Senator Simmons of N. C., Says
Labor Opposed it For Selfish Reasons

Washington, Feb. 23.—Railroad labor is not satisfied with the way things are going with respect to its wage demands.

This was indicated in unmistakable manner in conferences here today of union officials and general committee-men, called to pass on the President's settlement proposals. Passage of the railroad bill by the Senate tonight only served to add more bitterness to the talk of the union workers.

Arrival of scores of committee chairmen—the union leaders closest to the rank and file of their membership—brought out strike talk. The higher officers were inclined to discount this evidence of the workers' feeling, but hotel lobbies where the delegates were quartered buzzed with the possibilities of the situation. There were indications that the union heads who have dealt with Director General Hines in the controversy were worried lest all that has been accomplished might be wrecked. Committee chairmen spoke frankly of the sentiment in the local groups, rescribing it thus:

"Their temper is not such as to warrant us being optimistic."

It was the opinion among the delegates to the convention, who are representative of the biggest dry goods and clothing interests in the country, that the units of sales are dropping off. This in itself is a significant fact, Mr. Figg said.

Mr. Figg understands that the women of the country are cutting down their purchases of clothing. The demand for women's apparel, he said, is showing a material decrease.

SOCIALISTS EXCLUDE PART OF MEMBERSHIP

Paris, Feb. 23.—Members of the socialist party who at the last election declared their opposition to members of the organization who had voted in support of war measures in the chamber of deputies, have been excluded from the party by a resolution adopted by the executive committee of the socialist federation of the Seine. This decision must be ratified by the socialist congress at Versailles before it becomes effective.

SAILINGS FROM WILMINGTON BREAKS RECORD OF 3 DECADES

Wilmington, Feb. 24.—Sailings from the port of Wilmington yesterday broke all records for the past three decades, according to veterans of the water front. From dawn until dark towboats were busy piloting freighters down the river. No less than half a dozen steamers lifted anchor during the day, in contrast to the three or four that usually sail during a week.

Showing a Material De-

Washington, Feb. 23.—One of the most significant features of the National Retail Dry Goods Association convention in New York, according to Howard Figg, special assistant attorney-general in charge of the high cost of living investigation, was the assertion by Salmon P. Halle, president of the association, that clothing prices are going to take a slump.

Mr. Figg, who addressed the convention, has returned to Washington. "Mr. Halle's prediction that there would be an immediate lowering in clothing prices was to me the most significant fact brought out at yesterday's session," Mr. Figg said yesterday. "The retailer has a natural contact with the purchasing public, and as a result of this close contact the senses the public ability to buy and the public disposition.

"The retailer believes that the public is saturated with high prices and cannot absorb any more. The retailers as a result, demand a low price for their purchase and consequently sell at a lower price, according to Mr. Halle's deductions."

It was the opinion among the delegates to the convention, who are representative of the biggest dry goods and clothing interests in the country, that the units of sales are dropping off. This in itself is a significant fact, Mr. Figg said.

Mr. Figg understands that the women of the country are cutting down their purchases of clothing. The demand for women's apparel, he said, is showing a material decrease.

The next concert in the Lyceum course will be given in the auditorium of the High School tonight.

The drainage convention is to be held in Washington tomorrow.

MURRAY SAYS MORE BOOKS ARE WRITTEN THAN EVER BEFORE

Average Better Than it Was 30 or 40 Years Ago Says
The Publisher

London, Feb. 23.—More books are being written today than ever before in the history of publishing, says John Murray, widely known publisher. "The average is better than it was 30 or 40 years ago," he added. "Great numbers of people have contracted a feverish desire to write novels, but many of them have no real knowledge of the author's craft, and are sadly unequal to the task they undertake. Any successful novel now seems to call into existence a veritable host of aspirants who are fired to emulate the happy author.

"Two vital qualities which are often lacking in the novelist of today, are a sense of humor, and a rarely clever working out of the plot.

"It is too early yet to say what will be the effect of the war on fiction.

Recently there has been a tendency for novelists to deal with sex problems in their stories. I sincerely hope this is a passing phase. My experience is that the 'wholesome' novel meets with success just now."

Mr. Murray said the present demand in war books is for histories of regiments and divisions, many of which are being written, and will form the material for a permanent history of the war. This he said could not be written for many years.

CAUCUS IS CALLED TO DISCUSS CHANGE POLICY ON TREATY

Possibilities of Democratic Split
Makes the Caucus
Necessary

DEMOCRATS' RESISTANCE
VERY STRONG HOWEVER

Republican Hopes for Reservations Are Renewed, It Is Stated.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Possibilities of a substantial break in the Democratic peace treaty ranks in the Senate impelled influential Democratic Senators to move today for a caucus to discuss a possible change in party policy, and revived the hopes of the Republicans that the treaty might yet be ratified with the Republican reservations adopted at the last session of congress.

The movement for a Democratic caucus may bring into the open, its sponsors believe, the dissatisfaction that has smoldered in some Democratic quarters since the President sent his memorable letter to the caucus of November 19, asking that the Senators of his party vote against ratification on the basis of the Republican reservations. The seven Senators who disregarded his advice have been active constantly in their effort to dissuade others from the stand then taken, and it has been an open secret that their more coupled with current political developments, will result in success.

But among both Democrats and Republicans it is realized that the endeavor to break down Democratic resistance still has a long way to go, if it is to succeed. Sixty-four votes are required to ratify the treaty and although thirty-four Republicans voted for ratification in November the party leaders are sure now of support of only thirty. That leaves thirty-four to be delivered by the Democrats; an even dozen more than the figure which represented the peak of Republican claims today.

In the belief that time is fighting on their side, the plan of the Republican leaders is to first clear away collateral issues of the treaty disagreement when the subject comes again before the Senate, probably tomorrow. The next

ROBERT E. PEARY LAID TO REST WITH MILITARY HONORS

Buried in Arlington Cemetery
With Full Naval and Military Honors.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The body of Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, was laid to rest in Arlington national cemetery today with full naval and military honors and with high officials and officers of the government and the diplomatic corps present to pay last tribute to the world famous explorer. Because of the high naval rank bestowed upon Admiral Peary with the thanks of congress for his achievements, the ceremonies were in charge of the navy department and Captain Carroll F. Wright, chaplain at the Washington navy yard, conducted the religious services.

The coffin was carried to the cemetery on a gun limber, draped in the national flag, which Admiral Peary raised at the North Pole. A troop of cavalry and a battery of artillery formed the military escort which led the way, which a long procession of official and private automobiles carried the distinguished mourners to the graveside.

At the cemetery, a company of blue-jackets fell into the line with the army escort and three volleys of the last salute were fired by a squad of sailors from the presidential yacht Mayflower. A navy bugler sounded taps.

HOOVER ADVOCATES IMMEDIATE ACTION ON PEACE TREATY

Says His Impression is There
Is No Party Credit in This Opposition.

EXPRESSES HIS HOPE FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION

Restored Productivity He Insisted Is Essential States
Mr. Hoover.

Baltimore, Feb. 23.—Herbert Hoover former food administrator, declared today in an address at Johns Hopkins university, his opposition to making the ratification of the treaty with Germany an issue in the presidential campaign. He insisted the injection of the arguments for and against reservations would "obscure our pressing domestic issues by conflict over a question in which the country already has made up its mind," and added, "it is my impression that there is no party credit in this opposition."

Hope for immediate ratification of the treaty rested, he said, in the acceptance by the "lesser reservationists" of the proposals of the "mild reservationists." The two combined, he said, could secure ratification. "It also appears to us," he continued, "that even from the point of view of the lesser reservationists they will have secured all of the major functions and values of the league.

If it be put into being and if it prove its living value in the world, no one can doubt that any necessary changes will be granted to it by common consent as the years go on. For my part, if the league cannot prove its value under the latest proposals of the 'mild reservationists' it will never prove them under the proposals of the 'lesser reservationists.'"

The present danger Europe is facing, Mr. Hoover said, is not so much a revolutionary cataclysm as the "steady degeneration of the standard of living and the slow decay of the forces of stability.

Restored productivity, he insisted, is essential if the allies are to receive the maximum reparation. "Until then we shall not have real peace," he said. "It will be delayed as long as we hang the treaty in the air, for we are a part of it."

American Chamber of Commerce to Organize House
For Business Men.

MOVEMENT TO RECEIVE
HELP PROMINENT MEN

Proposed to Establish House
Along Lines of the India
House in N. Y.

Constantinople, Feb. 23.—The American Chamber of Commerce for the Levant has undertaken to organize a Levant House in New York City for the mutual benefit of business men and others, either there or in America, who are interested in the near east. The suggestion originated with G. B. Randall, American Commissioner and Consul General here and honorary president of the local Chamber of Commerce.

It is proposed to establish the Levant House along the lines of the India House, one of the historic clubs of New York, but with the modern equipment of other well-known business, engineering, or foreign trade organizations already centered in New York. One of its purposes would be to record and commemorate America's contribution to the advancement of civilization among Egyptians, Arabs, Americans, Turks, Greeks and Bulgarians. Literary research and lectures upon this topic would be actively encouraged.

The American Chamber of Commerce for the Levant has named partly among its officers and directors at large, a group of active business men in the United States to whom it has entrusted the work of carrying the Levant House scheme into execution. These are: C. E. Lydecker, Ralph Milton Odell, Edward Neville Vose, Lucien, Irving Thomas, Edward Ewing Pratt, E. C. Porter, H. M. Hitchcock, H. M. Day, and Harold Hoskins of New York City, Herbert Adams Gibbons of Princeton, W. T. Ellis of Philadelphia and Luther Fowler of Boston.

It is believed that the movement will be furthered also by men like Cleveland H. Dodge, James A. Farrell, Arthur B. Farquhar, E. H. Huxley and C. H. Minor, life members of the American Chamber of Commerce for the Levant and Henry Morgenthau, Abram I. Elkus and William C. Redfield, honorary members of the Chamber.

PASSAGE OF BILL SENATE DOES NOT PLEASE R. R. LABOR

Only Adds Bitterness to the Situation and Displeases Railroad Labor.

TALK OF STRIKE IS HEARD ON ALL SIDES

It Is Believed That a Direct Appeal Will Go to President Wilson.

Washington, Feb. 23.—By a vote of nearly three to one, the Senate tonight passed and sent to the President the modified railroad reorganization bill under which the carriers of the country will attempt to adjust themselves to conditions arising with the end of government control.

Thirty-two Republicans joined with fifteen Democrats in voting adoption of the conference report, while three Republicans and fourteen Democrats comprised the seventeen voting against it. There was never any doubt as to what the senate would do, in view of the wide margin by which the Cummins bill, more drastic than the compromise measure, was passed. The bill will go immediately to President Wilson and the general opinion around the Capitol was that he would sign it.

During the five hours of debate, led by Chairman Cummins, of the interstate commerce committee, senators expressed varying opinions as to how the public and the railroads would fare under the bill, which was warmly defended and just as warmly attacked. But the intense interest which characterized proceedings Saturday in the House was lacking, frequent quorum calls being necessary to get members in the chamber. Around six o'clock the patience of the senate apparently was exhausted after the long season of speech-making and insistent demands for a vote cut short the desire to prolong the presentation of individual views.

Discussion today related largely to the labor rate making provisions. Senator Cummins, with great feeling, denounced widespread claims that in fixing freight and passenger charges calculated to give the roads a return of 5-1-2 per cent means taking huge sums of money from the public treasury. The bill, he declared, would not take one dollar in that way. Such report, he said, were a part of the propaganda put forth in an effort to defeat all legislation on the eve of return of the roads to their owners on March first.

During final debate on the bill, Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, declared the labor unions were opposing it "for purely selfish reasons."

"I am convinced that the opposition of the labor unions is not based on any defects in this legislation," said Senator Simmons. "They are opposed to it because they want government ownership of railroads. They believe that under government ownership they could secure more wages. They believe they could control congress, and were able to do what they came here to do."

MISS EMILY MOYE ENTERTAINS.

(Reported for The Reflector.)
On Friday evening, February the 20th, Miss Emily Moye in her own charming way, entertained in honor of the graduating class of 1920 at a George Washington party.

Besides the Seniors near one hundred young people enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Moye.

Throughout the spacious home which lends itself so beautifully to decoration, the red, white, and blue scheme was very effectively carried out.

After the guests had assembled, they lined up for the grand march, which was led by the hostess and Pat Foley. This was perhaps the most effective and spectacular feature of the evening.

Next came a very lively George Washington contest, at the close of which even the Seniors had a clearer knowledge of the "cherry tree episode" and "the boy who never told a lie." The result of the historical ability of Richard Gorman was a box of Martha Washington candy.

The guests were then invited into the library. Here they were asked to guess the number of cherries on a miniature tree. This time the honors were won by Dink James. Amid much laughter, he was awarded a bottle of cherries for his accuracy.

Several other interesting contests, in keeping with the occasion, were enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the contests, the Seniors became the center of attraction as the hostess read an appropriate little rhyme about each one, these were appreciated most of all by the Seniors themselves.

Many attractive favors were given at intervals during the evening.

Throughout the entire evening music by the local orchestra added much to the enjoyment of everybody.

At a late hour, the hostess assisted by several of her friends, served a lovely ice course.

This is among the first of a series of entertainment to be given to the Seniors, and certainly one of the most beautiful parties of the season.

CAROLINA TOWNS IN 19

Monday, 18th.

Set out by six o'clock—dined at a small house kept by one Slougher, 22 miles from Halifax and lodged at Tarborough 14 miles further.

This place is less than Halifax, but more lively and thriving; it is situated on Tar river, which goes into Pamlico Sound and is crossed at the Town by means of a bridge a great height from the water, and notwithstanding the freshets rise sometimes nearly to the arch. Corn, Pork, and some Tar are the exports from it. We were read, at this place by, as good a salute as could be given by one piece of artillery.

Tuesday, 19th.

At 6 o'clock I left Tarborough accompanied by some of the most respectable people of the place for a few miles—dined at a trifling place called Greenville 25 miles distant—and lodged at one Allan's 14 miles further a very indifferent house without stabling which for the first time since I commenced my journey were obliged to stand without a cover.

Greenville is on Tar River and the exports the same as from Tarborough with a greater proportion of Tar—for the lower down the greater number of Tar makers are there. This article is contrary to all ideas one would entertain on the subject, rolled as Tobacco by an axis which goes through both heads—one horse draws two barrels in this manner.

Wednesday, 20th.

Left Allan's before breakfast, & under a misapprehension went to a Col. Allan's supposing it to be a public house; where we were very kindly & well entertained without knowing it was at his expense, until it was too late to rectify the mistake. After breakfasting, & feeding our horses here, we proceeded on & crossing the river Nuse 11 miles further, arrived in Newbern to dinner.

At this ferry, which is 10 miles from Newbern, we were met by a small party of horse; the district Judge (Mr. Sitgreave) and many of the principal inhabitants of Newbern, who conducted us into town to exceeding good lodgings. It ought to have been mentioned that another small party of horse under one Simpson met us at Greenville, and in spite of every endeavor which could comport with decent civility, to excuse myself from it, they would attend me to Newbern. Col. Allan did the same.

This town is situated at the confluence of the Rivers Nuse & Trent, and though low is pleasant. Vessels drawing more than 9 feet water cannot get up loaded. It stands on a good deal (Continued on page four.)

WILEY PREDICTS GREAT OIL FIELDS IN THE STATE OF NEVADA

(New York Morning Telegram.)

November 5, 1919—A. W. Wiley, a well known geologist, who was one of those who made a report on the Inspiration Copper mine prior to its purchase by the Lewisohn interests, is credited with the following prediction about the future of the oil fields of Nevada:

"I'll reverse the old saying, 'He who fights and runs away may live to fight another day,' by making all Nevada fight for me after I demonstrate that this state can and will become one of the most important oil producers in the United States.

"The mines of Nevada furnished gold and silver to pay the interest on the public debt in 1864. I'll give a practical demonstration that this state of boundless resources can produce oil in sufficient quantities to pay a large proportion of the interest on the national debt in 1920 and for many long years thereafter.

"I stand behind my report that oil abounds in Nevada. I'll remain on the job until a producing well is brought in, and if the company with which I am associated does not sink wells and make a producer at Fallon I'll do it myself.

"I believe that every man in Nevada who is now investing in oil in California, Texas, Wyoming, Oklahoma or any place else outside of Nevada, is making the mistake of his life. I think the chances are infinitely greater to secure oil in Nevada, although the field is not half proven at this moment, than any other part of the United States. I wish to emphasize this point and say to Nevadans, 'Invest your money in Nevada oil fields and help bring an era of prosperity which is yours by heritage if you use only ordinary business judgment.'

Oil seepage has again been encountered in the Fallon field, this time on the ranch of C. E. Kent, in the Stillwater district, and in the neighborhood where the Fallon Oil & Gas Company's big drill is operating. The seepage was encountered in a well being drilled for water and appeared on the water at a depth of 187 feet, about the same depth as it did in the well on the George Williams ranch.

STATEMENTS SAY THAT THERE IS IMMENSE SHORTAGE OF SILVER

London, Feb. 23.—Use of the silver standard in oriental countries, coupled with the enormous commercial expansion now in progress between the west and the east, indicates that there is an immense shortage of silver to meet the demands of trade, says the American Chamber of Commerce in London.

One result of this shortage, says the American Chamber, is that American and Mexican silver mines may look forward confidently to an era of unprecedented prosperity for many years to come. Silver, it is understood, must also be found to back over $30,000,000 worth of paper money issues floating in Europe today, in addition to which America's increasing volume of trade with India and China calls for almost unlimited supplies of the metal. The United States and Mexico furnish nearly three-fourths of the world's output of silver, the larger portion coming from the United States. As the price of the white metal advances it has become profitable to most countries to convert minted silver into bullion. Small "change" continues to disappear on the European continent with remarkable rapidity, postage stamps largely replacing the former silver coin of small value.

The United States is said to be the one country in position today to buy silver for coinage without debasing its standard coins.

FILM VIEWS GIVES DIFFERENT IMPRESSIONS OF CONTEST

New York, Feb. 23.—The marked difference in the interpretation and enforcement of boxing rules and regulations in this country and England is well illustrated in the impressions gained from witnessing the film views of the Dempsey-Willard heavyweight champion contest. The movies of this bout have been exhibited privately several times in the United States. One or two pugilistic experts have raised the claim that the pictures clearly show that Dempsey fouled Willard in the first round by hitting the title holder while he was down. They found little support, however, for their charges.

The same films viewed through English eyes recently, brought forth several articles by prominent pugilistic writers who charge that Willard was fouled not once but several times and that under English boxing rules Dempsey would have been disqualified and ordered from the ring. The following is a typical English view of the affair as printed in one of the most prominent London sport dailies:

"In that single round (the first) Willard was sent down no fewer than seven times, but on three occasions he was hit when still "down," according to the spirit and letter of the rules of boxing in this country. Each time Willard was put down Dempsey practically stood over him ready to strike again and would have done so had not the referee got in front of him and pushed him away; but on the three occasions specially mentioned Willard was hit while still be more than half-way to an erect position, and helpless to defend himself. After being sent down for the sixth time, and while still grasping the middle rope and struggling to rise, Willard was hit again and again, until he half rolled, half sank, to the floor in a neutral corner for the seventh time. In English Dempsey would have been disqualified then, if he had not been when he committed any one of his previous technical breaches.
