prisoner had turned to a chair during the night.

Officials made every effort possible to locate the escaped man as soon as notified of the incident. Telegrams were sent to all surrounding towns and cities offering a reward of $100 from the county for his detection with expected increase from the state, but so far not the slightest information has been received regarding his whereabouts. There is no doubt entertained but what help was received from an outside source as it would have been impossible to escape without some party on the outside lending assistance. The only two sets of keys were in the hands of Sheriff Dudley at the time, therefore, it is indisputably certain that some unknown party had procured similar keys from other sources.

Kettle was to have been tried for the first degree murder here last Thursday afternoon, but upon petition that he be given the maximum sentence of second degree, the court fixed his term at thirty years in penitentiary at hard labor. He appeared submissive throughout the entire proceedings and there was not the slightest idea entertained that he desired to escape. Kettle is about 34 years of age and six feet, one inch in height. He has four or five upper gold teeth, with one scar from knife wound on left side of his throat and another directly under the chin. He has one bullet wound above the right lung, and another which penetrated from the front of the body and cut out in the back. He shows signs of recent confinement and illness attending attempts at suicide.

"No conditions were imposed on the prisoners," said Dr. Muck, "but it was urgently suggested that any who wanted to leave America and return to Germany might have their liberty. I did not want to comply with this stipulation, but my wife argued me into it and I finally agreed. And so one day I was free. My bank account and my house in Boston the American government has confiscated, and I do not know how things will come out." Dr. Muck said he had made no plans for the future but that under no circumstances would he remain in Berlin. He said it was possible he might go to Switzerland or to Gratz, Austria, where his wife's aged mother lives. In his first day in Berlin he led the rehearsal for the next Weingartner symphony concert.

with its entire personnel of 400 Y. M. C. A. instructors. The speed with which the troops were despatched home and demobilized cut short the service planned. "The army's and navy's responsibility for the education of the service man ceased upon return to civil life. Occupational readjustment, together with the high cost of living, has made additional training all the more necessary for ex-service men. The unrest of the present day and the spreading of exaggerated radicalism, known as Bolshevism, also demands wider acquaintance with principles of economics, history and current events. For these reasons, the war work council of the Y. M. C. A. has decided to continue its free educational service."

Yes, Alfred, marriage is a raffle; one man gets a prize and the others the shake.

QUINN-MILLER & CO

Today's sales are very light should finish by noon. The receipts were lighter last week, each day's sale finishing by dinner until Friday when it finished by 4 o'clock. The market sold last week 1,000,940 pounds, averaging $72.86.

Gorman's sold for the week 312,280 pounds. Prices have had an upward tendency, each day's prices being a little higher than the day before. Although Gorman's had 4th sale Friday:
 We sold 74652 pounds for $53585.47, average $71.91
 Scrap, damaged and common 8284 pounds for 1174.08, average 14.16
 Leaving 66368 pounds for 52411.39, average 79.12

Note how this scrap and common tobacco effects our average and bear in mind that these common tobacco's come from a common barn of tobacco and that the better tobacco out of this barn also cuts our average. No house can or does get higher prices for the same grades than Gorman's.
