Governor Cox Reveals Republican Effort to Amass Vast Slush Fund.

PRODUCES ABSOLUTE PROOF IN SPEECH TO PITTSBURGH CROWDS

Official Bulletin of Republicans Presented With Convincing Evidence.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 26.—Information to support his charges that a Republican campaign fund exceeding $15,000,000, was being raised "in a conspiracy to buy the presidency," was presented by Governor Cox, of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate, in addressing a public meeting here tonight. Governor Cox's data consisted almost entirely of matter taken from the official bulletin of Fred W. Upham, of Chicago, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, but his chief exhibit was a type-written list purporting to show Republican campaign quotas imposed on 51 principal cities in 27 States and aggregating $8,145,000.

Names of local subscribers, Governor Cox said, were ordered kept secret. These quotas, given as $2,000,000 for New York City, $750,000 for Chicago, $500,000 for Philadelphia, and ranging down to $25,000 for smaller cities like Atlanta, Ga., were said by Governor Cox to have been announced about the middle of July.

That Senator Harding, his Republican opponent, "was acquainted with the details" of the quota plan and that it was also approved by Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, was charged by the Democratic candidate.

From subsequent issues of the official bulletin, Governor Cox quoted many reports from Republican workers throughout the country, reporting going "over the top" and in excess of the alleged quotas.

Announcement of the $8,145,000 metropolitan quotas, Governor Cox said, was made by Harry M. Blair, assistant to Treasurer Upham. A meeting was held in Chicago, Governor Cox said, at which Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, "spoke his blessings."

The Governor charged that type-written sheets bearing the 51 cities' quotas were "distributed to those assembled" and he produced one of the alleged quota lists, but did not state how or where it was acquired.

That the reputed attempt to raise $8,145,000 from 51 cities in 27 of the 48 States is fair evidence that the total National fund will be much larger, was declared by Governor Cox, who said big business men were prominent on the Republican Ways and Means committee and that the raising of funds was on a business "salesmanship" basis.

GOVERNOR COX PLANS TO CARRY CAMPAIGN INTO EAST SECTION

Aboard the Cox special, Aug. 27.—Governor Cox today carried the Democratic offensive, centered for the present on Republican finances, into the East. Repetition in part of the evidence presented at Pittsburgh is planned at New Haven today and New York tomorrow. Cox and advisers satisfaction with information given to back up declarations of conspiracy to buy the presidency. It is indicated that they would make further exposes with in a week.

ADVISES UNIFORM RULE FOR FEDERAL COURT OF COUNTRY

Present Day Laws Becoming Decidedly Uncertain and Confusing in Import.

UNLIMITED ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT IN MANY FORMS LEGISLATION

Report Presented at American Bar Association Outlines Needs of Country.

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—Prompt enactment of the bill submitted to the last session of congress to empower the United States Supreme court to make uniform rules for federal district courts designed to simplify procedure in such courts and promote the speedy determination of litigation on the merits of cases, was recommended in the report of the committee on Uniform Judicial Procedure, submitted tonight to the American Bar Association, in convention here.

The report declared the regulation to be made by the Supreme court under the bill should "embrace all the merits and none of the vices of both the 'common law' and 'code' pleading."

Enactment of the bill, the report continued, would result in promulgation by the Supreme court of a "simple, scientific and correlated system of rules, which will prove an attractive model for the states to adopt for their courts."

According to the report, the bill would lay the "foundation for fixed interstate judicial relations as permanent and correlated as interstate commercial relations."

The committee on Admiralty and Maritime Law, in its report also submitted tonight, recommended that laws for navigation of the air be held in abeyance until airplane traffic becomes more popular.

PEOPLE OF LONDON SEEK SEASHORE IN EARNEST THIS YEAR

Unprecedented Exodus from Large Cities to Seaport Centers Lately.

TRANSPORTATION LINE COMPLETELY UNABLE TO HANDLE TRAFFIC

Government's Raise of Railroad Rates Fails to Prevent Traveling.

London, Aug. 27.—Never has there been such an exodus from the larger cities of England to seaside and village for the vacation period as this year. Railroads and coastwise steamship companies have been unable to cope with the traffic and lack of housing facilities at the more popular resorts have forced thousands to sleep on the sands until they can arrange to get back home.

August, partly because of custom and partly because this month is the warmest of the cool English summer, is the great holiday time of the country.

This year the government decided to raise railroad fares to 75 percent above the pre-war level in order to recoup some of the losses incurred in operation by the government. This increase was made in face of a solid press campaign against it and was announced to become effective August 6. Consequently thousands who had planned their vacations later changed their plans to avoid the fare increase. The decision (Continued on page four.)

REPORT DECLARES DRIFT OF LAW IS REALLY CONFUSING

American Bar Association Would Empower District Courts With Authority

WOULD ENACT BETTER BILLS IN PRACTICALLY ALL DISTRICT COURTS

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—The drift of law is towards "uncertainty, confusion and variation," according to the report of the committee on recodification and restatement of the law, submitted at today's session of the convention here of the American Bar Association. The committee suggests that a simpler recodification of the law be effected, and that the laws in the various states be more uniform.

"Our national aspiration," the report asserts, "should be satisfied by nothing short of leadership, not by the power of our financial and industrial resources or our military strength, but by reason of the excellence of our institutions, our laws, and the efficient administration of justice. A certain and uniform system of law for a country so large in area and so divided as to government can be attained only through making plain by visible expression with the greatest attainable certainty, simplicity, completeness and order the great system of law which has been developed but which has been inadequately expressed in this country."

The report emphasizes that a clear understanding of the laws of the several states is particularly essential now because of increasing interstate commerce.

CRIMINAL SESSION OF SUPERIOR COURT TO BEGIN MONDAY

About Thirty-five Cases on Calendar Awaiting Final Disposition.

MANY UNIMPORTANT ISSUES TO BE HEARD DURING THE SESSION

Judge Bond, of Edenton, Will Preside Throughout the Entire Term.

The regular August term of Pitt county superior court, for the trial of criminal cases, will convene in this city next Monday morning with Judge Bond, presiding. There are about 80 cases on docket for this session, including one or two manslaughter charges, the remainder being only of minor importance and will not require any great length of this in finally disposing of.

The civil term of superior court which was to have opened the first part of last week was postponed by Judge Bond as a result of a petition from prominent planters from various sections of the county, stating that they would be unable to appear on account of harvesting time, particularly the harvesting of tobacco. No postponement so far has been requested for the criminal session, as it is considered the farmers are in such shape now that they can leave the farm without subjecting themselves to any financial worry as the result of neglected crops. SENATE PASSES ON BILL GIVING VOTE TO STATE WOMEN

Machinery Bill for Women in Next Election Wins After Hard Battle.

DOUGHTON EMPLOYS STRATEGY IN TIME TO HAVE HIS WAY

Raleigh, Aug. 27.—Governor Rufe A. Doughton, dean of North Carolina parliamentarians, and Grand Old Man of the General Assembly yesterday extended the right hand of fellowship to Old Man Inevitable and the General Assembly paved the way for the women of North Carolina to vote in the elections this fall.

The House fairly gasped when Governor Doughton, dyed in the wool and, lodged a motion during the continued morning session of yesterday to reconsider the vote by which the Scales machinery bill had failed of passage a few brief minutes before. Suffrage opponents, still trembling from the jaws that came across the Blue Ridge, were so taken aback until at no time after the Doughton motion was lodged were they able to even hold an informal caucus.

From a parliamentary standpoint, the passage and final ratification of the machinery was perhaps the prettiest piece of work turned out by the solons during the while fifteen days. The strategy of Doughton, working reluctantly for something he refused to admit is here, was pitted against the strategy of Ray working against the thing he favors but believes his people are against.

SAYS CITIES OUGHT TO MEET DEMANDS FOR MUNICIPAL AID

Ernest Tustin Tells Bar Association of Demands in all Large Cities.

MORE DEVELOPMENT FOR LEGAL ORGANS THOUGHT ADVISABLE

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—There is a demand in all the great cities of the United States for the establishment of municipal legal aid bureaus, Ernest L. Tustin, of Philadelphia, told the American Bar Association at its annual convention here today. Mr. Tustin is director of public works in Philadelphia. He said the purpose of such a bureau or department would be to enable the poor to obtain justice and the foreigner to be relieved from imposition, to establish a place where the weak, helpless and ignorant would have their wrongs righted.

"The development of a virile legal aid association within our great municipalities is a question of vital concern to every patriotic citizen," declared Mr. Tustin. "The need has become imperative and its creation and careful development should be undertaken by all of our large cities."

"In the past our best authorities have agreed that social injustice is responsible for the creation of more radical enemies to our government than any other cause."

"The mayor of one of our largest cities, who has had great experience, has stated within a few weeks that trifling misunderstandings concerning municipal and social justice is responsible for 90 percent of the extreme radicalism in the country."

LEON TROTZKY TAKES COMMAND OF TROOPS IN WARSAW SECTION

France Advises Poland to Gain Strategical Position Until Peace is Signed.

Warsaw, Aug. 27.—General Tuchatschewski, known as the Soviet Napoleon, has been relieved as commander in chief of the Bolshevik army on the Polish front because of failure to capture Warsaw, according to newspapers, and Leon Trotzky has personally taken command. The Bolshevik prisoners gave out the reports.

Warsaw, Aug. 27.—Russians who took refuge in East Prussia are fighting the Poles along the frontier. Officials say two Soviet batteries opened fire from the German soil, but the Poles were cautioned not to fire into Prussia. There is a lull in the fighting in various sections, although the Poles report that they have advanced to several places.

FRANCE COUNSELS POLAND TO GAIN STRATEGICAL POINT

Paris, Aug. 27.—The foreign ministry has announced that France has counseled Poland to obtain the best strategical military position possible until peace has been signed, regardless of the ethnographical frontier, because the military position will influence the peace terms. It also advised the withdrawal of armies within frontier upon the signing of the peace terms.

Campaign Nearly Over.

Paris, Aug. 26.—At Marshal Foch's headquarters today, staff officers were discussing the Polish situation and agreed that the "campaign of Poland" is virtually ended as far as heavy fighting and maneuvering is concerned. The officers' opinion was that, except for an expected stand by the Bolsheviks before Grodno, no further pitched battles are likely to occur.

Bending over large maps of Poland, the officers' main topic of discussion was: "Where will the Polish armies halt and entrench?"

"Ethnographical frontiers are not necessarily the best strategical frontiers" one officer said. The opinion was freely expressed that it would be folly for the Polish commanders to place themselves in a state of strategical inferiority by halting within kilometre of the frontier fixed by the Versailles treaty.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1920.

A PAYING INDUSTRY.

The latest decree of Dame Fashion restoring the ostrich feather to favor has quadrupled the value of the importation and greatly increased the value of the American capital invested in the ostrich industry. The value of the ostrich feathers imported into the United States in the fiscal year 1920, says a statement by The National City Bank of New York, was 2 1/2 million dollars against a little over a half million in 1917 and 3/4 of a million dollars in 1918, and with this advance in demand and price the value of the 10,000 ostriches in the United States has correspondingly increased and runs well up into the millions of dollars.

The ostrich industry of the world, continues the Bank's statement, has been extended from the original home of the ostrich, the wilds of Africa, to several countries having a suitable climate, and the United States, Argentina, and Australia are gradually becoming rivals of the ostrich farmers of British, French, and German Africa, which, however, still supply the bulk of the 15 to 20 million dollars worth of ostrich feathers annually entering world commerce. The importation of ostrich into the United States since 1900 have aggregated nearly $60,000,000 and were immediately prior to the war running at about $6,000,000 per annum, but dropping to about one-tenth of that value in the closing years of the war.

Africa and southern Asia were apparently the original home of the ostrich but he is now only found in the native state in the little frequented sections of Central Africa. The ease with which he can be domesticated, however, led to the establishment of large ostrich farms in British, French, and German Africa in the second half of the nineteenth century and their successes soon led to similar experiments in the United States and later in Australia and Argentina. While the South African interests sought to prevent this by prohibiting the exportation of ostriches or their eggs, a limited number were brought to the United States as early as 1882 and established on farms in southern California and Arizona where they multiplied with such rapidity that the last shipment of ostriches or their eggs from Africa to the United States occurred in 1901, while the census of 1910 showed 5,361 ostriches in the United States with a valuation of $1,696,000. In 1913 the number estimated at 8,000 and has presumably reached 10 or perhaps 12 thousand at the present time, since the industry has extended from California and Arizona into several of the southern states, notably Texas, Alabama, and Florida, and the value of the capital invested correspondingly increased. The industry wherever established has proved financially attractive, the profits of the South African farms being reported as high as 40 per cent on the invested capital, while the value of a single bird of the higher grades for breeding purposes runs as high as $500, and the value of the year's feather "crop" of a single male ranging from $25 to $100.

Africa still remains the most important place of the ostrich industry and the value of the feathers exported from British South Africa alone runs as high as $12,000,000 a year from Africa as a whole between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 per annum. Formerly a 50 per cent share of the African product was sent from the colonies to the mother countries for redistribution, but at the present time most of our ostrich feathers imported are coming direct from British South Africa where they are produced.

"For most of the farmer and his family had been left out of account by everybody except the politicians and retail traders—he was just negligible from a wide social point of view." C. J. Galpin told the Farmers' convention at Raleigh in pointing out the lack of adequate rural organization and institutions enjoyed by city folks.

"To be institutionless, is almost to be cut off from the world of thought. This is to be out of the current of the great throbbing life of the time. No wonder a farmer who realized his loss in the wealth of life, if not too late, moves from an institutionless community into the stream of institutional life. Resigned to the idea that institutions belong to the town, the farmer naturally met the social deficiency in farm life by leaving farming if he craved institutions.

"It scarcely occurred to anybody in America, prior to 1908, that farmers should have hospitals, either general or maternity; municipal electric power plants for barn and house; real libraries of a modern sort; high schools; great churches of nobility and distinction. Least of all, did the general run of farmers believe these institutions possible for them while in country residence. But, when farming came to be generally understood to deprive people of the social privileges, and it was found that a constant stream of successful farmers, right at the height of their success on the farm, were leaving the farming enterprise in order to have a chance at the institutional life of the world, then the American economist points out that agriculture and the whole movement toward scientific farming is being weakened by the withdrawal of the seasoned farmers from the land.

INCREASE ACRE YIELDS.

Proper mixtures of fertilizers in amounts than are generally used would pay much larger net profits per acre than the too small too commonly applied, according to Dean C. B. Williams of the State College, addressing the Farmers' Convention at Raleigh on "Lessons from Experimental Work with Crops, Soils and Fertilizers in Mountain, Piedmont and Coastal Plains of North Carolina."

Many of the more progressive farmers of the state are using larger and better balanced amounts of fertilizers, he said, though the fertilizers most generally used in the eastern part of the state are frequently not high enough in nitrogen and are a little too high in phosphoric acid for the best paying results on the average soil. In the piedmont and mountain sections fertilizers used are frequently too low in phosphoric acid for best results with most crops. Nitrate of soda could be used more generally to supply nitrogen than at present, provided proper precautions are observed in its use.

Recently, considerable work has been carried on in the improvement of yields through the breeding, distribution and use of better yielding strains of our main farm crops. High yielding strains of wheat, oats, rye, corn, cotton, and soybeans have been produced and others have been found by field trials and are being distributed to farmers of the state.

During the past few decades North Carolina has made considerable progress in better agricultural methods, especially with fertilizers, cultural practices and use of better seed, as is shown by the increased average yield of our main crops per acre in North Carolina for the ten-year period, 1909-1919, over the ten-year period, 1889-1899. The value of this increased yield in 1918 for corn, cotton, tobacco, wheat and oats together was worth more than $126,000,000 and in 1919 about $153,000,000. This latter amount is slightly more than one-third the total value of the eleven leading crops of the state; a little more than the total value of all livestock in the state, including work stock; and about seventeen times the amount spent by the state, cities and countries for elementary, secondary and higher education in 1919.

The main hope of the state in an agricultural way, says Dean Williams, is in the proper building of its soils to get the most out of them, at the same time keeping them up to a high-yielding pitch, and in the use of high-yielding strains of crops, for it is from the soil directly or indirectly that we must secure all our food and raiment.

Boiling Is the Only Sure Way

New Method of Washing is Quicker, Better and More Economical

Old-style scrub boards and warm water have been responsible for the spreading of many contagious diseases. There is no need for any woman to take this risk. The best way to kill germs is with heat. Boil your clothes and every germ is killed.

And besides, this wonderful new method is far better and more economical than any other way.

Just think! Soak your wash over night. Shave 1/2 bar of Clean Easy Naphtholene Wash Soap into a 4 1/2-gallon tub of water. Let it dissolve, and bring to boil. Put the clothes in and stir for 10 minutes only. Every garment is clean and pure.

There's no comparison between this and the old, dangerous, back-breaking wash tubs. Your wash will be finished before your neighbor has scrubbed the skin off three fingers!

Buy a bar of Clean Easy from your grocer. One-half bar will do an average week's washing of heavy clothes. And it goes after dirt, grime and germs in a way that you couldn't possibly do with a scrubbing board.

Protect your family—ease your work and get everything twice as well done at half the cost in less than half the time. How does that sound? There never was anything which could compare with Clean Easy—the wonder soap. Just notice how different it looks from other soaps—and how different it works, too! Try it today. You can bet your life you'll never work in any except the easy Clean Easy way again. Follow the directions on inside of the wrapper.

SAYS HOGS WILL SOLVE

BOLL WEEVIL MENACE

"The hog will solve the boll weevil trouble", W. W. Shay told the farmers' Convention at Raleigh. He pointed out that since the advent of the boll weevil in Georgia cotton production in that state has fallen off more than a million bales, while the hog population has increased over a million head and, according to the federal bureau of crop estimates, pork was the most profitable crop produced in Georgia last year.

Mr. Shay exhibited a chart showing the time of sale and prices received for hogs in the South. This table he said, showed some mistake in marketing hog in the South, for instance: during the month of September, which is the month of highest average prices during the last ten years, there was marketed at the three packing plants located at Jacksonville, Fla., Moultrie, Ga., and Andalusia, Ala., only 2.75 per cent of the entire year's production, while during the three winter months of lowest prices about 51 per cent of the year's sales were made. "We in North Carolina should plan to do better than this," he said.

Getting back to the boll weevil, Mr. Shay said how down in Enterprise, Alabama, they have erected on the public square a beautiful monument to that insect bearing this inscription: "In profound appreciation of the Boll Weevil and what it has done as the Herald of Prosperity, this monument is erected by the citizens of Enterprise, Coffee County, Alabama, December 11, 1919."

In a tribute to the county agents Mr. Shay said, "tell your county agent what you want and he will tell you how to get it, if he doesn't know right off the bat, he knows where to find the answer, if there is any. He can help you. Use him."

"The ticks are going, the ticks must go"—and—then North Carolina will become a livestock state, and it will be possible to buy a good beefsteak.

This is an ideal farm home with city advantages; nice ten room house with basement; two large barns and ample outbuildings in splendid condition and built of best materials. Farm has half mile frontage on the best road leading out of Suffolk, contains 122 acres, about 70 acres in high state of cultivation and well suited for tobacco, cotton, corn, peanuts, potatoes or all truck crops. Will sell for $40,000 for quick sale before I have to close my arrangements for the coming year and will make liberal terms for payment. This is an unusual opportunity to secure a farm and home of this class at a reasonable price, and my farm must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated. Will gladly meet anyone interested and show them the farm at any time. Act quickly before the other fellow gets ahead of you.

JUDGE BEN LINDSEY SPEAKS TO AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27.—Judge B. Lindsey, of the Denver Juvenile Court, addressed the American Bar Association here today on obtaining "justice for parent and child without cost." He urged the extension of juvenile court procedure such as has been authorized in Colorado. He said:

"I plead for a specialized institution in every large city, operating principally under the powers of civil and chancery courts in co-operation with various agencies, to handle, not only the problems of the parent and child, but a class of adults—mostly poor people—who might be treated very much as we treat children. In our work for a surer, simpler and less expensive justice for parent and child, we have found many justifications for such a tribunal.

"While such a specialized institution must be based primarily in the chancery procedure, it may also be aided by the addition of a limited criminal procedure. This is precisely what we have done in a measure in my own experience. For while the court over which I have presided in my own city of Denver, for 20 years, is known as a place of dealing with lawless children, the problems of dependency, domestic or family relations in controversies not only between parents, but adults concerning their relations to children, have for 20 years occupied the largest part of its work.

"In practice in these cases there are absolutely no costs no matter what the controversy may be. The methods are the usual ones of these courts, by an informal conference about the table in a sort of clinic of human adjustment.

"One of the great difficulties of the criminal law is that we deal merely with the things that people do—not the people. We expect the same rule of penalty to fit every case. Instead of producing so-called equal and exact justice, it often produces just the contrary results. There are many cases of conduct or acts of individuals that might be defined as crime that can be handled much better in a chancery procedure to do justice than in a criminal procedure to impose punishment.

"We have in Colorado as to certain crimes extended a chancery procedure to adults. It is the first state so far as I know to make such an innovation.

"One secret of the success of these informal courts, to my mind, is the fact that in the very great majority of these cases, the whole purpose is to understand the people—to help them and not to hurt them—and by kindly appeal to point out the mistakes of all and the good in all."

Yesterday at the home Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Cobb, their little son, Charles, entertained about fifteen of his little friends in honor of his fourth birthday. After several games in the yard the guests were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated and carried out the color scheme of green and white. The table was especially attractive with the birthday cake with its four candles arranged in the center and a candle stick at each corner of the table. While the guests were enjoying an ice course Mrs. Cobb played "Children's records," on the Victrola.

It was a delightful party and the host was the recipient of many useful presents.

CRIMINAL SESSION

OF SUPERIOR COURT TO BEGIN MONDAY

The coming of Judge Bond is looked forward to with keen interest by people connected with and having cases in this term, for it will be his initial appearance in the city, other judges having filled the appointment up until the present time. Judge Bond, however, is considered one of the most able and well-versed officials in this section of the country, and is recognized everywhere for his ability, particularly in dispatching the court's work. It matters not how many cases may be piled up awaiting his arrival. This fact, it is believed, will meet with the hearty approval of court officials here for the great number of action accumulating since the last term demand immediate attention, and the quicker they are disposed of the better they will like it.

Immediately following the one week session of criminal court, the regular jury term of county court will be in progress, and as quite a number of important cases will be handled by Judge Wooten and Solicitor Hines during the session it is thought that the next calendar of superior court will not be quite so crowded as the present one. The county institution has proven as effective and desirable medium between lower and superior courts, and for that reason it has lightened the work of the higher tribunal to no little extent.

SEEK SEASHORE IN EARNEST THIS YEAR

to go early came too late to arrange for accommodations at resorts and thousands left home with the idea of taking a chance on getting rooms. The result was congestion everywhere.

At some of the London stations people waited seven hours to catch trains. Trains to Brighton were heavily loaded long before the hour of departure. At Liverpool they took positions Friday night to obtain places on the boats Saturday to the popular Isle of Man. The boats were loaded as rapidly as they could be docked but thousands were left behind when Saturday night came. People on the wharves were admonished by officials not to go unless they had accommodations on the island. Few heeded it, however, and that night the beaches were almost covered with persons unable to get shelter or unable to pay the high prices resulting from the influx.

Thousands went to resorts by motor charabancs which have become very popular this summer because of high rail fares and inconvenience of crowded trains.

It is a custom in England for many people of the less influential classes to marry on "bank holiday," the first Monday in August. They take their fortnight vacation for the honeymoon. At one village two hours before a train left for a popular nearby resort 20 couples were lined up in front of the village church waiting their turn for the parson to do his duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clodfelter and children left yesterday for a visit in Wilson.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 27.—Six inches of rainfall from 3 o'clock to noon today flooded the streams of upper South Carolina. The Catawba river showing seven feet rise. A small stream in the Aragon Mill settlement of Rick Hill entered a residence to such an extent that occupants moved away in boats. The rain continues.
