

Polish Government Reported Leaving Warsaw

ALLIES PREPARING TO TAKE ACTION IN BEHALF OF POLAND

France and Great Britain Represent Bolsheviki Refusal to Grant Truce. POLISH DEFENSIVE IS COMPLETELY SHATTERED BY ADVANCING HORDES Soviets Apparently Have Torn Great Gap Through Warsaw Defenses.

London, Aug. 9.—The Polish government is leaving Warsaw, it was asserted in a wireless from Moscow today.

Undated by Associated Press Aug. 9.—Bolsheviki attacks apparently have broken the Polish lines near the East Prussian frontier and Soviet cavalry swept forward with a great encircling movement north of Warsaw. In the center the Soviets seem to have torn a great gap through the Warsaw defenses. Przasnysz, forty-one miles north of Warsaw, is occupied by the Bolsheviki horde. France and Great Britain are prepared to take instant action as a consequence of the Bolsheviki refusal to grant Lloyd George's request for a truce of ten days. Heads of the Great Britain army and navy were closeted with Marshal Foch until this early morning. The word defensive emphasized all proposed plans.

Hythe, England, Aug. 8.—Great Britain and France are convinced that the Bolsheviki intend to capture Warsaw and set up a Soviet government in Poland.

This was learned from an official source tonight following an announcement at the conference between Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, and Premier Millerand, of France, held today to discuss the Polish situation, that the conference would continue tomorrow, when the premiers will pass upon naval, military and economic plans for saving Poland. These plans are being drawn up tonight by Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the British imperial staff.

These were the outstanding developments of the day and followed an official announcement that the Soviet government had definitely refused a ten-days' truce requested by Mr. Lloyd George as a result of Friday's meeting with the Russian mission headed by M. Kameneff and M. Krassin.

SEVERAL REPORTED KILLED WHEN LARGE BUILDING CAVES IN

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 9.—A two story building of the business section of the city caved in today. Search is being made for persons in the building at the time. Chinese restaurants and rooming house occupied the building and it is believed several were killed.

ALLIES WILL ASSIST POLAND IN REPULSING BOLSHEVIKI ATTACKS

Hythe, England, Aug. 9.—French and British premiers are still in conference here. No official announcement has been made, but it is declared from reliable quarters that they had failed to reach an agreement so far as to the character of aid to be given Poland. It is believed that a note will be sent to Moscow, informing the Soviets that Allies intend to assist Poland in every way to maintain integrity.

ARKANSAS LOOKING FOR ENTERTAINING PRIMARY BATTLES

Bitter Contest Expected in State Primary to be Held Tomorrow.

PITCHED BATTLE ON FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 9.—The Democratic primary to be held in Arkansas tomorrow promises to be one of the most interesting and hard fought elections in the history of the state.

There is a bitter contest for the United States senatorship, there are nine candidates for governor, there are contests for representative in four of the seven congressional districts, nearly all of the state offices are being fought for and in every county there are further contests for local offices. Only Democrats will be voted for in this primary and in this state the Democratic nomination is virtually equivalent to election.

The struggle for the nomination for United States senator between Senator William F. Kirby and Congressman T. H. Caraway has developed into one of the most acrimonious affairs in the history of Arkansas politics. Each of the candidates has been unsparring in his criticism of the other's official record.

Senator Kirby is filling out the term for which the late Senator James P. Clark originally was nominated. Senator Clark defeated Mr. Kirby in the state primary six years ago but died before the general election was held. His death occurred so shortly before the date of the general election that there was not time to hold another primary and so the Democratic State Central Committee nominated Mr. Kirby as the party candidate.

The Democratic nominee for governor, whoever he is, will have three opponents in the general election next November. These already have been nominated. Wallace Townsend of Little Rock is the regular Republican nominee, J. H. Blount, a negro educator of Helena will appear on the ballot as the negro Republican nominee and the Socialists have nominated Sam W. Buesler of Springdale.

Homer S. Cummings Notifies Vice-Presidential Candidate in Fine Terms.

COMMENTS ON CHARGES OF PARTY PRINCIPLES

Charges Republican Part with Constructive Criticism for Many Years.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 9.—"Mr. Roosevelt: There has grown up in national politics the delightful and informative custom of notifying candidates for President and Vice President of their respective nominations through the formal action of committees appointed for that purpose. The Democratic National Convention, which was recently in session at San Francisco, unanimously selected you as the Democratic candidate for Vice President and designated the committee which you see before you, to convey to you officially the tidings of the nomination and the desire of the convention that you should accept it. This action, therefore, affords the democracy of the Nation an opportunity to express the satisfaction which it feels in the result of its deliberations and the high respect and personal affection in which you are held by Democrats everywhere.

"I cannot refrain from commenting upon the differences, so easily noticeable, which characterized the deliberations of the two major national conventions. The Chicago platform was the result of a series of carefully calculated moves.

STATE LABOR WILL ENDORSE RIGHT OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Two Hundred Delegates to Attend Annual State Convention in Charlotte

Charlotte, Aug. 8.—Two hundred delegates to the annual convention of the State Federation of Labor, which opens tomorrow, have arrived and evening and early morning trains will bring many more. H. C. Caldwell, local editor of Labor Herald, said today that this is to be the largest convention ever held by labor in the Carolinas. He made a statement that the convention will go on record as favoring woman suffrage, also that the convention will endorse the plan of non-partisanship as to political parties, the Federation casting its vote for the party which advocates laws which will most benefit labor. Since the last convention the membership has increased 100 per cent.

The session will be held in the new high school building. Major W. F. Moody, of Raleigh, president of the Federation, arrived tonight.

The local union was organized just previous to strike in Charlotte on August 1st of current year, has strength of 5,000 members with 22 affiliated organizations. Efforts are being made to erect a Labor temple in Charlotte.

TENNESSEE PLANS TO HEAR SUFFRAGE ISSUES THIS WEEK

Legislature Convened Today to Consider American Woman's Enfranchisement

CONTEST APPEARS TO BE QUITE UNCERTAIN

Actual Consideration of Amendment May Not Begin Until Tomorrow.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8.—The Tennessee legislature will meet in extraordinary session tomorrow at noon to consider ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment. Thirty-five states already having acted favorably and with ratification by only one more state necessary for woman suffrage to become effective throughout the nation, suffrage and anti-suffrage workers from all parts of the country are here prepared for what has been characterized as probably the most important contest a general assembly has faced since congress submitted ratification to the states.

Indications tonight were that plans of leaders to begin consideration of qualification at the first day's session probably would not materialize. Both houses already are organized and it has been proposed that after the seating of 13 new members, the governor's message would be received and preliminary steps toward action on the amendment be taken immediately. Governor Roberts' call for the session, however, was not issued until yesterday and formal notification would not be received until tomorrow.

REGARDS ADDRESS AS GREAT VICTORY FOR PRES. WILSON

President Wilson Reported as Highly Gratiified Over Cox Address.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Governor Cox's speech is regarded by both Democrats and Republicans here as a great victory for the President. Mr. Wilson is reported highly gratified and all administration Democrats are elated. Making the League the chief issue in the speech is held by some Republicans to be the greatest tribute a candidate for President ever paid a President of the same party retiring from office. At Democratic headquarters here the talk since the Governor's speech has been thoroughly studied and digested has become jubilant. One of the leaders says Cox is a fighter like Colonel Roosevelt. His words read more like the Colonel's than they do like the words of any other man who was ever nominated for the Presidency.

The general verdict of the Republicans is, of course, that the speech is a flat surrender to the President, but there is no reassurance for them in that. The speech is proof positive that the fight on their hands is a much bigger and more dangerous struggle than they had dreamed of when they nominated Harding.

Secretary Colby, who speaks for the White House, found the speech all and even more than he had expected.

Secretary Daniels declared the speech straightforward from beginning to end and that it would certainly win progressives of all parties. Secretary Daniels went to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., last night to be present at the ceremonies notifying Franklin D. Roosevelt of his nomination by the Democrats for Vice President.

BENSON GIVES OUT FACTS CONCERNING MERCHANT MARINE

Admiral Tells of Provisions of Act for Shipping in this Country.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Provisions of the Merchant Marine Act giving preferential rail rates on export and import commodities carried in American bottoms are in line with practices adopted in Germany, Japan, France, Spain and other countries, Admiral Benson, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board declared in a letter to Commissioner of the Port, W. T. Christensen, of Seattle, Wash., made public here today.

These provisions were inserted by congress at the request of the Shipping Board, Admiral Benson said, and are designed to offset "the countless discriminations by other nations against American shipping with which the Shipping Board ships and privately owned vessels of the United States have had to contend."

"Allowing a differential export rate lower than the domestic rate upon the rail shipments within the country is purely a domestic prerogative," the chairman declared. "Each nation may unquestionably determine for itself that such rates may be made and that they shall be limited in applications to cargo carried in vessels of its nationals. The board of trade report to the British government made in 1918 regarding shipping policies conceded that the control of such practice cannot properly be made the subject of such a treaty."

Chairman Benson's letter was in reply to one from Commissioner Christensen, who declared that since the major part of the Oriental commerce with Puget Sound was carried by foreign vessels, the enforcement of the discriminatory features of the Merchant Marine Act might result in the division of that commerce to Canadian ports. Admiral Benson said that threats of foreign carriers to transfer their Pacific coast operations to Vancouver, should preferential rates be granted for American ships, were not worthy of consideration.

HUNDREDS ATTEND CEREMONIES FROM MANY TERRITORIES

Candidate for Vice-Presidency Declares His Best Services to the Country.

GREAT PROBLEMS WILL BE HANDLED TO DIRECT INTERESTS OF COUNTRY

Says International Complications Demands Greatest Attention Possible.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 9.—This sleepy little village is today the Democratic mecca of the east. Rank and file of the party began pouring in at day break to attend the Roosevelt notification ceremonies and ten thousand people are expected to attend the ceremonies which will begin at the Roosevelt home at three o'clock.

In accepting the Democratic nomination Roosevelt joined with Governor Cox in accepting the challenge of the Republicans to make the League of Nations one of the principal issues of the campaign. He said the nation entered the war to sustain its ideals and was determined that ideal should not die.

I accept the nomination for the office of Vice President with humility and with a deep wish to give to our beloved country the best that is in me. No one could receive a higher privilege or opportunity than to be thus associated with men and ideals which I am confident will soon receive the support of the majority of our citizens.

In fact, I could not conscientiously accept it, if I had not come to know by the closest intimacy that he who is our selection for the Presidency, and who is my chief and yours, is a man possessed of ideals which are also mine. He will give to America that kind of leadership which will make us respect him and bring further greatness to our land. In James M. Cox I recognize one who can lead this nation forward in an unhalting march of progress.

Two great problems will confront the next administration; our relations with the world and the pressing need of organized progress at home. The latter includes a systematized and intensified development of our resources and a progressive betterment of our citizenship. These matters will require the guiding hand of a President who can see his country above his party, and who, having a clear vision of things as they are, has also the independence, courage and skill to guide us long the road to things as they should be without swerving one footstep at the dictation of narrow partisans who whisper "Party" or of selfish interests that murmur "Profits."

In our world problems we must first shut our eyes, sell our newly built merchant marine to more far-seeing foreign powers, crush utterly any embargo and harassing legislation nor foreign trade, close our ports and build an impenetrable wall of costly armaments and live, as the Orient used to live, a hermit nation, dreaming of the past; or, we must open our eyes and see that modern civilization has become so complex and the lives of civilized men so dependent upon

MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1920.

Harding is getting in readiness for his "front porch" speaking campaign, but if everybody feels about it as the Democrats, his audiences will be considerably smaller than he expects.

Senator McKeller, of Tennessee, has stated that he will do his utmost to bring about ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment, and as his influence really counts for something in his home state there is every reason to expect that his action will better suffrage chances in many ways.

The fact that England has succeeded in getting the Irish correction bill through the House of Commons suggests the probability of a restoration of order in Ireland. There is plenty of room for such legislation, and if it should become really effective the country will be in much better condition within the next several months.

The North Carolina legislature will no doubt have an unusual session this week, for woman suffrage in itself is going to be a decidedly interesting feature, and will require sometime in permanently setting. Suffrage forces are waging an intensive campaign and legislators who have not already been approached on the matter will find considerable time for contemplation before the session terminates.

The third party appears to still be in a state of infancy, for so far its accomplishments have failed to create more than ordinary interest. The fight for recognition is probable greater than the independents realized, but if they haven't been thoroughly impressed by the fact, the campaign may have a tendency of doing so in a decidedly forceful way.

Governor Cox has been formally acknowledged an avowed candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket therefore, the remainder of the campaign shouldn't feature in any uncertainty as to proper leadership. He is fully capable of carrying out the greatest ambition of the party, and for that reason is for no other he should be elected to head the government in its future activities.

That talk about a decrease in the cost of living appears to be completely out of order, for it is announced now that flour in Minneapolis for two days last week made a jump of 95c to $1.20 per barrel. This fact alone shows the talk is without foundation, and that only in very few instances have reductions been noticeable. Inflation appears to be in vogue, and about the only thing the working man can wish for to better conditions is greater production. That alone will bring about any noticeable improvement in the situation.

Polish troops are making a desperate stand against the powerful forces of the "Reds," but it seems inevitable that they should be defeated before other countries can interfere. The Bolsheviks is taking every advantage, and regardless of desperate resistance on practically every front, appears to be gaining regardless of the admirable stand of the Poles. The situation is certainly serious enough to justify interference from more powerful nations, for if the "Reds" should gain ascendancy conditions will be appalling indeed. The United States and Britain are taking into consideration the true state of affairs, and it is quite probable some definite step will be taken shortly to check the victorious advance of the Bolsheviks.

WILL THEY DO IT.

Woman suffrage has not become an actuality in this country, but it is at a point now that people are ready to accept it without further discussion. Thirty-five states so far have already gone in favor of ratification, and should Tennessee become the thirty-sixth the issue will then become an amendment to the national constitution. Suffrage forces have been combatting efforts of anti-suffrage factions for several months in an attempt to gain desired action from either North Carolina and Tennessee, and while there is still much speculation in evidence regarding the way the two states are going to vote, it is believed, however, that at least one will go in favor of ratification.

The only hope for woman's enfranchisement rests with these two states, and for the reason it is confidently believed that the legislative battles will be long and hard fought before a final decision is rendered. There are powerful influences opposing the woman vote because of exaggerated facts concerning racial contact, but such arguments carry very little weight, for it is generally understood that the excellent influence of the woman vote would counteract any sentiment supposedly detrimental to the nation's welfare.

It is undeniably plain that suffrage would prove a constructive force in every community, for where is there an American woman today who is not more capable of looking out after the welfare of her children than even the best of men. This is true here and everywhere. The mother can more accurately divine the things necessary to the improvement of the coming generation. She instinctively realized the dangers confronting civilization on every side, while the average man stumbles along, inadvertent, and too interested in the business world to care. Where is there a mother that is not always thinking of her children's welfare? Fortunately, there are very few in this country, for being a mother is ever woman's greatest ambition, and this very fact expresses in a mute way one of the greatest arguments in favor of suffrage.

A mother's first thought is to protect her home. She sees the small things which the careless man fails to see, and certainly is more able to vote intelligently for the best interests of the nation than thousands of illiterate careless and degraded men. The home is here first thought, and to protect the center of her affections will be the principal thought of those who at this time ask North Carolina and Tennessee to recognize their right to become recognized voters in national politics. The request is only a just one, and as thirty-five states have realized this fact, it cannot be that two states so well developed and progressive as the two which suffrage is looking to will fail to measure up to that which is expected of them.

People who have been worrying about a decline in the price of land have little room to do so, for reports from virtually every section of the country show that property values are increasing, in fact, practically doubling old valuations. There is no more land being made, the demand is greater than ever before, so there is no reason on earth to anticipate even a slight decrease. If anything prices will continue to advance, and those who have been waiting for the "bottom to drop out" before purchasing will find they have made a miserable failure. The price is here to stay, and there is plenty of land obtainable if the price can be met.

Homer Smith, telegraph operator, who twenty years ago was connected with Governor Cox in the newspaper business, declares that the governor was an aggressive hustler and that he will make the same kind of a candidate and the same kind of president. This statement gives additional strength to former assertions regarding Mr. Cox's ability and shows conclusively that he is the best man the Democrats could have elected for their leader.

What Is the best Occupation For Your Daughter

A man in the employ of the U. S. Government, whose two daughters have made telephone operating their profession, said:
"If I had ten daughters, I would want all of them to be telephone operators. Aside from the fact that they work under the direct supervision of women only and that every provision is made for their comfort, the training they receive is a great developer of tact, resourcefulness and initiative."

Telephone operating is more than a job.
It is a young woman's profession and the work is essentially a woman's work. At the present time it offers unusual opportunities for advancement.

In most young women's professions months of preliminary training are necessary at the learner's expense. But in telephone operating the beginner pays nothing for her training. On the contrary, she is placed on the pay-roll as soon as she begins the brief course of instruction. Her salary is increased at the completion of this course and thereafter at regular and frequent intervals.

Some of the features of the work are:
Good salaries from the start; permanent positions; regular and frequent increases;
special opportunities for promotion; high grade, cleanly work; congenial and carefully chosen associates; light and airy central offices; comfortable recreation rooms;
annual vacations with pay, and sick benefits and pensions without cost.

If you have a daughter who would like to apply for a position as telephone operator, or know of another young woman who may be interested, we shall be glad to see her and talk the matter over in detail.

In a ceremony of exquisite simplicity said.

Immediately after the ceremony the their home in Houston, Texas.

GREENVILLE DROPS TWO GAMES TO THE PINETOPS'S OUTFIT

By Taking One Game of Saturday's Double Header, Visitors Made It 2 Out of 3.

Pinetops and Greenville split even in the double-header in this city Saturday afternoon, Pinetops winning the first game by the score of 4 to 2, Greenville taking the last by the score of 1 to 0. Both games were similar to the one of the day before when the hefty organization became victors of the leaders of the last half, and while both clubs played fast at times, there were moments, however, when Greenville appeared decidedly listless and completely unable to hit when hits would have resulted in runs.

It is quite probable that Pinetops appeared to better advantage in the three games here this time than ever before, for they played carefully and made every opportunity count for some thing in their favor, Greenville, on the other hand accepted several long chances with intention of making good, but as usual when playing with a day off, failed completely in the first game to show up in old time form. Both clubs hit at about the same rate, but where Pinetops succeeded in bunting their hits, Greenville was unable to do so advantageously, and consequently dropped the first exhibition following hard and consistent playing of the visitors.

Frazier led in the batting for Greenville in both games, getting two hits in the first game and a double in the last, which was responsible for the single run. He was followed with singles in the first game by Stringfield, Dennehey, Trust, Sheppard, and in the second game by Massey and Dennehey. Pinetops only secured one hit in the last game, Rivard being responsible for that. Ray led the batting list for the visitors in the first game, being credited with three hits out of four times at bat, while he was followed by Rivard, Langley and Schwitzer. Greenville was credited with 6 hits out of thirty times at bat in the first game, while the visitors out of 34 times up secured seven hits.

The game was in many ways different from others played by the locals during the first part of the week, for Pinetops displayed its customary disposition for fair ball, and found few occasions for a dispute. In fact, Greenville really found time for relaxation from the strenuous games with Tarboro, and it was probably that fact that which made the locals appear so easy. Pinetops was proud of the victory, that is, two out of three games with the leaders, and really evinced a desire to take the third game.

Greenville will play in Washington for the first three days this week, and as Washington cherishes the idea of defeating Greenville at every chance, it is quite probable all three games will be of more than usual interest. It is certain that a large delegation will trail the club from Greenville, and culated compromises. Timidity and cunning are its essential characteristics. It offers no remedy for the evils of which it complains and it seems to be the product of men who have lived for many years in the blind stupor of moral negation. Following the adoption of such a platform, those who had taken charge of the work of the convention, proceeded to the business of nominations. Here again the process of compromise was adopted, complicated as it was by charges and counter charges of an embarrassing character relative to the improper and excessive use of pre-convention campaign funds. The candidate ultimately chosen was in fact the choice of any considerable number of the delegates. Every candidate before the convention who had shown any evidence of popular support was rejected by methods well understood by the initiated; and the choice ultimately fell upon one who, in the prophetic language of his present campaign manager, was selected as a result of a conference held in the early hours of the morning by weary men around a table in a Chicago hotel. It cannot for a moment be supposed that a nomination, secured under such circumstances, could evoke any popular response, and indeed, it failed to create any enthusiasm even in the registering convention itself.

"The proceedings at San Francisco were of another sort. Every debatable question was settled upon the open floor of the convention; every group had a full hearing; every rightful interest was faithfully presented. The platform, expressive of the best thought of America and an earnest purpose to retrieve the world leadership which our country has lost, was adopted amid great enthusiasm; and the selection of candidates for President and Vice President went forward in a manner truly democratic, representative and America. November of our party can quarrel with the results of the convention, and there is not one truthful observer who will challenge the fairness of its deliberations, the justness of its proceedings, or the legitimate character of its conclusions.

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS

"I just wonder," said the Dot Drawing teacher, "if your mothers ever stop to consider just how much time I put in seeing that the hair ribbons of this class are kept in order. And think of the time I spend seeing that you are properly wrapped up before you start home. Now, none of you came prepared with your lesson today, but I am not going to scold. But I want you all to remember the letter 'F' that I have drawn on the board and tonight for your home work I want each one of you to take the script 'F' and see if you can work it into a..."
