

PRESIDENT WILSON DECIDES TO CHANGE PLAN FOR SUMMER

Summer Months Will Not be Spent at Wood's Hole, as First Planned. ESTATE IS CONSIDERED HARDLY LARGE ENOUGH Accommodations Not Sufficient for Large Force of Secretaries.

Washington, April 12.—President Wilson will not establish the summer White House at Wood's Hole, Mass., as had been expected, but probably will select some other place where more accommodations are available for the large staff of secretaries and attaches.

It became known today that the announcement that the President had selected the estate of Charles R. Crane, minister to China, for his summer home was premature. The President had accepted Mr. Crane's offer of a lease on the property, but it had not been inspected by the secret service operatives and White House attaches who always manage the household surroundings of the President and his family.

When the White House advance agents came to go over the ground, it is said, they came to the conclusion that the Crane estate itself was not large enough, and that the accommodations to be found in the village were insufficient for the force from the executive officers which would have to be moved to Wood's Hole for the summer.

It also developed that the Crane mansion is close to a railway track where many trains pass day and night; that there are several automatic fog signals in the waters of Long Island Sound close to shore and that the layout of the Crane grounds in relation to public streets and the sidewalks of Wood's Hole were such that the secret service men advanced what they termed practical obstacles to their regular plans for guarding the President.

When these considerations were laid before the President it was said today he reluctantly abandoned his plan to go to Wood's Hole and was regretful that Mr. Crane's offer had been accepted before all the physical considerations which his aides felt are important, were investigated.

It has not been decided where the President will go in view of the changed plans but several offers are before him. The White House executive force wants to choose a place where the physical arrangements are as much the same as in Washington as may be possible.

The President did not go motor driving today but spent his time on the White House portico, on the south lawn and in his study. His drive about the capital Sunday served to quiet persistent rumors that he had suffered a setback. Rear Admiral Grayson reiterated that the President was in better condition than he had been at any time since he returned ill from his speaking trip last October.

AMERICAN AVIATORS ARRIVE IN HONG KONG

Hong Kong, April 13.—Sixteen aviators and mechanics, mostly Americans have arrived here and 11 American airplanes are on their way from New York to the Orient to establish the first commercial aviation enterprise in China. It is announced that this aerial service will connect Hong Kong, Canton and the Portuguese colony of Macao. Later, it is stated, the company plans to extend its activities to Manila and Tokio, touching at centers on the Chinese coast.

The airplanes to be used in this service are understood to have been built originally for the United States Navy and equipped with Liberty motors but have been remodelled and are said here to be capable of making continuous flights of 650 miles carrying 14 passengers. Walter Bonner, a veteran of the United States Naval Flying Corps, is to be general superintendent of the new company which has been financed through the efforts of C. E. W. Ricau, a Macao capitalist.

FOUR CASES GIVEN CONSIDERATION IN COURT YESTERDAY

Opening Session of Superior Court Features Largely in Divorce Suits. ARMOUR FERTILIZER CO. WINS IN ACCOUNT SUIT Three Divorce Suits Receive Favorable Disposition During the Day.

The regular April term of Pitt county superior court, for the trial of civil and criminal cases, convened in this city yesterday morning with Judge George W. Connor, of Wilson, presiding. The opening session featured largely in the hearing of divorce cases resulting in final disposition of four cases throughout the day's activities.

Absolute divorce was granted in the case of Mary Williams vs. Johnnie Williams, while similar action was taken in the case of Shade Phillips vs. Tena Phillips, all colored. In the divorce action of Mrs. Estella Smith vs. Henry C. Smith, white residents of the Swift Creek district, suit was withdrawn owing to the plaintiff's decision to remain with her husband.

In the case of Armour Fertilizer Company vs. W. R. Bullock, suit for account, the jury returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff the sum of the account in controversy, amounting to $804.96. The defense claimed that a shipment of fertilizer from the Armour company failed to come up to guaranteed analysis, and refused to pay the account. However, evidence to this effect was not sufficient to justify favorable consideration and the decision of the jury was to this effect.

LORMAN ROBINSON CARNIVAL IS READY FOR NIGHT'S SHOW

Everything in Readiness for Opening of Amusement Company Tonight.

All is now ready for the big festival which is being sponsored by the Pitt County Post of the American Legion and which is to be held at the Mumford show grounds all this week. It was originally arranged to open the shows on Monday evening but owing to the late arrival of the show train it was found impossible to get everything ready and the local committee decided not to open the shows until they were able to open everything in full swing. There will be plenty to see at the American Legion Festival and Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, states that he is satisfied with the selection that the local committee has made in the matter of attractions for the Lorman-Robinson shows come here well recommended from the cities throughout the country where they have appeared and, it is claimed that they carry none of the undesirable features so common with travelling carnival organizations and the absence of "dancing girl" shows and the coarse 49 camp will be appreciated by all who enjoy clean and wholesome amusement.

There are many novel features to be seen at the show and among the main attractions will be an illusion hall where Prof. Abbott, a renowned Australian will give demonstrations of hypnotism, telepathy, hindoo black art and Oriental magic of all varieties. There will be jungles where freaks of nature and living curiosities will be on exhibition and Princess Mite, described as "The smallest woman in the world." There will be merry go-round, frris wheels and other amusement devices and with music galore, there will be nothing lacking in the way of clean entertainment. All of the shows will be open and ready this evening and each attraction will be presided over by a member of the local American Legion committee.

SENATE READY TO PERMIT VOLUNTARY MILITARY TRAINING

Members Fail to Strike out Provisions for Voluntary Universal Training. ONLY YOUTHS BETWEEN 18 and 21 BE ACCEPTED Twelve Democrats Join Republicans in Making the Issue Permanent.

Washington, April 12.—The Senate refused today to strike out of the army re-organization bill the provision for voluntary universal training recently substituted for the military committee's plan for obligatory training. The motion of Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, to strike out, defeated, thirty-seven to nine.

The action of the Senate was expected to result in carrying the voluntary training proposal into conference for adjustment by senate and house managers. Only youths between 18 and 21 years of age would be accepted for the voluntary training under an amendment suggested today by Chairman Wadsworth and written into the bill. The previous age limits were from 18 to 28 years, and because of the reduced limits, Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, withdrew his proposal to restrict voluntary training enlistments to 100,000 men annually.

Twenty-five Republicans were joined by twelve Democrats in holding the voluntary training plan in the bill.

Two Republicans, Borah, of Idaho, and Grover, of North Dakota, voted with the Democrats.

SEVERAL OFFICERS TO BE RELIEVED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Commanding Naval Officers are On List for Early Relief From Duties.

Washington, April 12.—Several officers commanding battleships are due for relief from sea duty and assignment to duty ashore by July 1, including he following in the Atlantic fleet; Capt. W. D. MacDoughall, of the Nevada; Capt. J. H. Dayton, of the Arizona; Capt. E. R. Belknap, of the Delaware and Capt. Yates Stirling, of the Connecticut. In the Pacific fleet, Capt. C. T. Vogelegering will be due to be relieved from command of the Idaho by the same date.

Selection of officers now ashore for assignment to these ship commands now is under consideration in the bureau of navigation, and it is expected that the selections will be announced shortly.

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, chief of operations, soon will leave for Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to visit the vessels of the Atlantic fleet now there and to return to Hampton Roads with them about May 1. Possibly, as a result of this inspection trip, some changes may be made in the personnel and organization of the fleet.

The resignation of Lieut. William M. Snelling was accepted last week. There has been a material diminution of the number of resignations of navy officers submitted, and the number of acceptances of those of line a week.

UPSHAW DELIVERS SPLENDID ADDRESS IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Georgia Congressman Delivers Instructive Talk at Training School. TELLS YOUNG TEACHERS HOW TO WIN AND WORK Also Delivers Helpful Address at High School During Morning.

This morning Congressman Upshaw, of Georgia, visited the E. C. T. S., and spoke to the young ladies of the school. He spoke on "The teacher who wins." Bringing out four points: A radiant spirit, a worthy ambition, a dynamic initiative, and an unselfish spirit. His talk was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Immediately after leaving the Training School he visited the High School and spoke to the students of that school. He was introduced by Rev. W. H. Moore, who paid a beautiful tribute to the congressman, telling how he had after being confined to his bed for seven years, gone out into the world and made it a better place in which to live. The congressman delivered perhaps one of the best speeches that the students have heard in quite awhile. He appealed to them not to be counterfeit coin, but to be honest with themselves and their fellowman. He told of his life, and showed where ambition and purpose had won for him the place he now holds. He appealed to the students to have ambition and purpose, perhaps he laid more stress on the question of leaving school before the student had completed his course. He told them that those who left school before they had finished would go through the world cutting wood with a dull axe. As a parting message he left this motto with them, "Let Nothing Discourage You, Never Give Up."

The students were delighted with the talk, and if they will apply it to their daily lives, a bright future awaits them.

CONGRESSMAN PAYS SPLENDID TRIBUTE TO NOTED PASTOR

Congressman Upshaw Says Coming Baptist Minister Should Appeal to All.

In hearing of Dr. John Hurt's early visit to this city to take part in revival services at the Memorial Baptist church, Congressman W. D. Upshaw, of Georgia, who is speaking in this city today in the interest of law enforcement, had the following to say:

"I congratulate most heartily the city of Greenville on the prospect of hearing such a man as Dr. Hurt. If the familiar expression, 'he is a scholar and gentleman,' could be fittingly applied to any man it should be used to describe this man of matchless intellect, with radiant, fascinating delivery and a mild case of good old time religion. He will bring to Greenville a great message, and people should hear him if they have to crawl."

WILSON CALLS MEETING OF THE CABINET FOR TOMORROW

Washington, April 13.— President Wilson has called a cabinet meeting for tomorrow, but cabinet officials would not say the unauthorized railroad strike prompted the call, but it is understood this will be the principal subject discussed.

Organization Formed to Make American Merchant Marine Absolutely Secure. NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN TO BE STARTED Plans to Convince Americans of Necessity of Fostering Interests.

New York, April 12.—Shipbuilders of the United States, including Atlantic, Pacific, Gulf and Lake yards, have formed an organization for the purpose of "making secure the future of the American Merchant Marine," according to a statement just issued. The committee today announced its membership and plan of action.

The committee on American Shipbuilders, which was formed for the furthering the interests of the shipbuilders will conduct a campaign of newspaper advertising which will cover the entire United States. The funds to pay for the campaign will be subscribed by the members of the association. It is the plan of the shipbuilders to convince every American citizen of the necessity for a dominating American Merchant Marine to make every citizen lend, at least, his moral support to the movement.

The shipbuilders will protest against the sale of shipping board ships to foreign countries until every tseph has been taken to have them operated by Americans.

The personnel of the committee of shipbuilders includes: J. W. Powell, of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation; H. B. Taylor, of the Cramp Shipbuilding Company; H. A. Evans, of the Baltimore Drydock and Shipbuilding Company; A. C. Pessano, of the Great Lakes Engineering Works; J. W. Mason of the Western Pipe and Steel Company, of San Francisco, and J. F. FLUCTUATION RULES TO BE ELIMINATED IN COTTON SALES

New York Cotton Exchange Plans to Suspend Limitation in Prices.

New York, April 13.—Correspondence between the Federal Bureau of Markets and officials of the New York Cotton Exchange which has just been made public here, indicates that the suspension of the rule limiting daily fluctuations in futures to 200 points, may not be resorted to again in the case of maturing contracts.

This fluctuation rule was suspended by the exchange in the case of March contracts from March 22nd to March 25 inclusive, owing to apprehensions that it might give rise to claims of an unintentional failure to make deliveries of actual cotton or properly complete the terms of the contract. It seems that such apprehensions had developed out of a misunderstanding of the exact character of the New York contract and trading rules providing for a penalty of 25 points above the spot price in the case of an unintentional default. The existence of the impression in the South and elsewhere, that shorts of maturing contracts might avoid deliveries without incurring severe penalties, was brought to the attention of the exchange authorities by the Bureau of Markets in a letter requesting exact information.

BUSINESS HELD UP BY STRIKE MENACE IN NEW YORK CITY

Troops Unload Stranded Mail Trains in Jersey City Districts. TRAIN SCHEDULE BADLY DISRUPTED BY STRIKES Thousands of Jersey City Business Men Unable to Reach their Work.

New York, April 12.—The strike of railroad workers here tonight presented the most menacing situation the city has faced since the unauthorized walk-out began. Freight service on the railroads over which come the bulk of the city's food and fuel virtually was paralyzed and passenger service already seriously curtailed, was still further crippled.

The first act of Federal intervention came today when armed United States troops went into Jersey City to unload stranded mail trains, and Department of Justice agents extended their investigations into ever corner of the New York district.

The situation tonight was as follows:

Mail train schedules were generally disrupted, and motor trucks were pressed into service for postal first aid in all important sections.

Hundreds of thousands of commuters living in New Jersey were unable to reach their places of business in New York.

Strike sympathizers committed their first act of violence when an iron bar was hurled through the window of a Central Railroad of New Jersey train, injuring a passenger. Train crews of four mail trains of the Erie were attacked at Port Jervis, New York and railroad officials announced that Port Jervis was absolutely controlled by the strikers.

Timothy Shea, first vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, arrived here accompanied by J. G. Walker, secretary of the Bureau of Information of the Eastern Railroads, to arrange a joint conference of railroad managers and the railroad brotherhoods. Other labor leaders were here, aiding the roads to put down the strike.

The department of Justice began an exhaustive inventory of food stores and big warehouses searching for hoarders. Investigators also were dispatched to the mercantile exchange to watch price fluctuation. Meat dealers announced an increase of a cent a pound in wholesale prices here.

C. P. Wallace, president of the Fruit and Produce Exchange commission merchants and market men, said perishable food was gradually being exhausted and the situation was becoming grave.

vorenecyeroPolenasasHexugetainshroll Mayor Hague, of Jersey City, who had expressed sympathy for the strikers, appealed to them "in the name of suffering humanity" to arbitrate. A committee of 14 men representing the strikers emphatically refused to urge strikers to return to work. The Mayor announced another conference with a larger strikers committee was arranged for tomorrow.

TUESDAY, APRIL 13, 1920

All persons who failed to clean up their premises last week may do so now and still have the consolation of knowing they are keeping step with progress.

If cotton continues to soar upwards the American farmer very soon will be able to measure the size of his wallet without bringing on the flattening process as during the past.

The American dollar in this section, as well as the entire country, has been deprived of its prestige. In fact, it has depreciated in value to such an extent that the ordinary fifty cent pieces vies with it for equal honors.

Voters in the state of Illinois are undecided which is better for their preference, Lowden or General Wood. The selection to choose from is so splendid that advice is not necessary from an honest-to-goodness member of the Democratic party.

Business men in some sections of the country appear to think wearing overalls will decrease the high cost of living. It may, and then it may not, for prices are so high that a movement stronger than the overalls club will be necessary to get results.

The Salvation Army devoted some over seven million dollars to the purchase and erection of hospitals for the past year, and made other expenditures in the interest of suffering humanity. Then people ask us what the great army of workers has been doing. Past facts of its work cannot be disputed, and there are very few people who desire to do so, knowing, as they do, what the army did for American soldiers while overseas.

OUR TRADE WITH THE TROPICS.

The dependence of the United States upon the tropics for foodstuffs and manufacturing materials increases year by year. The total value of our imports of tropical and sub-tropical products, says a statement by The National City Bank of New York, which amounted to only $350,000,000 in 1900, and $775,000,000 in 1914 was over $2,000,000,000 in 1919, and seems likely to approximate $2,400,000,000 in the current fiscal year, which ends with the month of June. Tropical and sub-tropical products now form, says the Bank's statement, approximately one-half of our total imports as against one-quarter of the imports in 1910 and about one-third of the total in 1914.

This rapid increase in our demands upon the tropical and sub-tropical world occurs chiefly in sugar, coffee, cacao, vegetable oils, india-rubber, raw silk, and tobacco. Rubber and substitutes for rubber, all of them of tropical growth, which amounted in value to $75,000,000 in our imports of 1914, were in 1919 $222,000,000 and seem likely in the fiscal year 1920 to reach $275,000,000; sugar, including that drawn from our own islands, which amounted in value to $158,000,000 in 1914, was $524,000,000 in the calendar year 1919; coffee, of which the importation of 1914 was $111,000,000 in value, totalled $261,000,000 in the calendar year 1919, and seems likely to exceed $300,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920. Cacao, which amounted in value to only $22,000,000 in the imports of 1914, was $58,000,000 in 1919, and seems likely to total $75,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920. Raw silk, which is usually considered a sub-tropical product totalled only $100,000,000 in 1914 and $342,000,000 in 1919, with a prospect of approximately $500,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920. Cotton, of which the total imports were but $21,000,000 in 1914, aggregated $72,000,000 in 1919, and will probably approximate $125,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920.

If predictions of prominent state politicians mean anything the coming national election will be one of more than ordinary interest to people in this state. There are possibly more candidates in line for political honors than any single time in the history of the state, and consequently, it is only natural to believe the campaign will feature largely in placing men in positions capable of handling them with the greatest efficiency. This has been the principal object of state voters for a number of years, and while in many instances they voted unerringly, there have been times when even the most ordinary observer could see that progressive platforms were neglected for things not essential to the state and people as a whole. The vote this time must be direct, with best interest of every section at heart, for in this way and this way alone, can the truly progressive and momentous issues at hand receive the attention which they so surely deserve.

That Republican majority in the senate is never contented unless something can be found to raise a howl over. It now charges the government with the loss of seventy-eight million dollars through waste and inefficiency of Democratic leaders. Secretary Baker comes in for severe criticism, being charged with wasting a greater portion of the sum in useless expenditures during the war. The Democratic minority, however, has been fit to defend Mr. Baker, declaring that his past record was an achievement of which American people should be proud. Whether the money was thrown away or not the Republican party cannot deny that the past seven years of Democratic administration have been filled with the greatest progress the county has ever before experienced, and therefore we can see no reason for such charges, particularly at this moment when people realize there cannot possibly be anything to them.

The News and Observer claims that the automotive edition issued last Sunday morning was the greatest endeavor of its kind ever attempted in the state and carried through successfully. No one wants to dispute the assertion, for the figures set forth in Monday's edition as to the amount of paper used in printing the paper causes the heart of the ordinary printer to beat faster than usual, fearing that the Observer may be instrumental in making the present paper shortage more severe. Be as it may, the edition did credit to the state, and managers of the Observer are to be congratulated upon the typographical and editorial thoroughness visible in every section of the issue.

Persons who buy stock in the county hospital, certainly put their money to a mighty good purpose. Reports from the campaign committee are very pleasing, showing in their own mute way the great interest which people are displaying in the project. The campaign is one of the greatest of its kind in the history of the county, and therefore, deserves more than usual consideration. If you haven't subscribed, do it now, and help the county pay this one great tribute to its soldiers.

That little affair in Mexico, as expressed by one of our contemporaries, may be more serious than contemplated, especially since belligerents have seized the customs house and appear ready to extend operating. Villa, however, is too inconsistent for continued pressure, so both the little and big affair may come to a conclusion earlier than anticipated.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, says the unauthorized strike of railwaymen is a mistake. And it may be, too, so far as we know, but the way traffic has been paralyzed on many lines does not indicate any mistake whatever.

The Pitt county post of the American Legion goes on record as favoring the proposed bonus for ex-soldiers. In doing so, however, the boys were not varying to any great extent from general opinion in other sections, and only lend strength to the proposal.

Failure of the American government to ratify the peace treaty has caused people abroad to regard us as "quitters." But what would they say should America's generosity to foreign nations be stopped. The "quitting" then might undergo a radical change.

PALMER'S HAT IN PARTY RING

Attorney General First and Foremost Candidate for Honor of Heading Democratic Presidential Ticket.

ON OFFICIAL PRIMARY BALLOT.

Fighting Quaker Believes What is Worth Fighting is Worth Striving for and Will Resolutely Endeavor to Win at the San Francisco Convention.

Washington. — A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General of the United States, has thrown his hat into the presidential ring. This action was taken when the Democrats of Georgia requested of him permission to place his name upon their ballot as an entrant in the presidential preference primary, which is to be held in that state on April 20.

In giving his assent to the placing of his name upon the official ballot in Georgia Mr. Palmer yielded to the strong pressure which has been brought to bear upon him for many weeks from Democrats in all parts of the country, north and south, east and west. He thus becomes both the first and foremost avowed candidate for the nomination which the delegates to the San Francisco convention will bestow. Mr. Palmer believes that what is worth having is worth fighting for, and backed by the progressive and militant democracy of the nation, he and his friends intend to make a determined fight for the honor of leading the Democratic hosts to another national victory at the polls next November.

Similar action has been taken by Mr. Palmer's friends in Michigan, and his name will appear upon the official ballot in that state at the presidential preference primary on April 5. The high favor with which Mr. Palmer's candidacy has been received everywhere has had a most stimulating effect upon the leaders of the party and the rank and file as well. With him as their standard bearer they have been filled with renewed hope and confidence. Washington resolutely looks for his nomination, not only because of the high probability of his success at the polls, but because he is regarded as the best qualified man to follow President Wilson in the White House.

Long before his activities as Attorney General brought him into favorable prominence throughout the country Mr. Palmer's aggressive qualities earned for him the sobriquet of the "Fighting Quaker." Elected to the House of Representatives 12 years ago, his striking capabilities placed him in the ranks of the leaders of that body before he had completed his first term. During his second term the Democrats were in the majority in the House, and he was placed on the most important committee—the Ways and Means Committee—where there was abundant opportunity for a display of the qualifications which he possessed. Notwithstanding the fact that he represented one of the largest steel producing districts in the country, he was selected to write the iron and steel schedule of the Democratic tariff measure, and he wrote it from the standpoint of the public, of the consumer, rather than the steel magnate.

Schwab Tried to Defeat Him. Because of his course in this matter Charles M. Schwab, the steel king, whose district in Pennsylvania Mr. Palmer represented, used every effort to accomplish his defeat, but without success.

Mr. Palmer's greatest political fight, however, was within the ranks of his own party, because it was a fight for common ordinary decency and honesty and for clean politics. For years the Democratic state organization of Pennsylvania had been little more than an adjunct and an ally to the Republican machine dominated by Senator Penrose. Whenever there was an opportunity, even in the high haired Republican state of Pennsylvania, to throw off the Penrose yoke the Republican Aid Society, which masqueraded under the name of the Democratic state organization, could be depended upon to come to the relief of Penrose and save him. But they played the game once too often. At a time when there was a chance to redeem the state the bipartisan machine was invoked and Penrose was given a renewed lease of life.

Then it was that Mr. Palmer, already a rising star in national life and a power in his own state, started out to clean up his own party and make it something more than a wheel in the Penrose machine. The battle was a memorable one in Pennsylvania politics, but Palmer and his forces won, and as a result, today the Pennsylvania Democracy is a progressive, virile organization.

Mr. Palmer's own part in the war was unique and far-reaching beyond that of almost any citizen. As Allen Property Custodian, he held a post whose duties were without precedent, in this country at least. In that capacity he built up from scratch an organization under whose control there was brought $500,000,000 of German and Austrian owned property in this country, all of which under his administration of the office has become Americanized and the value of which is being turned into the United States treasury and out of which, if Congress so wills, Americans will be indemnified for the losses which they suffered at the hands of the enemy.

Any Man Can Be A Capitalist

Some philosophers go to great lengths explaining why money is not the only thing to work for in life.

And their contention is a good one.

It is true that some wealthy men are miserable, but no man need be unhappy for having money. A man with money is an influence in his community. He can live well and die happy.

Poverty and misery go hand in hand. Choose your own fate—be a capitalist or a pauper.

TUESDAY, APRIL 13, 1920

All persons who failed to clean up their premises last week may do so now and still have the consolation of knowing they are keeping step with progress.

If cotton continues to soar upwards the American farmer very soon will be able to measure the size of his wallet without bringing on the flattening process as during the past.

The American dollar in this section, as well as the entire country, has been deprived of its prestige. In fact, it has depreciated in value to such an extent that the ordinary fifty cent pieces vies with it for equal honors.

Voters in the state of Illinois are undecided which is better for their preference, Lowden or General Wood. Selection to choose from is so splendid that advice is not necessary from an honest-to-goodness member of the Democratic party.

Business men in some sections of the country appear to think wearing overalls will decrease the high cost of living. It may, and then it may not, for prices are so high that a movement stronger than the overalls club will be necessary to get results.

The Salvation Army devoted some over seven million dollars to the purchase and erection of hospitals for the past year, and made other expenditures in the interest of suffering humanity. Then people ask us what the great army of workers has been doing. Past facts of its work cannot be disputed, and there are very few people who desire to do so, knowing, as they do, what the army did for American soldiers while overseas.

OUR TRADE WITH THE TROPICS.

The dependence of the United States upon the tropics for foodstuffs and manufacturing materials increases year by year. The total value of our imports of tropical and sub-tropical products, says a statement by The National City Bank of New York, which amounted to only $350,000,000 in 1900, and $775,000,000 in 1914 was over $2,000,000,000 in 1919, and seems likely to approximate $2,400,000,000 in the current fiscal year, which ends with the month of June. Tropical and sub-tropical products now form, says the Bank's statement, approximately one-half of our total imports as against one-quarter of the imports in 1910 and about one-third of the total in 1914.

This rapid increase in our demands upon the tropical and sub-tropical world occurs chiefly in sugar, coffee, cacao, vegetable oils, india-rubber, raw silk, and tobacco. Rubber and substitutes for rubber, all of them of tropical growth, which amounted in value to $75,000,000 in our imports of 1914, were in 1919 $222,000,000 and seem likely in the fiscal year 1920 to reach $275,000,000; sugar, including that drawn from our own islands, which amounted in value to $158,000,000 in 1914, was $524,000,000 in the calendar year 1919; coffee, of which the importation of 1914 was $111,000,000 in value, totalled $261,000,000 in the calendar year 1919, and seems likely to exceed $300,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920. Cacao, which amounted in value to only $22,000,000 in the imports of 1914, was $58,000,000 in 1919, and seems likely to total $75,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920. Raw silk, which is usually considered a sub-tropical product totalled only $100,000,000 in 1914 and $342,000,000 in 1919, with a prospect of approximately $500,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920. Cotton, of which the total imports were but $21,000,000 in 1914, aggregated $72,000,000 in 1919, and will probably approximate $125,000,000 in the fiscal year 1920.

If predictions of prominent state politicians mean anything the coming national election will be one of more than ordinary interest to people in this state. There are possibly more candidates in line for political honors than any single time in the history of the state, and consequently, it is only natural to believe the campaign will feature largely in placing men in positions capable of handling them with the greatest efficiency. This has been the principal object of state voters for a number of years, and while in many instances they voted unerringly, there have been times when even the most ordinary observer could see that progressive platforms were neglected for things not essential to the state and people as a whole. The vote this time must be direct, with best interest of every section at heart, for in this way and this way alone, can the truly progressive and momentous issues at hand receive the attention which they so surely deserve.

That Republican majority in the senate is never contented unless something can be found to raise a howl over. It now charges the government with the loss of seventy-eight million dollars through waste and inefficiency of Democratic leaders. Secretary Baker comes in for severe criticism, being charged with wasting a greater portion of the sum in useless expenditures during the war. The Democratic minority, however, has been fit to defend Mr. Baker, declaring that his past record was an achievement of which American people should be proud. Whether the money was thrown away or not the Republican party cannot deny that the past seven years of Democratic administration have been filled with the greatest progress the county has ever before experienced, and therefore we can see no reason for such charges, particularly at this moment when people realize there cannot possibly be anything to them.

The News and Observer claims that the automotive edition issued last Sunday morning was the greatest endeavor of its kind ever attempted in the state and carried through successfully. No one wants to dispute the assertion, for the figures set forth in Monday's edition as to the amount of paper used in printing the paper causes the heart of the ordinary printer to beat faster than usual, fearing that the Observer may be instrumental in making the present paper shortage more severe. Be as it may, the edition did credit to the state, and managers of the Observer are to be congratulated upon the typographical and editorial thoroughness visible in every section of the issue.

Persons who buy stock in the county hospital certainly put their money to a mighty good purpose. Reports from the campaign committee are very pleasing, showing in their own mute way the great interest which people are displaying in the project. The campaign is one of the greatest of its kind in the history of the county, and therefore, deserves more than usual consideration. If you haven't subscribed, do it now, and help the county pay this one great tribute to its soldiers.

That little affair in Mexico, as expressed by one of our contemporaries, may be more serious than contemplated, especially since belligerents have seized the customs house and appear ready to extend operating. Villa, however, is too inconsistent for continued pressure, so both the little and big affairs may come to a conclusion earlier than anticipated.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, says the unauthorized strike of railwaymen is a mistake. And it may be, too, so far as we know, but the way traffic has been paralyzed on many lines does not indicate any mistake whatever.

The Pitt county post of the American Legion goes on record as favoring the proposed bonus for ex-soldiers. In doing so, however, the boys were not varying to any great extent from general opinion in other sections, and only lend strength to the proposal.

Failure of the American government to ratify the peace treaty has caused people abroad to regard us as "quitters." But what would they say should America's generosity to foreign nations be stopped. The "quitting" them might undergo a radical change.

Let Me Take The Risk

There isn't a week goes by in this town that some car owner doesn't have his car or his tires stolen, his car burned up, smashed-up or a collision, or cause an accident to some pedestrian or fellow driver. If insured I settle all damages without trouble or expense to the owner. If not insured you dig deep down into your bank roll to pay the claim. Why take such chances when a few dollars will shift the burden and the expense over to me? You may be out of luck tomorrow. Today is the time to shelter yourself with Auto Fire Insurance, Auto Theft Insurance, Collision, Property Damage or Liability Insurance. I write it all.

PALMER'S HAT IN PARTY RING

Attorney General First and Foremost Candidate for Honor of Heading Democratic Presidential Ticket.

ON OFFICIAL PRIMARY BALLOT.

Fighting Quaker Believes What is Worth Having is Worth Striving for and Will Resolutely Endeavor to Win at the San Francisco Convention.

Washington. — A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General of the United States, has thrown his hat into the presidential ring. This action was taken when the Democrats of Georgia requested of him permission to place his name upon their ballot as an entrant in the presidential preference primary, which is to be held in that state on April 20.

In giving his assent to the placing of his name upon the official ballot in Georgia Mr. Palmer yielded to the strong pressure which has been brought to bear upon him for many weeks from Democrats in all parts of the country, north and south, east and west. He thus becomes both the first and foremost avowed candidate for the nomination which the delegates to the San Francisco convention will bestow. Mr. Palmer believes that what is worth having is worth fighting for, and, backed by the progressive and militant democracy of the nation, he and his friends intend to make a determined fight for the honor of leading the Democratic hosts to another national victory at the polls next November.

Similar action has been taken by Mr. Palmer's friends in Michigan, and his name will appear upon the official ballot in that state at the presidential preference primary on April 5. The high favor with which Mr. Palmer's candidacy has been received everywhere has had a most stimulating effect upon the leaders of the party and the rank and file as well. With him as their standard bearer they have been filled with renewed hope and confidence. Washington resolutely looks for his nomination, not only because of the high probability of his success at the polls, but because he is regarded as the best qualified man to follow President Wilson in the White House.

Long before his activities as Attorney General brought him into favorable prominence throughout the country Mr. Palmer's aggressive qualities earned for him the sobriquet of the "Fighting Quaker." Elected to the House of Representatives 12 years ago, his striking capabilities placed him in the ranks of the leaders of that body before he had completed his first term. During his second term the Democrats were in the majority in the House, and he was placed on the most important committee—the Ways and Means Committee—where there was abundant opportunity for a display of the qualifications which he possessed. Notwithstanding the fact that he represented one of the largest steel producing districts in the country, he was selected to write the iron and steel schedule of the Democratic tariff measure, and he wrote it from the standpoint of the public, of the consumer, rather than the steel magnate.

Schwab Tried to Defeat Him.

Because of his course in this matter Charles M. Schwab, the steel king, whose district in Pennsylvania Mr. Palmer represented, used every effort to accomplish his defeat, but without success.

Mr. Palmer's greatest political fight, however, was within the ranks of his own party, because it was a fight for common ordinary decency and honesty and for clean politics. For years the Democratic state organization of Pennsylvania had been little more than an adjunct and an ally to the Republican machine dominated by Senator Penrose. Whenever there was an opportunity, even in the high handed Republican state of Pennsylvania, to throw off the Penrose yoke the Republican Aid Society, which masqueraded under the name of the Democratic state organization, could be depended upon to come to the relief of Penrose and save him. But they played the game once too often. At a time when there was a chance to redeem the state the bipartisan machine was invoked and Penrose was given a renewed lease of life.

Then it was that Mr. Palmer, already a rising star in national life and a power in his own state, started out to clean up his own party and make it something more than a wheel in the Penrose machine. The battle was a memorable one in Pennsylvania politics, but Palmer and his forces won, and as a result today the Pennsylvania Democracy is a progressive, virile organization.

Mr. Palmer's own part in the war was unique and far-reaching beyond that of almost any citizen. As Alien Property Custodian, he held a post whose duties were without precedent in this country at least. In that capacity he built up from nothing an organization under whose control there was brought $300,000,000 of German and Austrian owned property in this country, all of which upon his administration of the office had become Americanized and the value of which is being turned into the United States treasury and out of which, if Congress so wills, Americans will be indemnified for the losses which they suffered at the hands of the enemy.

Any Man Can Be A Capitalist

Some philosophers go to great lengths explaining why money is not the only thing to work for in life.

And their contention is a good one.

It is true that some wealthy men are miserable, but no man need be unhappy for having money. A man with money is an influence in his community. He can live well and die happy.

Poverty and misery go hand in hand. Choose your own fate—be a capitalist or a pauper.

PALMER WILL LEAD IN FIRST BALLOT

Astute Political Observer Certain Attorney General Has Won Commanding Number of Democratic Delegates.

PRE-CONVENTION ESTIMATES

Believes Hoover is a Negligible Factor Because it is Inconceivable That the Democracy at San Francisco Will Vote for the Cast-off Candidate of the Republican Convention.

Washington.—Figures are beginning to talk in the pre-convention campaign of the candidates for the presidential nomination of both parties, and while their first words carry the wobbly lip of the baby tongue, they appeal to the hearts of the papa and mamma politicians whose hopes and ambitions are inseparably linked with the words of truth that will drop from the mouth of the prodigy who has never yet been known to lie and whose growth will be to that of a giant's strength by the time the conventions are called to order.

A pencil and a pad of paper in the hands of an astute political observer can work wonders of prognostication and especially if that observer is broad-minded and clear-sighted enough to calculate not what he would like to have happen, but what is likely to happen when the count of noses on the floor of the convention is completed.

The head political writer of the Philadelphia Evening Ledger, one of the publications of Cyrus H. K. Curtis and hog-tied with its owner's graveyard campaign for Herbert Hoover, asked for some figures a few days ago from a man whom he describes as "a member of the Democratic organization who should know as much about the prospects as any one does," and he got them. And, to his credit be it said, he published them. This is what he said:

"He figures after a careful study that Attorney General Palmer will lead in the first ballot with 350 votes, McAdoo will be second with 150 votes and Hoover third with 90 votes. For purposes of jockeying until some one answers the great question whether the party can win with either Palmer or McAdoo as a candidate the rest of the votes will be scattered around in a highly complimentary fashion among a lot of men who will feel flattered to have their names among the others voted for."

Mr. Hoover's recent action in declaring himself to be a Republican and a receptive candidate for the nomination at the hands of the Republican National Convention, of course, eliminates him from consideration at the hands of the Democracy. It is not reasonable to suppose that any Democratic delegates would be willing to vote for the cast-off candidate of the Republican Convention. It is therefore probable that Mr. Palmer will get his share of the 90 votes which the political expert quoted assigns to Hoover.

The figures given above allot to Palmer not only more votes than any other candidate for the Democratic nomination, but more than can conscientiously be claimed for any candidate on the Republican ticket from the present outlook. Any one of the several Republican candidates who could figure a block of 350 delegates to vote for him on the first ballot in the Chicago convention would consider himself rich indeed in chances for the nomination.

Every day that passes brings new bitterness into the Republican pre-convention campaign and opens new wounds that will be difficult in the healing. Breaches are being opened in state delegations that defy bridging by the most earnest efforts of accomplished leaders, and not a delegation has been selected to the Chicago convention from what might be termed real fighting ground for the several candidates which is not torn by bitter feuds and hopelessly split upon the candidate to whom it shall throw its support.

Lavish use of money, as charged against the managers of two of the candidates—the leading candidates—for the nomination has developed into a national scandal and has been made the subject of denunciation by such leaders of the progressive wing of the party as Senators Hiram Johnson, an avowed candidate on his own behalf, and Borah, who is supporting the candidacy of Johnson and is by no means eliminated as a dark horse in the race should Johnson fall of the nomination.

These men and the great force which they represent within the party—the true progressives and followers of Theodore Roosevelt—who fail to see in the free expenditure of money on behalf of General Leonard Wood any traits of the residuary legacies of their dead leader are voicing their protest over what they charge to be an attempt to override the party through the use of money, and quick action will follow their protests if they find that through the use of large sums of money the action of the Chicago convention has been influenced in advance. If there is to be a third party in the field it will be born of the Republican party in protest against the pre-convention methods of the candidates.

CHURCHES FIGHT RED-MENACE

Score of Large Denominations Allied With Attorney General Palmer in Awakening Nation to Enemy Peril Within.

AMERICANISM GREAT ISSUE.

God-Fearing Voters Covenant to Put at the Head of This Government a Man of Proved Capacity and Firmness Who Will Suppress the Preachers and Practicers of Discord and Violence.

Washington.—The greatest endorsement ever given to the outstanding Americanism of a living official in public life is the forward movement represented by the powerful alliance more than a score of large church denominational organizations which has just been effected in this country to combat the "Red menace."

Twenty-five million persons, representing more than 70 per cent of the membership of all Protestant church organizations in the United States, are now lending their strength to the alliance which will carry on to its logical conclusion the work of Attorney General Mitchell Palmer in awakening the people of the nation to a realization of their peril from the enemy within and protecting the government with a firm hand from those who sought to overthrow it by force and violence.

Americanism and Americanization is to be the watchword of the churches, and the Christian people of the country, who have caught the note from the reveille sounded by Mr. Palmer, will see to it that a man alive to the great question and of proved capacity to carry on the great work that is being launched is put at the head of affairs of government in this country.

To these millions of earnest people who see in the safety of the country, home and fireside the overshadowing issue of the future, regardless of politics or politicians, there can be no step backward now that the forward movement is on, and the man who appeals to them most strongly as measuring up to the highest standard of Americanism and whose deeds are test-proof of his high purpose to bring his whole country to a realization of the loftiest ideals of citizenship will receive their individual support in primary, election and in the administration of his high office.

Before the great campaign of Americanism to be undertaken by the Protestant church organizations is well under way it would not be surprising to find the percentage in the alliance grow to a round 100 per cent, representing 100 per cent Americanism.

The great hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States is heart and soul with the movement for Americanization and will lend its full strength to the promotion through the far-reaching channels of the church of the preaching and teaching of staunch Americanism to the many millions of its congregation within the United States.

A pastoral letter, the first issued by the heads of the Catholic Church in the United States in 35 years, has recently gone to all its people, in which the following paragraph is not the least in importance of the declarations of the letter:

"Whatever may be the industrial and social remedies which will approve themselves to the American people, there is one that, we feel confident, they will never adopt. That is the method of revolution. For it there is neither justification nor excuse under our form of government. Through the ordinary and orderly processes of education, organization and legislation all social wrongs can be righted. While these processes at times may seem distressingly slow, they will achieve more in the final result than violence or revolution. The radicalism and worse than radicalism of the labor movement in some of the countries of Europe has no lesson for the workers of the United States except as an example of methods to be detested and avoided."

Thus the churches and their people in the United States stand united in a determined movement to look to the future security of the government of their country and the peace and happiness of its people. In this, as in many similar movements which have written history, it is more a question of the man than the measure.

The formation of the powerful alliance in the interchurch world movement to campaign against red radicalism with Americanism is but another proof that the American people have made the issue of the day for the government, for the church and for the nation. It is stated that the interchurch world movement is serving as a clearing house for speedy and cooperative action to cope with the evils of radicalism, which have been made public as the result of a nation-wide survey. On their own account the representatives of these 25,000,000 people of the country have found that "Americanism" is the one and great issue now before the people and have called upon the churches to expend from their emergency funds several millions of dollars in immediate effort to raise the standard of Americanism.

The senate today passed the training sections: Dial, of South Carolina; Harrison, of Mississippi; Kirby, of Arkansas; McKellar, of Tennessee; Reed, of Missouri; Swanson, of Virginia, and Trammell, of Florida.
The senate also defeated an amendment by Senator McKellar, to require three hours' daily education of all soldiers of the regular army.
In the house, the military committee completed and will report tomorrow, the regular army appropriation bill, carrying $337,246,944, a decrease of $805,553,076 from the War Department's estimates. Rigid economy is necessary in face of a deficit of several billion dollars. Chairman Kahn said, in the majority report on the bill, adding the sums provided would meet the needs of the military establishment during the next fiscal year.
Committee figures are based on an army of 175,000 enlisted men and 16,000 officers, as against a total strength of 576,000 proposed by the department.

NOTICE

I am in the house moving business and am prepared to give quick and efficient service. Will appreciate your patronage.

W. E. HOOKER,

JUDGING BY APPEARANCE

One Cannot Always Judge by Appearances.

A wandering tramp who came to the back door of a little hotel a few years ago, six months later was revealed as a college man of splendid family—bumming because of personal difficulties. A girl in fact.

Discovered by his family, persuaded to return home, he later went to San Francisco in a position of importance.

Yet how often do revelations reveal the opposite.

Even in shoes one must depend much upon the store, and the maker who sells them, for we cannot all be experts.

There is no uncertainty about our shoes, for each pair has a guarantee of worth and satisfaction.

DON'T FORGET THE LYCEUM CONCERT

There's lots going on in Greenville this week—but the concert by the Lyceum singers is one of the best attractions offered. A good male quartette, rendering both vocal and instrumental selections, is always a favorite.

Concert to be given in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, April 16th at 8:30 P. M. Tickets $1 at Key Brown's or at the door.

A BIG HOLE IN THE CASING

means naught to our vulcanizing experts. Just child's play for them to take that "busted" tire and make it run like new. In these days of costly tires it means a saving to you every time we prolong the life of your used tires. Often our vulcanizing doubles their life.
