SEVERAL PERSONS KILLED IN RIOTING NEAR LONDONBERY

Five Persons Killed and Others Seriously Wounded in Reckless Fring
TROUBLE STARTED BY SHOT IN PARTISAN RANK.
Rioting Was Continuation of Disorders in Irish City Friday Night.

Londonberry, June 21.—Rioting resumed here this morning resulting in one person being mortally wounded and two seriously hurt. Rifle and revolver firing has been almost continuous since last night, and business has been virtually suspended on account of people fearing to return to work.

Londonberry, June 20.—Five persons were killed, ten others seriously wounded, several of them probably mortally, and about 100 others were less seriously injured during a period of desperate rioting in this city Saturday night. The fighting was accompanied by several attempts at incendiarism, one of which resulted in the burning of a large drapery store.

The rioting was a continuation of the disorders of Friday night, when nationalists and unionists were engaged in clashes for several hours and the military had to be called out. The military remained in what were considered danger zones, but notwithstanding its presence the disorderly elements held sway for some time.

In many instances persons who were suffering from minor wounds went home without receiving treatment. The authorities have no record of the number of such cases. Among the wounded are several shipyard workers with gunshot wounds.

The men killed were Edwin Price, James McVeigh, Thomas McLaughlin, Thomas Farre and James Doherty.

The authorities had taken elaborate precautions in view of the expected renewal of the disorders. The military, fully equipped, took positions at the head and foot of Bridge street, which is the nationalist quarter, and on Fountain street, the unionist quarter. An armored car was drawn up at Carlisle road, between these localities, to keep the rival factions apart. The hopes that these precautions would lead to the preservation of peace, however, were not fulfilled, and another night of terror resulted.

These latest scenes of rioting, which left the city absolutely terror-stricken, were said to have originated in what at first appeared to be a minor squabble between unionists and nationalists at the junction of London Tower street in the nationalist quarter and Upper Fountain street, the unionist district, these two streets being separated only by Bishop street, the scene of bloodshed for many years during periods of rioting. Men armed with rifles and revolvers afterwards came into conflict, and before the military could intervene several had been killed.

From shortly after 9 until 11 o'clock pandemonium reigned. A shot fired from one party into a crowd of rival partisans developed with ominous speed into violent rioting. Party cries were raised, and the unionists, assembled at the head of Upper Fountain street, poured volley after volley of rifle and revolver fire into London Tower street with disastrous result. Another crowd of unionists in Albert street maintained a cross-fire in the direction of Bishop's Gate, with the result that the people in the vicinity fled panic-stricken to shelter. The nationalists did not seem to be so well provided with weapons as their opponents, but they maintained a vigorous defense. In an early stage of the battle two men were shot dead in Longtower street and a number of persons, including a baby in arms, were wounded.

SILESIA INDUSTRY MAY SUFFER FROM PLEBISCITE ACTION

If County Is Annexed to Poland Large Industries Will Suffer Seriously
JOSEF KYMER MAKING EFFORT FOR COUNTRY
Expresses Confidence in Big Polish Majority at Coming Election.

Beuthen, Upper Silesia, June 21.—Upper Silesia's big industries, far from suffering if the plebiscite adds this region to Poland, will gain enormously as Poland, stripped by the war of everything it needs for industrial development, will be an eager purchaser of Upper Silesia's coal, iron, zinc and other raw materials and finished products.

That is one of the principal arguments the Poles are making to the Upper Silesian electorate. Their chief spokesman is Josef Kymmer, secretary of the Federated Polish Unions, which in Upper Silesia claim a membership of 150,000, including workers of all political parties with the exception of Polish Social Democrats. He attended

SCHWAB DECLARES GREAT CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE ISSUES

President of Bethlehem Steel Corporation Tells of Future Business.

Bedford Springs, Pa., June 19.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, assured the Pennsylvania Bankers' association, in convention here, that he has great confidence in the future.

"I am just as confident in the future as I ever was in the past. I think there are just as big opportunities ahead as there ever were. I think this money shortage is exaggerated and I see no real reason for disturbed conditions," he said.

"I am an optimist on the United States," he continued, "but of course conditions may vary with periods of depression and periods of prosperity, but America has the fundamental principles for prosperity.

"With less talk and more work we will all reach satisfactory results."

Mr. Schwab spoke briefly on the growth of the steel industries, citing figures on tonnage at different periods tending to prove that "Steel is King."

Congressman Albert Johnson of the state of Washington, chairman of the house committee on immigration, in an address condemning bolshevism, socialism and radicalism predicted that three thousand undesirables will be deported by the United States in the next year. He devoted attention to activities of Reds and outbreaks in different sections and said there is really an organized attempt in the United States at this time to create a working man's revolution, an organization with plenty of money back of it.

Defending the deportation system, which he characterized as a "Sovereign act for the government's good," Congressman Johnson shouted:

"We are going to clean house. We are going to clean up the United States. He advocated the establishment of a system of probationary admittance which would require aliens in this country on such probation to register at least once a year, with failure to register a cause for deportation.

Messrs. Larry James, Othos Joyner, Charles and Dall Laughinghouse have returned from Chapel Hill where they attended the University commencement last week.

Dance tonight, Amusu Park. Edmond's Jazz Orchestra, 8 to 11.

HEAVY WIND DOES SERIOUS DAMAGE IN THIS TERRITORY

Terrific Storm in Reedy Branch Section Destroys Homes and Crops.
NUMBER OF RESIDENTS NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH
Mrs. Jim Tripp Slightly Injured in Escaping From Wrecked Home.

Several homes and outhouses were completely destroyed and crops seriously damaged by a terrific windstorm that passed through the Reedy Branch section of this county last night, and reports this morning indicate that several persons narrowly escaped instant death in escaping from their homes while the storm was in progress, but so far no serious injuries have been reported with the exception of Mrs. Jim Tripp who received slight injuries in climbing through the window of her home while other sections of the house were being completely wrecked.

The storm was so intense in some sections that crops were completely destroyed, dwelling houses picked bodily from the ground and carried several

SMALL NUMBER OF AMERICAN WOMEN TO ATTEND COURT

Restrictions on American Women in London Will Prevent Presentations

London, June 21.—Restrictions placed upon American women who aspire to presentation at court are such that nearly all of them in London will be disappointed this year. Only eight of the many who are reported to have applied will be presented and they must have surprised some of the uninitiated.

If married, their husbands must previously have been presented at a levee, they must have entree to the White House and if they have been divorced it must be indisputably shown that the divorce must have been granted in her favor in open trial at which both parties were represented in court in court and where alimony and custody of the children have been granted to the woman. Even in such cases the demand for legal details is so minute that the king, in deference to the ideas of the queen, it is said, has let it be known that it is inadvisable for divorces to apply at all.

Applications of Americans for court presentations must be made to the American ambassador and he stands sponsor for those he selects. Of course this feature of the embassy work is almost as carefully guarded, out of respect for the feelings of the many who try and fail, as is some of the important diplomatic correspondence. But it is known among Americans in London that the list of applications is quite long this year.

This is emphasized by an embassy circular which has come into the hands of some influential Americans here explaining what is required of successful applicants. It is longer and much more explicit than the usual circulars on the same subject and does not mince words regarding what may and what may not be expected.

Considerable space is devoted to changes in dress required. In the interest of economy the queen has decreed that women shall no longer wear head feathers or trains on their dresses at court. Some of the former adornments for the men also have been eliminated but it still is stipulated what kind of buttons they must wear on their knee breeches and that they must not wear buckles on their patent leather pumps.

Dance tonight, Amusu Park. Edmond's Jazz Orchestra, 8 to 11.

CENSUS DEPARTMENT GIVES GREENVILLE'S POPULATION AT 5,772

The Reflector this evening received a telegram from Director of Census Samuel L. Rogers stating that the recent census count gives Greenville a population of 5,772, an increase of 1671 over figures compiled by the census ten years ago. The telegram stated that the county may be considered preliminary and subject to correction, but sets forth the recent compilation so that one may get a pretty good idea of the city's growth during ten of the most prosperous years in its history.

The report from the census department fails to do Greenville justice, in fact, it is generally known that the census was incomplete and that many persons were missed while the official count was made here. The cotton mill district and one or two colored suburban sections were completely ignored by the enumerators, and today the census is not what it was in 1916 when a city directory gave the city something over five thousand inhabitants. The past two years have been the most prosperous in the history of the city and its population has increased in proportion to the prosperity.

A complete enumeration of Greenville's population today, including suburban districts, would give the city a population of at least seven or eight thousand people, for there is everything in evidence to indicate uninterrupted growth during the past ten years. Industry has developed marvelously within that period, and naturally the population has been keeping pace with other forms of progress.

The preliminary count as presented by the bureau is subject to greater correction than the department evidently realizes, for it's only necessary for one to take a casual glance at the city's industries to be impressed of an error in the preliminary count as presented by the department today.

ROOSEVELT TALKS ON NEED OF MORE BUSINESS SYSTEM

Recommends Revision of Present Methods of Making Appropriations.

Washington, June 20.—Revision of the present methods of making appropriations and re-classification and redistribution of the work of the various executive departments are recommended by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, in a letter to Representative Ireland, Representative Ireland, Republican, of Illinois, which was made public today at the Navy Department.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote in reply to an inquiry from Mr. Ireland as to whether any re-organizations, reforms or consolidations would be made in the Navy Department. The assistant secretary did not confine himself to that department. He recommended that congress:

"Create a true budget system, not the small beginning already attempted.

"Consolidate the appropriations in one general committee, with sub-committees to deal with the separate subjects.

"Put into law the general principles recommended by the re-classification committee's report, together with the authorization of adequate salaries to government employees.

"Invite a conference with the executive branch of the government, looking to a re-classification and redistribution of the work of the departments.

"Give by law greater authority to the heads of the executive departments in conducting their executive business, at the same time holding these heads more directly responsible for the successful administration of their work."

FOUR MONK STILLS TAKEN BY SHERIFF IN LAST FEW DAYS

Two Blockaders Also Captured in Series of Raids Over the County.

EIGHTEEN GALLONS OF LIQUOR ALSO CAPTURED

Blockaders to be Given Interesting Time in Next Several Months.

Sheriff Dudley and deputies have made the last several days eventful ones for members of the illicit whiskey traffic in this section of the state and succeeded in capturing four copper stills, 18 gallons of whiskey and two traffic members since last Thursday evening. One of the men captured, Ernest Murphy, white, of the Beaver Dam section, is considered one of the most notorious whiskey distillers in this section of the state and was under $800 bond in Greene county for the same offense at the time of his capture last Thursday evening. He also has two brothers given terms on the roads for a connection of the traffic, and it is expected that he will be severely prosecuted in this last offense.

About eight gallons of whiskey were with much beer being destroyed. The still was of the usual kind employed in the manufacture of "monkey rum" in this section of the county, and showed plainly that it had been in constant operation for some time. Murphy was taken completely by surprise, submitted to arrest without showing the slightest signs of belligerence.

The raids Saturday evening carried the officers in the Joyner's X Roads section, where two copper stills were captured with one barrel of molasses. Later a colored man by the name of

FLORIDA ATTORNEY SHOT BY UNKNOWN COLORED RESIDENT

Wounded Man Dies in Wilmington Hospital as Result of Injuries.

Wallace, June 20.—Mr. A. K. Powers, prominent attorney of Sanford, Florida, who was seriously wounded here Saturday night, when he was shot by a negro whose identity has not been ascertained so far by the police, died in a Wilmington hospital this afternoon.

Mr. Powers was in Wallace visiting his mother. He suffered a shattered left arm below the elbow and an abdominal perforation.

It appears Mr. Powers was near the home place when a negro coming along the road opened fire upon him. Although badly wounded, Mr. Powers fired twice at the running negro with a pistol. The injured man stated he believed the negro thought he was a ghost, as the black man gave an unearthly yell when he fired with what was later found to be a shotgun.

Mrs. Powers, who was formerly Miss Onie Zachary, of Raleigh, has been notified and is on her way to the State from her home in Florida.

WILL ASK HARDING TO VISIT ASHEVILLE

Asheville, June 20.—Judge J. C. Fritchard left here this afternoon for Washington, where he goes carrying a special invitation from western North Carolina Republicans, to Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, Republican candidate, to come to Asheville to spend his vacation. Judge Fritchard is personally acquainted with the Ohio Senator and it is believed that his influence in urging the nominee to come here will be worth a great deal.

SUFFRAGISTS STIR UP CONTESTS OVER TREATY OF PEACE

Call on Tennessee Governor to Convene Special Session Legislature.

MAY START SOMETHING ALMOST IMMEDIATELY

Prospects Point to North Carolina and Tennessee Getting in Contest.

Washington, June 20.—While the Republican party has been soft-soaping the suffragists with assurances the National Woman's Party, militant organization has been busy getting a contest started between two Democratic States for the honor of being the thirty-sixth State to ratify the amendment, and today it appealed to the Governor of Tennessee to call an extraordinary legislative session right away.

Like North Carolina, the Tennessee State convention has endorsed suffrage and urge the governor to call a special session. If, as Miss Sue White points out in a letter to Governor Roberts, the Tennessee executive concludes that his responsibility is nation-wide, something may be started in the sister State before North Carolina gets ready for action.

No let up of activity in North Carolina is promised, however, in the light of the Tennessee prospects. North Carolina is still counted favorable to ratification and no stone will be left unturned to get the legislators in a frame of mind to pass the ratification resolution in July. Tennessee already has presidential suffrage and a provision in the constitution requires that a legislature must be elected on the question at issue in a constitutional amendment before it can vote on ratification has been held up to this time to prevent that state from ratifying before the 1920 election.

The decision by the Supreme Court in the Ohio referendum case is now, however, according to the National Woman's Party, held by the best legal authority to invalidate that state constitutional provision—a similar provision also exists in the constitution of Florida.

Every effort will be made by the National Woman's Party to induce governor Roberts of Tennessee to respond favorably to the resolution recently passed by the state Democratic convention urging him to call a special session to provide the machinery for women to exercise the presidential suffrage accorded them under the State law in the coming elections and to include in his call the ratification of the suffrage amendment.

Miss Sue White, who has been in consultation with the solicitor general of the United States and other legal authorities, stated at the headquarters of the Woman's Party today:

"I discussed this matter with Solicitor General of the United States W. L. Ferguson, a member of the Tennessee bar and one of the foremost lawyers of the country. His official position deterred him from giving a written opinion, and I have not the authority to quote any opinion he may have expressed privately, further than to say that from my construction of all that he said I am quite sure he has considered the question quite carefully and in his position to express an opinion for publication it would be to the effect that ratification by the present Tennessee legislature would be legal and proper under the principles laid down by the Supreme court of the United States in the Ohio case."

MONDAY, JUNE 21, 1920.

Senator Harding has given up plans for a vacation this summer. He might as well go on and take recreation when this is possible, for certainly he won't feel much like enjoying the light things of life after the election.

Herbert Hoover has declared that Harding is all right. The statement is plain and convincing enough, but when considering the way Herb has acted lately, his judgment isn't the soundest in the world, after all.

The Republican form of "preserved nationality" sounds something like "bottling up the nation," but since the platform is so weak and its nominee so engaged in platform riding, it is probable the whole issue may be spilled before bottling.

If the Department of Justice will keep right behind the coal profiteers it is quite likely we'll have something to burn this winter after all. They've got to keep busy though, for it's a dark, black mission at the best and will require persistence and determination before success is achieved.

Harding may think that in straddling the Republican platform his ride to victory will be an easy one. But, sorry to say, he lives to learn that the platform's fragility cannot endure American sentiment at the present moment and must eventually give way to more constructive, viable forms of government.

Champ Clark, so we are informed, will be placed as a candidate for presidential nomination at the coming Democratic national convention, and while the public may be somewhat surprised at the action, it is probable that Mr. Clark will make a good run and get good support. He has been a power in the party for many years, and consequently will receive a good following.

A movement is on foot at the present time to prevent "wastage of woman power." It should have been started years and years ago, but if women get in politics, certainly the issue will be a failure. A new and unexplored field will be inducing to any energetic woman, and it is easy to guess that sufficient material will be found in the political field to justify some mighty fine and effective effort, regardless of waste.

Mr. McAduo has definitely declined the Democratic nomination to the presidency because he is not financially able to carry on such campaign and is far too proud and sincere to the county to permit friends to bear the expense. The idea is entirely a new one if we consider the recent Republican expenditures, but it is gratifying nevertheless to know that supporters of the Democratic party are far too proud and honest-hearted to win an office thru other sources than their own. Mr. McAduo has given the county considerable material for thought, and probably may be instrumental in changing the policy of campaigns in the years to come.

Now that the Federation of Labor has been seen fit to endorse the league of nations without reservations it quite natural to expect that the issue will receive possibly greater representation than the Republican party expected. The working classes of Americans still believe in the sincerity of President Wilson's mission to the country, and if they are given desired attention at the Democratic convention it is more than likely the league will be saved. The Democrats have always done the right thing by everybody, and they will grant labor every privilege deemed advisable and wise.

DEMOCRACY AND THE LEAGUE.

Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic National Executive committee, declares that the Democratic platform will endorse president Wilson's course regarding the league of nations and while some opposition is expected in the convention it is not thought this will be sufficiently determined to prevent undivide support of the issue. The president, he says, has at all times listened attentively to suggestions that would expand or develop the league provisions and his reasons for opposition to the proposed reservations was that they weakened the original strength of the documents and would deprive it of its real power and significance. The position taken by the Republican party, Mr. Cummings believes, is simply a momentary attempt to satisfy irreconcilables. Indefinite promises of some kind of a league have been made, and while this has satisfied the faction, it has not been sufficient to satisfy the American people who have been watching party procedure since the convention and still believe in the sincerity of the president's mission. The Republican platform is equivocal in itself, as it conveys one meaning with its leaders working with another end in view, and for that reason the public will look directly to San Francisco for leadership. The league of nations is admittedly an imperfect document, but as it is the best that can be conceived by human intelligence there is nothing at the present time that could possibly improve it. National leaders admit this, but contentious party opponents will not and are going to put every resource at stake in defeating the league program if possible. The American people must stand by the president this time as never before, because he has stood by them unreservedly, and has served every interest of the nation faithfully and sincerely, and sees in the league of nations an indirect way of eventually bringing about peace to the entire world. This in itself is sufficient to guarantee ratification, and it is up to the Democratic alone to make it a reality in the approaching national convention.

Dave Hipes was placed under arrest following a raid on his home where five gallons of whiskey were located. The liquor had been measured out in quart bottles ready for sale and showed plainly that the man had connected with the traffic for sometime.

One copper still of a 140 gallon capacity was taken near Simpson Sunday evening by Deputy Jackson and Policeman Stokes. The still was warm when located, but the recently distilled whiskey could not be found. The still was one of the largest captured in sometime, the officers say, and was built out of the best material available in this section.

hundred yards before being wrecked. It is said that large trees were blown up by their roots at the home of Mrs. Clemmie Stocks where crops were totally destroyed and nothing left in the field that resembled the splendid acreage before the storm.

C. E. Tripp's dwelling and all out-houses were literally wrecked in first stages of the storm, the kitchen and dining room being blown at least 300 yards from the other part of the house. Even the brick pillars under the main section of the home were cleared from their foundation and crumbled by the intensity of the wind in that section. The dwelling houses Jim & Edward Tripp with a number of out-houses were also literally wrecked. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tripp escaped from their home through a window while the house was being turned over bodily by the wind, Mrs. Tripp receiving slight injuries. Crops were seriously damaged at this point, but not completely destroyed as in other parts of the immediate neighborhood where the wind struck with all its force. A gin house and tenant house was destroyed on the M. G. Moyer farm, and the home of Mrs. Clemmie Stocks partially destroyed. The entire crops were totally destroyed at this point while trees were torn up by their roots and carried for several hundred yards. No further damage has been reported from other sections of the county, but the high wind, accompanied by heavy rain, is reported from virtually every section. Several houses with loss of life is reported from the Goldboro section, but information this morning was indefinite and failed to convey full facts regarding the intensity of the wind.

and the term, in this cultured age includes almost everyone, nothing can bring greater enjoyment in proportion to the money invested than a good piano or player piano. From the time of its inception, generations ago, the piano pianoforte has ever been the popular universal medium for the expression of music. Nothing else can equal its artistic possibilities, its permanent pleasures, its refining influences. Other forms of music may have their vogue, but the piano will always maintain its supremacy in the homes and hearts of the general public.

MAY SUFFER FROM PLEBISCITE ACTION

The International Labor Conference at Washington last fall and he takes a keen interest in American labor and industrial conditions.

"Owing to our isolation in this far off corner of Germany, he said, 'Upper Silesia's industries always have had difficulty in meeting the competition of the Westphalian and Ruhr districts. Poland is on the eve of a huge industrial development and it will be able to consume every product Upper Silesia supplies. It's nonsense for the Germans to say that the mines and factories would be ruined under Polish control, for the simple reason that the Germans will continue to operate them.'

"To be sure, Poland up to now hasn't the social and labor laws Germany has. But it will have them and they will be an improvement on Germany's, which are faulty and difficult to reform because their machinery is so ponderous and complicated. Poland is now planning a workmen's compensation act and other labor legislation which will be entirely satisfactory and easy to execute."

Kymer expressed confidence in a big Polish majority at the election. The thickly populated industrial district of which Benthien is the center will vote overwhelmingly Polish, he thought, but he admitted that the district on the left bank of the Oder, extending from Oppeln southward to Ratibor, and the northern part of the plebiscite zone were uncertain.

GREENVILLE WINS SATURDAY'S GAME IN SCOTLAND NECK

Second Game of Series Taken by Locals in Slow, Drizzling Rain; Score 4 to 3.

In possibly one of the hardest fought games of the current season Greenville broke even with the strong Scotland Neck-Hobgood aggregation in Scotland Neck last Saturday evening when taking the second game of the series by the score of 4 to 3. To say that the game was well played and closely contested by both clubs would be expressing the matter mildly, for Greenville was stinging with defeat of the day before, and the home club was anxious to take the second game and win first place in club standing, so they battled for eleven consecutive innings, Greenville sending over the winning tally in that stage.

The game was played in a slow, drizzling rain which started in the fifth inning and continued through the entire game, but regardless of the disadvantages brought about by wet balls and diamond, the game progressed without interruption, each club bringing forward every resource and every energy to claim the victory before rain necessarily brought about a termination of the contest. However, the eleventh frame was reached before rain would have broken the game up, and at that stage Greenville went to the bat, and in almost breathless suspense, sent Stringfield to the checking station to claim the honors of the day.

Wilkins, a young fellow who has been presiding over the third corner for Greenville during the past several days, was placed on the mound by Manager Lanier because of Sheppard's arm being out of condition, and he pitched great ball against the opposing singers, in fact, he completely electrified Lanier and Duncan who had never before given the young fellow a chance in the box and consequently were not aware of the puzzling dope he had up his sleeve. Scotland Neck hit the ball frequently, of course, but the sphere generally found its way in hands of a fielder, and only four clean hits were checked up for the club at the ending of the game.

Henry appeared on the mound for Scotland Neck, and while he pitched splendid ball at times, he couldn't prevent Greenville hitting freely at times. Runners were sent to second and third bases several times, but somehow, hard luck prevented them reaching the checking station. Henry pitched well in pinches but found it impossible to curb work of the willow and the anxious, unconquerable spirit of the Greenville boys who the day before played in the hardest luck of the entire season.

Greenville started its scoring in the fourth inning when Sheppard lined the ball out for two bases, and on Kittrell's sacrifice went to third; Ragsdale hit for two bases, scoring Sheppard. The side was retired shortly after Wilkins hit for one base and Ragsdale reached third on a quick and effective double play by the opposing club. Two other tallies were made in the eighth frame when Duncan hit for two bases. Barnes lined the sphere out to left field and on error Duncan went to third; Sheppard hit for one base, scoring Duncan. Barnes later scored on long drive to center field.

The winning run was made in the ending of the eleventh inning when rain made playing extremely difficulty

WILLIAMSTON WINS FROM PINETOPS IN CLOSE GAME

Williamston, June 10.—Williamston defeated Pinetops here this afternoon by the score of 4 to 3, in a game that was featured by fast playing from the first to last inning. Both clubs contested the game in a determined way, but the ability of the locals to hit opportunely was responsible for the victory. Both pitchers showed up in excellent form and kept hits scattered, but Williamston succeeded in bunching sufficient bingles to win the game.

WASHINGTON LOSES OUT TO TARBORO SATURDAY

Tarboro, June 10.—In possibly one of the easiest games of the season Tarboro defeated Washington today by the score of 9 to 0. The game was featured by good playing by the locals, but Washington's inability to hit when hits meant runs was probably more accountable for the loss of the contest than any other single feature. Both clubs played in mighty good form, but Tarboro found the opposing pitcher easy, and bunched hits at opportune stages of the game. The clubs played to a twelve inning tie Friday, but the visitors failed to show the spirit and animation of the preceding game, and consequently the locals found them much easier than expected.

and the umpires were in readiness to call the game. Stringfield, first man up, was given base on balls, later stole second, and on a long drive by Ellis, scored, deciding the game in the local's favor.

Scotland Neck scored its first run in the third inning when Henry hit for one base, stole second and later went to third when Powers hit for one base. Henry scored when Powers was caught out between bases. The two last tallies were made in seventh frame when both hit for two bases, later scoring on a wild throw to first following Dupree's drive to pitcher. Dupree stole second, and scored when Parrish hit for three bases. Parrish was tagged, however, just as he reached the third corner, retiring the side and losing a mighty good opportunity for another score.

The score: Greenville.....000 100 020 01x—4 12 8
Scotland Neck 001 000 200 00x—3 4 3
Batteries: Wilkins, Wrenn; Henry, Depew. Attendance 500.
